The beautiful residence of General G. M. Dodge on Third street, which is now occupied by the general's brother, N.
P. Dodge, has long been known as one of the palaces of the city, where it was scarcely possible for any improvement. But the fine old place has received some artistic attention, during the past few weeks, that has made a marked imfew weeks, that has made a marked improvement. The greater part of the work has been devoted to the front entrance and main hallway, and it is now perhaps the finest in the city. The artist has used but two colors, gold and white, and the effect is beautiful. The two colors were well known to be the more distributed. are well known to be the most difficult to combine and produce an effect that will not be garish and cold, but the artist has accomplished the feat and has given a softened and pleasing ef-fect that cannot be described. The figures seem to stand out like they were skillfully carved out of the wall itself.
The frieze is thirty inches deep and is a beautiful work of art. The design is a simple one and the figures have ample background. In the light that comes through the doorway the glint of the gold is just marked enough to attract attention but it must be brilliant in the blaze of the chandelier at night. The beauty of the work is its simplicity and its perfect harmony, that kind of harmony that grows a pleasing im-pression upon the beholder the longer he looks at it.

THE BEE reporter could scarcely have been convinced that the splendid effect could have been produced by the skillful manipulation of pressed paper, of less cost even than lincrusta walton, if the artist who did it, Mr. P. C. Miller, had not been present and pointed it out. The work reflects the greatest credit upon Mr. Miller, and upon the people of Council Bluffs who demand the work as he is expable of doing. uch work as he is capable of doing. There are few such artists as Mr. Miller in any city, and it is not remarkable that he is so popular with the people who love to have beautiful homes, nor less remarkable that he should have the ontrol of the papering and decorating

A Remarkable Record. "Men and times change, but there's one thing that don't," said William Moore, of the wholesale tobacco firm of Peregoy & Moore, to a BEE reporter yesterday afterhoon, and that is the Santa Rosa cigar. We have handled them exclusively in the west for the rest eight years and they west for the past eight years, and they are the same incomparable eight to-day that they were when got the first sample box. And, by the way, don't you know that next to the BEE this eight has done as much to advertise Council Bluffs as anything else? You can't find a town in the west or northwest where the Santa Rosa isn't the most popular thing in it, and the inquiry that follows the first two or three whifs, 'where'd you get that cigar,' and the answer, 'in Council Bluffs,' gives the city a big advertisement. The fact that one million five hundred thousand of them were sold last year is as remarkable, as were sold last year is as remarkable as the fact that the sales for the present year are running still higher. Yes, this phenominal sale has attracted the pirates, and there are fraudu-lent Santa Rosas on the mar-ket. Some manufacturers have made the exact fac-simile of our label. We didn't mind it much when there was only a few imitations, but now, since the whole pirate crew are after us, we will get after them and will prosecute every one of the swindlers. The Santa Rosa cigar is a public necessity and we do not propose to permit ity and we do not propose to permit any fraud on the public. As long as we handle the Santa Rosa, it will be the best 10c cigar in the world." The popular verdict sustains what Moore says.

Serious Accident to Engineer Birkinbine-Strock Bros'. Factory Burned-General and Personal Notes.

A Bursting Storm Cloud. About 1 o'clock yesterday morning it not merely rained, but it literally poured. It reminded one of the bursting of the storm cloud, which caused such havoe several years ago. It seemed that the bottom had really fallen out, and all the waters above were being poured out. The water from the hills rushed down the streets from the biuffs, and as they came surging along Msdison street they quickly discovered that a portion of the paving had been taken up, for the putting in of a pipe, and had been left displaced. With a malicious freak, it furthered the taking up of the paving, and did so in a very unseemly, boisterous way. Tearing under the wooden blocks, it lifted them and swept them on down the street, scattering them along Broadway, and depositing some of them as far away as the Northwestern depot. The wooden paving for two blocks was thus carried away, leaving the plank foundation cleanly swept, and all in readiness for the picking up and replacing of the block.

