FATAL TAIL-END COLLISION.

A Freight Train Crashes Into a Passenger Near Chicago.

FOUR PEOPLE KILLED OUTRIGHT.

The Private Car of Director Hart, of the California Central, Destroyed and its Inmates are the Sufferers.

A Train Dispatcher's Blunder. Curcago, April 10 .- Partial details of an accident which occurred on the Chicago, Santa Fe & California railroad near Joliet this morning have been received here. It resulted from a collision between a passenger and freight train. Three persons were killed outright and several were more or less injured. The killed are:

Mr, and Miss Hart of Brookline, Mass. and the engineer of the freight train. J. L. Hart, father of the two passengers who were killed, was fatally hurt. The bodies have been brought to this city. The following is another account of the accident: The regular eastbound train was just leaving Lorenzo station, which is fifty miles from Chicago at 4:30, when the accident occurred.

Attached to the rear of the train was the private car of J. F. Hart, mayor of Brookline, Mass., and director of the California Central railroad. The party in the car consisted of Mr. Hart and his wife, his son Henry, his neice, Miss Winslow, the porter, known only as Harry, and the cook, named Thomas Smith. Just as the train was pulling out of the station, an extra fast stock train of the station, and the great of the station, and the great of the station, and the great of the station of the station. train following, ran into the rear of the passenger train at a good speed, demolishing the private car and damaging the freight engine so that large quantities of steam escaped, scalding those who had es-caped from the effects of the crash.

As soon as the wreck could be cleared to allow the removal of the dead and wounded, they were found to be as follows: Killed-Miss Winslow, Henry Hart, the porter and cook.
Scalded-J. F. Hart and his wife.

The engineer and fireman of the freight train jumped and escaped injury. None of the cars except that of Hart's was seriously damaged, and none of the passengers in the other coaches hurt. It is impossible as yet to lo-cate the blame for the accident. The dead and wounded were put upon the train and brought to this city. The bodies of the dead were taken to an undertaking establishment and the wounded were conveyed to Mercy hospital, where they now are, The passenger train was running on time, and the extra freight, through some inexcusable error of the train dispatcher, was allowed to follow. At Loronzo the grade is very steep, and the engineer of the extra saw that the train was unmanageable just as he perceived the tail lamps of the passenger. He whistled for brakes, but it was too late. His engine crashed into the private car, driving it upon the steps of the Puliman car ahead.

In addition to being scalded, J. L. Hart had both legs broken. Henry W. Lamb, also in the private car, was scalded about the face and body. Palmer, a freight brakeman, was hurled over the freight engine into a mass of debris and escaped with a scalded face and horribly burned hands. John Bynder, engineer of the passenger train, was severely hurt.

The fireman on the passenger train said: It was pitch dark when came. We were running the crash came. We were running on time, but the freight was an extra. The freight engine ran right through the last coach and then the boiler burst. The cries of the dying and injured were simply awful. The boiling water had been thrown over them and they were terribly scalded. The alceman and fireman of the freight must have jumped, because they were not fatally

Another account says the engineer of the freight train was crushed to a pulp against the boiler head. It is very difficult to get accurate and reliable information about the accident, as the railroad people are very reti-

The wrecked coach was the private car of General Manager McCool, of the California Central road, the western branch of the Santa Fe. The occupants were a party of McCool's friends from Massachusetts who had been spending a few weeks with his family at Los Angeles and were returning home. It was stated by one of the trainmen that a number of wounded persons were left at Lorenzo.

LORD LONSDALE SAFE.

