W. S. Collins, of Bonanza, Johnson county, Wyoming, has just arrived in the city. He is the recorder of the famous Bonanza Oil Mining district in the Big Horn Basin.

The samples of petroleum that he has just brought in beats the record so far. He is enthusiastic over the prospect in the basin. He reports that the weather is still fine but a little snow in the mountains, and says the cattle are in splendid condition and that it is the finest climate in the world. Anyone who is thinking of investing in oil lands would do well to call on the gentleman, who can be found for a few days at the office of Hon. L. H. Bradley, Rooms 4 and 6, 1511 Farnam street, as he has the choice oil lands and they can be procured from first hands. He will cheerfully furnish any information desired—in regard to oil, coal and desert lands, country, hunting, fishing, the best time to visit that country, etc., etc.

We note with pleasure that the firm of M. Heiman & Co., clothing, has started a new era in placing before the public special bargains in men's and boys' clothing, overcoats, etc. In another column this firm place before the public a list of bargains which appear phenomenal, and but for the fact that this firm had been so long and favorably known in Omaha and actively identified with its growth and interests, we should think it were impossible to dispose of goods at such marvellously low figures. But it is a well known and recognized fact that their work is as good as their bond, and they will do exactly what they promise and offer. It is desired, however, that intending purchasers to carefully examine their list and they will be wiser and wealthier for it.

"What Fools We Morals Be."

Would you believe the Grocer's association have "boycotted" the Hayden Soap Co. of Omaha because it sells Hayden Bros. Omaha made soap, and now the same association threaten to "boycott" the great makers of South Omaha if they sell Hayden Bros. hams, or anything else in the line. Hayden Bros. do not wish to offend the association, but they will join to combine to extort unreasonable profits from the people who favor them with their patronage.

Any one who has been at Hayden's may know what a pleasant grocery department they have, and how useless the same space would be for any other purpose. The Grocer's association is making so much ado about the prices that few people would suppose the grocer very the best paying department in Hayden's business. There are no grocers to take big losses on, and no goods going out of style, and if the reckless strife for trade continues in dry goods, Hayden Bros. will adopt the grocery business exclusively.

Every body knows that dry goods merchants have been advertising to give 20 to 30 per cent discount all last month to influence trade. Who can live in the face of such competition? Not even "Smith," in his widest efforts to win trade, with all his peculiar superiority of his own methods of discount and his matchless skill in buying, ever resorted to such ruinous practices. Hayden Bros. have been obliged to refuse even the dressmakers the customary 3 per cent discount, so close have the prices been cut in dry goods. How would the grocer and sausage, all our own make. By buying meat of Marsh for cash you will save about 40 per cent. of your money, and by trying our meats you will find that we handle first class quality. We are the chief concern of the city. Telephone orders promptly attended to from the Washington market. Tel. No. 701.
