A REMARKABLE RECOVERY.

Novel Treatment of a Boy Suffering

From Hydrophobia.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 15.—A special from Wooster, O., tells of a remarkable recovery from an attack of hydrophobia. The afflicted person was the eieven-year-old son of Jacob Barkley, a well-to-do farmer.

Eight years ago the boy was bitten by a dog which later manifested signs of madness and was killed. Nothing serious was thought of the boy's injuries and the wound soon healed up. Six weeks ago young Barkley came home from school and complained of feeling unwell. Hydrophobia in its most violent form soon developed. The attending physicians looked upon the rabie poison as a self-limiting infection, and set about to bridge the case over the active period of poison. Large doses of aconite were given to blunt the sensuary nerves of the throat, hydrate of chloral to obviate restlessness and produce sleep, and salyclate of soda to counteract rable poison if it depended upon ferment for its action. The paroxysms grew less frequent and it is now two weeks since the patient showed any signs of one. Physicians think complete recovery certain.

They Make a Terrific Raid on the State Treasury.

AN ADJOURNMENT RESOLUTION.

The Omaha Charter Unanimously Passes the Senate-The Butler Claim-Legislative Proceedings and State House Gossip.

Raiding the Treasury.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 15 .- [Special to THE BEE !- The raid being made on the state treasury is terrific in force and appalling in magnitude, and the action of the legislature up to *this time gives little promise of successful resistance to the onslaught. The defeat of ex-Governor Butler's claim is thus far the only ray of hope, but even that is not wholly encouraging, for it was evident that it would have passed the house had a vote been reached several hours earlier. The governor's message made the statement that the estimates for the ensuing two years exceeded the appropriations of 1887 by $846,000. It is notorious that many of the amounts in the appropriation bills are larger than the requisitions made on the governor, and the allowances of two years ago will foot up a round $1,000,000, making a grand total of over $3,000,000. One of the boldest and most uncalled for raids is in the line of salaries for deputies, clerks and other minor em-ployes of state officers and institutions. There is hardly a person in a state office whose salary is not fixed by the constitution that is not after a raise, and the list is in-creased by twenty-five new persons. Following is a list showing the increase asked in yearly salaries, together with the additional berths provided for willing patriots, indicating the department or institution to which they are accredited:

BEE. ] -- Senator Keckley's resolution committing the senate against fixing a date for final adjournment until after the receipt of the appropriation bills, raised something of a commotion in that body. Senator Howe thought the resolution a reflection on the committee. He felt that there ought to be no action on it until after the committee reported. Keckley asked if a time had been agreed on by the joint committee.

Ransom answered that the committee had fixed on 12 o'clock of Saturday night, March 23, but that no report had been made.

Keckley-Weeks ago this senate sent a re-spectful request to have the appropriation bills sent over here by February 15, to give us time for careful consideration, but there are many persons interested in having them put through with a rush and we haven't got them yet. This is not a time or place to be too tender of the feelings of men. Those who have been here before know that these bills are likely to come over here about next Thursday and will be reached about 10 o'clock Saturday night. Howe-I want to get at the same result as the senator from York. We only differ as to methods. Is it best to say to the house:

You have only so many more days left, or shall we by adopting this resolution say, you have lots of time! If we agree on an early day for adjournment and then find we need more time. I believe this senate has the sand to reconsider its vote and stay until it can finish these bills. If there are jobs in them they will on held back as long as possible. I am with Mr. Keckley for scrutinizing every bill, but I believe my plan better than a dilly-dally olicy. Connor—The appropriation bills are the most important measures before this legis lature. We ought to have time to consider them with care, and in my opinion the reso lution is eminently proper.

Sutherland—In times past the appropriation bills have been held back in the house so long that they come up in the senate at 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning. I will not be a party to any such scheme at this session. Ransom-I do not think that Senator Keck-ley means any reflection on the committee. We planned to accomplish the same thing he is after. It is probable that the house in-tended to send the appropriation bills to the senate so as to allow us time to read them on three separate days. I am willing to do any thing to make the house send these bills I am ready to stop considering house It will not be done until the senate shows a disposition to assert its right to a share in that legislation. If the resolution will accomplish its design I am ready to vote for it. The committee had an understanding or it. The committee had an understanding under which the senate and the house were to be led to believe that adjournment had been agreed on for a week from Saturday night, but I was going to withhold my report until the senate at least should see the titles or the bills.

Keckley—We know how it was two years ago. If a date for adjourning is fixed members will make their plans to leave, and the feeling for adjournment will be too strong to that we should have more time, but his resolution has frustrated my plan. Now that it is made public it falls to the ground. The resolution has a tail added by Senator Hurd to save the feelings of the committee, and was passed without further opposition.

