Will Lawler, the courteous and efficient manager of the Eden Musee, was the host at a very recherche banquet Saturday evening. On the engagement of the Georgia minstrels Manager Lawler informed them that should they prove the banner attraction of the season at his house, he would banquet them at the close of their engagement. This they proved to be and Manager Lawler, of course, was true to his word. The spread, which was sumptuous, was served in Curio hall the minstrel people at one table and the host and his guests of the press at another. It was an all-round hilarious time, and many were the good things said "over the walnuts and the wine. Meeting of the Election Law Reform Committee.

A meeting of the two special committees of the Knights of Labor and the Central Labor union appointed for the purpose of agitating a reform in the election laws, was held of 522 South Sixteenth street, in the office of the Dispatch, yesterday. The joint assembly was presided over by Charles Abernethy. Reports were received from utside committees to the effect that considerable progress had been made in the matter of enthusing the public, and that it was safe to admit that the matter was now was safe to admit that the matter was now being considered by nearly every voter in the state. The projectors in Omaha reported that arrangements had been made for a meet-ing to be held in the council chamber Thursday evening next, at which time a bill for the revision of the laws per-taining to elections would be presented. The form in which the bill will be adopted will be the form in which it will be presented to the legislature for action. The exact tonor of the proposed bill is not known, but it is said that it will embrace features of the Australian, California, New York and Canadian systems, the major por-ion being borrowed from the New York system. The objection raised to the latter, is that it has been created in a locality where election frauds are very common, and pro-visions are made that would be entirely un-necessary in hampered Nebraska. The movement here, it is said, is for the purpose of bringing about a system of balloting whereby the man who works for a corporation or individuals can east his ballot as he pieases and without the knowledge of anyone eise. The New York system and that of Australia are said to be alike on this partic As to the California system, that of drawing a dead-line at the polling place, it is maintained but little good could result from it. They claim that a representative of a corporation could give his mea the ticket he supported, and make them hold it in sight until it was voted. When bought up, in passing to the box, the voter is instructed to hold his ticket in his hand. If he drops that one in the box he gets his money from the wire-puller, and if he changes it he can be readily detected. The following was drafted and recomnended to be attached to the reformatory section law bill:

That all councilmen shall be elected at large in any city where this law is in force.

That whenever twenty-five, or more, electors shall join together in a petition setting forth the fact that the men nominated and given certificates by the several political parties are men with records of dishonesty, or peen implicated in election abuses, they given a representation upon the

HAZE VS. GALLIGAN.

After Three Hours' Deliberation the Jury Fail to Agree.

The case against Chief Galligan, of the fire department, was heard before Judge Berka and a special jury Saturday afternoon. The charge was using loud, profane and obscene language on the morning of the late fire at the New York dry goods store. It was brought at the instance of Sergeant Haze, of the police force.

The sergeant was the first witness called. He was detailed to attend the fire in question. After it had been got under control, No. 2 was ordered home and were recling their hose. He saw three blankets under the seat of the cart. He took them out and spoke to Captain Grebe ab out it. The latter said he knew not hing about the blankets and called Chief Galli gan. The latter came and used pro-fane language to witness. He had never known a fire extinguished without loud and probably profane language. The witness had sworn at Galligan because the latter had used bad language to him. He arrested Galligan and took him to the police station. The fire was not out when he arrested the chief. Neither was it out when he threatened to arrest hose company No. 2. Officer J. Grady said that both plaintiff and defendant abused each other. Haze said he didn't care a — for the fire chief or his men, and to — with the whole of them. Galligan told Haze to mind his own business, and that he could do all the bossing required at a fire, and would not allow any — police-man to interfere. Witness aid not hear Gailigan call Haze a — _____. If the phraze had been uttered he would have testified to. Officer Burr said he was on duty near the fire. Had been told about finding the blankets by Haze. Saw Galligan come up and bring his firemen into line and question them as to who knew anything about stealing the as to who knew anything about stealing the blankets. Heard Haze say he would arrest the whole fire company. The fire was not out at this time. Two companies were still playing on it. Both Haze and Galligan used very bad language. They cursed and swore dreadfully. Couldn't tell all that they said. It was a disgrace. There was profane language use. He saw Galligan put up his hands and saw Haze struck in the face. Galligan's fist was not closed. Heard Galligan's fist was not closed. Heard say: "I'll arrest you now, anyway," Haze say: "Til arrest you now, anyway," when Galligan got to the police call-box. Oh, he used dreadful language. Heard Galligan tell Haze he would investigate the stealing of the blankets. And also heard Haze say: "To — with you and your fire-men." Haze spoke loud and said he didn't care a — for Galligan, Heard Galligan call Haze bad names. Officer Duboise did not know who took the blankets. There were a number of citizens around when witness appeared on the scene. Heard Galligan swear at Haze, and Haze at This concluded the case for the prosecution and Chief Galligan took the stand.

