CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, March 14 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- Wheat ruled generally steady to-day at a shade lower range of values than yesterday. Trade was moderately active and to a great extent professional in its character. Hutchinson was the greatest buyer of wheat in this market, and he was a good buyer in St. Louis and New York. He looks upon July wheat in St. Louis at the ruling prices as a good investment, and is discoursing bullishly on the general situation. Cables were barely steady as a rule, though some private advices represented Paris as higher. This latter information is in flat contradiction of the private cables received yesterday, quoting a sharp decline in Paris. The market was noticeably firm early around 97% (a) 9714c for May and 8714@8194c for July on the good buying on the threatened cold wave. This is the same wave that was promised yesterday. It is slow getting here, but the weather prophets give warning of a complete revolution in the weather conditions within the next few days, the slowness of its coming causing them to believe that it will stay. One of the "weather breeders" on the floor says it is going to be a "constitutional change," by which he means that the long season of unseasonably brilliant weather will be succeeded by an equally protracted season of cold, wet, stormy weather. No guaranty or insurance goes with these statements of impending meteorological convulsions; however, the tone of the market chan ged from strong to weak. May worked down to 961/c and July to 8614@87c, without there being any particular pressure to sell and with good buying by Hutchinson on the decline and by Fairbank's brokers around the bottom. About 11 o'clock re-ports were received by Warren, Poole and others that the Associated press dispatches this afternoon would confirm the reported sinking of the United States vessel Nipsic by the German iron clad off Samoa. This started the market up, May climbing to 97%c and July to 87%c. Just why apprehen-sions of a conflict between Germany and the United States should be a buil argument was not clear, and this idea seemed to strike a good many, causing free selling on the bulgo. The market settled back under the pressure, getting very small again. The bulls con-tend that this shrinkage in the primary re-ceipts is due to the exhaustion of the supplies, and that it would have occurred just the same if prices had been maintained on the 20c higher level. This is conjecture. The continued mild, dry weather, and the improvement noticeable in the inspection of the day's receipts were primarily the cause of the weakness which induced the bears to offer May futures in larger quantities than offer May futures in larger quantities than the buying orders on the market could absorb. There were also heavy sales of May against the purchases of April, which was used as a means of depressing the market and with the hope of being able subsequently to purchase May futures at a smaller premium than it was sold at. The foreign markets were firmer and the exports were phenominally large. The reports from the seaboard noted also a continuance of the foreign demand. The inquiry from shippers here also suffered no diminution. The busihere also suffered no diminution. The busi ness done after the first hour was very limited and confined as of late, in a great measited and confined as of late, in a great measure, to the local speculators, with the close showing a fairly firm feeling to prevail at the slight decline which took place. May closed at 35½c, which is ½c below yesterday's resting point, and the other futures were about equally affected.

After a day or two of quietude there was a large speculative trade in outs centered in May with prices ranging 360% to lower. In

The market settled back under the pressure, but recovered and continued firm during the last hour of the trading session. The close was 97c for May and 87½ @87½ c for July. This makes a very slight change in May and a shrinkage of ½c in July. One effect of the decline in prices has been the striking falling off in the interior movement of wheat. The receipts at western points are setting very small again. The bulls consecuting very small again. The bulls con-

May, with prices ranging 34@34c lower. In addition to some effort on the part of the longs to realize, there was increased short selling, with one operator placing 300,000 bushels at 25%c, which was the inside price, after opening weak at 25%c. The buying was chiefly in the way of cover ing outstanding contracts, and was quite general. The other months were dull, with June substantially the same as the month named, while March was quite neglected, No. 2 cats in store or to go there were weaker in provisions the day's business was a lit de quiet and without special feature. The "country" and the outsiders furnished fewer buying or selling orders than is customary of late, while among the professionals the trad-ing indulged in was wholly of a scalping character. From the start a slow feeling character. From the start a slow feeling controlled the market, which was also inclined to rule easier, though the closings were not materially different from yesterday's last prices. Short ribs at the adjournment showed a decline of only 214@5c, and lard of 234c. Pork closed unchanged to 234c

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Cuicago, March 14 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. J-CATTLE-The demand was more active and prices were rather strong, vet there was really no substantial advance. Prime heavy export steers were scarce, and the demand was active for that class only, the other classes moving along about the same as heretofore, with chances that about everything would be sold. The decrease of 4,000 against the same time last week is beginning to tell. Cow stock did not share in the firmness notable in steer stock, yet there was little or no change. The shippers and buyers of cows must remember that from this time on cows are liable to sell cheap. The season for the demand for veal caives is about to open, and the article that sells best is the calf that is four to six weeks old, a milk fat animal that has never it its original fat. ## FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, March 14 .- Special Telegram to Tue Bee. !-Stocks-The stock market for the morning hours was duller than on the previous days. Lendon had selling orders, and the temper of the room was bearish. First prices were either unchanged or fractionally lower, and the pressure later, when a few stocks became active, caused further declines. It was a matter of comment, however, that the list yielded so little in the face of what was regarded as a very bearish sentiment. St. Paul was the exception to the list, and showed some strength, without material changes in prices. Reading, Texas, Pacific and Pullman lost 1/2 per cent before 11 a. m., and aside from these the changes were insignificant. Before noon there was a slight spurt of activity, with most of the siness in a few stocks. St. Paul, Reading, Lackawana and Lake Shore were animated. With the activity came a weakness, which was communicated to the entire list, and prices generally were carried below the opening figures. The sales at noon were 119,960 shares. The following were the closing quotations:

OMAHA LIVE STOOK. Cattle.

Thursday, March 14, 1889. It is either a feast or famine so far as the receipts of cattie are concerned. For some receipts of cattie are concerned. For some days back the yards have been full of cattle all the time and it has been no easy matter to find buyers for everything, but to day there were only about twenty-two fresh loads on sale. While there was not a very heavy demand it was large enough to spring the market about loc on beef steers and butchers' stock. With the receipts heavy there is no reason for believing that the market would have been much if any better than it was yesterday. As it was, the few cattle here were about all disposed of before midday. The dre-sed beef and shipping steers sold at $2.90@3.20 and the bulk at $3.05@3.10, but the quality was only fair and $105@3.10, but the quality was only fair and there was not a really good bunch of cattle in the yards. The cows sold mostly from $2.20@2.50, with a good load at $2.75%. The trade in stockers and feeders was limited to a very few head, and both the receipts and demand were light.

The packers set out in the morning to buy The packers set out in the morning to buy their hogs, and though salesmen were slow to give in and it required an immense amount of hammering, they finally succeeded in gaining their point. It took them all the forenoon, however, to get the market down 5c. The built of the hogs sold at $4.45, with a few trades at $4.50 and the top at $4.55, while the built of the nogs brought $4.55 yesterday and quite a good many $4.55. The yards were cleared and the market closed by midday. closed by midday.

There were no sheep offered on the market and only one load received, which was consigned direct to a packer. The demand is good and anything desirable would without a doubt find a ready buyer at steady prices. For some reason the receipts of sheep have been extremely light, and a large proportion of the few received were not of very desirable quality.

Prevailing Prices. The following is a table of prices paid in this market for the grades of stock mentioned: Prime steers, 1300 to 1500 lbs...$3.20 @3.80