But His Arctic Trip Nearly Ended in His Death.

fishing schooner Cumberland, which arrived here yesterday after a stormy passage of thirty-four days from Kodiac Island, Alaska, brings news of Lord Lonsdale, who started about a year ago on his trip to the north pole. Lord Lonsdale and a number of Esquimaux and Indian guides reached Kodiac about the middle of February in a famished and exhausted condition They came from an isolated mission near the mouth of the Kaskewin river, which empties into Bristol bay, and suffered many hardships and privations during the Journey of a month's duration across the Alaska penfnsula. Lonsdale was severely injured by a fall shortly after leaving the mission. He was placed on a sled and in that condition reached Kodiac. Just before reaching Cook's inlet two of the guards died and were buried in the snow. The party was in the last stages of fatigue when they reached Kodinc, and had not food and shelter been found there Lonsdale would have died. He stated that he might remain at Kodiac a month and perhaps longer. He stated positively that he had had enough of Arctic exploration and would return to Eng-land soon.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 10 .- A Winnipeg spec hall says: A letter has just been received here from one of the half breeds who composed Lord Lonsdale's party, the tenor of which seems to indicate that Lonsdale has never been within the arctic circle. Leaving winnipeg, it appears that he went to a boint several hundred miles south of Mackenzie's bay, reaching there by dog sleds. From there he sailed down the Porcupine river to Yokon and down it to Bristol bay. He is in that vicinity now. The district through which he traveled is to a large extent populated and the enlant lord has gained notoriated, and the gallant lord has gained notori ety as arctic traveler very easy.

NEGROES ARE EXCLUDED. The White Republicans of Alabama

Form a New Organization. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 10.-The conference of white republicans called for the purpose of reorganizing the republican party in Alabama on protective tariff basis, and relieving it from being a negro party, met this afternoon. D. E. Parsons, jr., called the convention to order and stated that the pur pose was to organize a protective league throughout the state. No negroes would be admitted and no white man not in sympathy with the movement, it was not intended to drive anybody, white or black, from the party, and if the negroes wanted to get together and organize their own league there was no objection. The committee on resolutions reported a series of resolutions in accordance with the above statement, and also a constithe white republican league of Alabama. Both were adopted. Several men who objected to the exclusion of negroes retired from the meeting after protesting. A rival conference was held by the negroes and followers of Dr. Mosely, chairman of the regular republican state committee of Alabama. The negroes and whites of this conference met separately this morning. Many speeches were made protesting against the efforts of certain white republicans to exclude negroes from the party, and resolutions were adopted emphasizing the protest and declaring that the negro constitutes the backbone of the party in Alabama. A committee was appointed to convey the resolutions to President Harrison. The conference of regular white republicans protested against the attempt of the others to constitute a party, and avowed their purpose of standing by the negroes and the old organization.

Western Nebraska's Needs. OGALALLA, Neb., April 10 .- To the Editor of THE BEE: In the past few days western Nebraska has been blessed with a steady rainfall to an extent that assures an abundant small grain crop. This portion of western Nebraska is making wonderful progress, notwithstanding the influence which has been brought to bear against it. Even the business men of Omaha, whose duty it is to assist in building up every portion of the state, continue to speak, with a very few ex-ceptions, disparagingly of our resources. It is very much easier to convince capital in the eastern and middle states of our boundless resources than the business men in Omaha whose duty it is to investigate and make favorable reports. This is the great secret why Nebraska with all her advantages has not not during the past few years received her full share of immigration and until this policy is changed by the business men of our larger cities and towns in the eastern portion of the state, we can no hope to vie with Dakota and Kansas in the volume of immuration, notwithstanding our superior advantages. Western Nebraska wants nothing but settlers and capital to make it one of the rich-est and most prosperous portion of the state, We want the money influence and assistance of the business men of Omaha. Settlers in a new country have enough to contend with without being compelled to overcome the prejudices of the leading men in their own state whose interests are, or ought to be identical.

