N. Y. Plumbing company. Coaland wood. E.E. Mayne, 619 B'way. Little Curtis street has been ordered opened forthwith.

J. A. Murphy has been awarded the contract for the construction of a sixfoot sidewalk on Lower Broadway.

Work on the new elevator in the government building is nearly com-pleted, and the cage will be ready for bustness by the first of next week.

An important meeting of the P. E. O. is called for this morning at 10 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. A. P. Hanchett; on Fourth street. A full attendance is desired.

The funeral of Mr. Norman Green took place at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence, corner of Pierce and Franklin, and was attended by a large number of the friends of the deceased.

The whisky cases come up for trial in the district court this morning. There are several applications for temporary injunctions, but these cases will probably all go by default, as the defendants will not appear.

The move for paving Eighth street to the city limits is meeting with great favor. When connected with a boulevard to Lake Manawa it will be a great drive, and make Eighth street a busy thoroughfare.

Hereafter the city fire department will be supplied with hay and other feed by contract, let to the lowest responsible bidder. The contract for the hay supply for five months, from Feb-ruary I, has been let to H. J. Clark, at $5.50 per ton.

The vestry of St. Paul's church has finally decided to accept the resignation of Rev. T. J. Mackay. This action was reluctantly taken, and it is a matter greatly regretted by both the members of his church and the public generally that Mr. Mackay could not be induced to remain here as rector of St. Paul's.

Peter Steinhauser, of Irwin, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hunter yesterday morning for violating the internal revenue laws by selling whisky without a license. He was bound over to the federal grand jury in the sum of $200. The arrest was made by Deputy United States Marshal Weyland, of Harlan.

Negotiations are now pending for the purchase of 256 acres of land in the western part of the city by a syndicate which is already largely interested in Council Bluffs realty. The amount to be paid is about $250,000, and it is stated upon reliable authority that the deeds will be filed for record inside of three weeks.

The case of Messrs. Kimball & Champ for violating city ordinances by allowing a sign to remain on the sidewalk after being notified to remove it, was yesterday continued by Judge Aylesworth at the request of the defendants until next Monday morning. The marshal has been enjoined from removing the sign, and the defendants are prepared to vigorously contest the case.

At the last meeting of the school board the following resolution was adopted accepting the line cabinet of minerals presented to the school district a short time ago: Whereas, General G. M. Dodge and

N. P. Dodge have presented the inde-pendent school district of Council Bluffs with a large and valuable collection of mineral specimens, together with an appropriate cabinet for a proper arrangement and display of the same; therefore be it Resolved, That we most heartily accept the same and tender them the sincere thanks of this board for so valuable a gift, and will ever point to this collec-tion as a momento of the liberality and deep interest they manifest in the welfare and advancement of our public schools. This large and scientific collection places us in the lead for the study of mineralology, for which those having the opportunity to examine will ever be thankful to the honorable donors, as the valuable collection represents thousands of miles of travel and many rare and costly gems.

The deplorable condition of Seventh street, in the southern part of the city, has caused the property owners in that locality no little trouble. It has been almost monopolized by the railroads with their freight trains, switching business, and the street intersections glass of beer. Here the pursuer was in a quandary as to whether the parsued was in the tin cup belonging to the old woman or in the money drawer in the saloon, but soon all doubt was removed, and there was a revelation at the same time. The tin cup was picked up from the music-box for the purpose of investigating, but the moment it was removed two bead-like eyes were opened by the supposed blind woman and a scrawny hand grabbed the cup while the old hag fumed with rage. Just as the woman was about to receive ten cents for the marked nickel a drunken brawler came staggering along the street and kicked the music-box with his heavy shoe, knocking it into the gutter. He then took the money from the tin cup while the old lady shivered with fright, and hastily boarded a car coming down town, giving the marked nickel to the conductor. Two squares away, the piece of money, which had passed from the drunkard's filthy pocket to his filthier hand, and then to the conductor, was given in change to a fashionably attired young girl who got on the car, and she put it in her mouth while she fished around among the folds of her silk dress to find her pocketbook. She went to one of the big dry goods houses on Chestnut street, and, in keep ing with her curiosity, got on a scale to weigh herself, dropped the marked nickel in the slot, and it was lost from

WANTED-Good girl for general housework, Mrs. L. A. Devine, 312 Platner st. A Lemon and a Small Boy Badly FOR RENT - The barber shop and bath room, all ready furnished, of the new Pacific hotel, South Omaha. Break Up a German Band.

One of Germady's diminutive bands ranged itself before a beer saloon on Vine street Saturday afternoon and began a desperate struggle with "The Little Fisherman." says the Philadel-phia North American. The clarionet player was an obese individual with protruding eyes and buff whiskers. They did quite well for a while, and the prospects of a double round of beer grew infinitely brighter. Two or three small boys with dirty faces came up. One was sucking a emon. The clarionet player was gazing at the residue in the gutter and played in a dreamy sort of way. He had just reached the staccato part of waltz movement.

He stopped a moment to breathe and turned around and looked the boy square in the face. The lad was suck ing the lemon vigorously and gazing at the man with the buff whiskers.

The Teuton's mouth began to water. His tongue slipped into the orifice of the clariouet and fell over two or three bars. He turned around and so did the boy, when this dialogue eussed: "Gott in Himmel!--"

The boy kept on sucking. The German's power to play with proper emphasis and in the right time was gone. His clarionet emitted a series of wonderful discords. The leader frowned like a Cossack and emptied his cornet. The bass player was enamored of a picture of a stout man astride a beer keg, and kept on regardless of everything. He blew into the freekled horn with unceasing regularity and perseverance. The boy kept on.

