He and all the other parties interested say that the entire matter is being satisfactorily adjusted and Mills & Rankin will continue to do business.

Decapitated. J. D. LaCourse, another of the head clerks in the railway mail service here, received notice yesterday that the service can get along under this administration without him. Mr. LaCourse was appointed about twenty-two years ago, from Colorado, on the recommendation of Senator Teller, and was a republican, but it is said, he has since turned mugwump.

The New Water Main Laid. The water works company has just completed the laying of the new water main on Farnam street. The new pipes cut in reach from Tenth street to Twenty-Ninth avenue, a stretch of a mile and a half. This provision for the growing wants of the city cost the company over $38,000, the pipes alone containing an expenditure of $30,000. In addition to these expenses there should also be added the $1,000 which it cost the company to repair the damages done by the breaking of the water main by vandals.

He Will Explain to Berka. William Keyser lives at the corner of Thirty-second and Cuming streets, when he is at home, but last night he wasn't there. His temporary residence was the public station. Yesterday afternoon Officer Whalen went out after him with a warrant, charging him with slapping a little girl named Sarah Levi. The latter, it seemed, annoyed Keyser, and, losing his temper, he abused her. His explanation will be listened to by Judge Berka this morning.

A Runaway Couple. J. J. Kauffman, of Falls City, writes to Chief Seavey offering $25 for the arrest of George Thompson, a man of forty-five, who eloped with Kauffman's sixteen-year-old daughter, Anna. Thompson is described as being of dark complexion, height about five feet ten; mustache, dark, long and heavy; when walking he swings his right arm. The girl is pronounced a little girl named Sarah Levi. It is believed that the runaway couple came to Omaha.

He Blew His Wages In. James O'Brien was arraigned on the charge of vagrancy. He denied the charge, saying that he had been working up to a very recent period. "What did you do with your wages?" asked the judge. "I blew it all in," replied O'Brien. "Well, I'll blow you in the county jail for ten days," said his honor, "the first and last two on bread and water, and at the end of that time if you don't reform I'll give you a still worse breeze."

Dugan Discharged from Custody. James Dugan, who was arrested Monday night for shooting a drunken man named Culson while the latter was trying to break in the door with an axe, was examined before Judge Berka yesterday afternoon and his dismissed with a fine of $100. Judge Culson, without provocation, threatened to kill Dugan. He got up an axe and began cutting open the door. Dugan, who had three shots, finding that Culson wouldn't frighten, he shot at his body, putting one bullet in each arm, and at the end of the shooting justifiable, Culson is still at the police station nursing his wounded arms.

Not Excited. The commissioners are not so much agitated now as they were regarding the possibility of being compelled to give up possession of the county poor house to L. S. Hascall, who purchased it some eighteen months ago. They have discovered that he has not lived up to his agreements and so payment has been made on several of the poor farm lots bid by him. However, he has put up one-third of the purchase price for lots 15 and 19 in block 2, on which the buildings are located, and the second payment of one-third will be due and paid on the 8th instant. Since he seems anxious to be released from his obligation to take other lots the board thinks it will have to be able in keeping possession of an abode for the paupers until the new asylum is completed.

R. A. Gunn, M. D., dean and professor of surgery of the United States medical college, editor of "Medical Tribune," author of "Gunn's New Improved Hand-book of Hygiene and Domestic Medicine," says over his own signature, in speaking of a severe case of kidney disease: "A chemical and microscopical examination of the patient's urine revealed quantities of albumen and granular tube casts, confirming Bright's disease. After trying all the other remedies in vain, I directed him to use Warrant's Safe Kidney Cure. I was greatly surprised to observe a decided improvement within a month. Within four months no tube casts could be found, and only a trace of albumen, and as he expressed it, he felt perfectly well."

DISTRICT COURT.

Warring Street Car Corporation Come Together. The court house was a very dull place. Many lawyers assembled at 9:30, expecting an opportunity to get action on motions, except for equity matters, but they found everything blocked by the motor-horse railway injunction suits. This was the last opportunity for them. They could not demand further delay without going over to next term, and each corporation is expressing great anxiety now to have the controversy settled so that which ever one wins can get to work. A number of bills, petitions and affidavits were read. Hermon DeWitt testified to some extent a history of certain deals made with the horse car people, by which they secured possession of property south of the round track and north of Cleveland street, and Mr. Frank Murphy's affidavit in reply to this was also read. Neither of them, however, developed any new facts, and before proceeding with the case, however, Judge Doane made a few entries for the accommodation of attorneys, on the trial of the case. While he was engaged Judge Wakeley heard a divorce suit in the equity chamber, in which Edward Hawlicke petitioned the court to annul his marriage with Anna Pauline. The parties were married on the 6th day of last June, and according to the woman's story, Anna was grossly deceived by him, for afterwards he learned that she then had a husband living in Bohemia, from whom she had never been divorced. Neither the plaintiff nor his witnesses can speak English. Therefore Frank Kasnar was called in to act as interpreter for them. Defendant filed an answer and bill for alimony, but did not appear at the trial. After hearing what evidence was introduced Judge Wakeley made an order annulling the marriage, and stated that the husband of the plaintiff would have to be determined some other time. The motion made by Sallie A. Lowe's attorneys for a new trial of her damage case against the city was overruled.

