The Voting Question. There will be a meeting of citizens at Metcalf's hall on Thirtieth street Wednesday night to consider the city hall relocation question. It is proposed not to allow the Fifth ward Jefferson square location, but to again freeze out the residents of this portion of the city.

Election Tickets. City Clerk Southard yesterday afternoon received 300,000 printed tickets for the election to be held February 5. The tickets are for the determination of the location of the city hall site, the issuance of sewer and paving bonds, and for refunding bonds of the Union Pacific bridge.

Destitute. Billy Walker, a colored man, aged forty-five, is lying in a hotel at 115 South Eleventh street, in a sick and destitute condition. He has been refused admission to the poor house as that institution is already full. The matter was reported to the chief of police, but he is powerless to aid him.

The purpose of the company is to buy and sell roofing materials for the construction of roofs on buildings. The capital stock is $5,000. The incorporators are J. Wilkes Ford, Frank J. Lewis and James O. Hagan.

Motors to Thirtieth Street. Yesterday morning, for the first time, the Omaha and Council Bluffs bridge motor cars ran on Douglas street to Thirtieth street. The first trip was made at 7:30 o'clock by cars 6 and 7. Since that time, regular trips have been made which will be attended by a large number of people who now appreciate the advantage of having a connection with Council Bluffs brought to the very heart of the city.

Go Below the Surface. A professional gentleman, well acquainted with the history of the pieces of ground known as Jefferson square, suggests that the boomers of that filed-in bog dig down about forty feet and make a chart of the geological formations from that point to the surface, and put that on exhibition in the store windows in lieu of the present fake pictures now on exhibition, reputed to be the future city hall.

Union Meetings. The Methodist ministers and laymen held a meeting yesterday to complete arrangements for the union revival services to be conducted by Dr. W. Potter and his singing companion, Mr. Miller. The first meeting of the series will be held in the First M. E. church, on Davenport street, next Sunday evening. The pastors of the other M. E. churches are requested to take their Sunday evening services to their respective congregations to attend the union services.

A South Omaha Transfer. With Register of Deeds Meigs yesterday afternoon, Robert D. Fowler, of Chicago, and Anderson Fowler, of New York City, filed a warranty deed, conveying to the Omaha Packing company eight acres of ground upon which are situated the Fowler packing houses at South Omaha. The consideration of the deed was $25,000.

City Veterinarian. The report of the city veterinarian shows that there were 180 cases of glanders and farcy in horses reported to him during the year; sixty-two of these cases proved fatal or the animals were ordered shot by the live stock sanitarian. The veterinarian assisted in the examination of the dairy cattle whose products are sold in this city, and from amongst those examined signs of tuberculosis were found and disposed of by the sanitary commission according to law.

The annual report of the gas inspector, James Gilbert, shows the following figures: Number of observations during the year, 1888; number of gas lamps, 1,492; number of gas used in city buildings, 1,290,201, at an estimated cost of $2,748,407; number of gas lamps in use, 739; number of gas street lamps, 507; total cost of gas for lamps and city buildings, cost of gas for street lamps, $8,708.95; total cost of gas and gasoline, $33,312.95; cost for repairs of street lamps, $1,925.10.

Patterson Wins. The case of Mrs. Uebel versus R. M. Patterson on the charge of bastardy and which has been running in Justice Kroeger's court for three days, was dismissed yesterday. After all the testimony on the part of the prosecution was in, the justice remarked that it was needless for the defense to offer any testimony, as he was satisfied it was a case of attempted blackmail. Mr. Uebel was ordered to pay up the necessary papers to commence action against Mrs. Uebel for criminal libel and perjury.

Marriage License. Following are the marriage licenses issued yesterday in the county courts by Judge Shields: Walter Furlong, South Omaha, 27; Bridget Murphy, Omaha, 31; Ralph A. Barnard, St. Paul, 32; Mary G. Brown, St. Paul, 33; Nicholas B. Reinhardt, Omaha, 33; Flora F. Coater, Omaha, 33; E. Y. McDonald, Wheelock, Ia., 23; Abbie Mudgett, Wheeler's Grove, Ia., 18; Frank Johnson, Omaha, 28; Clara Shorning, Omaha, 27.

THE BOOMERS' PAMPHLETS.

Two Versions as to How They Got Through the Postoffice. James Creighton denies the report that he has been distributing Jefferson square literature through the postoffice delivery windows minus postage stamps and addresses. The Bee received its first information that such was the case from a gentleman to whom was handed one of the pamphlets last Sunday, and who said: "I saw several others treated in like manner."

Mr. Creighton on Fifteenth street and went at him with a demand to know what assurance he had for being so bold as to defy the postal laws and send out literature through the postoffice as an aid to his scheme.

The old gentleman braced up, assumed something of an indignant air, and vigorously declared that he was doing nothing of the kind.

