Examined the Blind Asylum.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Feb. 13.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—The house committee of ten members, with S. P. Caldwell, chairman, arrived in the city this evening from Lincoln, and inspected the blind asylum at a late hour to-night, and took in the town afterward. They refused to express an opinion on the construction, but acknowledged that the work was not as good as it might be. However, there were anchors in the building every six feet, the statement of the workmen and the superintendent to the contrary notwithstanding. Paul Schmitt accompanied the committee and the talking, explaining the asylum the best work in the state. Very little time was spent in the inspection. A report will be made on their return to Lincoln. No architect accompanied them, as it was expected there would. The committee was in the morning, and returned to Beatrice, which damages their work.