Letitia Metzler filed a bill for divorce from her husband, Simond, claiming that she was a resident of this city when she was married, May 8, 1858. The grounds upon which the woman seeks legal separation, are cruelty in its most extreme form. She says she has been struck, choked, knocked insensible and thrown out of the house.

Everett B. Utley is dissatisfied with his wife and wants a divorce. He commenced suit against Cora A. Utley, claiming that she has been an habitual drunkard for the past three years. As a result of her debauchery, the plaintiff's health has become ruined, and that his business associations have been broken up.

Dennis Cunningham instituted action against Rogan Bros. and P. O. Malley to recover $1,000 on a promissory note. George P. Griffin entered suit against the Omaha Motor Railway company and Earnest C. Stubbins to recover $10,000 damages for personal injuries sustained by falling into a trench at the corner of Fifteenth and Jones streets, on the night of April 19, last. Griffin's leg was broken. He claims that no light or guards were near the excavation.

Stella Manger brought suit against Sarah Bernstein and Samuel Kline for $200 damages, alleged to have been sustained by the removal of the plaintiff's wearing apparel, while she was sick and confined to her bed. Byron Reed, executor of the will of Phillip Cassidy, deceased, commenced suit against Morris Morrison, trustee, L. O'Keefe, A. McDevock and James Walsh to recover $1,345, alleged to be due on a promissory note executed before Cassidy's death.

Charles Nelson sued the Union Pacific Railway company for $1,900 damages for personal injuries sustained April 11, by being thrown from a flat car while in the employ of the company. The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway company was sued for $15,000 damages by Ego G. Christensen, who was in the employ of the corporation as a laborer, and who was injured by the breaking of a chain on a steam shovel. Christensen claims to have been permanently injured and wants $15,000 damages.

Patrick J. Barrett commenced suit against Morgan J. Healey for $125, claiming that he had paid a judgment and remove a lien on a lot purchased from Healey.

Notwithstanding that the district court was adjourned until the May term, which opens May 13, Judge Hopewell will be on the bench all this week.

County Court. Judge Shields heard arguments in the Brewster estate matter, an old case, wherein Sarah H. Brewster had asked for an accounting from his brother, Edward Brewster, and Mr. Harrison, the executors. Morris Rath and Bernard Lieberman commenced suit to recover $300 from Adolph Brown, on account of the sale of a vicious horse, which Brown represented to be gentle and sound. The animal kicked a buggy to pieces.

Frank B. Johnson sued James and Elizabeth Cotter for $1,000 alleged to be due on a promissory note. Mrs. P. Brown was sued by I. Meek & Son, who seek to recover the possession of two bay mares, three colts, a stallion and $50 damages for detention of the animals.

Eddy-Platner. Mr. George Biles Eddy has joined the great throng of benedictos and come on a wedding tour. At high noon yesterday a small company of select friends assembled in the First Methodist church, and were witnesses to his marriage with Miss Lillian Platner. Rev. T. M. House performed the ceremony. Every body extended congratulations and wished the happy pair many years of domestic felicity. They left on the 1 o'clock train for Sioux City, and from there will go to spend their brief honeymoon at St. Paul and Minnesota. The groom is junior partner of the firm of Chase & Eddy and a deservedly popular young man.

The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, 3705 Hamilton street; Rev. Mr. Henderson officiated, the knot being tied in the presence of about forty invited guests, most of whom were close friends of the parties interested. At 2 o'clock the party sat down to an elegant dinner, and a little later Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins took the train for Chicago. They will remain away a few weeks, enjoying life at some of the summer resorts on the great lakes. The bride is a daughter of Omaha's pretty and accomplished young ladies, wore a brown silk traveling dress. The groom is the official reporter of the Third Judicial district, and one of the best stenographers in Nebraska.

Dr. Gluck eye and ear, Barker blk. HE GOT REDUCED RATES. An Old Man Who Objected to Paying $2 for a Marriage License. An old English couple who have decided to divide their joys and sorrows were united in the holy bonds of wedlock yesterday morning by Judge Wada. The groom is seventy-six and his blushing bride is now about to gaze upon her sixty-fourth summer. Their names are Darius Hyde and Mrs. Eliza Miller.