"Are you not distributing your printed matter in the shape of dime novel pamphlets through the postoffice without having them properly stamped?" Every pamphlet circulated through that channel has been put up in a government wrapper. I bought $10 worth of them, and Tom Fitzmorris has been engaged in wrapping and addressing every document up to the postoffice."

After the interview with Mr. Creighton, a call was made on the postoffice, and under the reportorial investigation, and from what he could learn there the boomers either had a number of pamphlets and a certified attempt at fraud that was quickly discovered and charged against them, or a mistake was made some time ago by Woodard, who wrote the scribble a pile of the pamphlets, and they were found to be double in one cent government wrappers and each bore a name together with the number of the street at which it was left by the postman. Said he: "All the pamphlets of this kind given out here have been stamped by the postoffice."

Continuing his investigations further, the Bee representative sought Superintendent of Carriers Platt. He asserts that everyone of the polyglot pamphlets was properly stamped, stamped and addressed. He stated that the pamphlets were handed out through the press required by the postal regulations.

"But there are numerous complaints from citizens that the pamphlets were handed out by carriers minus wrapper, stamp or address," said the reporter. "Dozens of them have been handed out in this city, and they are being sent to business men when they called for their mail."

THEY SECRETLY CONSENT. "In addressing the pamphlets the names were taken from an old directory. You know in a city like Omaha people are constantly changing their names and addresses. If the addresses were wrong. To get rid of the pamphlets containing wrong addresses we secured the carriers to remove the wrappers and allow the carriers to hand them out to residents on their trips. That is why so many of the Jefferson square documents were delivered without stamps or addresses. The postal laws permit of our disposing of such matter in that way."

Mr. Creighton, the city wigmaw, was seen and said the pamphlets were mailed Saturday morning. From this it is deduced that from that time until Sunday noon, when the pamphlets were mailed, they were in the postoffice, enough time had not elapsed in which to determine that they were not properly addressed.

JIM AND JOHN.

They Forget to Set up the Beer For the Workers. Things were quiet about the Jefferson square wigmaw yesterday. In the reception room Secretary McArdle was found with a manly yellow dog for his only companion. He was going over a newspaper clipping, probably regarding the railroad. The window near him was open, and he occasionally looked across the street to a "sure-secure-for-rheumatism" advertisement seeking inspiration.

The yellow dog, after a sniff or two at the advertisement, turned in a circular motion and went to sleep. Nothing broke the dead silence that prevailed save the scratching of the great secretary's falcon, and an occasional rattling of the typewriter. The wigmaw was conforming with a few chosen followers in Room 21, across the hall.

The reporter, who was a visitor and the literary efforts of Mr. McArdle were alike interrupted by a voice from the doorway. "Mister McArdle," said the newcomer, whose name features in an ancient and indelible gentleman of foreign extraction. "Mister McArdle, them dinks down in the First ward are kicking over the traces. 'What's the matter with them?' inquired the great secretary.

"Well, it's all about the beer. They told the boys to hold 'em tight down there last night, and they would send down a keg of beer, and the beer didn't come. It was an over-exaggeration. We were so busy yesterday we forgot it. Tell 'em to hold a meeting to-night and we will send down two kegs."

"Yes, but they say they won't have anything more to do with you; that you broke your word and they will hereafter leave you alone. But I tell you that I'll get the beer depot when suddenly he was hurled from the track a distance of ten feet by a switch engine that approached from the rear. The beam of the engine, No. 1,168, struck him in the back, and threw him between the wheels of a flatcar which was standing on the opposite side of the track. He was cut by the cinders and clinkers on the track and a severe scalp wound was made in his head when it came in contact with the wheels of the flat car. He was unconscious for a short time, and afterwards conveyed to his room on Seventh avenue and Thirteenth street, where he now lies. He is not considered dangerous, but the blow which he received in the back has injured his spine and may result fatally or make a cripple of him. Mr. Hetzler is unmarried and is said to have parents residing at some point in Iowa. It was reported that he was running at a rapid rate and that no signal was sounded.

THE CHILL BLAST.

That sets the naked branches a-quivering is not felt by the wealthy valetudinarian indoors, but not all the covering that can be put on his warm bed, and the fire that warms that attractive car, furnish him with warmth along his chilled and anguished frame, to remedy the fierce fever and exhausting weakness which alternate with the chills. He is ague, acute, bilious, remittent—in short, every known form of malarial disease is suggested by this potent aid, at the same time, indigestion and general debility, nervousness, constipation, dyspepsia, sick headache, loss of appetite and sleep, kidney trouble, rheumatism and dizziness are also remedied by it. Use it with persistence to effect a thorough cure.

OPPOSED TO A CHANGE.

The Jobbers Want the City Hall Built on the Present Site. "The jobbers of Omaha are for the present site almost to a man," was A. H. Bishop's explanation as he met a Bee reporter at the Millard hotel entrance Sunday afternoon. Mr. Bishop is the Omaha manager of the Consolidated Tank line company.

