Sold Mortgaged Goods.

N. Smith, who sold three months ago some household goods, all of which were mortgaged, has been tried before the police magistrate and held to the district court in the sum of $1,000.

Death of an Exalted Turner.

The news of the death of Hugo Gollman, secretary of the executive committee of the North American Turner band, and one of the oldest and most prominent members of that society, has been received here with great regret by the Omaha turners. The deceased was fifty-five years of age, almost a life-long turner and dearly loved by all the members of his society.

Who Is He?

The following is an extract from a Platts-mouth paper: "The landlord of the Riddle house, who frequently is visited by an attorney from Omaha, has the proposition to his guest the other day that if he would pay $1 on his 1888 bond bill, that he would gladly tear the big account from the ledger. The lawyer gladly acceded to the offer, and the amount. The landlord was so well pleased to receive the money that he has framed it and hung it in the office for public inspection."

A Lie Told.

Somebody, and many people are inclined to think it was Van Etten himself, circulated the story that the supreme court recently had failed to uphold Judge Groff in exacting a bond from the great irrefragable, and in absence of which allowed him to be jailed. There is no foundation, however, for the story, because the supreme court denied the writ of habeas corpus and allowed Van Etten to go on in his confinement at the instance of County Attorney Mahoney, the amount being placed at $500.

Crushed to Death.

A large mass of earth on North Sixth street, in Council Bluffs, caved in at noon yesterday, instantly killing John Lewis, who resided at 808 Avenue H, in that city, and who was working at that point with his father. About seventy-five tons of earth fell in a heap. The work of removing him was at once begun, but it was half an hour before his mangled body was reached. Lewis was twenty-one years of age. The remains were taken to Field & Co.'s undertaking establishment, where an inquest is now being held.

Harrison an Civil Servant.

News has been received from Washington by a gentleman in this city who claims that it is well authenticated, to the effect that General Harrison intends to pursue a civil service policy in regard to demerits who may be in official positions when he small come into the presidential chair. This news will be appreciated by the postmasters of this state, of whom there are about 1,200. Eleven twelfths of these, however, do not over their positions to presidential appointment, there being but twenty-three presidential offices in Nebraska. All but twelve of these are occupied by demerits.

Judges and Clerks of Election.

It is stated that the individuals who acted as judges and clerks of the recent municipal election have not as yet been remunerated for their services, and in consequence have become somewhat anxious to determine the cause of the delay. At the last meeting of the city council, the amount for the amount for this purpose is inserted in the appropriation ordinance of last month was passed, and there the matter dropped. Several of the clerks have applied to the city clerk for their warrants, but were informed that no provision had as yet been made in that direction.

Uncle Sam's Nag.

The government has recently purchased about one hundred cavalry horses in the Omaha market. This is a new departure. St. Louis has heretofore been the place at which purchases were made, and it is said some bad bargains were made, horse doctors having objected to the government, crippled, disabled and some of the horses had been smothered into a hard death for cavalry purposes. Mr. John C. Hughes, an expert judge of horse flesh, has been doing the inspecting in Omaha, and says that the 100 horses already chosen are the finest lot ever bought by the government. Mr. Hughes left this morning for Fort Dodge, Utah, where he will inspect fifty other horses with the object of purchase.

Men of War.

The case of Private James Cummings, charged with desertion came up before the general court martial in session at Fort Omaha yesterday. Cummings is a graduate of Harvard college, having received honors in both the academic and medical departments. Lieutenant Wright, who took a leave of absence in order to accompany his sick comrade, Lieutenant Earle, to the city, was present Thursday. Lieutenant Earle is now in Jacksonville, Fla., where he will spend the winter. The Phil Kearney post of the G. A. R. at their last meeting, Wednesday evening, elected Mr. Coody, of Fort Omaha, an honorary member, and recognized the many favors shown the post in the past. Colonel Fletcher and family returned Thursday from Philadelphia.

Met at the Crossing.