There outurally has arisen much question-There naturally has arisen much questioning as to who should replace these blocks. The private property owners have already been assessed for the original expense of the paving. The New York Plumbing company had taken up the bit of paving in front of Mr. Crandall's residence for the purpose of making a water connection. At first thought it seemed that this company should stand the damage, but its manager, Mr. Hart, explains the situation very differently. He states that it has been customary for the city under the supervision of its street commissioner, Mr. Avery, to relay pavement in such cases, he having experts engaged for that purpose. Mr. Hart claims that when they had got through with their plumbing Thursday evening Mr. Avery was notified so that the paving could be relaid Friday. It was not so relaid, and the storm came yesterday, finding it in that displaced condition.

The cedar blocks thus washed out and scattered about were eagerly inspected by

The cedar blocks thus washed out and scattered about were eagerly inspected by numerous citizens, curious to see the effect of eighteen months wear on the paving blocks. Most of them expressed themselves as satisfied, the blocks showing better than they expected. Others picked up offensive samples and paraded them as evidencing how poor material had been used by the contractors, or how quickly time had retted tractors, or how quickly time had rotted and worn the wooden paving. The fall of water was fully two inches, as indicated by several receptacles, such as a mortar bed, forming crude but quite accurate proofs of the way the clouds gushed out their contents. It was a severe test of the public improvements made in Council Bluffs within the past few years.

within the past few years.

A few years ago such a sudden and plentiful outpouring would have caused the creek to overflow, would have carried away a goodly portion of the steeply graded streets, and would have flooded cellars and mired sidewalks. With well paved streets, sewers, a wide and deepened bed for the creek, and the numerous other improvements made, the water was carried off quite wonderfully, leaving little to tell the story of the great rain except the indiscriminate scattering of the loosened blocks from Madison street. It the loosened blocks from Madison street. It was a test which showed the advantages of street improvements.

The rush of water did little damage to the foundation of Mr. Marcus' new block, but this will not amount to $100.

The Merriam block, just being finished, got a few undesirable spots of wetness, owing to the debris from the new roof clogging the waste pipes, but $25 will cover all the damage, despite the rumor that the damage was much greater. A few feet of the electric motor track was washed out between the water works and the bridge, but a gang of men speedily restored this, so that there was no interruption to the running of trains, and no special damage. The top of a man-hole near the Methodist church, on Broadway, was lifted off by the rush of water. Mr. E. Huntington, in wad-ing along in the darkness, stepped into this, but managed to crawl out with no more

A Factory in Flames.

A few minutes before noon, yesterday, an alarm of fire, from the southwestern portion of the city, called the department to the sash and blind factory of Strock Bros., at the corner of Tenth avenue and Thirteenth street. The structure was in flames when the firemen arrived, but three lines of hose were quickly laid. Then the scenes of the great packing house fire of a few weeks ago were repeated. Two streams of water were turned on, and neither could be thrown more than two hundred feet.

A citizen telephoned the police station for additional pressure, and Jailor Barhyte promptly closed the reservoir valves, and gave the direct pumping pressure on the mains. There was a small change noticea-ble, but not enough to make any material lifference.

The firemen stood around directing a weak stream against the walls of the burning structure, but their work amounted to nothstructure, but their work amounted to nothing. When the fire was at its height, engine No. 1200, from the Union Pacific yardsran up to the building and was soon directing a heavy stream on the flames.

The fire was very considerably checked, and, had the water held out, would soon have been completely subdued. As it was, the city department continued to hover about the building until the flames had consumed everything but the brick walls, and finally died out for want of fuel.

An investigation as to the cause of the fire An investigation as to the cause of the fire revealed the fact that it caught at the bottom of an enclosed passage way, through which the shavings and sawdust were con-ducted from the second floor to the boilerroom, where they were burned under the boilers. The bottom of this flue was but ten feet from the front of the boilers, and there-feet from the front of the boilers, and therefore very easy of access by the fire.

The building was completely destroyed, and the heat probably totally ruined the machinery. Had sufficient water been thrown, it is hardly probable that the building could have been saved, but the loss to the machinery, had it been prevented from becoming so heated, would hardly have exceeded half what it did.

A large crowd quickly assembled, and citi-

A large crowd quickly assembled, and citizens vied with each other in alternately denouncing the waterworks company and the fire department.

After the packing house fire, The Bee urged the necessity of a more thorough un-derstanding on the part of the fire department of the exact situation of affairs in the lower portion of the city, in order to prevent a repetition of such a conflagration. Noth-ing whatever was done in the matter, and yesterday's fire shows the result of the negiect to take suitable steps to prevent it.

