"A Bunch of Keys" at Dohany's last even-ing drew a rather slim house. The dash that has made it a success on the occasions of former visits was entirely wanting, and its attractive features are fast disappearing.

Four vags gave the police a wild chase in the western part of the city last evening. Complaint was made that the party was in-sulting ladies, and one of the toughs pointed a revolver at a girl. The fellows escaped without leaving any clue as to their identity. All members of Council Bluffs Lodge No. 49, I. O. O. Mayor Rohrer has issued a proclamation requesting the council and other city officers to attend the funeral of the late Squire Burke in a body, and calling upon all manufactur-ing and mercantile establishments, banks, and citizens generally to give such expres-sion of their respect for the deceased, either by closing their places of business during the hour of his funeral, or in other ways, as may to them seem suitable and appropriate.

The Great Disaster Felt. The terrible Johnstown disaster brings sorrow to several homes in Council Bluffs. Mrs. Rogers, residing on Upper Broadway, has received word that her father, two brothers and two sisters were among the unfortunate victims.

Chalmer Lyon has received information that his uncle, aunt and three cousins are among those who lost their lives.

George W. Ryan, a printer employed on the Globe, is informed of the death of friends and relatives. Mrs. Joseph Waitman, wife of an electric line motor man, residing in the eastern part of the city, had a sister, brother-in-law and their four children residing in the flooded district. He was a foreman in the Cambria iron works. Nothing has been heard of them, and she fears they were all lost. J. J. Clark, who travels for Stewart Bros., had two brothers living at Johnstown, and his parents resided near there. The old his parents resided near there. The old folks bought the farm for the boys to live on, but they did not like it and went to work in the steel mills, and were still there at last accounts. It is feared they may be included in the list of the missing.

Mrs. Sue Royer, residing on First street, has received a telegram stating that her father, mother and all her relatives, numbering about twenty perished in the fined. She ing about twenty, perished in the flood. She will leave for the scene of the disas or at once, and D. E. Anderson, her nephew, who resides there and was here visiting her, will accompany her on her sad journey. Conductor Swobe, of the dummy line, has a sister residing at Johnstown, and as he has received no word from there, he believes she has been one of the victims. His daugh-ter has left for the stricken city and will investigate the matter.

Doings of the Judicial Trio. The trial of the contempt case of the State vs. Peter Bartel was resumed in the district court yesterday morning, before Judge Deemer. It was completed about 3 o'clock and submitted. It was taken under advisement by the court.

The case of the State vs. Jack Brown was then called. The defendant is charged with bigamy. A jury was empancled, and court then adjourned until this morning, when the first witness will be called. The case is one that will attract a large attendance of the scandal-loving and sensational class, who always flock to near all testimony of an indecent character.

Judge Thornell was busy in the clerk's office, looking over the propose papers and records. Judge Carson arrived home Monday evening, and was an attendant at the court house yesterday. He has just completed an adjourned term at Aveca, and will remain here the greater part of the remaindes of the term, and assist whenever it is der of the term, and assist whenever it is possible for him to do so. He will probably relieve Judge Deemer next week, as the latter desires to visit lowa City to attend the examination of the law class at the university. Outside court matters are well in hand and the terms adjourned with the exception of Atlantic, where Judge Macy is holding court, and he will probably be leave there for some time. probably be kept busy there for some time. The other three judges will remain here the greater part of the present month. The present term will stretch into July, leaving barely a month's vacation, as the criminal work is but just commenced, and is hardly well under way at present. Next week very little will be done in court on account of the tournament, and it will be well along toward the last of the month before the last of the criminal business is disposed of, as the grand jury meets again on the 20th inst., and there are several new cases to come before that body. The liquor cases will claim considerable attention, and with the help of three judges the term will not draw to a close inside of a month.

The rate from this city to the grounds and return will be 25 cents. Both the Rock Island and Milwaukee roads will sell round trip tickets at this rate, but it does not include admission to the grounds, which will be 35 cents extra. Eight trains per day will be run each way between the grounds and the transfer, and Omahans will be taken to and from the grounds without a change of cars. Arrangements have been made with the owners of hacks and omnibuses for the same rate, 15 cents one way, or 25 cents for the round trip.

Plans of the Canning Company. The Council Bluffs Canning company has disposed of its can-making machinery to the Omaha Tin company, and the plant will be moved across the river. This deal gave rise to the report that the Council Bluffs Canning factory was to be removed to Omaha. Inquiry as to the cause of the move elicited the information that the company had as many three-pound cans on hand as were needed, and that as no corn would be canned here this year, it was deemed inadvisable to re-this year, it was deemed inadvisable to return the machinery in Mileness, when a good opportunity offered to sell.

The value of the can-making machinery, which was put in about a year ago, was about $2,000. The works will be kept busy this season, and it is the present intention to can a large amount of tomatoes. This crop was a failure last year, and the company was compelled to purchase large quantities of canned goods from eastern factories to fill their contracts. So far from any intention of removing their plant from the city, the company proposes to make this one of their heaviest seasons.