While Assistant Chief Satter was being driven to a fire, on Cass between Thirtieth and Fourteenth streets at 1:30 o'clock yesterday, a west-bound cable train collided with his buggy at the intersection of Collied and Thirtieth streets, smashing the vehicle and throwing Mr. Satter and his driver, Winslow, to the ground. The chief was only slightly bruised, but Winslow was badly cut on the back of the head and dazed for several minutes. He was carried into the Whitehouse saloon, and a physician examined him and pronounced his injuries severe but not serious. Winslow was taken to his home.

Playing for Charity.

Thursday night a very successful entertainment was given in the hall of Creighton college for the benefit of the large St. Vincent de Paul society. The audience was large and a handsome sum was raised. This society was recently organized. It aims to aid the needy poor during the winter with fuel and food and clothing. The society never appeals in vain for means with which to carry out its beneficent purposes and finds success only when its membership loses the spirits who are enthusiastic in the work. There was an informality in the entertainment which made it all the more unique and agreeable. Programs were dispensed with and the features of the evening were announced by ex-Councilman Dalley. The principal numbers were mentioned in yesterday's Bee, and Thursday night were greatly appreciated. The singing of Miss Fannie Arnold, the brass quartet, and also that of W. O. Sanders, who has not appeared on the concert stage for some years, was greatly enjoyed. J. B. Faray appeared as a full-fledged ecologist and read "The Lightning Rod Man" with excellent effect. M. V. Cannon delivered an eloquent address on "Catholic Charities."

BERRING MORTALS.

The Principal Offenders Before the Police Bench.

Lon Price, William Harrington, B. Johnson and Arthur Park, four colored boys averaging about fifteen years each, who have been frequenting houses of ill-fame of late, were given five days each in the county jail.

John Jones, who just finished serving a sentence Thursday in the county jail for stealing a coat from a street shop, and a dummy in front of a Tenth street clothing store. He was arrested and sent up again for a second offense.

George Evans, who has been on a protracted spree, went into Edith Gray's bawdy house and stole an album valued at $8. He was arrested for it at Tenth street shop, and spent the money for whisky. He was given twelve days in the county jail.

Paul, the snook thief, concerning whom there is so much complaint in the neighborhood of Fort Omaha, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail.

John Norman paid $4.50 for being drunk on Saturday. Charles Davis was assessed $2.50 for striking a man without cause.

Charles Mulphy, who stole a pair of over-shoes from J. Krome's house, 725 Phil Sheridan avenue, will pass the next thirty days in the county jail.

FAILURE AT SCHUYLER.

Several Omaha Dealers Caught but Will Suffer but a Light Loss.

That mysterious individual who shot out from Omaha on a special engine for Schuyler, Thursday, over the Union Pacific, was none other than T. H. Barrette, a representative of J. T. Robinson & Co., of this city. It now transpires that the above firm received information that John Curry, of Schuyler, a dealer in general merchandise, and who was indebted to the Omaha house in the sum of $2,000, was about to close the doors of his establishment and assign. In view of this, the firm dispatched a special engine, and there being no train in readiness a special engine was pressed into service Thursday night. The special engine, Schuyler, made an assignment with liabilities of $17,000 and assets at $2,000. It is thought, however, that no serious loss will result to any of his creditors, as the firm has a large amount of stock in the hands of Robinson & Co., the latter to the extent of $2,000. The goods have been attached in the interest of Robinson & Co.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Police Force Changes.

Thursday Mayor William G. Sloane suspended Major Al O. McCracken as captain and appointed Captain James T. Mahoney to act till the meeting of the council Saturday evening. Officer John Blivenicht, has been appointed captain of the day force and Officer Joseph Humpal captain of the night force.

After reflection Mayor Sloane concluded that a prompt action in removing Marshall McCracken will not best interests of the city. He will not remove him, but notified the marshal that he would give him his commission back, and that he would be investigated or removed. Marshall McCracken promised to resign at the council meeting Saturday night.

His Nose Cut Wide Open.

