Notice.

Matter of Application of S. A. Beranek for permit to sell liquor as a druggist.

Notice is hereby given that S. A. Beranek did upon the 37th day of April A. D. 1889, file his application to the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners of Omaha, for permit to sell Mait. Spirituous and Vinous Liquors as a Druggist, for medicinal, mechanical and chemical purposes only, at No. S. W. Corner 18th and Williams Streets, 2nd Ward, Omaha, Nebraska, from the 1st day of January 1889 to the 1st day January 1890. January 1980.

If there be no objection, remonstrance or protest filed within two weeks from April 27th A. D. 1889, the said permit will be granted.

274 S.A. BERANEK, Druggist, Applicant,

Accepting the Situation. Peck's Sun: "No, Mr. Jackson, I can not be your wife, as my heart is already in the keeping of another, but I can be a sister to you.

"Oh! 'tis hard to thus be obliged to give you up, Maud, and still your very generous offer to be as a sister to me can not go unaccepted. Will you be as near a real sister to me as possible?" Yes, George, I shall endeavor to." "There is Jack Fourinhand's sistor, for instance. Will you be as loving and attentive to me as she is to him? "With all my heart, George." "Very well, then, s'ster mine, I shall try to be worthy—oh, I really must be though—good night, sister." The next day Miss Maud received a package, and, upon opening it, discovered that it contained-horrors-two pairs of pants, six pairs of socks, and a shirt. A note slipped out, and upon reading it this is what she saw: DEAR SISTER MAUD: I ascertained from Jack Fourinhand that his sister was in the habit of doing all his monding. Thinking of our agreement, I bethought me of these few articles of wearing apparel, which are sadly in need of buttons and mending. I long needed a sister that would look after my clothes, and since you have so kindly consented to act in that capacity you may commence your duties at once.

Capanel's Successor. Contrary to all expectations, the Academy of Fine Arts has elected an artist to succeed Cabanel, says the London World. After hot and repeated voting, J. J. Henner came out at the head of the list with nineteen votes, against thirteen given to Jules Lefevre and four to Detaille. The Alsatian Henner is one of the very few contem-porary painters who have an absolutely personal vision of nature, and the power to render that vision with taste, and with all the charm of a mysterious technical perfection that baffles analysis and imitation. He is a great artist and a great painter. The election of Henner to the Academie des Beaux Arts will doubtless have an indirect influence on the aspect of French women, for fashion demands that a lady who respects herself should have her portrait printed by have had their portraits painted by Henner, and in order to please him and render his task agreeable they had their hair dyed mahogany-red. We may, therefore, anticipate an increased demand for mahogany-red hair dye; the nuance Henner will become more than ever a la mode; and when a brunette presents herself at the studio Place Pigalle she will be informed by the artist in the richest accents: "Ma-tame, bour fous vaire beindre il vaut fous vaire teindre." The old, old story is plainly but actly told in a few words by Messrs. H. D. and G. W. Brown, of Pellville, Kentucky, as follows: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has given the best satisfaction of any cough medicine we ever had in the house. You will please ship us three dozen bottles of the 50 cents size." Sold by all druggists.

Sorghum Blight. It has been discovered that sorghum is affected by a blight, and some studies in that direction have been made at the Kansas agricultural station, says the Germantown (Pa.) Telegraph. The diseased plants invarianly present blotches of red discoloration on the leaves or leaf sheaths, which are more numerous and brighter upon the inner surface of the sheaths. The blotches are irregular in shape, growing darker and finally almost black. When arriving at this point the vitality of the affected parts is completely exhausted. The dis-ease also develops and extends to the roots, to such an extent that the plant can be easily pulled out of the soil disease seems to be the same as that de-scribed by Prof. Burrell in the "Pro-ceedings of the Meeting of the Society for the Promotion of Agricultural Science," at its eighth annual session, when he attributed the disease to a micro-organism, to which he gave the name Bacillus sorghi. It has been demonstrated by experiment that the bacillus can exist in the soil and survive during winter, and that it can be communicated to healthy plants. It may even be carried in the air. As a precaution all diseased plants should be burned and a rotation of crops practiced, so as to avoid bringing the crop in contact with the disease that may eq contained in the soil.

Poisoned by a Calf.

My little boy broke out with ulcers and sores, the result of the saliva from a calf's mouth coming in contact with a cut finger. The ulcers were deep and very painful, and showed no inclination to heal. I used quite a number of remedies, with no benefit, but got Swift's Specific, and he improved with the first few doses, and in a short time was sound and well of the poison, and his general health much improved.

JOHN T. HEARD.

Auburn, Ala., Feb. 15, 1889.

In 1883 I contracted blood poison of bad type, and was treated with mercury, potash and sarsaparilia mixtures, growing worse all the time. I took seven small bottles of S. B. S. which cured me entirely, and no sign of the dreadful disease has returned. J. C. NARCE. Hobbyville, Ind., Jan. 10, 1889.
