Clark in the performance of his duty and threatened to kill him, they were discharged. The prisoners were Chris Popenhagen and his son, William, Constable August Smith, Justice of the Peace Kelsey and Chris Koch. These trains have first-class equipment, consisting of smoking and first-class day coaches of the latest pattern. The new train will be a long felt want, and is bound to be popular.

Two Thousand Dollars in Cold Hard Cash

Is the amount that the old, original Bankers' Life association of Des Moines, represented by their general agent, W. C. Beer, paid to Mrs. Lida M. Boyer yesterday, in the parlors of the Omaha National bank. The Bankers' Life association of Des Moines, Ia., is the first insurance company to pay the loss on Mr. Boyer, and is the old, original, conservative company of that name. A policy in its favor costs about $8 per thousand, per annum. The company is represented in Omaha and Council Bluffs by W. C. Beer, in Omaha National bank building.

THE CRECHE.

The New Institution Which is to be opened Tuesday. Deft fingers and willing feet were freely turned yesterday in the new creche for the public reception to-day.

The ladies have received some contributions of furniture but need more. Donations of furniture will be especially acceptable. The new building is one in which the society may well take pride.

The exterior has often been described in the papers and needs no mention here. The interior is admirably arranged. Entering through the front door into a small hall, the visitor turns to the left into the ladies' reception room, a cozy little apartment about sixteen feet square. There are two chairs, the large airy playroom, and back of this is the dining room. Off from the dining room are the kitchen, bath and pantries, and on the south side is the room where the babies will be received. Adjoining this are two bath rooms, and closets for clothes. Being received here through the side entrance the little ones will be treated to a bath and a change of clothes before they will be allowed to join the other children.

In the basement the laundry, coal and vegetable cellars and the storage room are located. Up stairs are the nursery, sick room, matron's room, servants' rooms, bath room and dining room. There are two in the latter, one for girls and one for boys, so situated that the matron can overlook both. They are large and well ventilated and furnished with neat iron beds.

There is also a commodious attic which, if the necessity for more room becomes apparent, can be readily converted into sleeping rooms.

The reception will take place from 2 to 10 p. m. to-morrow with the following committees: Reception—Mrs. T. L. Kimball, president; Mrs. Walker, vice president; Mrs. Thos. Kilpatrick, treasurer; Mrs. W. S. Curtis, secretary; Mrs. Wan. Wallace, chairman; W. J. Broath, Mrs. Thomas Casey, Mrs. J. Connell, Mrs. Henry Akin, Mrs. L. A. Groff, Mrs. A. H. Pratt, Mrs. A. A. Allen, Mrs. E. Martin, Mrs. C. M. Hitchcock, Mrs. J. C. Cowin, Mrs. E. Rosewater, Mrs. E. D. Vance, Mrs. A. D. Moore, Mrs. Burlington and Mrs. Geo. A. Joslin.

That Tired Feeling

Affects nearly every one in the spring. The system having become enervated by the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparil is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

THE STRIKING TAILORS.

They Stand Firm and So Does the Opposition. The striking tailors are still out and there is no present indication of a speedy settlement of the difficulties existing between them and their former employers.

The strikers are being reinforced by the occasional coercion to unionism of some of the non-union men now employed in the shops. A gang of makers who began working for Helin & Thompson Wednesday quit yesterday and joined the strikers, and a coat maker employed since the strike by Itance quit Wednesday night without finishing the garment he was working on.

Guclert & McDonald yesterday received a letter from Chicago which stated that a company of non-union tailors were then ready to come to Omaha if their fare should be paid. The firm decided to forward the money and the men will be here to-day.

"We are not working for ourselves any," said Mr. McDonald, of the same firm. "It is a full time right between two seasons, and to tell you the truth, we have a man here now, a pantsmaker, whom we didn't have work for and had to send him in to Helin & Thompson. The merchant tailors are helping each other fill orders, and we are getting along swimmingly."