Elmira's Female Swindler. ELMIRA, N. Y., April 10 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. ] - The detention of Ella G. White, of Elmira, music teacher, who obtained between $20,000 and $30,000 from Elmira parties on various representations, and lost the money in speculation, has resulted in the arrest of Nelson B. Wheeler, the bucket shop proprietor, through whom Miss White conducted her dealings. Wheeler last evening was twice arrested on warrants charging him with forgery in the second de-gree. He pleaded not guilty and his wife gree. He pleaded not guilty and his wife furnished a bond for bail. Jacob Schwartz, counsel for Wheeler, says it is preposterous to charge Mr. Wheeler with forgery, as he had nothing to do with Miss White's trans-actions beyond investing the money she put into his hands, in a perfectly legitimate busi

A Stormy Temperance Meeting. PITTSBURG, April 10 .- Rev. Sam Small conducted one of the most exciting temperance meetings of the prohibition campaign in the old M. E. church to-night. He was de nouncing liquor dealers as "law breakers' when Jacob Keller, a wealthy wine dealer, came In. "He is one of them," cried a man in the audience. "You're a liar," cried in the audience. "You're a liar," cried Keller. The latter became very demonstra-tive and was finally ejected from the church amid great excitement. Resolutions were passed requesting the court to refuse Keller a renewal of his license. One old lady be came so much excited that she rushed up to Keller as he was leaving the church and struck him in the face with her fist.

A Blow at the "Truck" Stores. SPRINGFIRLD, April 10 .- The members of the general assembly feel very jubilant over the passage of the Mooney "truck" bill in the nouse to-day. They are confident that it will pass the senate also. The bill makes it unlawful for any person, company, corporation or association in the state in mining or mapufacturing business to engage in, or be interested in, directly or indirectly, the keeping of a "truck" store, or the controlling of any store, shop or scheme for fur-nishing supplies, tools, clothing, provisions or groceries to employes. Wanamaker's Reception PHILADELPHIA, April 10. - Postmaster General Wanamaker held a reception in the new club house of the Manufacturers club to-night and shook hands with 1,500 men. Many prominent politicians and business men from outside points were present.

Caught at Their Own Game. SEPALIA, Mo., April 10.-The parties who rictimized J. C. Wallace, of Independence, ast Saturday morning, by working the "flim flam" bogus lottery ticket racket to the amount of $3,000, have been trying on the same game here.

Yesterday they struck a Missouri Pacific conductor named Ed Nicholson and suc-ceeded in interesting him in their peculiar method of drawing prizes. Nicholson was told, after a few minutes drawing, that his ticket called for $700, but that in order to get the money he must show up a like amount. Nicholson thought it was all right and at once drew the amount from a bank and produced it to the confidence man, who said he would have to count it himself in order to see that the amount was correct. He proposed that the party adjourn to the Missouri, Kausas & Texas depot, where he would pay over the balance. "No. sir," said Nicholson, "you pay it right here. You cash up at once, or there's going to be trouble." The cool, determined manner of the conductor had the desired effect, and the money was raid over. PORT ANGELI, N. W. SOUTH DAKOTA AFFAIRS.

Governor Mellette's Appointments-

The Sioux Falls Constitution. Hunon, Dak., April 6 .- [Special Correspondence of THE BEE. |-"A new broom weeps clean," is also applicable to Governor Mellette. The day that he qualified he kicked out by telegraph the Yankton asylum board of trustees. One of this board claimed that the contractor who was building a wing to the institution, owed him $6,000 advanced by him to complete the wing. The member referred to, feeling anxious about the money, and with an assignment of the $6,000 of the contractor in his pocket, hurried to Bismarck to get the democratic auditor to ssue the warrant on the treasury before the said d. a. was turned out of office. But the said d. a. was turned out of said d. a was turned out of office. But the new governor was too quick for him. He accepted the auditor's resignation to take effect instanter, then he told the deputy he might stay in the office as he aight stay in the office as a clerk under his—the governor's— directions until another auditor was appointed. This the deputy wouldn't promise to do, so the governor told him to leave, which he did, and the governor locked the door of the auditor's office, put the key in his pocket and kept it there until a new auditor was appointed. The $6,000 warrant is J. C. McManima, editor of the Plerre

Press, is that officer, correct in all his hab its, with good business capacity, a radical republican, and will make as good a six-months' auditor as the Dakota guild editorial can furnish. He went on duty last Tuesuay. Mr. Hagerty, the new commissioner of immigration, begins his duties next week. the is a very active business man and one of the most prudent and extensive advertisers in the state. The latter qualification won him the office. "For, if he knows so well how to advertise his own business, and does it so successfully, he will certainly know how to advertise the re-sources and the advantages of the territory," was the remark of the governor which ac ompanied his appointment.

