JONES AT THE BARN DOOR.

MEN'S and BOYS' New Style 75c STRAW HATS, ALL SHAPES, 30c.

Thousands of people visited the famous "McShane Barn," on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. At times the throng became so great that it was frequently necessary to close the great door until those inside had been supplied and were ready to depart and make room for other eager customers. With an increased force of salesmen it is hoped that all will receive prompt attention this week. It will be well, however, to attend early in the day, to be sure of this. Hundreds of those who "have been there" freely state that the old barn contains the

THE CITY.

Thieves broke into Henry Pouler's house at Tenth and Bancroft and stole a ladies gold watch.

The bullet shot into Sergeant Johnson's arm by Pawnbroker Sam Snyder about two months ago, was removed yesterday by a physician.

D. E. Armstrong, of Albion, who has been favored with an appointment in the mail service, was started on his first run yesterday morning.

George Smith, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was arraigned before Justice Wade yesterday, and the case was dismissed.

Coroner Drexel resurrected the body of Mrs. Sarah Milholen, yesterday at Prospect Hill, and sent it to Springfield, Illinois, for final burial. The lady died about one year ago.

The Knights of Labor Land and Building association filed amended articles of incorporation yesterday with the county clerk. The amendment is the striking out of one of the clauses.

While W. S. Adair, who lives at Eighth and Castellar, was driving across the railroad track at Sheeley, his horse took fright and threw him out. Fortunately no bones were broken, but he was badly bruised and cut.

O. T. Bawden, who lives at 103 North Thirteen, has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of a man named Paul, who lives with a woman next door to him and whom he charges with cruelty to an infant child. Bawden says that the two are unmarried.

Personal Paragraphs.

Miss Nellie Rosewater has returned from New York, where she has finished her third year in the Cooper Art school.

C. J. Smallwood, train dispatcher of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, returned with his family from Worthington, Minn., yesterday morning.

John R. Brenson, of Rapid City, S. D., proprietor of the finest hotel in the new state, a prominent republican politician, and a man whose Omaha friends are unnumbered, is in the city.

Lew May, president of the Nebraska state fish commission, has gone to Philadelphia to attend the annual convention of the American Fisheries society, which is to be held the 15th and 16th of this month, and in which he will represent the state organization.

George W. Brewster, "the gentleman from Blaine county," is in town. He is one of the veteran publishers and printers of North Nebraska. Twenty years ago he "soldiered" for "phat takes" on the newspapers of Omaha, and managed between times to acquire a farm. After many trials and tribulations he has reached the top round of prosperity, fringed with public favor.

Marriage Licenses.

Following are the marriage licenses issued yesterday in the county court:

Name and Residence.	Age.
Thomas Brennan, South Omaha	29
Bridget McOlive, Omaha	26
Ernest T. Stinger, Omaha	23
Alice Roberts, Omaha	18

Heat in Pipes.

The Nebraska Gas Fuel company has filed with the board of public works, a plat showing the streets and alleys upon which it desires to lay its mains.

The company's plant is located on the corner of Indiana and Hickory streets and from there it is proposed, according to the plat, to run its mains through nearly every alley as far west as Twentieth street and north as far as Nichols.

The object of the company is to heat buildings and to supply gas for cooking purposes.

Humors run riot in the blood at this season. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels every impurity and vitalizes and enriches the blood.

PURE MILK.

Mayor Broatch Says He Will Attempt to Secure It.

There is a deep feeling of indignation in the community over the discovery of the sale of a recipe for the manufacture of milk. Speaking on this subject a man of family said:

"A greater fraud could not be perpetrated. The United States laws protect us in the quality of butter which we are disposed to buy, but the city does not protect us in the milk we are required to drink. I have tried six milk men, and given them all up. I knew I was receiving only watered milk and in one instance the mixture I received was such an indescribable compound of white liquid and slime that one morning, in the presence of the milkman, I threw pitcher and all into the street and told the frightened vender never again to enter my premises. Two milk inspectors in the city, bah! if they were not inspectors of meat, also, there might be some hope of their doing some good in the way of securing good milk, but how can they do it. They cannot see every butcher and milk dealer in Omaha in one day. Besides, each of these men is engaged in private business of his own, which of course, takes up some of his time.