In vain the German tried to keep up. At last he made a fearful lunge for

This will be remedied, so says the city council. The marshal has been instructed to order a discontinuance of this practice, and a filling of the walk to grade. This work is to be done without delay.

There is a great deal of complaint from various parts of the city on ac-count of the lamentable condition of sidewalks. The city council has taken the proper action relative to the matter. The sidewalk committee will make an examination of the walks in all portions of the city, and make immediate report to the council, who will order the neces sary work done immediately.

Must Show Up or Quit.

Alderman Bellinger must either attend the meetings of the city council or resign his seat. So say the balance of the city fathers. At the last meeting of the council the city clerk was instructed to transmit this order to the alderman of the Second ward. The other members say it is a rare thing, these days, to see the genial face of the doctor at the council's sessions, and this mode is adopted to bring him to time.

To Divide the Wards.

At the next meeting of the city council it is expected that the city solicitor will present an ordinance dividing both the Second and Fourth wards. He has been so instructed by the city council. It is the intent to fix the matter so that the mayor can issue a proclamation im-mediately and the people be heard at the spring election. This desire on the part of the people is by no means a new thing, but with the rapid growth of the wards referred to during the past two years a complete representation is neces-sary. This is the feeling of a large number of the residents of the wards

An account appeared in these columns a short time ago of a strike among the colored employes at the Ogden house. The strikers sued for wages alleged to be due them in amounts ranging from 14 cents to as many dollars. According to the rules of the house notice of leaving must be given ten days in advance, or wages due are forfeited. The first case was tried before 'Squire Schurz, and judgment was rendered for the plaintiff. An appeal was taken, and the other cases were tried before 'Souire Barnett. Yesterday he decided for the defendant, and the waiters are left out in the cold.

The residents in Hall's addition, and other additions lying north of Hall's, are having some difficulty in establishing their property lines. It seems that in Hall's, when the addition was platted and sold more land was given in the measurements than there was in the addition. To make good this shortage, and each man get what he paid for, the property owners have run their lines into the streets. Avenues C, D, E, F and G are all narrower than they should be, in some cases a deficit of twenty feet being found. For some time the matter has been in the hands of the city council. The city engineer has been instructed to run the proper lines to give the streets their necessary width. In doing this some curious things were developed. The old powder house stands in the center of Avenue G. One man has dug his well in the street, while another one has his front yard and one-half his house in the street. A proper adjust-ment of the difficulties is demanded, and as the law provides for a method giving an equitable division the matter has been placed in the hands of the city engineer and solicitor for settlement.

Alderman Lacy's Record.

Some time ago a city paper took occasion to criticise the, what it termed, actions of Alderman Lacy, relative to certain public improvement work which had been completed. The doughty alderman denied any such action as charged, and demanded an examination by the city council and board of trade (the latter to represent the business interests of the city). The council designated the mayor and newly elected members as an investigating committee. That committee has made its re-port, which states that a full investiga-tion of the charges has been made and nothing has been found in the actions of the aldermen in question to warrant such charges. This report was received at the last meeting of the council, adopted without dissent, and ordered spread upon the records.

There were three peace disturbers in the police court yesterday morning. Oscar Brewer was the first one. He had given a dance on the preceding evening, and one fellow tried to get in without paying. Oscar objected, and there was trouble. He paid costs and was discharged. Jim Hickey's offense consisted in slap-

The Marshal's Ire. For some time Marshal Guanella has been persistently "roasted" by the World, and yesterday morning th World reporter and the city official met at the city building. A war of words ensued, and the outcome was that the marshal forbid the reporter entering the city jail. He stated that if he did enter the building he would be ordered out, and if he refused to go he would be kicked out in a most vigorous manner. It is now stated that the case will

will be brought to the attention of the council, and the opinion of the city solicitor asked for concerning the right of the marshal to keep the offending reporter out of his office.

TRACING A NICKEL.

Many Hands Through Which a Coin Passed in a Few Hours. Curiosity as to how a coin traveled about from one pecket to another and what was the character of the different hands it passed through prompted a re-porter for the Philadelphia Record to pursue an erratic nickel recently. Sc after putting a private mark upon the coin it was spent for a cigar and then followed about town for a few hours. After lingering in a cigar store for a few moments a howling dude came in and bought a package of "cigarettes," receiving the marked nickel, with some other coins, in change. He walked down Chestnut street a short distance and invested the nickel in a lunch cafe. From this place it went to a little boy with ragged clothes and tattered shoes, who sold some papers there. The boy ran wildly up the street and jumped on a rapidly moving car, giving the repor-ter a mighty big tussle to keep up with him. On the car an elderly man bought two of the evening papers and received the marked nickel as part of his change out of a quarter. About a dozen blocks away he got off the car and gave the traveling coin to a fruit vender in payment for some apples.

The coin was placed upon the stand with some others, but it did not remain there long, for when the swarthy Italian turned his back for a moment a sneakturned his back for a moment a sneak-ing young man came along and grabbed a handful of the money, and then dis-appeared in the crowd without being observed, save by the reporter. The thief had the nickle and he was closely followed. A few squares away there was given an exhibition which showed conclusively that there are tender conclusively that there are tender places in the hearts of even the hardest criminals. An old woman, apparently blind, sat on the edge of the sidewalk nearest the gutter, grinding tunes from a wheezy music box. The young thief looked at the woman for a moment, saw the hag-gard features that peeped out from an old shawl loosely hung over her head, and then looked with a longing gaze at
