THE OPEN AND SHUT GAME.

The Gambling Devices Stored Away Until the Grand Jury Quits.

THE DAY IN THE DISTRICT COURT

A Desperado Cleverly Captured—The Meaning of the Big Real Estate Deals—Young Burke's Case.

Fearing the Grand Jury. There was no gambling going on yesterday at any of the places, and all of the owners had virtually shut up shop.

Why it was done or how long it will last are matters of conjecture. The general impression is that it is simply a repetition of the move made last year to throw the grand jury of the track.

The gambling houses and saloons were all closed until after the grand jury adjourned, when they were reopened, and were soon running as openly and boldly as ever.

For the past two days the grand jury has been investigating the complaints against the gambling houses, and a large number of witnesses have been examined.

Whether or not this alarmed the gamblers is not known, but certain it is that early yesterday morning every gambling house in the city was closed, that is, all carous, checks and other apparatuses mysteriously disappeared.

The tables were pushed back against the walls, chairs piled on them, and everything presented a most forlorn and lonesome appearance.

This move is only tried when Judge Thornell is on the bench, and is evidently held in wholesome fear by the gamblers. The grand jury has not yet reported on these cases, and the result of the investigations of that body will be watched with interest.

In the meantime the gamblers are standing quietly in the background anxiously awaiting the turn of the die.

In the District Court. The case of J. C. Her and Henry W. Griswold, trustees, et al involves the title to forty acres of land near Manawa, that was sold by Isham Wright during the boom, to O. P. McKisson for $5,000.

The latter organized a syndicate that purchased it for $8,000. Before the deed was completed it became somewhat complicated, and a misunderstanding arose.

The syndicate claims that they were not to pay $8,000 for the land, and Mr. Wright took a mortgage for a part of the claim. The claim has not been fully settled, and there is now trouble among the members of the syndicate.

The attorneys for the plaintiff are Bartlett & Conish and Scott & Scott, of Omaha. Mr. Bartlett and Colonel Scott are attending to the case in court. John N. Baldwin appears for the defendants.

The grand jury reported when the court opened in the afternoon, and returned the indictments against William Maher, obtaining money under false pretenses; Ira McCollom, forgery; Charles Perry, forgery; G. H. Wallace, larceny.

A Desperado Taken. Sheriff O'Connell yesterday morning arrested Hicks Oden, a notorious desperado, at his home nine miles south of this city.

Hicks is the man who shot at Mr. A. Louie, as the latter was returning to this city from Lake Manawa one evening in the early part of last September.

Hicks was returning to his home from this city, and had been drinking enough to be unusually ugly. He shot a fine bull belonging to Mr. Jenkins, which was in a pasture by the roadside, and also "held up" Mr. McGarry, south of Manawa. Mr. Louie associated with him, and information was filed against him. An indictment was subsequently returned against him by the grand jury at the September term of court, but Hicks had skipped out.

He returned home a short time ago, and the sheriff, hearing of it, effected the arrest. As Hicks was known to be a desperate character, the arrest was made just at daylight. The desperado was found in bed, and pretended to be sick, but he yielded to the persuasion of the sheriff and came back with him.

The residents in that locality are greatly rejoiced over the arrest, as the four Oden brothers are a tough outfit and have completely terrorized the neighborhood for a long time. The trial of Hicks Oden will come up at the present term of court. There are two counts, assault with intent to commit murder, and assault and battery. He is now in the city jail, and is confined in the county jail.

the land is to be made even more valuable. What it may be, it does not mean a wonderful change of Lake Manawa and other changes which will benefit the city at large.

Young Burke's Accounts. The work of examining the books of Deputy City Clerk John Burke was continued yesterday by Alderman Weaver, who is chairman of the finance committee, and John Wagner, an accountant.

It is claimed that the shortage is about $1,000.

Young Burke's friends say that he will be back within a few days, and then the other side of the case will be made clear. Thus far only one side has been given, and the examination of the books and accounts shows that they are correct.