Ho said he first saw Sergeant Haze on the night of the fire interferring with and bessing his (the witnesses) men in front of the burning store. Next time 'I saw him he was at hose cart No. 2 taking about blankets. Called my men into line and asked them about it. Haze threatened to run in the company. I told him could manage the fire department and did not want any bossing from him. He replied: "To — with you and the firemen." I then swore at him as he swore at me. Never called Haze any bad names. I told him not to arrest me because the fire was not out. But when he took me to the box, I then wanted to know why I had been arrested. I did not strike Haze. Could not have done so if I wanted, because my coat sleeves were frozen stiff. Captain Grebe and several firemen who were present during the altereation corroborated Galligan's story. The jury retired During the trial the police court was crowded, Mr. Gilbert, of the police commis-sion, being present, intently watching the

The jury, after three hours' consideration, could not agree and were discharged. It was learned that five stood for acquittal and one for conviction. The case will not again be brought before the court until the police and fire commissioners shall have had it under consideration.

RAILROAD HOSPITALS,

Where Sick Locomotives and Cars Are Doctored.

Philadelphia Record: The equipment department is one of the most important departments of any large and well-managed railroad. Very few people are aware of the large percentage of railroad locomotives and cars that are on the sick list at all seasons of the The wear and tear is enormous. Accidents, large and small, are always making havoe with rolling stock; but, in addition to this, steady destruction goes on as the result of ordinary traffic. 'Ten per cent of our locomotives are always in the shops," said Manager Charles Pugh of the Pennsylvania railroad. "Some have only minorills---a small part of the machanism out road. of order, and from this the damage mounts up to a complete wreck. During few years active service an engine is altogether reconstructed. First one part and then another is damaged and repaired-even the boiler itself is reewed, and then the engine goes again uto service. As to our freight equipment, the percentage unfit for duty at one date is a good deal smaller-about 2 per cent; but this means on our lines east of Pittsburg and Eric perhaps 400

To carry on all this repairing there are numerous shops giving employment to thousands of men. The Pennsylvania railroad has repair establishments at Pittsburg, Altoona, Philadelphia and Jersey City, and others of minor importance, and west of Pittsburg, at Fort Wayne, Alliance and many other points. All are kept busy looking after damaged rolling stock. Passenger cars have to be kept in the best of order. Often they are required to be sent to the shops for reupholstering or a new coat of paint, as well as other repairs. On the Reading railroad, for instance, during the past month there were 118 passenger cars in the shops out of a total equipment on the various lines of 625 cars. Out of a freight equipment of over 9,000 cars about 400 were out of use for some cause or other. The percentage of the disabled cars and engines depends to a great extent upon the season of year and the activity of ic. When every available and locomotive has been traffic. ear and drawn into service-as, for instance, during the summer excursion months. the percentage is greetest. It falls away, as a rule, during the winter, when passenger traffic is lighter. The sickist statistitics of the Pennsylvania and Reading railroads are rather below the average. On a number of railroads from 14 to 20 per cent of the locomotives are generally laid up for repairs. On the Manhattan Elevated railroad, in New York, there are 291 locomotives, and of this number about sixty, or more than 20 per cent, are usually in the shops for repairs. The repair account is a big item in every railroad accountant's figures, and has to be taken into consideration in estimating the cost of hauling freight and passengers. In the last annual report of the Pennsylvania railroads the figures representing repair expenses were about as follows: For the United New Jersey railroads, the aggregate running expenses of which were about $12,000,000, there was an expenditure of $1,500,000 for the work of repair. The repairing of locomotives was as least half of this amount, not taking into consideration the wages of the snop employes. The aggregate running ex-penses of the Pennsylvania railroad main line and branches were about $22,000,000. Not far from $5,000,000, or ar. approach to 25 per cent of this, was crydited to repairs. And on the Philadelphia & Erie railroad, costing yearly about $2,500,000 for running expenses one quarter nearly was spent on doctoring equipment. These items appear in the controller's itemized statement under the general heads of "Moter power and Maintenance," and they may be taken as representative of the amount spent by railroads in a year to 'keep up appearances."

