The teachers enjoy it here less. A $20,000 real estate transfer was recorded yesterday at the county recorder's office. The deed included 120 lots in Charlton addition.

The grantor was John L. McCague and the grantees Maurice S. Barrett and Robert Wilson. The conveyance was caused by the resignation of Officer Olson as justice of the peace and the appointment of Elmer Joslyn, a blacksmith formerly employed at the carriage repository of E. T. Waterman.

He enters upon his new duties to-morrow. The local politicians are having quite a speculation. The postmastership is a question that admits of any amount of guessing.

The services are ready to be held on the subject as the republicans. A number of bets were made yesterday as to the appointee-to-be, one of them being that the office would not fall into editorial hands.

The general opinion seems to be that J. J. Steadman, of the Nonpareil, will receive the appointment, but there is plenty of money that is waiting to bet the other way.

Fair For the City. Nothing was done in the district court yesterday, it being a legal holiday, and court adjourned Thursday evening until Monday morning. Judge Thomell left for Sidney to spend Sunday with his family.

The jury in the case of Fair vs. The City returned a sealed verdict, which will not be opened until Monday morning. Its contents are, of course, unknown, but it is stated that the verdict is for the city. It is understood that for the first ballot the jury stood 10 to 2 for the city, the minority desiring to give the plaintiff $300. A twelve hours' argument among themselves brought them all to one way of thinking.

Traded and Truck. The various aldermen of the city were seen yesterday by a HER representative in regard to the proposed exchange of the big hook and ladder truck for a smaller and more serviceable one.

With the exception of Alderman Weaver all of the gentlemen were very pronounced in their opinions, and did not hesitate in the least to express themselves.

Alderman Lacy, president of the council, was the first one approached regarding the matter. Said he: "That truck is all right. It is just what the city needs, and you might just as well take care of it and manage it, as to talk of throwing out the whole fire department as selling that truck. They have one in Omaha that weighs about pounds more than this one, and they run it with one horse and a mill and down. Why would we do it if there was a fire at the Ogden, or any of the larger buildings in the city? Of course it cost lots of money, but it is here, and so is it. No, I have no house where it is stationed. No, I have no way in the finest in the west, and an ornament to the city, and the city ought to be proud of them."

"You needn't talk about getting rid of the truck. Just let it be as it is. If you want to quote me on the subject, you can say I am in favor of keeping it, and that we can't get along without it."

Alderman Waterman, chairman of the fire committee, was the next one viewed. His view of the situation is as follows: "This truck is not suitable to the needs of the city by a long shot. It is altogether too big, clumsy and unmanageable. It is practically valueless to the city and costs a large sum yearly to take care of and manage. I think it ought to be disposed of and a smaller one substituted. The money expended yearly on that truck could be used to much better advantage, and I am heartily in favor of a change."

Alderman Knepher: "That article in yesterday's BEE was all right. The truck is not constructed right. It is altogether too clumsy. It can be turned around without going to a street intersection, and it is no use whatever to the city. It costs a small fortune every year to run the thing, and is not at all adapted to the needs of this city. It should never have been purchased, and now the best thing the city can do is to dispose of it on as favorable terms as possible, and secure a truck that can be managed. I shall most certainly endorse a change."

Mr. C. E. Bellinger, of the Second ward, thus expressed himself: "I don't think that this truck is what the city needs, but it seems strange that the subject is brought up just at present. It is a matter of a political move gotten up to make capital at the coming election. However, I should favor a change if the matter was brought before the council. It seems to me that a smaller one would answer every purpose, and it could certainly be handled in a far more satisfactory manner than the present one."

Alderman Weaver said: "I don't know very much about it, as I have not looked into the matter. I do know that it costs an enormous sum to run the thing, and I don't think we get much benefit from it. I am very much opposed to any attempt to exchange it for anything else, but I am in charge of that branch makes very poor work of a trade."

"They traded for a pair of horses and the result made me sick. No more trades in my line if you please. If I could be sold and something else purchased it might do, as the sum of $5,000 that is annually expended in keeping that truck could be used more advantageously somewhere else, or at least for some other purposes."

Alderman Metcalf agreed with Alderman Lacy. Said he: "I am in favor of keeping it, for I think the city ought to have it, even if it costs $5,000. It might be the means of saving a human life, and for this reason alone it ought to be kept, even though it is not needed for many years. I think it is a necessity, for an ordinary ladder is not strong enough to hold two or three men, and a fire of hose with the water pressure that we have here. No, sir, I say do not sell it, and I shall vigorously resist any such action."

In this manner do the members of the council regard the matter. The two gentlemen, who were members of the council which purchased it, say "keep it by all means," while the four new members are strongly in favor of letting it go.

Money loaned on furniture, pianos, diamonds, horses, buggies or anything of value at low rates of interest, and no publicity; fair and honorable dealing. A. A. Clark & Co., office cor. Broadway and Main, over American express.