The enthusiasm of the people for the re-adoption of the Sioux Falls constitution is growing into a furore. There are some features of that document which will be changed as quickly as possible. Upon adop-tion of this constitution South Dakota claims immediate admission to the union by presi-dential proclamation. If we fail to pursue this course the good. Lord, only knows what political evils may befall us. Minority rep resentation in the convention of July 4 may swamp or perplex the republicans so that they might be driven to accept some measures which they would later greatly regret. So we can only be sure of a good constitution and of speedy admission by again ap-proving that of 1885. And this will un-doubtedly be done. Many meetings are held every week to further this movement. Your readers will remember that a consti-tutional prohibition convention was held three weeks ago. At that time over $6,000 was pledged to aid in agitating prohibition. The money is coming right in to the committee at Huron, its headquarters, and there s no prospect of sending out any dunning circulars. The prohibs are awake here this

You would naturally think the great prairie hres of last Tuesday, in which two towns, 200 miles apart—Lola and Mount Vernon—were wiped out, and scores of scat-tered houses burned, together with much other property—you would naturally think all this might be avoided it the people would take ordinary care in burning the grass around their homes. There are many cases where this rule will apply, but not in the majority, We have a weed called the tumble-weed which, when dry, is rolled here and there by breeze every. In some of the fires of Tuesday these weeds were seen to catch fire, then roll a third of a mile over plowed ground, ignite houses, stacks, sneds and consume them. A rigid law for their destruction should be placed in our statutes. Attorney General Skinner, of the Black Hills, having resigned, the governor is being petitioned to appoint ex-Delegate Gifford to fill the vacancy. The probabilities are very strong in his favor.

J. P. Luse, register of the Black Hills land office under Arthur, is a candidate for reap pointment. He is an editor, was an A1 officer, never flinched on the republican line and deserves to succeed, Two other editors have got their hands into the federal sugar bowl this week and now write "P. M." after their names. They are J. W. Jones editor of the Oelrichs Advocate, in the Black Hills, and J. W. Branbury, editor of the Daylight, at Britton.

Daylight, at Britton.

Pending the adoption of the state constitu-tion, each class is looking out for its own interests. The farmers, via their alliance, are not behind the others. Two weeks ago they held a meeting here and voted to stand by the Sioux Falls constitution. April 13 they of the Hills will hold a meeting at Sturgis and determine on a similar course, be of interest to note if they, right there at Judge Moody's home, secretly decide to fight Moody for United States senator, as did those who met here. And this, while Moody has more money invested in farming nterests than any other individual in the Hills country.

As showing the spirit which exists between North and South Dakota, the following incident is narrated: Alfred Dickey, of Jamestown, was a candidate for the appointment of governor at the hands of President Harri-'Last week some of the North Dakotani were grumbling because Governor Mellette is giving the best offices to South Dakotans. "That's all right, gentlemen," said Dickey. "If I had been appointed governor I wouldn't have given an office to South Dakota that the law did not compet me to."

In this connection it is a noteworthy fact that the governor has not appointed a per-sonal friend to an office. He has selected able men of high character, but not one of them is personally attached to him nor ever He is running the office in the has been. He is running the office in the in-terest of the people, remembering that the republicans are in the majority.

Barring the lack of moisture, the farming interests are in a satisfactory condition. We have had but one rain this season, yet the ound is in splendid condition for ing. There is no anxiety yet as to the future. Of course our friends, the farmers, are never perfectly happy—no, not even with hogs at $4.75 and wheat $1.25. But they have exclusive control of the patent on grumbling.

Brassy, But no Monkey.