Electric Light in Berlin. The work done by the Edison company in Berlin is so good, says Industries, that the public and the municipal authorities have perfect confidence in their ability to extend their central station work still further, and a concession has been given to this company for the establishment of two new stations. one in the center of the town and the other in the southeast quarter, where most of the engineering works and other factories are situated. Both stations must be ready within two years, and each must be able to supply current for 6,000 glow lamps burning simultaneously. The station in the center of the town will eventually be increased to a capacity of 24,000 lamps, and the other station will be increased to 12,000 lamps. the annual increase not to be less than 6,000 and 3,000 lamps respectively. All the cables required in connection with these stations must be in position by the end of 1892, and the supply of current within both districts will be compulsory, providing the customer is willing to take the light for at least a year. The network of cables to be laid down in connection with these stations very complete, and practi-y comprises all the streets cally of the respective districts, some small and unimportant side streets alone excepted. In view of this extension to their business, the Edison company propose to increase their share capital at present by £150,000, and later on by £300,000. The electric light installation in the Monopol hotel of Berlin, which comprises 1,000 lamps, will shortly be in action. The work has been executed by the Berliner Maschinenbau-Actiongesellschaft, under the superintendence of Herr Beringer. The current is supplied by two eightyhorse-power dynamos, each direct coupled to a twin engine. The dynamos are of the eight-pole lise type, and are compound wound.

A Curious Disease.

At a recent meeting of the Paris Surgical society, Dr. Terrier presented a communication from Dr. Defontaine, chief physician at the Creusot steel works, on electric sunstroke-or, rather, electric light stroke-according to the British Medical Journal. At present the electric light is used at these works for producing the high temperature required in casting and welding metals, metals placed in the electric are melting as if by magic, and even steel becomes soft as butter. At Creusot an electric furnace has been in use for some time. The electric arc in which the metals are placed is of enormous in-tensity, its light, concentrated on some few square centimeters, being equal to 10,000 Carcel lamps, or more than 100,-000 candles.

The dazzling light is wonderful to look at, but great care has to be taken in doing so, as unprotected persons ten meters distant, although feeling no heat, experience an acute pain in every respect resembling that of sunstroke. Even if the light be often discontinued for a while those engaged in these experiments experince after one or two hours a painful sensation in the throat, face and temples, while the skin assumes a copper-red hue. Generally the eyes are protected by means of darkened glasses ike those used when looking at the sun; but, in spite of this precaution, the re tina becomes so affected that for minutes afterward those engaged in the work are unable to see any objects at all in daylight, and for more than an hour afterward all objects assume a yellow

In the pupil of the eye irritation is caused which lasts for forty-eight hours afterward, and which is followed by a very painful sensation, as if some foreign substance were introduced under the evelids. The discharge of tears is also very copious for twenty-four hours. Simultaneously headache and sleepless ness are experienced, which are caused partly by pain and the feverish state of he body. Finally, during the next few days the skin of the face begins to peel off, ceasing only on the fifth day. Those who have seen the Alpine guides re turning from an assent of the glaciers in the middle of the summer can form an idea of the effect produced by the electric sunstroke.

A "Put and Call."

This is a funny phrase to the unitiated, but all the brokers understand it. They use it when a person gives a certain per cent for the option of buying or seling stock on a fixed day, at a price stated on the day the option is given. It is often a serious operation to the dealer but there is a more serious "put and call" than this: when you are "put" to bed with a severe cold. and your friends "call" a physician. Avoid all-this by keeping in the house Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The great cure for pulmonary and blood diseases. Its action is marvelous. It cures the worst cough, whether acute, lingering, or chronic. For weak lungs spittingsof blood, short breath, sumption night-sweats, and kindred affections, it surpasses all other medicines.

A Clever Capture.

At 2 o'clock yesterday morning a runaway norse attached to a top buggy came tearing madly down Farnam street. Officers Mc Mahon and Burr were standing on the corner of Fifteenth and Farnam and attempted to of Fifteenth and rarnam and attempted to stop the animal. This they failed to do, but McMahon, with eat-like ugility, caught the buggy, as it was passing, and jumped into it from the rear. He then climbed on to the horse's back and caught the reins. The horse could not be pulled up until he had reached the B. & M. headquarters. The officer then quietly rode the horse, a la postillion, to the police station. The owner of the runnway has not been found.