An accident which Thursday afternoon Paul Colbine, a beef dresser at Swift Co's packing house, received a painful and serious cut with a knife in the hands of a fellow workman. Patrick Shea and Mr. Colbine were cutting the hind quarters of a beef, when a knife in the hand of Mr. Shea slipped as Mr. Colbine bent down and struck Mr. Colbine on the left side of the nose, cutting a long, deep groove in the bone. A physician was summoned and sewed it up.

A lively fight, between an Amazonian egyptian and an ex-tanglefoot slinger, took place last night in one of the N street saloons, and the way that Amazonian handled the slinger and played ball with that big, burly man, was as amusing to the bystanders as it was painful and humiliating to the man. The slinger was knocked down and crowd went out, and the fight allowed to proceed.

Omaha Medical Club.

The Omaha medical club met at the office of Dr. J. E. Summers, Jr., Thursday night. The following members were present, viz: Drs. Summers, Towne, Milroy, Jones, Merriman, Carter, Stone, Somers, Gifford, Bailey, Rose, Gilmore, Biant and Jenkins.

A very interesting paper was presented by Dr. Eleanor Dalley, on the "Third Stage of Labor." This extended discussion followed, and the club adjourned at 11 o'clock, having spent a very profitable evening.

DIRECTOR MILLARD.

He Wants a New Passenger Depot for Omaha.

Speaking upon matters connected with his new directorship of the Pacific, H. H. Millard yesterday said: "Much can be done in the line of improvements that will be of great importance to the residents of Omaha and the citizens of the territory that is traversed by the Union Pacific. First of all, it is of vast importance that the Outward-bound freight trains be kept upon the stocks and officials will be of little magnitude. It will set us at liberty and enable us to develop the system and bring it up to the proper standard. I think that if the bill passed we will have a large tract of land afterward pointing toward the construction of feeders to the main line, and thereby giving the outlying districts a much needed outlet to the main line. We will endeavor to develop the system as much as possible in Omaha and the contiguous territory. One of the first points in this direction will be in bringing about the construction of a magnificent passenger depot here. It is much needed, and should the Outward-bound freight trains be kept upon the stocks and the president thereby resulting in its passage, I think that steps will soon be taken afterward toward the construction of a magnificent passenger depot here. Mind you, that most of the improvement I will speak of, rests upon the passage of the funding bill. As to what other course I will pursue, I am not prepared to state as I have not yet thoroughly looked over the situation."

Between Norfolk and Yankton.

Within the past month a party of surveyors have been at work surveying a tract of land between Norfolk, Neb., and Yankton, Dak. It transpires that the Union Pacific railroad between these two points, and that John T. M. Pierce, representative of an English syndicate, is at the back of it. It was learned in Omaha yesterday from an intimate friend of Mr. Pierce that the syndicate has obtained a lease for a large tract of land between Norfolk and Yankton, and also has obtained consent of all the property holders through which territory the proposed line would pass. The survey was completed last week and Mr. Pierce is now engaged in making plans for the road. It is stated that he has been assured of a bonus of $100,000 by the business men of each place. It is stated that the line will be as direct as possible between the two cities. It is also said that the business men of Sioux City have been endeavoring to bring the road to that point instead of Norfolk, but this has not been attended to. It is thought that in time a branch line will be extended to the former point. At Norfolk the new road will connect with the Union Pacific and the Norfolk and Yankton City branch of the Chicago & Northern system. It is rumored that the Union Pacific was interested in the new project, and that the road was to be tentatively in view of its being an important feeder to that system, but inquiry at headquarters failed to strengthen such a rumor.

Another Passenger Train.

The new day card will apply to the land passenger train of the Union Pacific is being prepared, and will make a considerable change in the time of arrival and departure of trains. The evening train, bound westward, will leave Council Bluffs at 7 p. m., or one hour earlier than the present time. The train formerly leaving Omaha at 10 a. m. in the morning will now leave at 11 a. m. The Omaha train will leave Omaha at 12 m. An additional passenger train will be run at a slower time than the night train. The train leaving here at 10 p. m. will have a fast schedule and will overtake the Denver train at Cheyenne where the two trains will be combined and will proceed westward with the Southern Pacific at Omaha. The latter having discontinued one of its trains which causes the Union Pacific to consolidate the day and night trains. A change will be made in the time of the departure of the vestibule train, if any. No other services will be discontinued on the schedule. It will take effect January 20.