Boston, April 10 .- Special Telegram to THE BEE. ]-Charles H. Hoyt and his partner, Charles H. Thomas, proprietors in the "Brass Monkey" company, have lost about $5,000, the profits of the last two weeks' engagement at the Park the atre in Boston, by the rascality of their treasurer, George F Krewolf, twenty-seven years old, who hall from New York, and who has been in Hoyt's company two years. The attention of Hoyl was attracted to the robbery by a telegram sent from New York by his partner relative to an unpaid bill in that city. Hoyt had a few hours before given the treasurer $2.177 to deposit. The telegram alarmed Krewolf, and he suddenly left Boston Monday, not even stopping to pack his grip.

In these days when food adulteration is so common, it is a comfort to find an article for the table that is thoroughly reliable. Walter Baker & Co.'s breasfast cocoa is eminent in this limited class. No chemicals are used in its manufacture and it is absolutely pure. It forms moreover a delicious and healthful drink, as refreshing, and more nutritious, than the or coffee and free from the interthan tea or coffee, and free from the injuri-ous effects that those beverages sometimes produce. And it is very cheap withal. The house of Waiter Baker & Co., has main-tained for more than 100 years a great and honored repute by the excellence and purity of its manufactures.

SUGAR GROWING IN NEBRASKA

Grand Island Grows the Best Sugar Beets in the United States.

A COMING NEW INDUSTRY.

Good Words For Our State-A New Way to Reduce the Tariff-Something New and Interesting.

FORT ROBINSON, Neb., April 10 .- | Special to THE BEE.]-When we remember that the people of the United Shates an nually expend $150,000,000 for foreign sugars, it is not strrnge that thoughtful men and economists like Mr. Norman J. Coleman, late commissioner of agriculture. should inquire into the possibility of producing a much larger quantity of sugar at home. The amount of sugar annually produced from sugar cane grown in our southern states is only equal to one-eighth of our consumption, and for climatic reasons the area in which sugar cane can be grown in this country can not be extended greatly northward. The first questions considered by our economic sugar makers was to find a omic sugar makers was to find a plant that would produce sugar and grow equally well both north and south. A hardy plant answering to this description was soon found in sorghum. It is hardy and easily cultivated and grows equally well over a wide extent of country, including Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois, Iowa, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York. It is rich in sugar; and a plant having it is rich in sugar; and a plant having the great qualities of hardiness and sweet sap soon came into general use. It is not a cane, but rather belong to the family of grasses, such as maize, broom corn and sweet orn graminacea. But it was soon found orghum was better adapted to the produc tion of syrup than crystalized sugars of a high order, and so it was given up to molas ses, fodder and slops for fattening pur

Then our economists set out again to find another plant that would answer their pur-poses for the production of sugar at home. suppose the ordinary democratic economist would have gone abroad and had the cheap labor of Europe compete with our people at home, but Mr. Coleman, although a very good democrat, was not that kind of economist. He believed in home production and protection to American labor and industries, and it was not long until he hit upon the sugar beet as the best article from which to nanufacture domestic sugars and keep our $150,000,000 at home, instead of sending i annually to enrich Great Britain and other European countries beyond the ocean. See.
The experiments that have been made in the the past few years in the production of beet sugar the average American knows little of. It may safely be said they have been producious and entirely success-ful. At first the difficulties met with were very formidable, and the experimenters were eered and laughed at, but by patient per-severence all obstacles were overcome and the production of beet sugar in the United States made a grand success. And now comes the interesting part of this matter to us. A letter before me says: "We have experimented in many places, and find the beet is hardy and grows well. The per-centage of crystalizable sweets to be found in this vegetable is something wonderful. It grows well in many latitudes reaches a high percentage in Kansas, but there is a bit of land in Nebraska about Grand Island, where all the conditions seem to be favorable, and where I think the maximum of success can be reached in raising the sugar beet." Hurrah for, hurrah for Nebraska; let us bless God, spit on our hands and take new hold on faith for the future of the state. If the professed tariff reformers want to really reduce the revenue now collected upor foreign goods let them devote half as much zeal to the development and successful es tablishment of American industries that they do to destroying them and the revenue will be less, for we shall make for our-selves many things we now buy abroad. Let them, for example, set aside $1,000,000 a year to be paid in bounties to sugar experiments canes, to jute and ramie, to flax and their employment and development in making articles that enter into the wants of our peothem inform our act processes in manufacturing goods and we will make the $750,000,000 of goods now imported, and the revenue from duties on them as imports will be nil in treasury

