The Scales Will Stay.

At its last meeting the council directed the city marshal to remove the scales at the junction of Main and Pearl streets, within five days. This was the second time a simi lar order had been issued, the owner of the scales, Mr. C. C. Honn, having secured an injunction the first time to prevent the order peing carried into effect. It worked so well that he tried it again, and Judge Deemer is sued the required injunction. When the marshal went to remove the scales, he was knocked out by the order of the district court, and Honn is still doing business at the old stand.

old stand. These orders are simply the rather feeble attempts of the council to compel the trade to go to the duly elected weighmaster at the city haymarket. The city receives no reve-nue from these scales, and the weighmaster regards it as an encroachment on his rights regards it as an encroachment on his rights as well, so the matter is periodically brought to the attention of the council, which issues an order, both for the purpose of pacifying the weighmaster and easing its conscience. It is hardly probable that the matter will be heard from again for at least a couple of months.

'The ceremony occurred in the Presbyterian church and was witnessed by a large gathering of friends of the principals from home and abroad. The altar was lavishly and tastefully decorated with flowers. The ushers were friends of the groom as follows: E. E. Hastings, Harry Nott, D. W. Keister, of Omaha, and Charles Woodman, of Denver. These also acted as groomsmen with the following young ladies as bridesmaids: Misses Annie Patterson, Minnie Stelling and Hattie
