

AN EXTRA SESSION FAVORED

By Three-fourths of the Republicans in Both Houses. TO REMEDY FILIBUSTERING. The Republicans Will Adopt New Rules—Cleveland Thought to Be Favorable to the Omaha Postoffice Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12. It is safe to say that three-fourths of the senators are in favor of an extra session of the Fifty-first congress.

Senator Padlock today secured the passage of a bill in the senate for the relief of Nancy Pollock, widow of Captain William A. Pollock. At the last session of congress a similar bill was passed by both houses and received the approval of the commissioner of pensions, but failed to receive the president's signature.

Senator Allison: "I can't tell yet. It all depends upon what is done during the balance of the session. I think it is probable that legislation is accomplished and things go on as they are going now we will have an extra session. The next few weeks will tell."

Mr. Dorsey, of Nebraska: "It seems to me that there is a pressing business done during the remainder of the present session, and the business interests of the country will be benefited by an extra session."

Mr. Stewart: "I believe that an extra session will be held. I regard it as necessary and desirable for the country, though probably not regarded as personally desirable by President Cleveland. The congress, of course will do nothing, and there are some important matters which will not break dry."

AMUSEMENTS.

Boyd's opera house was again crowded last night by a most distinguished and appreciative audience to witness the last performance of the Bostonian Opera company. The opera chosen was "Fatinina," which was substituted for "Pygmalion and Galatea" owing to sickness of certain members of the troupe.

Washington Brovities. General Weaver stated yesterday afternoon to a special committee of the house that arrangements had been made to secure an influential in the control of the business of the house which are satisfactory to the friends of the senate, and will doubtless secure an early vote on that measure.
