List of Successful Bidders - Commencement of the Winter Term of the State University-Supreme Court Proceedings.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMAHA BEE, ) 1029 P STREET, LINCOLN, Jan. 2,

The old wagon of state will put on three hew wheels to-morrow, and in the language of many citizens of the state, "it is well." Treasurer Willard, Auditor Babcock and Commissioner Scott step down and out. Willard leaves friends and a stainless record. Babcock and Scott made their bed with the railroads, and the people of the state will mourn not because they go. They were the spindles around which they circled threadbare, yet their regular official work is said to have been well done. Captain J. E. Hill succeeds Willard. Thomas Hubert Benton lays off the swaddling clothes of deputyship and becomes auditor of state. This may be said to be a genuine case of civil service reform. John Steen becomes the commissioner of public lands and buildings. The public has some right to expect faithful service from them, and it is said there is good reason to expect a change for the better in some of their relational work. The state board of transportation, of which they will form the majority part, will test their fealty to the constituency that made it possible for them to wear official robes. It will soon be come known whether or not they will con-tinue to wear the spindles of the wagon of many wheels threadbare.

The oath of office will be administered by the chief instice to morrow at the usual hour. Governor Thayer will be inaugurated for the second term. Dignitaries from several states will be present. It is said to-day that the governor of Colorado will be present. Gov-ernor Larrabee, wife, two daughters and staff arrived this afternoon. There will be nothing out of the ordinary in connection with the inaugural ceremonies. The inauguration commences at 2 o'clock. Secretary Laws, Altorney General Lesse and Superinndent Lane will also take the oath of office for another term each. STATE SUPPLY AWARDS.

The state board of supplies met to-day to award the contracts for furnishing supplies to the various state institutions. The list of successful bidders is as follows:

Institute for the Blind, Nebraska City. Groceries, Sroat & Co.: meats, M. Gardner. Reform School.—Groceries, R. R. Green; flour, Kearney Milling and Elevator company, meats, Conrad Gebhard; coal, S. J. Sizes; dry goods, J. H. Irvine & Co.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

The winter term of the state university commences to morrow. It dates the inauguration of the department of political economy and the department of philosophy. A. G. Warner, Ph. D. will have charge of the former, and H. K. Wolfe, Ph. D, the latter department. Prof. Warner took his degree artment. Prof. Warner took his degree John Hopkin's university, and Prof bring to bear experience and the most thorough culture, and it is gen-erally believed that they will greatly strengthen the faculty of the university. The matriculation will be unusually large during the winter term, and good work is anticipated. It is said that the state university has never been in a more healthy condition than now The acting chancellor gives general satisfaction. He is said to be very popular with students and associate professors.

AN EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENT. The governor has appointed General C. J. Dilworth, of Hastings, a member of the visiting and advisory board of the soldiers' and sailors' home at Grand Island, vice W. H. Webster, resigned. Diiworth's appoint ment will doubtless prove satisfactory to the class of citizens most interested in the state's charitable institution, provided for the benefit of superannuated soldiers and sailors.

Temporary Permission for Poles and Wires to Thirteenth Street-

The injunction suit of the city vs. the electric motor and the Electric light companies, restraining them from putting up poles and overhead wires on the streets of Omaha came up in the district court yesterday morning, Judges Doane, Groff and Wakely were on the bench.

J. C. Cowin, counsel for the Motor company opened with the statement that additional affidavits had been filed by the city, and as they required careful examination, asked that the hearing of the argument go over until next Monday, and in the mean-time the respondents could put in their

On behalf of the city, J. L. Webster re-plied that the latter was ready to proceed with the case, but if the defense wished a continuance he would ask that it be extended over to the 15th, as he had a business en-gagement in New York for next Monday ning, and wished to leave for that city

General Cowin observed that there was no objection to be urged against this extension, but suggested that inasmuch as the poles had been erected on Douglas street as far as the corner of Thirteenth by the Electric Light company, and as arrangements could be effected with this company by the motor, and as it was the general petition of the citizens along the line, the motor should be allowed to put their wires for this distance and operate their cars. He urged that it could result in no possible harm, and asked that the injunction be modified so that this could be accomplished. Then, if it should be determined at the final hearing that the poles had mined at the final hearing that the poles had been erected contrar; to law, they could be taken down, which he assured the court the motor company would promptly do. If this modification of the restraining order were granted, the defense would press no objecon to the extension of the continuance to the time specified.