DESTITUTION IN DAKOTA, Many Families Reduced to Penury

By the Prairie Fires. MINNEAPOLIS, April 10.-Alderman Smith returned this morning from Sully county, Dakota, where he went to investigate the extent of damages by the recent prairie fires. "It was a terrible sight," he said. "I did not suppose that the fires were so bad. There are at least 100 families in Sully county who lost most of what they had. Some of them saved a few things, but in most cases nothing was saved. Those who witnessed the fire told me that the flames jumped four and five rods, so that ordinary fire protection was of no avail. One man had a sick daughter in bed when he saw the fire coming, and his wife rushed into a barn to untie the horses while he ran to save the girl. He had just carried her out to save the girl. He had just carried her out on a ploughed field when the fire sprung upon his house, his wife barely escaping. The horses were burned. I saw where 400 sheep had been burned in a heap. The people of Blunt have done a good deal for the sufferers, but they are unable to do half enough and I hope that the good people a and I hope that the good people of Minne apolis will put their shoulders to the wheel at once. DEVOY AFTER EGAN.

He Brings His Quarrel Before the Municipal Council. New York, April 10 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-John Devoy took his quarrel with Patrick Egan, the new minister to Chili, before the municipal council of the Irish National league last night. The present trouble grows out of an article published March 23, in which it was stated that the cable dispatch from London, in which Egan had been given the credit for discovering Pigott, was really written in this country under Egan's direction. Later, an interview with Mr. Egan was published in which he was made to say that John Devoy was responsible for the story that he had written the cable dispatch and Devoy was denounced as a traitor. Egan he interview, but this did not satisfy. He wrote several fierce messages to Egan and finally brought his quarrel before the municipal council. A resolution was passed condemning Egan and asking Mr. Parnell to appoint a committee to investigate the condition of the Irish national movement in America It is believed here that Parnell will not appoint such a committee and De voy's kick will end about where it began.

Tried to Kill a Banker. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 10 .- An attempt was made last night by a well dressed young stranger to murder Banker J. S. Lockwood. The young man drove up to the Lockwood house in a carriage and asked the driver to return for him at 10 o'clock, when his visit would be ended. On entering the house he presented a letter to Mr. Lockwood, purporting to be written by H. W. Brower, and introducing Charles Hickman, of Boston The young man asked Mr. Lockwood to accompany him to the Wenger hotel to converse about some stolen bonds. When the wo had left the house and were in the yard Lockwood stopped to pick some roses for his visitor. The latter stepped behind Lockwood and fired, striking him behind the ear. The wounded man made a motion as though to draw a revolver and his assailant ran down the street. Lockwood's wound is not down the street. Lockwood's wound is not serious, it being but a mere scalp graze. It has since been learned that Mr. Brower knows nothing of the young stranger or the letter which he presented. Many people believe that the so-called assassin had a legiti mate grievance, and that after he had failed to secure a settlement made an attempt to kill his oppressor.

HER MANY ALIASES. Woman Who Caused Cashier

Pratt's Downfall.

ANORA, Minn., April 10.-Half a dozen aliases of Mrs. Jacobson, to whom is credited Cashier Pratt's downfall, have been discovered. When she first appeared here three years ago she posed as a widow, and peddled maps to support herself and child. A street flirtation with Pratt was the beginning, after which Pratt went with her to a secluded spot hardly a stone's throw from his house and a long interview with her. After this she ceased peddling, and always had plenty of money. She protended to be neither cul-tivated nor wealthy, and realizing that she tivated nor wealthy, and realizing that she was not his equal in refinement and education, he sent her to a business college in St. Paul for a time. When she returned to Anoka she posed as a refined hady, with an abundance of expensive dresses, and took a house opposite Pratts home, giving her name as Mrs. Platt, the wife of a railroad man seldem at home. Her husband's continued absence created remark, and finally anonymous letters were circulated alleging shameful things against her and the cashier. One of these reached a lady who eashier. One of these reached a lady who had known Pratt for fifteen or twenty years and who looked upon his wife as a sister. She was indignant and showed him the note, demanding that for the sake of his wife and children he hunt down the writer and send him to prison. She offered to take the of-fending woman to Europe, but the latter re-fused to go. She was then threatened with a coat of tar and feathers and left the city, afterward giving birth to a child in Minneap-