The Butler Claim.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 15 .- (Special to THE Ber ]-The fight over the Butler claim was one of the most hotly contested parliamentary battles ever witnessed in the annals of Nebraska. The friends of the measure rallied their forces and a packed lobby, filled largely by men who anticipated a "divy," lent its presence and encouragement to the contemplated raid on the state treasury.

When the house was called to order Cady the issue squarely by moving to indefinitely postpone the bill, and when this motion was lost by a vote of 29 yeas to 41 nays, Butler's friends were greatly encouraged and with supreme confidence in the result Rhodes moved to fix the figure at $30,078.34. This dose was too strong for Corbin, Dempster and their followers, who honestly thought the state owed Butler something, and they united with Cady and defeated this motion by a decisive vote. Hall thought he saw a way out of the dilemma, and moved that the governor be directed to deed back to Butler the $40 acres of land the state still holds. This compromise would have been accepted by the friends of Butler had it not been demonstrated that as the lands were now a part of the permanent school fund, a clear title could not be conveyed. postpone the bill, and when this motion was ernor be allowed the sum of $7,500, the appraised value of the lands in question. The test vote was taken on this question, and the roll call resulted as follows:

Yeas—Abrahamson, Baker, Bailey, Ballard, Berry, Bohacek, Burnham, Caldwell, Coleman of Polk, Collins, Denman, Dempster, Dickinson, Diller, Dunn, Fenton, Fuller, Gilchrist, Hail, Hanthorn, Hill of Gage, Keiper, Lee, Ley, McMillan, McNickle, Mecker, O'Brien, Olmstead, O'Sullivan, Rhodes, Robb, Sargent, Westover, Whitehead, Whitford, Williams, Mr. Speaker—38.

Nays—Beckman, Berlin, Bisbee, Bortis, Brink, Cady, Cameron, Christy, of Clay, Christy of Dodge, Coleman of Antelope, Corbin, Cushing, Delaney, Elliott, Everett, Farley, Fleidgrove, Gates, Gilbert, Hampton, Hanna, Harding, Hill of Butler, Hooper, Horne, Hungate, Hunter, Johnson, Larson, Lasb, Mujors, Mattes, Jr., Neve, Potter, Rayner, Scoville, Seed, Shephard, Snyder, Specht, Stira, Truesdell, Weber, Weller, White, Wilcox, Winter and Yutzy—48.

Cady savagely denounced the scheme as being gotten up and attempted to be pushed through by those scavengers of logislative halls, the claim agents, and told Olmstead in reply to an appeal from the gentleman from Adams for sympathy that he would never push an aged man over the brink into eternity so long as he held in his hand an old claim against the state.

claim against the state.

Impudent Lobbyists. LINCOLN, Neb., March 15 .- | Special to THE Ber. -Both houses are overrun with a swarm of obtrusive, noisy lobbyists and sight-seers. They crowd upon the floor and cause a babel and a confusion that are disgraceful and would not be tolerated for a day in any legislature east of Nebraska. The mob fill the aisles, confiscate the members' seats if momentarily vacated, and pass the presiding officer's desk without so much as a respectful duck of the head. Half the time it is impossible for members to hear each others speeches, and there is constant pounding of the gavel, but with very little effect.

In the house Representative Berlin put through a resolution excluding outsiders from the floor, but after two or three days it was as bad a ever. The horde found friends among the members, who furnished them with passes. The doorkeeper has a string tied to the door and lolis in an easy chair. His business now is to watch for the flash of a pass and then pull the string.

In the senate Mr. Sutherland has several times demanded the enforcement of the rule excluding outsiders from the floor. Until today it has happened that the senate was to-day it has happened that the senate was in committee of the whole, and the unex-perienced chairman forgot to issue the order or did it so weakly that it got lost before reaching the sergeant-at-arms. This morning Lieutenaut Governor Meikeljohn was ap pealed to. He ordered the floor cleared in an unmistakable tone and suspended proceedings during its execution. The exodus was something surprising in its numbers. Certain senators purpose keeping the iron railing between themselves and the horde for the remainder of the session, but may forget themselves.

LATER—This afternoon Lieutenant Governor Meikeljohn interrupted the proceedings of the committee of the whole to announce that the rule would be enforced from this time on. The senate had been indulgent in the past, he said, but the point of order raised by Schator Sutherland left him no alternative. Unless the senate should suspend the rule he would have to enforce it.
On motion of Senator Church Howe so much of the rule was suspended as will admit the families of the senators to the floor.