Mr. Webster said the city could not consent to such modification, because the posi-tion of the defense is that they can erect their overhead wires in defiance of the charter. To allow this modification, would, therefore, be to concede the entire case This thing of creating a public nuisance and say "we will abate it after" a certain time, is beyond all precedence and reason. He didn't see how this could be done—this sanctioning of an illegal and unlawful

Mr. Connell for the Motor company, cited the provisions of the charter, and added that as soon as the court determined that it is practical for them to operate their wires under ground, the overhead could be declared a public nuisance and removed. This could only be determined at the final hearming and as the modification asker for by Mr. Cowin could effect no possible harm, he hoped the court would grant it.

John D. Howe, counsel for defense, held that Mr. Webster was not consistent; that he had told him that if the city council passed an ordinance allow ing the crection of these poles, and overhead wires, that would end the case. The council had done so, and there were absolutely no grounds for a restraining order. "Now after all this," continued the gentleman, "the city of Omana, no, not the city of Omana, but Mayor Broatch, single-handed and alone, takes up the fight on a plea that is absolutely devoid of merit. The council has never declared these poles a nuisance, yet the city, or Broatch clamors for a re-straining order."

Mr. Cowin did not coincide with his colleague, in the statement that all this opposi-tion originated with Mr. Broatch, from the fact that the Electric Light company was likewise to be enjoined from erecting their poles, for they furnished electric light and not gas. He repeated that he did not consider it Mayor Broatch, nor the city of Omaha either, for that matter.

Omaha either, for that matter.

The court took the matter under advisement, and just before adjourning Judge Doane announced their decision. He said:

"Considering that the final hearing would have to be held over for two weeks, and as they could perceive of no injury accruing to property-holders or any one else, by allowing the stringing of the wires along the line of Douglas street to the corner of Thirteenth, if the defendants were of a mind to take the risk of what may be the finale of the applica tion for injunction, the court was disposed to modify the restaining order as asked. Therefore, the defendents may be permited to string their wires and operate heir cars, subject to the order of the court in the final hearing of the case. There can be no great injury effected by the permission of this modification. If it is determined to be injurious or unlawful, an order may be made accordingly."

General Cowin then added that it would probably require until Monday for them to answer to the additional affidavits filed by complainants, which was granted, and the case was continued until the fifteenth.

Obstructing the Motor.

OMARA, Jan. 1 .- To the Editor of THE BEE: all whom it may concern, citizens of Omaha, Knights of Labor, Trades Unions, and laboring men at large: In the intrest of all enterprise and public improvements I think it advisable to make a few Remarks about the Omaha Motor Rail Road co which I belive is being imposed on by the city Atorney in Restraining them from Erecting Poles for the completion of their line according to the Rights of their charter and I do further belive its a deep laid plott to keep times dull and keep mer out of employment to satisfy some other corporations who are not friendly to the la bor ellement the motor co will employ 150 men as seen as their line will be in operation and would have several men to work now had not the city atorney interfeared.

ONE WHO KNOW.

This was handed in by a man who claimed he had been employed by the Bridge Motor company. When asked how long he thought it would take to set the poles in the business portion of the city, he replied that it might take a week, but he thought that the company was being delayed in building its power-house and car-shop.
When asked whether the company would not have to build a power-house and car-shop, even if the motor that that would be the same, of course, but the company dian't want to go ahead until they had the poles set. He admitted that the objections to putting the wires under ground was probably to avoid the expense.

JAMES C. WILKINSON.