In the meantime the journeymen continue to hold frequent meetings at Groff's hall and at what transpires during these conferences they maintain a strict reticence. The merchants assure that the strikers insinuated that they would be willing to compromise, but the journeymen deny this, and say that they will have what they ask for or nothing.

The merchants are held a meeting at Range's yesterday afternoon and adopted a new bill of prices. There is a decided increase in the scale from the old bill. The price for dresscoats remains unchanged, but for frock and sack coats and overcoats there is a general decrease of one dollar, while in some instances the reduction is still greater, as for instance in the case of single-breasted suits, the price has been reduced from $10 to $8. In the prices paid for pants, a reduction of 50 and 75 cents has been made, and in the case of vests the former prices have all been reduced 25 cents. There is also a marked reduction in extras.

This bill, the merchants assert, is still higher than the one paid in St. Paul. In fact, the merchants here and in St. Paul, Minneapolis and the same as paid by the first class houses in Chicago and Denver.

Last night the journeymen tailors held another meeting, and the sentiment in favor of standing firm was unanimous. They say that they will win because their demands are just and reasonable.

Racking His Bond.

William H. Bridge applied to the district court yesterday for a peremptory writ of mandamus to require Justice of the Peace R. D. Wade to accept a bond to appeal an attachment case from his court. The suit was brought by John G. Peasner to attach a large quantity of flour belonging to Bridge. Justice Wade rendered a judgment in favor of the plaintiff, and Bridge made an effort to justify the cause to the district court, but the justice, he claims, would not accept any bond that he offered.

LES MISERABLES.

A Choice Selection of Them Before the Police Justice.

John Sedeleak lay in the cooler over night for being drunk and insulting Miss Anna Flola who lives at 1430 south Thirtieth street. When Officer Sebeck attempted to arrest him he made a vigorous resistance but was overcome by force. When arraigned he attempted to win the judge's sympathy by telling how he was injured by the collar of his house several weeks ago. The judge smiled and fined him $12.50.

John Peal, a vagrant who has been so often before the judge that his honor averts whenever he puts in an appearance, was arraigned Wednesday, but he claimed that he had a job of work and was released. Yesterday he was again arraigned, but this time was given fifteen days.

George Hines, another chestnut who claims to be a cigarmaker, was fined $10 and costs.

J. C. Evans, who has no money, but acknowledges that he has managed to live without work for two or three months, was sentenced to fifteen days labor.

Frank Connolly, another vagabond, was given a month and will use it vigorously in the cells for ten days.

Joe Nelson and Pat Kearney got on a drunk together. Pat had a greater capacity than Joe and was able to stand it longer. Joe toppled over dead drunk. Both were arrested. Joe lay in a drunken stupor for six hours, and when he came to was surprised to find himself behind iron bars. As this was his first offense he was released without fine. Pat is an old offender and was mumbled into the cooler.

James Morrison, who came up from South Omaha to get drunk, paid $7.50 for the privilege.

Jim Brown, a fellow whom the police say makes his living by stealing and has never been known to work, is in custody on suspicion of being a burglar. He was with him at the time, was also arrested.

A Child Burned.

Wednesday evening at 4:35 o'clock a still alarm was turned in the north end of a fire on the bottom floor of Chicago street. The blaze proved to be in a shanty owned by Neal Thompson, and the members of the family had just about time to escape in the most scanty of attire. In the confusion an infant child was forgotten until the attention of the family was attracted to its cries. The father rushed in and saved the little fellow, finding him badly but not dangerously burned. The damage to the building was about $30.

Wednesday morning at an early hour the fire department was called to 315 South Thirtieth street by a blaze immediately in the rear of Smith's laundry. It proved to be a heat coop possibly set on fire by a heap of fishes near by. Owing to its nearness to other buildings the fire might have proved very disastrous had it not been promptly extinguished. The damage was only nominal.
