The Northwestern railroad company puts on a fast train to-morrow that makes the run to Chicago in fourteen hours. To-day's races will draw a large crowd to Union Park, as the programme is a most in-teresting one, and every class is well filled.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Lars Jensen and Phebe C. Rief, and Nils C. Jensen and A. M. K. Jensen, all of this Richardson & Jordan, the new proprietors of the Metropolitan, are repainting that hos-telry, inside and out, and its appearance is improved. Emil Rosch and Mrs. Wilhelmina Blohm were married Thursday evening by Rev. T. J. Mackay, at the home of the bride in the southern part of the city. Injunctions have been granted against saloons in the Western house, in the building west of the postoffice, and in the rear of the Blue Front on Main street. Charles Ferguson was towed in last even ing for beating his board bill, and J. Watson was brought in to keep him company, on the charge of larceny from a building.

Van Court & Benedict are laying an artificial stone sidewalk around the Merriam block. Inspection shows it to be the finest work ever done in Council Bluffs, A nine-and-one-half-pound girl has just taken up her residence with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Standeford, No. 615 Biuff street. Mr.

art case will be concluded this forenoon, and the case submitted. The court will take a recess during the afternoon and attend the races at Union Park. The child of Mr. Kearns, a teamster at the transfer, was severely bitten Thursday afternoon by a dog belonging to Mr. Saunders, another Union Pacific employe. The hungry canine was killed. Rev. J. Z. Zimmerman, of Scranton, Ia. will lecture on the "Prophecies of the Bible" at the Baptist church next Sunday evening. A chart sixteen feet long and three feet wide will illustrate his subject. Building permits have been issued to J. J. Fearon for a $5,000 brick business block on Broadway; John Ampus, $500 cottage; A. Maxim and E. L. Studley, $1,000 residence, and D. J. Hutchinson, $700 cottage. Signboards have been placed along the road to the Chautauqua grounds from the paved streets at the upper end of Broadway, and visitors will hereafter experience no difficulty in finding their way to the grounds. The racing fire companies of the city go to Nebraska City on the 25th inst., and compete for a purse aggregating $500. An interesting programme will be given, and a number of outside companies will partici

Dick Ricketts, the veteran cook and caterer, will open his new eating house and restaurant at 216 Broadway, this evening, with a banquet from 8 to 9 o'clock. Dick has always been very popular with the boys, and his new venture will undoubtedly be liberally patronized.

Extensive additions and improvements will be made during the present season at the institution for the deaf and dumb. A new industrial building, costing $6,000, will be erected at once, enabling the teaching of several industries in addition to those now taught at the institution.

The racing book and ladder team that was organized several months ago to take part in the tournament, is not receiving the financial backing that was expected, and it is quite probable that the local firemen's association will take it in charge and lend it whatever support may be necessary.

Two drunks paid prohibition fines in police court yesterday morning, and were turned loose to fili up again. There has been a noticeable falling off in police court budge business of late, but the salcons show no perceptible decrease. The coffin varnish is stored somewhere, but its effects are not as conspicuous as a few months ago.

W. N. McCormick has arrived at Union Park with Theodore Winters' stable of thoroughbreds, and will remain about a week to rest up, when he will re-ship to St. Louis. Among the noted flyers of the stable are Czar, Don Jose, Delriorey, Barrett, Rascal, Courtney and Barham. They are entered for the principal stakes at Chicago, St. Louis and other eastern trucks. The Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, will hold a division encampment in this city on the 26th and 27th of this month, and a large number of sir knights are expected to be in attendance. The division embraces eastern Nebraska and western Iowa, em-bracing over 7,000 sir knights. It will be quite an advent in Pythian circles, and a great deal of interest is already manifested. By a typographical error, THE BEE was made to say yesterday morning, that the contract for the new bridges over Indian creek, at Second, Fourth and Seventh avenues, was let to the Milwaukee Bridge and

The Aldermen Discussing the New City Hall-Project.

A DISTURBER OF THE PEACE.

The City Pays Fancy Prices For Real Estate-A Lively Contest Promised by Nebraska Hose Teams-The Clubs.

A New City Hall.

The question of creeting a new city hall is receiving considerable attention at present at the bands of the city council, and the aldermen are seriously discussing the advisability of submitting the matter to the people at a special election. Five of the members of the council are heartily in favor of the move, and openly express themselves to this effect. Alderman Everett is the only dissentng member, and he strenuously opposes the project. He gives as his reason that the city is now deeply in debt, and additional indebt-edness should not be incurred at the present ime. He states that he does not believe in the present generation being so heavily taxed for the benefit of those who will come here after. The other aldermen reply that no well regulated city is without a good, healthy debt on its hands, and it is prima facie evidence of growth, enterprise and prosperity. They all agree that the present building is inadequate to the demands made upon it, and that if a new city hall is not erected, certain changes and additions to the present structure will have to be made.

Alderman Everett favors building an addition nearly as large as the main building, with a vault in the rear for the purpose of storing the records of the superior court, and the valuable papers and books belonging to the city. Alderman Lacy draws the line at anything of this kind, and announces his intention of fighting such a move first, last and all the time, as he believes that every dollar ex-pended on the old building is just so much thrown away.