RECOVERED THE BOODLE. Paying $4,000 for the Return of Property Taken by Sharpers. Monnistown, Pa., April 10 .- In the latter part of July, 1888, Jacob R. Reiff, a wealthy farmer of this county, was fleeced out of $10,-000 worth of bonds by a pair of bunko sharpers, who had been negotiating with him for a week before, estensibly with a view to purchasing a farm in the neighborhood. The securities were principally certificates of the Cincinnate Southern railroad, and were worth something less than their face value. Every effort was made to gain a clue to the swind lers, but without success. About eight weeks ago Farmer Reiff received a call from a well iressed stranger, who, after exacting promise of secrecy, represented to Reiff that he was New York detective and could restore the bonds. He said a broker of his acquaint-ance had bought them of the sharpers, and was afraid to sell them lest they be arrested for the swindle. The price asked for the return of the stelen bonds was $8,000. Mr. Reiff declined to pay any such sum as this. few weeks, and finally it was decided that if the farmer would pay $4,000, ask no ques-tions, and promise to make no effort to secure the arrest of the persons who had swindled him, the bonds would be restored. Mr. Reiff's counsel went to New York, recently, with $4,000 of Farmer Reiff's money in his pocket, met the self-styled detective, signed the agreement of secrecy referred to, and re turned with the bonds.

HOME FROM PARIS.

One of America's Fairest and Keenest Swindlers Comes Back. DETROIT, April 10 .- Sophie Lyons, the notorious thief, who is feared by many prominent citizens of Detroit and the state, has returned from a two years' sojourn in Europe. Mrs. Lyons said to a reporter: "Ran over from Paris to see my children, who have been separated from me for two years, and to give my little girl a kiss on her fourteenth birthday. Came over on the Umbria and landed in New York Sunday night, and didn't have even the pleasure of looking upen any of those astute detectives who made me out such a dangerous person to the Paris police. Been in jail, of course. I've a remarkable faculty for getting there ever time I go abroad. I've an even more remark able faculty for getting out every time. After all, there is no place like home, not even the jail. I've been behind the bars in half the civilized countries on both sides of the At-antic. The prisons of Paris are bad, but I didn't object to a single one, because I wanted to see what they looked like. I've made the tour of Europe eight times, and I haven't missed seeing the inside of a prison once. I've been in every country in Europe this time, except Turkey. I spent several weeks in Vienna about the time of the archduke's death. Witnessed the grand pageant at the funerals of the two German emperors: was present at a number of grand fetes in Mad-rid, and saw everything going on in Paris that was worth seeing. I met General Bou-langer and listened to his addresses in several of the cities of France." Just here Mrs. Lyons' two beautiful children appeared —a boy and a girl—and after caressing them she said: "I've had thirteen children, and these and one more, who has entered a con-vent, are all that are left to me. I am going to take them to France and send them to the

AMUSEMENTS.

At Boyd's last night a magnificent pre sentation of the "Bunch of Keys" was given by the Original Sparks company. The audience filled the house and gave evidence in the manner in which it appreciated the well known features, that it had acquired an appreciation of them in former representations of the piece. The company in specialty features is very strong, while from a musica tandpoint it may be said to be more effective than many of the companies on the road. The principal performers are Charles Burke as Snaggs and J. B. Mackie as Grimes. Burke's work is a happy mixture of burlesque and character work, the effect of which is most satisfactory.
