MOVING FOR A MOTOR LINE. One of the Incorporators Enthusiastically Outlines the Enterprise. STILL BOTHERED BY BURGLARS

A Plucky Young Lady Gets the Drop on a Pair—A Better Boat House Wanted—The New Park Entrance.

MINOR MENTION. N. Y. Plumbing Co. Theodore Reinhold and Minnie Messerschmidt, both of this city, have been granted permission to marry.

Another Motor Line. If our city council don't think more of a two-cent horse racing team or a big, dress parade hook and ladder truck than they do of the growth and welfare of our city, we will have another electric motor line.

See Chautauqua at Ragan's lecture to-night. In police court yesterday morning Thomas Hayes, John Flynn and Emmett McCarty were each fined $8.10 for drunkenness.

The boys of No. 3 horse house have just completed some extensive changes and improvements in the interior of their building, and it now presents as fine an appearance as any similar establishment in this section.

Largest sale of baby carriages ever known in the trade is said at Brackett's this season. About 7:30 o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was sent in from Keyes Bros' cart and buggy factory, near the electric power house.

Almost a Conflagration. About 7:30 o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was sent in from Keyes Bros' cart and buggy factory, near the electric power house. The department responded quickly, and the fire was out in less than seven minutes.

Mr. Carpenter reports at this office that for the past three nights ice has formed at his residence on Harrison street. How much damage this has been to fruit can not be told, but the fruit growers are rather dubious on this account.

We also want to branch from the Ninth avenue line at Fourth street, up Fourth street to Broadway at the Masonic Temple, east on Broadway to Bryant street, north on Bryant to meet the other branch at Washington avenue.

The recent extension of the water mains was all that saved the building, as water was there in abundance, and under full pressure. His case is on for the second time, and but for the presence of Mr. Keyes and the watchman, the entire building would have been in flames before the arrival of the department.

The fire ladders are beginning to put the "White Elephant" in training for the tournament. They took the mammoth plowing and raised it at the City Mills during the present week, and a stream of water directed down upon the roof of the building from a height of eighty-five feet.

What about the report that the Union Pacific will not lease the wagon part of its bridge to your company? "If we don't get it, the other company will, and we have the assurance that we can have it. The Union Pacific company will not talk to us now, but says that as soon as we can get a charter over here, they will negotiate with us.

Single tickets to Ragan, 50c and 25c. The jury in the case of Barrett & Barrett vs Wheeler & Horad was instructed by the court as soon as court convened yesterday morning and sent out. The next case taken up was that of the Omaha Coke and Coal Company vs John Linnehan, an action to recover the value of some cement sold to the defendant.

When Judge Aylesworth visited police headquarters, yesterday morning, to hold a daily session of court, he found the door locked, and no jailer in the vicinity. Detective O'Donnell, of the Milwaukee, was also on hand to prosecute the case against the three tramps arrested by him the preceding night, for breaking open a sealed car in the Milwaukee yards.

Attending the opening of Hotel de Manawa, next Tuesday. Fine entertainment, ball and banquet. The residence of W. W. Chapman, No. 717 First avenue, was entered by burglars Thursday evening, about half-past 8 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were up town at the time, and there is no one in the house except Miss S. D. Rehn.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were up town at the time, and there is no one in the house except Miss S. D. Rehn. The burglars effected an entrance through a rear door, and began to thoroughly sack the house.

How They Spent Their Leisure. At the last of the "Owl Talks" of the Twilight League, the speaker, for the speaker was "How do you spend your leisure?" and the answers that were given to it showed that there is a variety in the tastes of the members, says the New York Sun. One of them said he spent his leisure in horseback exercise, another in studying books, another in playing billiards, another in literary composition, another in riding his hobby, another in looking after the duties of his bible class, another in looking after his club, another in editing a journal, another in editing a dental journal, another in editing a dental journal, another in editing a dental journal.

