THE SPECULATIVE MARKETS.

Wheat Again Climbs Up to the Dollar Notch.

CORN DEVOID OF STRENGTH.

Provisions Opened Nervous, But After Taking a Drop Rallied and More Than Regained Lost Ground.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The wheat market opened about ½c higher this morning and the price never once rot back to the starting point during the session. The official initial quotation was 97¾c for May, but more wheat was bought at ¾@¼c above that figure than at it. The opening range was in reality 97¾@98¼c, and the price was run up to 98⅝c. it sold back to 98¼c, and then shot up to 98⅝c. Three times thereafter the price got to 98¼c, and once to 98¼@98¾c. That was on the break that followed the announcement of the visible supply decrease of 72,000 bushels, which was 300,000 bushels less than some statisticians made. The market ranged at 98¼@98⅝c for an hour or more after 11 o'clock. There was plenty of wheat for sale above 98½c, and the buying by Baker and other bulls prevented a break below the limit named. The reaction not being what the scalpers expected, they started to cover. To their consternation they found little property for sale, and the result was a rapid advance to 99¼@99⅝c. The price subsequently found its way back to 99c; but the tone was strong, and during the last twenty minutes an advance to $1 was scored, the close being at the top. The closing price was at $1, the extreme outside. The advance was a great surprise to the multitude. The later phases of the trading session were entirely contrary to the popular expectation. On every ½c or so gain a big lot of wheat came on the market, causing stopping places and even small reactions, but these brief periods of seeming weakness and depression proved delusive. The offerings were licked up and the buying by recognized bull houses was kept right up. Baker had the first peg in but later other houses set the pace and supplied fuel to keep the pot boiling. The shorts, too, were industrious buyers. July closed at 90¼c. It is not clear wherein the situation has undergone any important change recently. The bulls and bears alike claim to be satisfied with the prevailing condition. The visible supply decreases steadily, and there is no export movement to speak of. The western markets are relatively higher than the eastern markets, yet farmers' deliveries throughout the interior are at about the lowest ebb yet reached on the crop, and the milling demand is sufficient to have caused a reduction in the visible stocks at every winter wheat point of accumulation last week, and the millers are still picking up wheat. The total visible supply is now about 34,874,548 bushels, or 6,212,030 bushels less than on the corresponding date last year.

The corn market was devoid of strength or activity. The firmness which it was showing during the past week has totally disappeared and the free sellers were again in the majority. The receipts of the day were very largely in excess of Saturday's estimates, and the prediction of nearly six hundred cars as the arrivals for to-morrow was more powerful in its effect upon men's minds than anything that could be urged on the other side. The increase of 149,000 bushels in the visible supply was likewise depressing in its effects, as this was effected in the face of as heavy an export movement as can be reasonably looked for. The export inquiry continues to be fairly active at New York and Baltimore to-day, but the clearances at the seaboard on Saturday were on a much smaller scale than on the previous days of the week. The fluctuations of the wheat market, which occasionally exercises an influence upon this cereal, were disregarded to-day, corn apparently being too heavy to be lifted by any buoyancy not immediately applied to itself. The price at the close was ¼c lower than on Saturday.

The report of the visible supply of oats indicated a decrease during the week of 43,500 bushels, but this was offset by an increase in local stock of more than 31,000 bushels. The receipts and estimates for to-morrow were both liberal and the speculative branch of the market was dormant, with a weak tendency noted. There were sellers of May at 27¾c, with light trading at that figure, and June was neglected at ¼c discount. The near months were nominally easy, and No. 2 cash was dull at 25¾c to go to store. For No. 3, white, 25c was paid.

Provisions covered a little wider range than usual in the fluctuations for May delivery. Pork sold between $11.45 and $11.70, lard between $6.92½ and $7.02½ and short ribs between $6.10 and $6.22½. Trade was nervous, though after quite a drop in the morning, a much stronger feeling was manifested than the bear element expected.

A good run of hogs at the stock yards opened the market in a depressed manner and for a time the movement was strongly against holders. As the day advanced the condition of affairs changed sharply. The ground lost was recovered and at the close prices all around stood at Saturday's last prices or a shade higher.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—CATTLE—There is but little to say concerning the market to-day. As was expected, the receipts were overwhelming, some 6,000 more than a week ago, bringing about a down turn of 15@25c as compared with the close of last week, on the ordinary run of steers such as shippers and dressed beef dealers can use. The salesmen went out to hunt buyers and when such were corralled they never got away if they made anything like respectable offers. All descriptions of butchers' stock and good heifers and cows shared in the down turn and there was little or nothing going on in the stocker and feeder trade. Farmers are too much discouraged over last year's work to go into feeding next year with anything like hope or enthusiasm. Choice beeves, $4.00@4.30; medium to good steers, 1350 to 1500 lbs, $3.40@4.00; 1200 to 1350 lbs, $3.25@3.65; 950 to 1200 lbs, $3.00@3.30; stockers and feeders, $2.30@3.40; cows, bulls and mixed, $1.40@3.00; bulls, $2.10@2.40; Texas steers, $2.50@3.50.

