Another Collision.

Street car No. 53, in charge of Jens Elsen, and cable car No. 16, in charge of Gripman Sullivan collided at the Farnam and Tenth street crossing about 7 o'clock last evening. Although the street car was crowded no injury resulted. The car was making a turn up Farnam street, when the cable train ran against it, the grip car coming in contact with the forward end of the street car, knocking the latter from the track.

A Blonde Lothario.

Peter Peterson, a blond young man not yet of age, was arrested before Judge Anderson yesterday on the charge of battery. Peter is a clerk in a wholesale drug house and resides on Center street in this city. The complainant, Annie Hamerlund, is a rosy checked servant girl, who has here before earned a reputation for being a flirt, but says that she was beguiled by the promise of a brilliant marriage. Peter was bound over to the district court in the sum of $500.

Carriages For Funerals.

The lively men have decided to reduce the charges for carriages for attending funerals from $5 to $4. This was done at a meeting held Monday. It was said that many of the hacks of the city, which number close upon one hundred and fifty, have been offering such competition that the drivers have been brought to town. Another meeting, to further consider the matter, will be held at the Palace stables soon. The question of reducing the present rates charged for hearse will also come before the meeting.

Johannes-Fitch.

Mr. Charles F. Johannes and Miss Emma Fitch were quietly married at 7:30 last evening at the residence of the bride's mother, 2426 St. Mary's avenue. Only the relatives and a few intimate friends of the young couple were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. M. House, of the First M. E. church, after which the wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Johannes will at once begin housekeeping at Twenty-third street and Center avenue, where they will be at home to their many friends after January 15. No cards.

A Sausage Coup d'Etat.

For two months there has been war between the Chicago Sausage company, on Cuming street, and the proprietor of the premises, Joseph Bliss. Sausage was king, and Mr. Bliss could not assert his rights as landlord, although he endeavored to do so by several means. To quit, he was told, would cost him $105 due when the matter was left to Constable W. H. Small, of Justice Wade's court. He stole a march on the Sausage company and gaining an entrance to the building, placed the machinery and sausages in various stages of decay—or rather manufacture, on the street. He then locked the door, gave the key to Mr. Bliss, and declared the war at an end.

Death of George B. Stelling.

Mr. George B. Stelling died yesterday morning from diabetes. The deceased, who was twenty-two years of age, was the son of the late Rev. G. L. Stelling who was a well-known clergyman in this city some time ago. The deceased was a trusted and worthy employee of the Omaha Elevator and was highly esteemed by all with whom he came in contact. He was a brother of Frank Stelling, receiving teller of the First National bank. The remains will be taken from the home at 1214 North 12th street, where the funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, to Massillon, O., where they will be buried beside his father.

An Exciting Ride.

Monday afternoon, the two children of Edward Peck were given a ride in charge of Mr. Peck's coachman. After reaching the end of the pavement on Cuming street the driver turned toward town, when the horses became frightened by the noise made by two farmers' wagons, the drivers of which had whipped their horses into a race. Mr. Peck's horses became almost unmanageable and dashed eastward at a rapid gait. In getting off the horse railway track the buggy collided with an express

GAVE BLOOM THE SLIP.

How a Mother Failed to Abandon Her Babe.
About daylight yesterday a woman scantily clad and with thin worn features was seen to stealthily approach the front steps of house of shame known as 1014 Douglas street, and, after glancing furtively up and down the street to see that no body was looking, deposited a bundle on the steps. The woman then started swiftly down Capitol avenue and a faint wail was heard from the bundle disclosed the fact that it contained a tiny infant. Officer Bloom, unobserved by the woman, had been standing nearby, and as soon as he heard the baby's cry, shouted for the mother to come back. She turned at the sound of the officer's voice and with a face flushed with shame, ran swiftly back and picked up the infant. Before the officers could say another word the woman again disappeared into the street. Bloom gave chase, but the woman was too fleet of foot for him and soon distanced him.

The Woman is Unknown to the Officer, as is also the cause of the attempted abandonment.