Bromley Drops Out.

The announcement that J. H. Bromley had severed his connection with the Union Pacific in the capacity of press agent to President Adams, was somewhat of a surprise at the headquarters of the Union Pacific. While he was not associated with the operating or management of the system, the officials at headquarters are of the opinion that he was a valuable man in the service of the company, and that in all probability he was retained at his own solicitation.

New Tariff Regulations.

The meeting held at Kansas City Thursday was called by Charman Midgley, of the Southwestern association. J. C. Phillips, of the Missouri Pacific, presided at the meeting, and stated that it was held for the purpose of equalizing freight rates at junction points in Kansas, Nebraska and northwestern Missouri. When this is effected, Midgley said, he will issue a tariff sheet governing rates from Chicago and St. Louis to points in those states, and also pertaining to the local application of the rules. The meeting of the inter-state railway organization were also taken up for consideration.

An Engineer's Luck.

Patrick O'Donnell, who manipulates the lever on engine 931 in the yards of the Union Pacific at this place, is perhaps the happiest man on this continent. He usually carries a bag, the regular monthly drawings of the Louisiana lottery occurred, and O'Donnell held a one-twentieth share in ticket 20,788, which drew $25,000. Pat's share nets him the snug little sum of $1,250.

From the Council Bluffs Nonpareil.

Dec. 12, 1880.

We are credibly informed that the mortality from diphtheria, under the treatment of Thos. Jefferis of this city is merely nominal, not exceeding one-fifth of one per cent. Such being the case, it is not surprising to find his remedy within the reach of every family and thus save annually hundreds of thousands of lives. Diphtheria is the most universally destructive disease that afflicts the world during the last hundred years.

VERDA'S DOWNWARD COURSE.

Verda Jenkins, a pretty and petite little brunette of about nineteen, who a few months ago was in attendance at a special school in this city, is now a prostitute, with a troop of detectives on her track.

How a Pretty Little Nebraska Miss Has Gone Astray.

Verda Jenkins, a pretty and petite little brunette of about nineteen, who a few months ago was in attendance at a special school in this city, is now a prostitute, with a troop of detectives on her track. Verda's home is about eight miles from Nebraska City, on the track of her father a handsome little fortune was left her. Her mother remarried, and Verda, who had plenty of money and nothing to do, came to Omaha to make special studies. Her innocent ways and sweet face won her many friends, but unfortunately she chose the downward path and associated with vicious young men and women. She was seen constantly on the streets after nightfall, and it was not long before she entered upon a life of shame as Fay Ravina. She entered a bawdy house called the "Queen," on Ninth street and Capitol avenue. Her next plunge was to thievery, and on last Sunday evening she was arrested with the $40 Missouri Pacific train, taking with her among other articles a valuable gold watch belonging to Frank W. Ruth, 100 Jackson street. The police were informed of her escapade, and telegrams to various cities brought a response from the chief of police at Nebraska-

City that the girl was there and that he would arrest her. Other Horigan was detailed to go to that place and take her, but on arriving some one from Nebraska City official had not arrested her and did not even know where she lived. After some trouble Horigan found the home of her step-father, Lemuel Mahon, but the cunning little bird had flown again and no trace of her could be found. A photograph of her was secured, however, and is now in the rogues' gallery, and will aid the detectives greatly in finding her.

Honey-moon.

"Say, Perkins, old boy, why don't you see you at the club any more? Has your mother-in-law shut down on you?" "No, Brown; the fact of the matter is, my home is so happy now. There is no inducement for me to leave it. You look incredulous, but it's a positive fact. You see, my wife used to suffer so much from functional derangements common to her sex, that her spirits and her temper were greatly affected. It was not her fault, of course, but it made home unpleasant all the same. But now, since she has begun to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, she has been so well, and so happy that we are having our honey-moon all over again."

REGULATING BANKS.