He Was Formerly Connected With the Union Pacific at This Place. It will be remembered that THE BEE of Tuesday contained the account of a startling sensation in a special telegram from Lowell, Mass., in which Mrs. Mary Haskell, Rev. William Haskell, D. D., a promising Congregationalist minister of that place and one James C. Wilkinson, formerly of Omaha, figure conspicuously. It now transpires that the James C. Wilkinson alluded to is the same indididual, who, up to three years ago was connected with the Council Bluffs car accounting department of the Union Pacific Inquiries at head quarters of the Union Pa-cific to-day revealed the fact that after four and one half years' service with that road Wilkinson resigned his position and made a tour through the east. He was absent about a year during which time he married a widow,the mother of two children, but whose name could not be learned. He returned to Omaha in 1886, and opened a grocery store on the corner of Sixteenth and Cass streets. He is said to have done a good business, but after putting in one year in the new en-terprise he closed out his stock, and with his family returned to the east. The report that he married a Miss Day, of Vermont, the daughter of a wealthy farmer, his friends she resumed her maiden name, as his wife was the mother of two children at the time they were married. Wilkinson, or "Jim" as he was commonly called, is well known at the headquarters of the Union Pacific, more especially among the clerks, with whom he formerly associated They speak of him as being a genial, good fellow, but having a limited knowledge of what money is made for. If he has arrived in Omaha, as was reported, none of his former associates have seen him. He is thirty-eight years of age and is said to be a good specimen of the human type.

Mrs. Wolf was in the back kitchen attending to her domest'e duties, and upon going into the parlor found the base burner upset and the floor on fire. She immediately ruised an alarm, and by the prompt attention of some painters working next door, the fire was soon extinguished. The fire department was not called. The teachers and scholars are now enjoying their holiday vacation. Mr. Parker is visiting in Howard county, Mrs. Whitman is visiting in Denver, Colorado. Arthur Otis is home from Neligh, where he has been attending school. Miss Minnie Borts is at home on a vacation from school at Yankton, Dakota. Thomas Noyce, who has been attending school in Crote, is spending the holidays in Irvington is not a town of great commer cial importance, but possesses many attrac-tions as a place of residence. It is situated in the beautiful and fertile valley of the Omaha by wagon road, and ten miles by rail. The past year has been one of marked prosperity for Irvington and vicinity. Entering the village from Omaha, the first place of business is the hardware and implement store of E. L. Brewster. This store was built during the past year, and has lately been enlarged and improved. It is now a large building, with a hall in the third story. Mr. Brewster intends also to erect a dwelling house in the near future. The next business place is the store of H. S. Johnson, also completed during the past year. Mr. Johnson is the oldest merchant in the village and is well known for reliability and square dealing. He carries the usual miscellaneous dealing. He carries the usual miscellaneous stock of goods found in country stores, and also has a stock of drugs and a public telephone station in his store. On the opposite side of the street is the store of Peter Hiler, who has hosts of friends and a large trade. Mr. Hiler deals in general merchandise and runs a coal yard. Near by is the new mill, just completed. This is a large two-story building, and its machinery is run by a wheel of and its machinery is run by a wheel of thirty-horse power. Mr. W. D. Clark established a barber shop here a few weeks ago. The irvington hotel, built by Mr. August Nelson last year, is well patronized. Mrs. H. O. Arant built the house she now occu-pies during the past year. R. M. Twaddell has built a large store near the depot. On the second floor is a large and commodious hall. Mr. Twaddell deals in groceries and coal. Mr. B. P. Knight and sons have commenced the foundation for a hotel, and con-template the erection of several other buildothers may be named, John Anderson, A. B. Knight, S. Barts and R. P. Brewster.

The practice of dehorning cattle was introduced into this vicinity by F. B. Hibbard about two years ago. Although at first thought the act of cutting off an animals horns seems to be one of needless cruelty, still it is found, in practice, that the advantages far outweigh the objections. Mr. Hibbard has dehorned over eight hundred head and not one has suffered injury from excessive loss of blood. Dehorning has been adopted by many prominent farmers of the county and is con-stantly growing in public favor as its merits become understood.

