WHERE NEBRASKA'S PRODUCT GOES.

The department of agriculture at Washington has just issued a report on the distribution and consumption of corn for March which is interesting in pointing out that but a few of the corn growing states produce a sufficient surplus for commercial distribution.

The section, however, which consumes the largest proportion of the supply is the western corn growing group of states. This is obvious as it is the cattle and hog growing district of the country.

principal machinery. They were also successful in electing most of their candidates in Toledo, and as already noted will have control of the city government of Cleveland, but two democratic officials having been elected there.

THE LABOR MARKET.

Reports regarding the condition of the labor market at the principal centers of industry are not uniformly satisfactory as could be wished, but quite generally labor is fairly well employed, at wages varying but little from that of a year ago.

and herself a historical writer of some note, entertained at a tea at her house in Kensington Square the other evening a party of chain makers who had come up from the South to give evidence before the lord's committee on the sweating system.

The favorite actor with the young ladies at present is Mr. Horbert Keely, who has been winning many of Kyrle Bellows's former admirers away from that peculiar-looking fascinating Mr. Keely is very tall, and he has brownish red cheeks and a heavy mustache.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

Jay Gould never lets his left hand know all the secret "coyners" of the right.

When Marat Goes Up!

The senate is through with Editor Halstead. But wait until Editor Halstead gets out of bed. The senate will adjourn in short order.

Go Into Liquidation.

What would become of the whisky trust if John L. Sullivan and ex-Senator Riddleberger should swear off simultaneously?

Only One Lion.

The democrats of Ohio who are talking of running ex-Governor Thurman's son for governor are making a mistake. There is only one great man in that family.

Degeneracy in Peace.

The United States army has distinguished itself by a warlike act at last. It has pulled the nose of the governor of Pennsylvania.

After Longfellow.

Songs of great men all remind us We can make our lives sublime, And persuade our friends to find us Places in some foreign clime.

The Latest in War Clouds.

The spring fiasco in European war clouds presents a small party of a lighter shade than last year, with bright spots scattered here and there by war correspondents out of a job.

Must Go One Better.

Minneapolis is to erect a building twenty-eight stories high this year. Thus comes to pass that St. Paul is confronted with the duty of rearing a structure at least twenty-nine stories high during 1890.

Keely's Missing Link.

Mr. Keely announces that he has discovered at last the missing link that his motor was waiting for, and in a few days he will be able to demonstrate the complete success of his invention.

THE AFTERNOON TEA.

Queen Victoria is buying her spring clothes in Paris.

Mrs. James Brown Potter bathes in violet water at $5 per quart.

Mrs. Willie K. Vanderbilt sings prettily in a not very powerful soprano voice.

Mrs. Sophia Twitchell knows more about Wall street than most men who speculate.

Mrs. Robert Vail has the finest collection of sapphires of any lady in New York society.

A bachelor's syllogism: Marriage is a lottery; lotteries are illegal; therefore I lobby the law by remaining single.

Mrs. Ella Clyffler, the new president of Sorosis, is said to be the handsomest member of that highly intellectual organization.

Oh, Amy, what do you think some one has invented. You could never guess, though for it is a bonnet that shuts up and can be sat upon.

The blonde style of beauty is again the most admired in New York city, and the brunettes are complaining that their lighter complexioned sisters receive all the attention at receptions and dances.

A well-known English actress is angry because a manufacturer of false teeth has placarded his town with pictures representing her "before and after" taking a set of his famous teeth.

TAKE THE HINT.

When'er an anxious group is seen Around some monthly magazine Or paper that is daily written To every quarter of the world, And merry peals of laughter rise As this or that attracts the eyes, The smiling crowd, you may depend, Above some illustrations bend To advertise the strength and scope And purity of IVORY SOAP.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the Ivory!" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeiters, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.