"Strange, isn't it, that they have gone up?" remarked the groom as he tottered into the justice's office on the arm of his fiancée. "Who's gone up?" responded the judge. "These here marriage licenses. That fellow up to the court house made me pay $2 for one. Heretofore I have been accustomed to paying only $1."

"Why didn't you send your grandson around to get it himself, if the price was too much for you?" queried the justice. "It weren't for no grandson nor no son, sir," was the reply. "It's for meself and this young lady."

"I beg your pardon. I don't blame you for kicking. The clerk should have given you a reduction."

"Why, sir! I would have been willing to pay as much as I new for it."

"You should have been given a reduction on the customary fee for the reason that you have not long to use it, and because you have been in the city so long."

"Yes, but I'll never pay more'n a dollar again. We're ready to be tied now, your honor."

The knot was tied. Seventy-five cents was tendered the court for its services. The old gentleman took the judge at his own proposition on reductions.

Hochman's Pills act like magic on a weak stomach. AT THE HIGH SCHOOL. The Washington Centennial Celebration—Dr. Miller's Address.

The singing of "Hail Columbia" by the teachers, scholars and visitors in the auditorium of the high school, yesterday afternoon, gave notice that the adoption of the constitution of this country was to receive a contemporary confirmation. "The Formation of Washington's Cabinet," by Larrison Denise, and Lawrence Baker's "Inauguration of Our First President," was sandwiched by "The Star Spangled Banner," spiritedly sung by the scholars. Lonis Holter's "Red, White and Blue" was a patriotic voice.

The Rev. Willard Scott's remarks were appropriate. Mr. Nat Brigham sang, much to the delight of everybody, "The Sword of Bunker Hill." Dr. George L. Miller called attention to the fact that the George Washington we honored was but human. The doctor was glad that he was, inasmuch as it proved that should the occasion demand another Washington he could be found.

While Washington was entitled to all credit in the prosecution of the war, he would have been but a baby at its conclusion without the assistance of such constitution framers as Jefferson and Hamilton. The main bulwark of this republic was to be honesty, and he trusted that the mothers would educate the daughters to offer something more than an Easter bonnet to the world.

The speaker thought it would be a good idea to carry the study of history into the British parliament in the revolutionary period and ascertain what was given to the republic by some of the members of that body.

Advice to Mothers. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhea. Borden is a bottle.

Berghoff to be Released. Louis Berghoff, who has been confined in the county jail the past two years on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, will be released from prison to-day, if he secures a bondsman. His bail, which has been held at $1,500, was yesterday reduced to $700 by Judge Hopewell. This amount Berghoff thinks he can furnish. He has been tried before Judge Hopewell and convicted and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. He got a stay of execution in the supreme court and was given a new trial and went before Judge Hopewell the second time. At this trial the jury disagreed and Berghoff is now waiting for another hearing.

EVERY DAY

We are opening new lots of Spring Suits. Our trade has been enormous, and it keeps our buyer busy scouring the market. We have always taken the lead in Men's and Young Men's Suits, and have always put our main force in that part of our business, as we can show the customer in a suit more than in any other article of the great difference between our prices and those of other houses and convince him of the amount of money he can save.

The Suits we are getting in now are already from our second purchase, which as a rule are duplicated at from 15 to 20 per cent less than goods bought early in the season, and adhering to our fixed rule to always let our customers share in the benefits of the bargains we are getting, we are now in a position to offer many suits of rich and select patterns, productions of the best manufacturers in the country—at prices which you would have to pay elsewhere for ordinary and lower grade goods.

As an extraordinary bargain we offer to-day About 400 very fine Cheviot Suits—Sacks and Cutaway Frocks—at $10.50. When you see this suit you will say that this is a ridiculously low price for such goods. The quantity is A 1. They are all in new designs and combinations of plaids, mostly light shades; some are faced with silk, and the general make-up of these suits is like first-class custom work. There are a few solid blue cheviots among them, wide wales and checks, which are now so popular. It is a pleasure for us to show and offer these suits in competition with suits for which other houses ask $16.00 or $18.00.

Another special bargain we place on sale to-morrow is: 250 very good all-wool Cassimere Sack Suits at $5.90. We have never sold a suit of equal quality for less than $7.50, and we would consider this suit very cheap at that price. There are two shades, a dark brown and a dark grey, both very neat. It will make a good business suit, as it is of excellent quality, well made, looks as good and will give fully as good satisfaction as any suit you pay $10.00 for.

In connection with this suit sale we will offer this week extraordinary inducements in Spring Overcoats, as we are desirous to close them all out before the season is over. We have marked them down to figures which will induce you to buy one, even if you did not intend to.