Burke is said to be only temporarily absent, and on his return some, if not all, of these alleged shortages may be satisfactorily accounted for. If a thorough examination of the books by disinterested parties shows that any errors exist, by which the city is the loser, this loss will be made good. The young man would probably have been back before this but for the sensation excited, and the natural fear which a young inexperienced man might feel as to the terrible consequences to follow such serious charges. His friends justly ask that public opinion be held in abeyance until by his return and by an unprejudiced and careful examination of the accounts, the exact facts may be learned.

If the statement is correct that there has been no systematic and thorough checking up of accounts for some time past, it indicates a looseness in the methods of conducting city business, which would make mistakes liable in any department. It does not seem that all the alleged discrepancies can thus be accounted for, for until a chance is given the young man to state his side it is felt that there should not be too speedy a verdict of guilty.

The greatest sympathy is expressed by all for the father who has for over thirty years served the public in various municipal offices, mainly as city clerk. The very fact that at the close of so long a service in office he has no property to show for his years of labor, is proof sufficient that he has not been improving the opportunities given him of making the public his pocket.

There is not a citizen who doubts Squire Burke's honesty, and it therefore seems peculiarly hard that such a charge should rest against his son.

No warrant has yet been issued, and no attempt is being made by the authorities to hasten young Burke's return.

Zachariah Spicer will be at Masonic temple to-night.

City Council Proceedings. The city council met in regular session last evening. The mayor and a full board of aldermen, except Bellinger, were present. E. F. True acted as deputy clerk.

The committees of the various churches and religious organizations of the city were present, and through their chosen representative, Dr. Phelps, of the Presbyterian church, presented petitions requesting an enforcement of the laws relating to the saloons, gambling houses and houses of ill fame.

The organizations requesting were, the Presbyterian, Baptist, congregational and Methodist churches, Y. M. C. A. and Methodist Sunday school. The petitions were referred to the judiciary committee for sale from $100 to $500 less than present worth.

into a more commodious house because of it.

Do not waste your money on newspapers to see what they have to say about the new arrival.

Do not tell your friends about it more than eight times a day.

Do not charge admission to ladies who want to see it, or overestimate its drawing attractions by taking it on a starting tour through the suburbs.

There are some things that suburban residents won't pay to see, and one of them is the first tooth of another man's baby.

If you deposit $100 in the bank in the child's name as a reward for his gallant feat, do not draw it out again under six months if you want to get interest on it.

Do not ask your wife to let you take the tooth down to the club with you to show to the boys. You'll have to take the baby with you if you do, and if there is one thing that is more out of place than another in a club it is a one-toothed baby.

Do not overtax the tooth, and see that baby does not bite off more than he can chew.

If the tooth is loose don't pull it out and have it set in a ring, nor must you fasten it in more firmly with straitina. Let nature take its course.

Do not be disappointed if the first tooth comes without gold filling in it.

By a judicious observance of these two golden rules regarding your baby you may have a tooth without subjecting the world to any undue excitement, and without disturbance to the stock market.

I have moved my office to Omaha, at which all orders will be received and from which all deliveries will be made by wagon. L. M. FINKELSTEIN.

The Preacher Saved Their Necks. Two negro murderers would have been hanged by a mob at Rock Hill, S. C., the other day if it had not been for the timely appearance of the Rev. Mr. White, pastor of the Presbyterian church of that place.

The negroes were Bob Lee and Henry Tate, and they were accused of killing W. C. Abernethy. Lee confessed to the jailer that he and Tate had murdered Abernethy and robbed his store.

A great deal of feeling was aroused against the negroes and soon a good sized mob, with ropes flying in the air, started for the jail to swing up the prisoners. When they were within a few yards of the jail a man came running up, and jumping on the porch of a store, cried out: "Hold on! hold on! The mob recognized the Rev. Mr. White and stopped to listen. He urged them to allow the law to take its course.

When he had talked fifteen minutes the mob began to cool down and finally some one called out that the lynching should be postponed until another time. After a little wrangling this proposition was agreed to and the mob dispersed. Lee and Tate were rushed off by the authorities to safer quarters.