"I am deeply interested in the result of this fight," he continued, "and from present indications we are certain to win. I have been putting in the afternoon among the business men talking Farnam street and arousing an interest in the contest that will bear good fruit on February 5. I have just had Ben Gallagher of Ashland & Gallagher and he, in common with the rest of the jobbing business south of Dodge street, are outspoken in opposition to the scheme of founding the city hall half a mile north of the business center. My Omaha plant is continually increasing its Omaha plant, and I am urging a still further increase. I want to see the business men and workmen come out on election day and show eastern capitalists that a promise made by a jobber is filled. The city hall was once located on Eighteenth and Farnam streets. There it should remain."

THE UNION PACIFIC'S ANSWER.

Why Its Telegraph System Should Not Be Interfered With. The Union Pacific through its attorney, has filed an answer in the United States court at this place in which it is made defendant by the Western Union Telegraph company, plaintiff. The respondent states that it has no knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief touching the matters therein alleged in the complaint filed by the plaintiff concerning the organization, rights, property and franchises claimed, or the successive consolidations therein, or of the rights thus acquired by the complainant. The defendant avers that between Omaha and Ogden, and between Omaha and Ogden along its line, a telegraph line, but it does not know or admit that such telegraph line was a line of telegraph, which was moved to and placed along defendant's line of road between Omaha and Ogden. Defendant admits that the telegraph line mentioned in a contract with the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph company, whereby the Union Pacific company undertook to lease and devote to public use, the telegraph line, and the telegraph lines and equipments to have and to hold the same during the whole term of the charter said to exist, and to remain thereafter, subject to the rights of the United States, and on condition that the said telegraph company would faithfully perform all the duties imposed by the Federal Government, and that the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph company in consideration of the lease, should pay to the Union Pacific company the stock of said telegraph company. The defendant states that in 1880 the American Union Telegraph company having constructed the telegraph line between Omaha and Omaha demanded that the defendant perform all of its telegraphic duties as specified in the act of Congress of 1878. In order to comply with the demand of said telegraph company it is alleged that the defendant states that it repossessed itself of said telegraph line and property that was formerly leased to the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph company on the ground that the right to lease the lines was beyond the power of the Union Pacific company. The defendant denies that the Western Union built the telegraph line from Kansas City to Denver, and maintains that the same line was built by the Western Union railroad company, now known as the Kansas Pacific railroad company, which is now a portion of the Union Pacific system, and also denies that the government owned the telegraph line from Kansas City to Denver, and maintains that the complainant as a performance by said company, and that the defendant is not a party to the construction of said line. On the contrary, it states that it was known to all the parties concerned that the telegraph line was the property of the railroad company. The defendant also claims that the telegraph line was built by the complainant as a performance by said company, and that the defendant is not a party to the construction of said line. On the contrary, it states that it was known to all the parties concerned that the telegraph line was the property of the railroad company. The defendant also claims that the telegraph line was built by the complainant as a performance by said company, and that the defendant is not a party to the construction of said line. VERY FEW SQUARE ADVOCATES. Convenience, Accessibility, Proximity and Faith With Investors The Reasons They Advance for the Present City Hall Site.

All Friends of Farnam Street. The preference given below are those of men who are heavy Omaha real estate owners, and consequently heavy taxpayers: Byron Reed—I am in favor of locating both the postoffice and city hall on the hill. Eighteenth occupies the same relation to Omaha as Fifth street does to St. Louis. The site is high and sightly and located on an eminence. The property in the vicinity can be bought cheap now, but in my opinion it is just as valuable for business purposes as the level ground below Fifteenth street. As regards those who invested money in property on the hill, I do not think it should have any bearing on the case; they took the risk without considering that private interests care nothing for public interests in the location of public buildings. Notwithstanding, I am decidedly in favor of completing the city hall on the present site.

Ex-Senator Saunders—I prefer the hill for all the public buildings. I helped to locate the present city hall on the hill, and I have never regretted it. It advertises Omaha. It is the first structure noticed by the traveler entering Omaha from any direction. I would prefer more ground in the present location, and it can be had if it is wanted. Jefferson square should be preserved for the use of the city, and the contents of the yellow-covered pamphlet. During my recent visit to New York City I was struck by the beauty of the public squares which abound. No public building is near them, but the front doors of the leading hotels of the metropolis open out on them. Private capital has been built up around them, and the strength of Omaha's promise, once expressed at the polls, that the city hall would be erected on Eighteenth street. Our firm denies that the government owned the Farnam streets to Missouri capitalists on the promise that the New York City would erect their magnificent new building, and that the city would erect its building at a distance. I am strongly opposed to a change of site.

Mr. Millard (speaking for the Ezra Millard estate)—The Farnam street site offers abundant room to erect a building to accommodate a city of 40,000 people, and the cost of the building is less than that of the present location, and is central and accessible. The location has been decided once, and if it is to be changed, it should be done immediately.