Aldermen Weaver, Waterman, Bellinger and Kuepher are all of the opinion of Alderman Lacy, and are auxious to have the ques-tion submitted to the citizens at a special election. No action has yet been taken, and several warm discussions will undoubtedly be had before an election is called, even if such action in finally decided upon. What-ever move is made, the aldermen realize that the old building will have to be used for the old building will have to be used for some time, and several minor changes are being made in the interior of it. These changes partake more of the nature of repairs, and are neither extensive or expensive. Counters are being put in the offices of the city auditor and city treasurer, and a heavy wire screen is to be placed in the city algebra office to provent the village. the city clerk's office to prevent the vulgar rowd from becoming too familiar with that official. The new city hall advocates acquiesce in these changes, but will inter-pose a most determined resistance to Alderman Everett's scheme to build an addition to the outside of the shaky structure.

Must Sell Right. "There is only one thing that can kill the erection of a fire house in the western part of the city," said Alderman Waterman, chairman of the fire committee, vesterday, to THE BEE, "and that is the wolfish proclivities of property owners. The city will have to buy a lot on which to erect the new building, and there are a great many people who have an idea that when a corporation or municipality want to buy a piece of ground they want to buy it pretty badly, and must there fore pay any price that the owner may be pleased to put upon it. Of course they can ask what they please, but if they try to stick it to us too strongly, they stand a good show of getting left. We will give them a fine house down there, and equip it thoroughly, but we don't propose to deposit a gold mine on the ground for the purpose of doing it. Now, I don't say prices are too high there, for no quotations have been made to me, but I was speaking from the experience of the past, and telling you what was customary under such circumstances. I merely wanted to suggest that it would be just as well for property owners to do the fair thing in the

There will be one of the liveliest hook and ladder contests at the coming tournament that can be secured. The York and Kear ney teams, of Nebraska, have been dissatis fied for the past year with the result of a contest at the last Nebraska tournament when the York company was awarded the prize. The Kearney team claims that it can eat York in a fair contest, and are anxious for an opportunity to regain their laurels. York is just as anxious to demonstrate its ability to hold the championship, and both teams will come here to make the race of heir lives. It will be a great attraction.

Too Much Off. Frank Kast was arrested on Upper Broad way yesterday for disturbing the peace. Kast claimed to be a mail carrier from Omaha, and that it was his day off. The policeman admitted that Kast was off, in fact too much so, and hurried him to the cooler. A woman, living near No. 4 fire house, states that Kast entered her house and assaulted her, attempting to drag her from the dining room to the parlor. Other witnesses state that he has been around there for two or three days. As the accounts were somewhat contradictory, the only charge made was disturbing the peace.

The Water Was Not Wet Enough. Mary Cleary, an attractive young lady of about twenty years, living with her father at the corner of Avenue B and Eighteenth street, had a little difficulty with her paternal ancestor Thursday morning regarding her approaching marriage. Some time ago the daughter became engaged to Mr. Thomas Troppe a brakeman on the Union Pacific. and an estimable young man. Cleary, sr., was not averse to Troupe as a prospective son-in-law, but did not want the union to take place for some time, as his wife died about two weeks age, and he wanted Mary to take charge of the younger children, six in number, two of them being under four years of age, until he could make other aryears of age, until he could make other arrangements. Harsh language was used by the father, and the girl took it so much to heart that she decided that she could never be happy in this vale of tears, and started out to Big Lake to bury her troubles and her body likewise under the lily pags of that un inviting sheet of water.

She made what she supposed would be fatal plunge, but landed in the mud up to her ears. The water was very shallow, and she then lay down in the water and tried to sink beneath the surface. John Stellen, who happened to be hunting near there, watched her operations with a dis-approving eye and finally interfered. He accompanied the young lady home, after fishing her out of the water, but she did not remain there over night, but was taken by her future husband to the home of two young lady friends.

Such was the story as it was first given out, but the young lady herself now comes to the front and says that the facts were mistated. She denies that there is any man in the case, except her father, who, she alleges, has ill-treated her, and this, coupled with the recent death of her mother, drove her half crazy. She says that such was her condition when she attempted suicide, for she acknowledges the act, but is sorry for it, and does not know what made her do it. lady friends. and does not know what made her do it. They protested against the statement made at a recent meeting of commission men at South Omaha, as published in THE BEE, to the effect that "the Nebraska City house" had closed up, and that Mr. Foster, of Swifts, had bought the company's cars. The fact is that Nebraska City has two of the largest packing houses in the west, and both are running to their full capacity with no thought of shutting down. The managers say they are doing a fair and honest business, and can pay more for hogs than the South Omaha houses, but would not lie about the latter for the sole would not lie about the latter for the sole

MISS DREXEL'S MISSION. An Important Life Work Mapped Out

by the Lady. PHILADELPHIA, May 10 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. ]-It is announced on unquestionable ecclesiastical authority that Miss Kate Drexel's entrance into a convent is only temporary and that she has no intention of becoming a sister of mercy. The Press says that Miss Drexel's object in taking the step which has attracted such widespread attention is simply to secure retirement from the world for several months in order to know whether what she has had in her mind for some years past is God's will in her regard, and if so, become thoroughly acquainted with the interior life of a relig-ious community. Miss Drexel has been for a number of years much interested in Indian and colored missions. Not satisfied with giving her money, she wishes now to give herself to this work. In retirement, there-fore, and alone with God, she wishes to find out whether He will make known to her that such is His will. If she enters on the new undertaking she will probably group around her a number of young ladies who are similarly impressed with the possibilities of the field. Their influence will be thrown out all through the southern and western states and territories. School houses and missions will be built and the cause of the