"Now, I want to tell you that it requires a scientific man in these days to inspect milk. Farr and Hickstein know no more about science than I do. They test milk by simply dipping a bulb into it. If the milk is thick, the bulb will not sink in it, any more than it would in a thick puddle. But you would not call puddle milk, would you? And yet, these men are paid for this kind of milk inspection. It is this inspection which has allowed the palming off on us of rotten, unwholesome stuff which has almost ruined the health of my babies."

The ingredients composing the recipe are as follows: Bi carbonate of soda, glycerine, salt petre, fine salt, brown sugar, genuine milk and water. The chief refused, for ample reasons, to disclose the quantities of each ingredient. He added, however, that two ounces of the first-named articles, mixed with two gallons of milk and two gallons of water would make four gallons of a counterfeit which would deceive even a practiced eye.

Mayor Broach was seen yesterday with reference to the bogus milk recipe published above. His honor was in no pleasant mood because the facts relating to the fraud, as published in THE BEE had caused him a great deal of annoyance.

"I am going to settle the matter," he said, "but I cannot do everything at once."

"How do you propose to settle it?"

"Well, I can't state just at present, but you may rest assured that the evils complained of will be removed before long. At present I could only refer in a general way to an ordinance which may be introduced, but the features of which must be developed later. I have written a letter to one of the milk inspectors asking him why he has not reported as he is required to do."

"To whom must he report?"

"He must report to the board of health."

"Once a month?"

"No, he is expected to report every week."

"How long since he reported?"

"Oh, he hasn't reported for weeks and weeks, and I haven't heard from him yet. He may, however, have called to see me while I have been away, but, if he has, I haven't heard of it."

"Which of the inspectors do you refer to?"

"Hickstein."

"I am going to see that he complies with his instructions, or know why."

"Does the other inspector, Farr, report as required?"

"Yes."

Ended in Smoke.

A placard tacked upon the door of the Gotham cigar store on Fifteenth street near Farnam, and bearing the words, "Closed Under Mortgage," was sufficient explanation of the closed doors and closely drawn blinds that greeted the seeker after the weed.

Last Saturday a Mr. Harburger, of Worthelmee & Shiffer, cigar manufacturers in New York City and made efforts to collect payment on a note of Edward Kahn's for $545, although the note will not be due until July. He did not succeed with Mr. Kahn and finally offered the note, it is said, at a discount. A number of Kahn's creditors hearing of this, became suspicious and asked him to protect them. This he did by giving a first mortgage on the stock to the First National bank for $3,800, and other mortgages to his friends, Mose Reis, of Bradford, Pa., for $2,000, and to Julius Ellinger, of New York, for $3,000.

The stock will be sold to pay the debts.

His Personal Experience.

L. T. Harrington, ex-sheriff of Chautauqua county, New York, writes:

I am glad to say, from a long personal experience with ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, that I am able to endorse all the good things that have ever been said about them, and supplement these by saying that I frankly believe their value cannot be estimated. Their breadth of usefulness is unlimited, and for prompt and sure relief to almost every ache and pain that flesh is heir to, no other remedy, in my opinion, either external or internal equals them in certainty and rapidity. I have used them at one time for rheumatism, another for backache, again for bronchitis, always with the same result—a speedy cure.

Fining a Woman's Defender.

While George and Albert Palmer were in a beastly state of intoxication Monday night it is claimed they made a general nuisance of themselves in the vicinity of Nineteenth and Pierce. They tried to pick a quarrel with every man, and insulted every lady they met and finally knocked a woman down.