Gambling Law Virtually Repealed. LINCOLN, Neb., March 15 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-There is considerable excitement in legislative circles over the discovery of the fact that a bill introduced in the house by Baker, and passed by that body to-day, changes the law in regard to gambling, which was enacted two years ago, so that the penalty of the offense is reduced from a felony to a mere misdemeanor. The bill passed under a misapprehension by a strong majority, only two votes being cast against it. Annie Ilgen's Evidence. In Saturday's issue of The Bee an interview with Mrs. Annie Ilgen, who resides at Twenty-fifth street and Capitol avenue, was reproduced. She said that Mrs Mahoney at 414 North Sixteenth street, and coffee was poured into her. Several physicians were at work until 3 or 4 o'clock this morning with an electric battery and other refrequently used bad language in addressing the women; she told the story of the suffer-ings of a girl called "Danish Maggie," and ings of a girl called "Danish Margie," and declared that the girl was driven insane by Mrs. Mahoney's harsh treatment: that she had to work all day scrubbing floors two days before her baby was born; that after the baby was born days and days would pass during which Mrs. Mahoney would not come near her; that the nurse hired to care for women in such a condition was always work. ing with an electric battery and other re-storatives trying to save her. At 2 o'clock her parents were noticed of Emma's rash act and her father Fred Boettger, an aged German, and a laborer in the smelt-ing works, appeared on the scene. He was almost overcome with grief, and after look-ing at his uncoescious daughter for a mo-ment, left the chop house without saying a word.

near her; that the nurse hired to care for women in such a condition was always working for Mrs. Mahoney, and that the only attention she or her babe received was from other inmates; Mrs. Mahoney refused to let her wash clothes, absolutely necessary for her baby, saying that she wanted the woman to do some work for her; that Mrs. Mahoney called her a "dirty liar:" that Mrs. Mahoney is totally "dirty liar;" that Mrs. Mahoney is totally unfit for the position she holds.

At a late hour this morning officers were sent to arrest the man Lowry, it being al-leged that he knows more about the case than appears on the surface. He is believed to know either where or how the giri got the The Burden of Evidence On Sunday the evidence of Mrs. Joseph Mohr, of 1520 Third street south, of Ellen Gallagher, employed at Max Meyer's, of Christina Melgordt, employed on Douglas street, between Tenth and Eleventh; of Olive Olsen employed by Mrs. Henry James and of Max Hoffman, employed by Max Mayor.

Meyer.

Mrs. Mohr at one time employed at the hospital, testified that the commissioners turned a deaf ear to the complaints made by the inmates of cruei freatment; that the hospital was filled with vermin; that the inmates were denied necessary clean clothes; that Mrs. Mahoney sold goods furnished for the inmates by the county to her hired help: that the matron overworked sick women; of neglect of the sick by the matron; that the nurse was incompetent, and that if she had nurse was incompetent, and that if she had not been she would have had no time to attend to her duties, as she was always employed doing work for Mcs. Mahoney personally; that an old soldier through the negligence of the management was allowed to wander out into the cold and freeze; that two or three women were allowed to die from neglect; that inmates' boules were dissected by medical students and that students often by medical students, and that students often delivered women without the hospital physician being in attendance; that the food was bad; that Mrs. Mahoney that alized an insane woman until she became so violent that it w s found necessary to send her to Lincoln; that her son abused imbeeiles; that she adopted children to improper persons—one child having been given to a strumpet. Ellen Gallagher told how, on the night her baby was born, she was left to the sole care of an inmate—a young girl; and that the women were neglected by Mrs. Mahoney. Christine Molgordt said that, although she was hired to nurse the sick, that her time while she was employed at the hospital was occupied entirely by doing work for Mrs. Mahoney personally; that the matron treated babies and women cruelly; that Mrs. Mahoncy had a violent temper and was in the habit of using rough language to the women; that the matron had once called a woman a "d—n lazy Dane."

Olive Olesen testified to the sufferings of a mother and babe.

mother and base.

Max Hoffman said that Mrs. Mahoney was unit for the place she held; that he had frequently heard her use vulgar and indecent language in addressing the women; that her son abused imbeciles and that he had seen the matron when he thought she was under the influence of liquor.

And More Yet. Monday the testimony of a lady whose name will be given if it should prove necessary, was published. She told of the bungling treatment a girl had received when con-fined and Mrs. Mahoney's refusal to furnish the babe with cow's milk, the mother not being able to sustain it, and that the child af-terward died from the effects of this treat-

Tuesday the evidence of Theodore Galligher declaring THE BEE article true and charging the commissioners with neglect of duty and turning deaf ears to all complaints of the condition of the poor farm, was published. Mr. Galligner also testified to the brutality of Mrs. Mahoney's son.

In the same issue, E. A. Hughes, a former inmate of the poor farm, but now at the soldiers' home at Grand Island, testified that the food at the poor house during his stay there, frequently stunk; that the place and the inmates were overrun with lice; that women nearing maternity were frequently overworked.

In Wednesday's issue appeared a contra-dictory interview fram Dr. Taggart, the physician at the hospital. He first declared that Mrs. Manoney was a big-hearted woman, and afterwards acknowledged that her temper was so violent that he once left the hospital on account of it; that his opinion and Mrs. Mahoney's as to the treatment of patients frequently ciashed; that Mrs. Mahoney found fault with him on the ground that he was too kind