It has been often urged that the fire department of Council Bluffs was as near perfection as could be reasonably expected, but the supporters of that argument can hardly repeat the assertion in the face of recent developments. repeat the assertion in the face of recent de-velopments. The officers of the fire depart-ment attempt to throw the blame on the water works company, but an investigation will show the fallacy of such a statement. When Jailor Barbyte was telephoned for pressure, it was by an outsider, a man who never was connected with the fire department. Jailor Barbyte states that it was fifteen minutes after he had turned on pressure before he received official notification by the fire alarm that it was needed. He states also that as the change was made the pressure increased to 120 pounds, and inside of three minutes to 140, where it remained until after 1 o'clock of three minutes to 140, where it remained until after 1 o'clock.

The great mistake made at the packing house fire, that of tapping the mains with too many leads of hose, was the one responsible for yesterday's trouble in securing pressure. It is also asserted that the fire department nozzles are altogether too large for any mains except on Broadway. The water is mains except on Broadway. The water is allowed to pass so fast and freely that the required pressure can not be secured. The crew of Union Pacific engine 1,200 are deserving of praise, and too much can not be said of their vigorous and effective work. They took their stand on the south side of the burning building, in the face of the heat and smoke, and took a much closer position to the fire, notwithstanding their disad-vantage, than did the regular department on the other side. The latter directed a weak stream for fully a quarter of an hour against a little portion of the brick wall, instead of attempting to extinguish the flames raging

As this is the second severe lesson received during less than a month, it may be reasonable to presume that the usual third may be missed. The excessive tapping of mains has resulted so disastrously that in the future the same may be avoided. It is sincerely hoped that hereafter the amount of water to be secured will be recarded and conwater to be secured will be regarded and con-sidered as having something to do with the pressure.

The loss will reach from $12,000 to $15,000 The loss will reach from $12,000 to $15,000 with but very little insurance.

The heavy pressure put on the water mains yesterday noon at the time of the fire, resulted rather disastrously. A few pipes and water closets in buildings in the central portion of the city were broken, but the loss occasioned in these cases was nominal. Shortly after 1 o'clock, a sudden decrease in the pressure gays the information that there the pressure gave the information that there was a serious break somewhere in the mains. Chief Engineer Birkinhire, of the water-works company, immediately started down Broadway to locate the break. After passing Twenty-sixth the paying was seen to be in a very uneven condition, there being numerous depressions, and at Twenty eighth street the break was found. Water was pouring out of great holes in the ground on either side of the street, and the paving at the intersection was rising and falling, the blocks dancing about in shapeless confusion, tossed by the raging whirlpool un-derneath. The pumps at the pumping sta-tion had been stopped on noticing the fall in pressure, and the water was running to the break from the reservoir at the head of Glen avenue.

The stop valve at Twenty-first street was closed, also the valves at Pacific avenue, Eighth street and the Northwestern depot. This stopped the flow, and a large gang of men were at once put to work excavating at the corner of Broadway and Twenty-eighth streets to uncover the break and make necessary repairs. The paving from Twenty-sixth to Thirtieth streets was completely undermined, and all travel was compelled to cross the vacant lots on either side between cross the vacant lots on either side between those two points. The damage will amount to considerable, but the exact amount can not yet be told. Two, and perhaps four blocks of paving will have to be taken up and relaid. Breaks will be repaired by this morning and water service will be furnished the entire city the same as usual. Aside from this break other repairs will require several days to repeat.

other repairs will require several days to repeat.

The only accident that occurred was sustained by Mr. Birkinbine, who was thrown from his wagon at the corner of Broadway and Elghth streets, about 3 o'clock, by the telescoping of a wheel, which caught in the electric motor track. He was thrown violently to the stone paving, alighting on his right arm which was badly injured. He was removed to his residence where Drs. Laccy and Green attended him. The elbow joint was found to be broken and displaced, making an injury that will be very hard to treat. The break of the bone in the joint will be very liable to produce a stiff arm. Mr. Birkinbine will be laid up for some time, and his accident is doubly unfortunate from the fact that it is his right arm. that it is his right arm.