Mr. E. Woldvine witnessed the last outrage and gallantly came to the rescue and knocked both brothers out in short metre. He gave Albert a terrible beating and from the frightful condition of the fellow's face he could not have fared worse at the hands of Sullivan. The patrol wagon was called and both the Palmers, Woldvine and Charles Browman, who happened to be a spectator were arrested and taken to the lock-up. On arraignment George Palmer, who struck the woman was fined $40 and costs; Albert Palmer was fined $25, the chivalrous Woldvine was assessed $15 and Browman was discharged.

Animal Poison.

The fearful increase in mortality, resulting from the bites of rabid animals is alarming, and the fact that there have been fatal results from the bites of animals which had exhibited no signs of rabies, adds to the alarm. The case in Walton county, Ga., is an instance. The poison was communicated by the bite of an ordinary house cat, which had never seemed to be mad. The reporter heard yesterday of a remarkable case of a lady who was poisoned by fondling and kissing a poodle dog. The dog had distemper and died of it and the lady's blood was poisoned to a degree that her body was broken out in great ulcers and sores from head to foot. From a beautiful and healthy woman she soon wasted to a mere skeleton, suffering great agony. No treatment benefitted her until on the 28th of February she commenced to take Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) which at once begun to force out the poison, and she is now getting well rapidly.

The Bee Everywhere.

J. W. Bell, the Tenth street druggist received a letter from a friend in London, England, inquiring as to his chances for going into profitable business in Omaha. The writer stated that he had obtained Mr. Bell's address by reading the want columns of THE BEE. This is but a straw that shows the territory covered by THE BEE.

But this is not all. Mr. Bell has just returned from an extended tour to points south, and says THE BEE is the only paper that was circulated in that territory. It was also the only paper he observed on sale at the news stands. At New Orleans he got THE BEE as regular as at his business establishment in this city.

Mules Killed By Lightning.

A valuable span of mules belonging to James Whalen, a grader of Florence, were killed Monday night by lightning during the storm. The mules were in a tent near the waterworks plant.

THE WATER WORKS.

Some Interesting Features About Their Enlargement.

Mr. Hall, the local manager of the waterworks, says that the new plant at Florence is to be opened for use July 10. The capacity of the engines now in use is 10,000,000 gallons per day, while that of the Florence plant will be 30,000,000 gallons for the same time. As the latter quantity far exceeds the needs of the city, only 15,000,000 gallons will be provided for.

The capacity of the new settling basins is 100,000,000 gallons, and the system is so arranged as to furnish the people with perfectly clear water, which cannot be done by the limited capacity of the present plant. The old works will continue in use the same as ever. The reservoir at Walnut Hill is not, as many people suppose, the reservoir where the water for the entire city is stored, but is part of what is known as the combined direct and gravity pressure system. The direct pressure comes from the pumps in the waterworks near the Union Pacific shops and forces the water directly into the mains. The reservoir at Walnut Hill simply augments this force and gives it greater regularity by the continual pressure of a volume of water into the mains. It is the only satisfactory system in use, but still is very rare owing to absence of elevated places near most great cities. This reservoir will also continue in use as a governor for the water pressure. The new plant at Florence will cost $1,250,000, and it is thought will meet the wants of Omaha for an indefinite period.

Ford Breathes Freely Now.

John King, alias "Shorty Lacy," the young fellow under indictment for illegal voting, undertook to play false with his bondsman, Patrick Ford, the officers and everybody else. As a result he now languishes in the county jail. By order of the court, he should have appeared before Clerk Moores last Saturday morning and filed a renewal of his bond to appear when wanted at the next term of court, but he failed to show up. Consequently Mr. Ford forfeited all claims as security and started out to make a search. He looked around Saturday and Sunday for him but could find him in no place. The Third ward politician was much worried lest he should be compelled to make good the $200. But luck favored him last evening. While Deputy Sheriff Lou Grebe was at the depot he spied King getting ready to leave for Council Bluffs on the first train and arrested him. He was turned over to Joe Miller at the county jail.