HOGS—Trade opened slow with the first sales showing slight declines, but later on there was an active demand, and at the close values were fully a nickel higher than the average of Saturday, the bulk of mixed selling at $4.20 and best heavy at $4.75. Light sorts sold at $4.95@5.10. Packers were liberal buyers, and the shipping orders were also liberal as compared with last Monday. Light mixed sold largely at $4.75, and there was a brisk demand for such.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Feb 4.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—STOCKS—The New York stock market opened irregular and lower this morning. The coal stocks, New England and Missouri Pacific declined ⅝; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, 1. The adverse decision of Judge Brewer in the Iowa commissioners case has worked quite a change in the sentiment and has induced the free selling of long stocks. A great many prominent operators who have been working on the bull side, have changed their position and are now active on the bear side. The decision is a serious blow to western railroads, as the low schedule of rates will have to go into effect, and prominent railroad men declare that no road can earn dividends with these rates in force. The London market also felt the effect of the decision and cables brought large realizing orders this morning. There was considerable falling off in the demand for stocks in the loan crowd and this had its influence on the room traders and they put out a fresh line of shorts. The market for specialties, however, continues quite active and strong. Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis advanced 1¼, and the big four 1⅝ per cent. The low priced stocks, whereever they have any real merit, are in good demand, and there is much said in favor of Cotton Seed Oil, New England, Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred and Union Pacific. Cammack continues bearish, especially on grangers and Lackawanna. He says, however, that he would sell Atchison in view of the great decline it has already had. The commission houses were buying, and they continue to talk in a favorable strain. The bond market was again active and strong and money was in plentiful supply at 1¾@2 per cent. The stock market was active and irregular during the afternoon. The Chicago houses were free sellers, especially of grangers. The close is rather steady and somewhat better than the low prices of the morning. The net decline for the day shows Chicago, Burlington & Quincy 1⅝, Rock Island, St. Paul and Pullman, each ¾, and Northwestesn ⅝ per cent. Vanderbilts were the strong features and show handsome gains. Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis advanced 1¾, Canada Southern 1¼, Cotton Seed Oil ⅝, Western Union, ¼, and Milwaukee, Lake Shore & Western ⅝ per cent. The total sales for the day amounted to 230,000 shares, including Reading, 18,000; Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis, 11,000; New England, 10,000; Western Union, 17,000; St. Paul, 18,000; Erie, 10,000; Lackawanna, 14,000; Canada Southern, 10,000; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, 4,000.

Cattle.

Monday, Feb. 4, 1889.

It is no easy matter to write a satisfactory report of the cattle market to-day. The reports were extremely unfavorable from eastern points, and that fact, together with the extremely high wind, which threatened to blow everyone out of the yards, had anything but a good effect upon the market here. The buyers did anywhere from 15@ 25c lower than Saturday, and they did not appear anxious for the cattle even at those prices, but hung around the exchange as close as possible to escape the wind. Before the market closed, however, quite a little trading had been done.

Hogs.

The market was fairly active at a decline of 5c, and the few hogs here were soon sold.

Sheep.

There were four good loads of westerns here to-day, but the feeling in the market was easier and the trade slow.

Live Stock Notes.

Cattle demoralized.

Hog market 5c lower.

Sheep market slow and easier.

All kinds of stock lower.

No one remained in the yards who could find any possible excuse to stay in-doors, on account of the heavy wind.

Ever since the Rock Island withdrew all its cars from the yards and refused to handle South Omaha business there has been a good deal of speculation as to the meaning of the seemingly peculiar move. The representatives of the road have invariably answered all inquiries for information in the subject with the evasive "I can't say what it is done for." There is, however, a strong prejudice against the road growing among its former patrons and friends and the breach widens as time passes with no reasonable excuse for the action of the road being given. At one time the Rock Island had about as fine a business as any road leading out of the yards, but the way shippers and stockmen talk it is quite evident that it would take a long time and an immense amount of hard work for the road to ever win back the business it formerly had.
