Doings of the Supervisors-Another Victim of the Deadly Dirt Wagon -More Articles for the Chautauqua Festival.

The Criminals in District Court. The contempt case of Peter Bartel came up in the district court yesterday morning the first one of the criminal cases tried this term. The defendant was charged with selling contrary to an injunction issued some time ago by the court. Stone & Sims conducted the prosecution, and Mynster, Linut & Seabrook looked after the interests of the defendant. The next case to be called will be that of the State vs Jack Brown, for bigamy. The details of this case are familiar to the readers of THE BEE. It will be remembered that on the 28th of last January Brown induced a rather simple-minded young woman of twenty-four years, named Mary Sutton, to consent to marry him. About 9 o'clock that evening Brown conducted her to the room over the "Red Front" saloon on South Main this afternoon, from the residence, No. 400 over the "Red Front" saloon on South Main street, and a mock marriage ceremony was there performed by one Samuel Andrews, who was an accessory before the fact, and for impersonating an officer. Andrews' case will be called immediately after Brown's. It is stated that Brown has three or four wives living and several children the oldest a girl living, and several children, the oldest a girl of fifteen years. Mary Sutton, the prosecuting witness, was in Sheriff O'Neill's office yesterday afternoon, waiting for the case to be called, when a Bez representative

In the course of a conversation in regard to the case, the Sutton woman stated that she did not desire to prosecute Brown, and would not swear to anything that she did not have to. She said that Brown told her that he was never legally married to any of the women with whom he had lived. She had been "fooled," but did not propose to let that count against her. A young man from her former home in Missouri is now here, and wants to marry her, and she inti-mated that the wedding day was not far off. He knows nothing of this affair, and she will not tell him. If he finds it out, she proposes to deny it, and imagines that all wil pass off smoothly. Her cousin, Miss Lane, was with her, and expressed pity for her unfortunate relative. Brown, the defendant, takes the case very coolly, and seems to expect an acquittal. He will be defended by Colonel D. B. Dailey.

Judge Thornell arrived yesterday morning, and will assist Judge Deemer for several days. He will hold court in the south court room, and his time will be taken up with the hearing of civil cases. He spent yesterday afternoon in looking over probate papers in the clark's office, and will begin on the regular assignment to-day.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning Squire F. A. Burke, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Council Bluffs, passed to his final rest, after an illness of but a few weeks' duration. Squire Burke was taken with a chill last Monday, and he was not thought to be in a critical condition until within a few hours of his death. He was taken with a violent discharge of the bowels, and owing to old age and infirmity he was unable to resist the heavy draft upon his system. Finley Adams Burke was born in Monon Finley Adams Burke was born in Monon-gahela county, Pa., July 17, 1815. His father was Patrick Burke, a native of Philadelphia, of Irish parentage, and was a revolutionary soldier. Finley Adams was the last child soldier. Finley Adams was the last child born to his parents, and the only one of them who survived to manhood. His mother was born in County Down, Ireiand. While she was yet a girl, her parents emigrated to America. Her name was Adams, from which family name Squire Burke received his second given name. Mr. Burke was enabled to receive a good common school education. He served an apprenticeship in the glass blowing business, and followed it quite successfully. He afterward engaged in steamboat building.

In 1851 he was elected revenue collector for Wheeling, W. Va., served with honor for Wheeling, W. Va., served with honor for one year, and was elected for a second term. He turned westward in 1856, and selected Council Bluffs as his stopping place. Kane township then comprised the greater portion of Pottawattamic county. He came across lows by emigrant wagon, and when he arrived at what was for a number of years known as Taylor's Station, on the old Western Stage company's road, he placed his wife, children and household goods on the prairie farm, that was as yet a grassy wilderness, and began breaking sod. In 1859 he moved his family to this city, and in the following year was elected justice of the peace in Council Bluffs, which posi-tion he held until 1869, when he was elected city recorder. From that time until last spring, with the exception of one year, he was each spring returned to that office, often without opposition but always by large majorities. tion but always by large majorities. He was a republican in politics, but was not an offensive partisan, and had as many firm friends among the democrats as among those of his own political leaning. He conducted the business of the city, for years, when in his office were mergod the duties of slerk a vidior and policy index and he al-ducted the business of the city, for years, when in his office were mergod the duties of clerk, auditor and police judge, and he always executed his many duties with credit to himself and profit to the city.

Squire Burke was one of the oldest stenographers in the county, and up to the time when he stepped down from office a few weeks ago, he always reported the proceedings of the city council in short-hand. He was a charter member of Twin Brothers' encampment, I. O. O. F., and one of the oldest Odd Fellows in the city. That order will attend the final services, and have charge of the funeral.

In his death Mr. Burke leaves a wife and a large family of children to mourn his loss. Of the seven boys and five girls born to Mr. and Mrs. Burke, nine survive him. W. S. Burke, the oldest boy, is in New Mexico. Hugh M. is one of the editors of the San Francisco Examiner. Mrs. Belle White is at Kansas City. Mrs. J. F. Broadbeck, Finley and Ambrose reside in Council Bluffs, and E. H. is train dispatcher in Old Mexico.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, No. 623 Washington avenue, at 2 o'clock, to-morrow afternoon, and it is expected that Rey. G. W. Crofts, of the Conc'clock, to-morrow afternoon, and it is ex-pected that Rev. G. W. Crofts, of the Con-gregational church, will officiate.

Another Shocking Fatality. Another violent death took place in Counon Bluffs yesterday, coming so soon after the sad fatality of Saturday as to cause quite a shock. It was perhaps an accident that was unavoidable, and not the result of negligence or carelessness. It was all over very quickly, and little excitement was caused. The circumstances through which John Doyle, a teamster employed by C. R. Mitchell, was instantly killed, near the Third street school house, by failing beneath the wheels of a heavily loaded dirt waren, are as follows: He was in the act of aprilying the brake when one of the lines onally across his chest, causing instant death. Doyle was a man about twenty-six years of age, unmarried, and had lived in Council Buffs about three years. He has no relatives here. A sister living in Oswego, N. Y., has been notified of his death. Doyle was a Knight of Labor.

The arrangements for the funeral are not yet completed.

He had been !!! for some time, but was first taken down with inflammatory rheumatism. The physicians state that he was troubled with the former disease long before, but it did not manifest itself until the system was weakened by the attacks of the latter.