It is supposed, however, that some woman suffering from poverty and despair took this means to find food and shelter for her infant through the kindness of some good-hearted citizen. As the mother is young and fairly attractive, it is a sad pity that she should have resorted to this means to rid herself of the creature of her hands.

Officer Bloom reported the affair at police headquarters, but nothing was done to unravel the mystery.

It is an easy matter to avoid the discomforts and distress of coughs and colds by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

IT WAS A FAILURE.

The Unhappy Ending of a Doctor's Suicide.

A doctor who lives in North Omaha enjoys the rare distinction of being whipped by his newly-made wife after only six weeks of married life. She was a widow, and at the time of the nuptials he had known her but a short time. He was cruelly infatuated with her and the result was the speedy marriage which followed. They lived together happily for a few weeks when the pleasures of the honeymoon were suddenly interrupted by his asserting his power as her lord and master to rule her every action. She, however, had had some experience in married life and knew what her rights were. A declaration of independence followed and the doctor, with a loaded revolver attempted to scare her into submission. This only increased her determination not to give in, and, snatching the Quaker gun, she selected him for whipping and trounced him until he begged for mercy. The next day the doctor was called to Superior, and on returning home Monday he discovered that his bride had packed her effects and left for Chicago.

Another meeting will be held the latter part of the week.

Died Away From Home.

Monday a young man named Sigmond Friedman died of pneumonia in St. Joseph's hospital. He was a traveling salesman for the clothing house of J. Moss & Co., New York. He was suddenly stricken with illness, though he was kindly attended by friends and every want was supplied. This morning a member of the firm mentioned arrived in the city in response to a telegram on Saturday last from Ben. Newman that Mr. Friedman was very sick. A coincidence in this case is the fact that a brother of the deceased, a real estate man in New York, died last week on the day that Sigmond was stricken here. The remains were buried from Drexel & Mault's in Pleasant Hill cemetery.

David Franklin died yesterday morning at his home, Twenty-eighth and Farnam streets.

The body was removed to Drexel & Mault's undertaking room for preparation for burial in Laurel Hill cemetery this afternoon.

It appears from statements in the English papers that Dutch Cocaine, and the imitations of them contain a considerable percentage of chemicals which are deleterious to health.

They are introduced for the purpose of making the mixture more soluble and to give color and apparent strength to the decoction. The use of chemicals can be readily detected by the peculiar odor from newly opened packages, and from a glass of water in which a small quantity of the cocaine is dissolved. Cocaine has been placed and allowed to remain for several days. The chocolate and cocoa preparations of Messrs. Walter Baker & Co. are absolutely pure and free from chemicals and other deleterious substances.

Still Unconscious.

Colonel A. H. Forbes, whose injuries were noted in Monday's Bee, was still unconscious at noon yesterday. Yesterday C. E. Forbes, his brother, who is postmaster at St. Paul, Neb., having read an account of the affair in this paper, arrived in Omaha and is now at the bedside of his brother. Ed. Rothery Monday night telegraphed George Forbes at the Sturtevant hotel, New York, and the latter, who is also a brother of the victim, and a well-known capitalist and horseman, it is thought will arrive in Omaha Friday. Yesterday the physician trepanned the skull in order to enable a discharge of the blood that was clotted at the base of the brain. He stated that at least eight ounces should be removed, but after about three ounces had been withdrawn the blood ceased to flow.

It is reported that he has a house full of stolen goods. There have been a number of thefts in his immediate vicinity of late and the easy life Thomas is living without doing any work has made him an object of suspicion, so Monday night the police watched him with the above result.

OUR RECORD.

For the past year is one of unparalleled growth. We have enlarged our store to almost twice its former size, and our trade has increased beyond all expectations. This is the third year of our business career in Omaha, and those who have watched us grow from our small beginning to our present proportions cannot deny that this rapid growth is only due to our efforts to conduct our business upon the strictest principles of integrity and fairness. We have the ambition to excel in the coming year the business of the past and are alive to the fact, that this can only be done by a steady adherence to these principles, and we invite custom under the pledge of absolute fairness in all our methods.