London's Pavements. The London pavements which strike every visitor from this side of the water as so perfect are receiving a tremendous amount of local abuse now. Wood and asphalt are too slippery; macadam can't stand the heavy wear. The opinion is freely held that London "has not yet solved the problem of street pavements and seems as far off from it as ever."

For Rent. A fine dairy farm of 138 acres, half a mile from the city limits; a part of it can be cultivated if desired; good house and barn; water supplied by a windmill. H. H. EVERETT. Cutting into the Park. The upper part of Graham avenue very much resembles a railroad graders' camp. The force that is to excavate the cut between that street and Fairmount park is on the ground, ready to commence operations this morning. The work of the surveyors was completed yesterday, the graders being delayed one day. The cut is to be completed in twenty-one days, and a forfeit of $500 has been posted in case the requirements of the contract are not complied with. The electric motor company is ready to extend its line into the park as soon as the way is open for it to do so.

A SUICIDE CLUB. The Bridgeport Farmer in his issue of today emphatically states that John Kienny, who committed suicide in this city on Monday, was a member of the Suicide club, which was organized in Bridgeport about three years ago, says a Bridgeport, Conn., dispatch to the Globe-Democrat. There were five assenting individuals present at the time the proposition to form such a peculiar band was broached, and the membership never increased. The members agreed, half jokingly and half earnestly, that some one of them should commit suicide on each succeeding year until all were gone. The members further agreed that the club should hold meetings annually, and at such meetings they should decide by ballot, individual inclination or otherwise, which member was next to die for the mortal coil. Friends of these evidently insane men say that at the time the Suicide club was organized the members were not intoxicated and none of them had shown any signs of being unbalanced. It is reported that the club held several meetings since it was organized, but the members had always refused to divulge what business was transacted at their conclaves.

Henry Jensen, the president of the Suicide club, kept a saloon on Gold street, was the first member to make a will with himself. He put himself out of the world by his own hands about two years ago. The next member to commit suicide was William M. Klock, the sign painter, who cut his throat. Whether he did this of his own impulse or because his death had been decreed in council, the other members refused to say.

At this juncture friends of the surviving members began to look upon the matter as something very serious, and urged them to give up their mad scheme. Their pleadings were received coldly, however, by two of the surviving members, but the third, a well known German resident of West Stratford, proceeded to the wishes of his friends and tendered his resignation to the society. The other two members called him a coward, and said that he resigned because he felt confident that he would be the next member selected to die. When the club was organized John Kienny, who committed suicide Monday, was elected vice president, and upon President Jensen's death Kienny assumed the presidency of the club and held it until the time of his death. There is left only one member of the original combination outside of the one who resigned, and he is in business in Bridgeport. Friends of John Kienny say that suicidal intentions have been apparent from his talk and actions for the past two years, and that on numerous occasions he has threatened to kill both his wife and himself. Mrs. Kienny, however, instead of becoming alarmed and deserting him, honored his whim in every instance, and thus probably delayed the commission of the act.

Rev. L. B. Payne, Agent and Trustee of the Orphan's Home at Macon, Ga., writes a Letter Dated February 1st, 1889. "I have been using Swift's Specific with the children of the orphan home under my charge with the best results. I began its use in the month of June, 1887, and have seen many remarkable cures. Quite a number of the children had constitutional blood diseases resulting from the failure of the mother's system, and were cured of the horrible taint by the use of S. S. C. There have also been scores of children in the institution whose systems (they having been mostly without the benefits of parental care) were enervated by dieting and other ill-conducted management, and the children have taken S. S. C., and all have been signally benefited by it. All have been cured who have taken enough of it. We have cured the most obstinate cases of the painful recurring attacks of erysipelas. Neither one improved under the treatment of any other medicine, and other medicines were discarded and they took S. S. C. the cure in each case was quick and permanent, for they have been well for five or six years, and have no return of the disease. I could tell much more of the remarkable cures of blood disease by S. S. C. for I have seen it used and know its value. L. B. PAYNE.