Two Citizens Express Opinions on the Subject.

Speaking on the bill agreed upon by the Omaha Clearing House association, and now before the legislature, for the regulation of banks in this state, a well-known banker yesterday said: "This amended bill is as liberal as it possibly can be for the protection banks, consistent with public safety. No more burdens are imposed than the national currency act enforces. On the contrary, in many important particulars, the bill goes far beyond existing law. It is believed that the bill will receive the unanimous support of every bank in Omaha, and in all the leading cities in the state, and is hoped all systems of banking, or to be introduced, will be merged in this. Mr. A. Anderson, president of the First National bank of Columbus, Ia., the gentleman who has prepared the bill, having devoted much time to its production—and to him credit is due for what will prove, if it becomes a law, a most beneficial system, equal in all respects to the much-praised systems of Minnesota and Illinois."

With reference to the subject the following opinions were expressed by W. Aldrich. Having had some experience in the investigation of banking accounts, I venture to express the three following rules are most essential: 1. Fifty per cent of the capital stock should be paid in before the commencement of the banking operations. 2. The same amount should be made as to the investment of the available funds of the bank with the object of avoiding speculation with the monies of the public. 3. The books and accounts of the bank should be examined twice a year, and the balance sheet having been certified by a competent accountant, should be published in the local papers within a reasonable period after closing the half-yearly accounts.

If these rules were made compulsory, their adoption would impart a healthier tone to our financial institutions, and the blow to the difficult cases, which have created, would be lessened. The present system, the enactment of laws is useless, unless the same are strictly enforced, and this is where the bank commissioner, as suggested in the bill now before the Missouri legislature, appears to be incompetent. Because, to audit all the accounts of banks, and to have the same commissioner, as suggested in the bill now before the Missouri legislature, appears to be incompetent. Because, to audit all the accounts of banks, and to have the same commissioner, as suggested in the bill now before the Missouri legislature, appears to be incompetent. Because, to audit all the accounts of banks, and to have the same commissioner, as suggested in the bill now before the Missouri legislature, appears to be incompetent.

The office of bank commissioner should not be a political office, and the expense of conducting this system of check should be borne by the banks in Nebraska.

In Australia, New Zealand, Great Britain, and I believe, several other countries, it is compulsory for every incorporated company (no matter what the business) to have their accounts audited and published at least once a year. It is therefore safe to assume that this has been the means of preventing any failures of note during recent years in those countries.

Regarding your correspondent's (Mr. Upton's) remarks, I would say that in business matters we must bury sentiment, and, if all men were honest, legislation of the nature suggested would be unnecessary. Mr. Upton evidently is unacquainted with the nature of an auditor's work. No qualified accountant would base his certificate upon the books of any bank, unless he had first examined them, and he would be willing to give every possible information that would facilitate the audit.

BEYOND COMPETITION.

Our special suit sale has created such a stir that we have decided to continue the same for another week, to give all an opportunity to take advantage of the remarkable bargains offered. Our immense sales last week was evidence that the public know that bargains advertised by us are well worth securing.

For our second week's sales, last week's values will be duplicated, and in some instances surpassed, as we have added to the special suits in place of the lots closed out. Several lines of worsteds and cassimeres, much finer than those advertised before. We give you a choice in sack and frock suits, made up in the most elegant manner, which formerly sold at $12.50, $13.50, $15 and $16.50, all at $9.75. And another line formerly selling at $18, $20 and $22.50, now at $13.50. This is not a mere reduction sale. Slaughter is the only way to express it, as even the former figures were very low for the goods.

In our Furnishing department, we are offering you a rare chance to buy everything in this line at nominal prices this month. Almost every dollar's worth of furnishing goods inventoried on January 1st, was taken in at a big reduction upon cost. We offer them now for what we have inventoried them. This means that you can buy furnishing goods far below what the goods could be bought for of the manufacturer and Importer and if you need Underwear, Hosiery, Shirts, Gloves, Suspenders, Neckwear or anything else in that line, you can make a bona fide saving of from twenty-five to fifty per cent by buying them of us this month.