Judges of Election. At a special meeting of the city council held last evening, the mayor and all the aldermen, except Bellinger, were present. Judges and clerks to serve at the coming election were appointed as follows: First Ward—Judges, D. K. Dodson, J. W. Weightman; clerks, H. T. Bryant, L. E. Hennricher. Second Ward—Judges, R. V. Phillips, G. L. Jacobs, James Mathis; clerks, E. L. Cook, C. M. Lyon. Third Ward—Judges, S. Stewart, J. Sullivan, George Blumstein; clerks, C. H. Gilmore, J. L. Gibson. Fourth Ward—First precinct, Judges, M. Boyle, Sol H. Foster, W. A. McMillon; clerks, G. A. Robinson, William Bue. Fourth ward, second precinct—Judges, C. Wesley, John Cook, Ferd Johnson; clerks, M. DeGroat, William Smith.

An ordinance fixing the salaries of aldermen at $250 a year, payable quarterly, was read. The twentieth rule was suspended, and the ordinance was passed.

An ordinance was passed providing how the city shall accept streets, etc., when devoted to the public use. The claims of Captain Henry and Josiah Danforth were referred to the council.

The members of the Eisemann hose team sprang themselves yesterday, and are about $200 richer on account of it. During the afternoon they gave a parade in costume, and a short exhibition run. In the evening the Masonic hall was filled with a most grotesque crowd of maskers, who were called out by the grand ball given by this newly organized racing team. There were fully 300 couples present. An elegant supper was served by the ladies of 'nty guild, who netted a neat sum as their share of the proceeds.

The amount cleared by the organization will pay for the new racing cart just purchased, and also furnish the members of the team with running shoes. The Eisemann team is now in a first-class condition financially, and is prepared to make itself heard from soon.

The next few months, and eventually at the June tournament.

It is an Angel Now. Thursday night at 11:30 o'clock little Harry, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Adams, passed away after a short illness, of congestion of the lungs. It is the first time death has invaded this home since, and the blow is a crushing one.

The mother is much prostrated. Harry was but a single year old and a bright, winsome little fellow. Naturally the tears must flow, but many hearts are burdened with the same anguish, and in this community of grief, sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Adams. The details for the funeral are not yet fully arranged. It will occur to-morrow, and this hour will be hereafter announced.

Heating stoves at cost to close out. Ouel & Bryant.

HYPNOTISM IN BERLIN. Amusing Experiment. With a Subliminal Subject of the Magnetic Power. At a meeting of the Berlin Medical Society, Prof. Virchow introduced a French physician, Dr. Feldmann, who made some experiments in hypnotism. A young man named Garrick offered himself as a medium. After a few seconds of the usual manipulations the medium fell into a deep magnetic sleep. He became perfectly amnesic and motionless.

In his state of "suggestion" Dr. Feldmann showed the influence of various medicaments on the medium, who took quinine for sugar, and his face withering, and he believed ammonia to be perfume and smelt it for some time. Immediately afterward following the will of the doctor, he showed the usual abstinence of those bitter and acrid substances. With the same success he ate a lemon for an apple. A piece of camphor held on his forehead had a singular effect. The medium bent his body far backward and had to be held in to his chair. A magnet caused a dreamy state during which the medium related his impressions as to events in the street, in which he believed himself to be. Then the medium obeyed the will of the doctor in various ways, shoveling snow, skating, falling and rising again with one jump, at the doctor's suggestion, and finally took a pocketbook by force out of Prof. Virchow's pockets.

He was then ordered by Dr. Feldmann to resent himself and soon woke out of the hypnotic sleep, remembering nothing of what had happened. The young physician then spoke, declaring that his experiments were without any "suggestion" to be probably genuine, but as to the other experiments, especially the effect of medicines and the magnet, they thought they needed careful examination.

FROZEN OUT BY GEORGE. Young Goult Accused of Alienating His Father's Business Friends. It is the general belief among Wall street men that A. L. Hopkins was frozen out of the Gould railroad, by young George J. Gould, says the New York World. There was a good deal of talk among financial men at the Windsor hotel yesterday about Mr. Hopkins' retirement. It was suspected that the recent order for a railroad was to force Mr. Hopkins to retire. His relations with Mr. Gould had been so important that he was compelled to regard the order as a personal affront. It is a fact, though not generally known, that Mr. Gould is positively under the thumb of his eldest son. His desire has always been that George should be as great a financier as himself. He has made the young man an important officer in every corporation which he controls, and in several instances has elevated him to positions that older men in the management were entitled to.

Mr. Gould is pretty well known, discredited G. P. Morosini to please his son. Mr. Morosini felt the treatment very keenly, but he never uttered a word against Mr. Gould. In the Erie railroad troubles, years ago, he actually protected Mr. Gould's life. He proved his loyalty to the financier many times in the course of his association with him.

Not only was Mr. Hopkins the representative of Mr. Gould in railroad affairs, but also a personal friend. When the yacht Atlanta was launched he was invited to accompany its owner on the first trip from the shipyards to Irvington, the financier's country place. Hopkins was on the yacht, and he was a privileged guest at Mr. Gould's home. George Gould is said to have been jealous of the favor his father showed Mr. Hopkins.