Miss Minnie Barts is home from school at Yankton to enjoy Christmas and New Years. Mr. J. T. Parker has gone home for a short stay during his two weeks vacation of school. Mr. Peter Hiler is obliged to go around on crutches on account of a sore and swollen inkle caused by slipping from a wagon Christmas day, the event of the year, for young and old, is past. The celebration on Christmrs eve was a regular Christmas boom. Soon after dark the whole village was illuminated. From the church at the top of the hill the light shone brightly in all directions. Rev. Mr. Winte officiated. The newly organized choir miated the entertain ment, which was rather a solemn affair. The pupils of the Evangelical Lutheran Sunday school proved to those present that they were well instructed in regard to the mean ing of the holiday. The reverened pastor then addressed the community to the great satisfaction of all present. After wards the Christmas gifts were distributed and general merriment took the place of the former solemnity. The Christmas tree was a bright, well-decorated and illuminated pine. The whole congregation and friends rom the country to the number of 200 par-

Somewhat later in the night Santa Claus made his appearance at Poppenhager's hall, where a large, well-grown cedar, sixteen feet high and wide in proportion, shone forth in all its glory. Being in the center of the spacious room, the latter seemed to be but a small apartment, and the numerous visitors from towns and country, old and young, looked like boys and girls in the pres-ence of the gigantic evergreen. Music and singing opened and closed the proceedings here, too. Santa Claus, in the person of George Boetel, and at other times as lively George Boetel, and at other times as lively as a fish in water, though well dressed, did his work quite silently. The only demonstration he made was by an old colored hat which he wore. He looked rather anarchistic, and as a satire upon late political achivements. The tree was presented by Frederick Schroeder, who sacrificed it to the altar of the God of Light, the same whom our forefathers worsnipped in other shape long before the wise men followed the star of Jesus.

Will be Celebrated. John L. Webster who has been appointed by Governor Thayer as Nebraska's representative at the celebration of the Centennial of Washington's inauguration, has returned from New York where he attended the first meating of the executive committee. The celebration will take place on April 30, and it is the intention of the managers to make it a national affair. Congress has already made the day a legal holiday. The president of the United States and his cabinet will be received in New York har-ber by the United States fleet. The flotilla, accompanied by all foreign ships that may be in the harbor, will join in the procession At the landing, the president will be received by the United States supreme court, the senate and members of the lower house. The festivities will be confined almost ex-clusively to New York. A grand procession, a banquet at the Metropolitan opera bouse and a ball will be the principal features of the celebration.

It is expected that the militia of each state will participate in the procession. Mr. Web-ster, as well as the New York committee, is anxious to secure the attendance of Ne-braska's militia and the Creighton and Omaha guards. All these will be invited to attend. With this in view, Mr. Webster will ask the state legislature to make an appro priation to defray the expenses of the mili-tary bodies which may be called upon to represent the state.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 2.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Cal Tolliver, cousin of the famous outlaw, Craig Tolliver, who was killed at Moorehead two years ago, is reported fatally wounded at Martinsburg, Ky. That town, which is the county seat, has a strict local option law. On Christmas eve Tolliver, who, though barely of age, has a reputation as a member of his cousin's band, went to town with a quantity of whisky, bent on having a holiday jollification. While drinking with his friends in a store next morning he and Frank Atkins, a young mountaineer, quarreled and Tolliver drew a knife and slashed Atkins across the abdomen. Atkins, by jumping back, escaped a serious wound. He an-swered the attack by striking Tolliver in the head with a scale weight, knocking him senseless. Tolliver was taken to a friend's house, where he recovered counsciousness during the night. At last accounts, however, he was dying. His demise will nearly extinguish the male line of Tollivers. Is not required to do washing and house-cleaning, when it is done with PEARLINE. With Pearline, a delicate woman can do this hardest of woman's work with comparative ease. She don't have to rub herself or her clothes to pieces when she washes in this new way. You will find these labor-saving directions on every package, and one trial will convince you that in PEARLINE you have found the most improved means and method for all washing and cleaning. Millions are using it.

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers are Beware offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE. they are not, and besides are dangerous. PEARLINE is never peddled, but sold by all good grocers. 123 Manufactured only by JAMES PYLE, New York

WHAT A PRETTY BABY.

Is it a boy or a girl? How often do we hear this remark and question. Yes, it is a pretty baby, but how bad its mother looks. She looks as if she were going right down. She is so thin and yellow, and her face is covered with wrinkles and blotches. She seems so nervous and irritable, too; but it is easy to account for her condition. Child-birth has left her with prolapsus, or other displacements, and weaknesses, nervous prostration and general debility. The best thing she can do is to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which has been prepared for the express need of women in this condition.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shopgirls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feebie women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic, or strength-giver.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is uncqualed and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms, commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.
