

DR. MILLER ON HYDROPHOBIA.

An Interesting Address Before the Omaha Humane Society.

POPULAR FALLACIES EXPLODED.

Eminent Authorities Quoted to Show That the Disease Exists Largely in the Imagination of the People.

The Humane Society.

The parlor of the Paxton hotel were all but too small to accommodate the large number of citizens who met last night in response to a call by Dr. George L. Miller, to consider the aims and works of the Humane Society, and to make an especial effort to direct the attention of the people and the authorities to the gross errors that exist respecting hydrophobia.

Of the 200 people present fully one-half of them were ladies, some of whom have been interested for several years in the work of the society, and many more who have recently enrolled as workers in the cause. The meeting was called to order by Colonel Chase, who briefly announced the object of the meeting, and called upon Judge Savage, who was billed to deliver the opening address. Judge Savage always has something interesting when the question of protection for dumb animals is being considered. Last night he went to the front and entertained his hearers with a number of highly interesting legends concerning the Hindoos and their strong attachment for their brown companions. Many of the ladies were in tears, and the men looking serious or foolish when the judge concluded his eloquent recital of the trials of a Hindoo prince, who, having started with his bride, four brothers and a dog to the home of India, the Hindoo god, on a mountain summit, only was the dog, the others having perished on the way, and then refused to enter India's heaven until his faithful dog was also admitted. The judge closed by quoting Holland to the effect that we would need no heaven, but would have a heaven on earth if men sat at the feet of the Redeemer and looked into his face with the childlike trusting faith that every dog displays for its master.

In the absence of Charles J. Green, who was to address the meeting, Dr. George L. Miller followed Judge Savage. Dr. Miller said he had been upon the unpopular side of many questions in his thirty years' experience, and he was sure that he was aware that he was opposing popular belief, popular prejudice and popular ignorance in his present position against the indiscriminate killing of dogs, through popular but erroneous belief in the prevalence of hydrophobia. Judge Savage had already paid a tribute to the dog in his character of a friend to man, and Dr. Miller wanted to discuss the dog's character as a supposed enemy of man.

Dr. Miller's first attack was upon what he considers the erroneous popular belief that hydrophobia is more apt to prevail among dogs in the summer months than at other times of the year. This belief, he alleges, has a baseless foundation in the fact that the Pagans of the ancient times, in which certain stars are held to have certain relations to seasons. Barbers and Dry Goods Men.

Yesterday afternoon a very interesting game of ball was played at the association grounds between a nine of barbers consisting of Handle, McLarnan, Silk, Kirk, Magruder, H. Smith, Keston, Salsbery and Ed. and a nine from S. P. Moore's dry goods store, as follows: Linahan, Moody, Garmon, Hestonwood, Denny, Heathcote, Ward, Brown and Sperrman. The barber team won by the following score: Barbers.....5 2 7 0 2 0 0-16 Dry Goods.....3 1 0 2 0 4 5-15

Miss Hestonwood, Denny, Heathcote, Ward, Brown and Sperrman. The barber team won by the following score: Barbers.....5 2 7 0 2 0 0-16 Dry Goods.....3 1 0 2 0 4 5-15

The doctor dwelt at some length upon the manner in which dog bites should be treated, and especially strong in his denunciation of the methods employed by the authorities in disposing of ownerless dogs. As to the method of killing ownerless dogs, Dr. Miller suggested the plan of drowning them in water-tight boxes or killing them by the use of chloroform.

The doctor closed with an appeal to the society to take some steps toward stopping the brutality of inhuman drivers upon the horses of Omaha.

A business meeting of the society will be held some day this week.

Senator Edward F. Reilly, New York, writes: "STATE OF NEW YORK, SENATE CHAMBER, ALBANY, N. Y., March 21, 1887. "Some weeks ago, my riding habit was upset and thrown with great force on the road. My left side and shoulder were much bruised and I suffered great pain. I tried various external remedies without avail. Fortunately a friend brought me four ALLCOCK'S PAIN EXPELLERS. I put two on my shoulder and two on my side. In two hours the pain diminished and I slept well that night. I was very much better the next morning and continued to improve for four days, when I found myself completely recovered. It is astonishing how quickly ALLCOCK'S PAIN EXPELLERS relieve the soreness and swelling."

A Mad Dog Scare. A small black and white dog, frothing at the mouth, made frantic efforts yesterday morning to enter the house of Mr. H. O. Fredericks, on North Saunders street. On being repulsed he attempted to leap into the window of the Second Presbyterian church schoolroom, from which the Sabbath school scholars had departed half an hour previously, leaping five feet from the ground and snapping at the sills and other projections. Great excitement prevailed in the neighborhood for a time, as many children were on the street, but finally the services of a policeman were secured and the animal shot. There is another dog in the neighborhood who has recently frolicked with the dog killed, and it is to be hoped that he will be promptly dispatched and the anxiety of many families residing in the vicinity allayed.

NO REDUCTION.

The Grievance Committee Will Take This Stand.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will not submit to a reduction in wages, such as is proposed by the management of the Union Pacific. Chairman Vrooman, of the grievance committee, of that order, so expressed himself at the Arcade hotel, yesterday, when questioned as to the stand the engineers would take.

About three weeks ago Manager Baldwin, of the Leavenworth, Topeka & Southwestern, and also the Kansas Central, which is a portion of the Union Pacific system, notified the engineers that their scale of wages would, on July 1, be reduced 30 per cent. Following this was an announcement of a proposed reduction in the yard engineers' wages at the transfer at Council Bluffs, from $1.30 to $1.00 per day. The management of the Union Pacific anticipated that no organized opposition would be offered by the engineers, but no sooner had the announcement been made than the element affected brought the matter before the grievance committee of the brotherhood and enlisted the combined forces of the order in their behalf. In consequence, a meeting will be held at Union Pacific headquarters to-day for the purpose of considering both sides of the case.

The members of the grievance committee have been in Omaha for several days, arriving in due time to acquaint themselves with all the facts in the case. A meeting of the engineers was held yesterday afternoon, at which all points involved were formally considered. Chairman Vrooman, when asked what the engineers had concluded to do, said:

"We will insist on the terms of our contracts being lived up to by the Union Pacific. They have proposed a reduction of about 30 per cent on the Leavenworth road, which we will not submit to. As to the reduction in the wages of the men at the transfer, the company proposed to consolidate both the Omaha and transfer yards, bringing them both under one scale, $3.85. The company concluded to reduce the transfer men to $3.50, making the scale in both yards the same. But both yards are operated under distinct contracts, and to reduce wages necessitates the abrogation of the contract. We will insist that the contracts be lived up to in all instances."

Other members of the brotherhood were equally as firm when questioned on the matter, and the indications are that unless the Union Pacific management weakens, trouble will follow. Mr. Vrooman admitted that resolutions had been passed at local points forbidding the road rights of yard engineers, but thought that Superintendent Cushing had nothing to do with it.

An Indolent Organ.

When the liver is indolent, as it must necessarily be when it fails to secrete the bile sufficient to keep the alimentary canal in a state of digestion and evacuation, it should be set at work with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The beneficial stimulus to activity imparted by this incomparable alternative speedily evinces itself in a departure of the uncomfortable sensations in the right side; indigestion; flatulency; belching; and sick headache consequent upon inactivity of the liver and the diversion of the bile from its proper channel. Irregularity of the bowels is always and painlessly reformed by the corrective indicated, which is infinitely to be preferred, both because it is safe and more efficacious, to blue pill, calomel, and drenching purgatives of every class. It cures and prevents fever and ague, and rheumatism.
