The Leavitt Murder Mystery. GRESHAM, Neb., June 19 .- [Special Telegram to THE BER |-The mystery in the Leavitt murder case only deepens with time. This afternoon, the deputy sheriff, who has the investigation in charge, said: "I don't know what to do next. I am totally lost, so far as any clue as to who committed this murder is corcerned." This morning, the coroner's jury was recalled, and has been in session most of the day, engaged in a deeper search than ever around the premises for new evidence. There is rumor after rumor, but nothing has been developed. Late in the afternoon, the deputy sheriff bad one of his sworn assistants announce to the surging crowd of people that there was nothing found to confirm the auspicion which had rested upon the parents of the girls, and that the jury was satisfied that they were innocent, However, it was evident that there was an undercurrent of feeling against them, and it was feared that violence might be done if they were left unguarded during the night. They even expressed this fear themselves, and after their return from the funeral of their unfortunate to Seward for safe keeping. There is no cessation of the crowds of people, who still come to the scene of the crime from far and near. Every foot of ground for more than a mile in every direction from the house was gone over, to-day, and nothing revealed, except some tracks which led down from the house into a draw, and thence along the dividing line between a corn and an oat field. In many places they were so far apart that it was evident that the man who made them was running. They were followed until they came to where a man had been plowing during the day, and there all trace of them lost. There are still many of Leavitts neighbors, who, perhaps for want of any good evidence, strongly believe that the parents are the guilty parties, notwithstanding that the jury and that the officers who are working up the case have exonerated them so far as any evidence obtained is concarned.

A dispatch from Alfred, one of the county seats of York, Maine, says that Frank Bodwell, son-in-law of the Leavitts, whose name has been connected with the murder of the children, and who is said to have threatened vengeance because Leavitt turned him over to the police, is in Maine. The dispatch is from the county jailer, who gives assurance that Bodwell is in Springvale, Me., "has not been under arrest," and has not been away since his return from Nebraska.

MEMORIAL SERVICE. Exercises of the A. O. U. W. at Washington Hall. The memorial service of the A. O. U. W . at Washington hall, last night, was an especially interesting affair. The hall was handsomely and appropriately decorated with flowers for the occasion, prominent among the floral tributes being pillows of white roses with the names of "Lenhart' and "McClure," in whose honor the service was held.

The programme was opened by the rendition of a dirge by the Union Pacific band. Rev. W. W. Wilson, supreme overseer, led the devotional exercises. C. M. Masters, S. M. W., presided.

Joseph C. Smith, P. G. W. M., of Pennsylvania, read a biographical sketch of Joseph H. Lenhart, P. G. M. W. and supreme receiver of the A. O. U. W. Mr. Lenhart was an enthusiastic worker in the order, which he joined in 1870, when the number of members was less than 890. He arose to the posibers was less than 800. He arose to the posi-tion of grand master workman and was for two terms supreme receiver of the order and was serving in that capacity when he died. He was a business man of unusual ability and He died at Meadville, Pa., in his sixty-ninth year.

The first eulogy upon Mr. Lenhart was pronounced by S. A. Kline, P. G. M. W. of Pennsylvania. In all of the conquests of man over the elements, he said, the mysteries of life are still unexplained. We are but a link in the endless chain of time. We can not look be-yond our own lives. Millions of men have ived and passed from the earth, leaving no trace. Yet many men have so lived that their lives have been a source of bappiness and their memories a pleasure to their fel-lows. So it was with the decased. He lived, loved, labored and died. But more, he lived for a purpose, he loved and was true to his fellow men, he labored not only for himself but for others, and the world is better for his having lived.

Judge John Frizzell, P. S. W. M., continued the tribute to the memory of the late supreme receiver. He remembered Mr. Lenhart as always enthusiastic and punctual in the work of the order. He had opinions and always expressed them freely and fearlessly, yet respectfully. He always worked for the promotion of the best interests of the order, and discharged his duties with fidelity and promptness. As an individual he had a purpose in life, and that seemed to be to do good in the world. He was a devoted husband, a loving father and a faithful friend.

Mrs. W. D. Gilbert, of Atchison, Kan.

rendered a charming vocal solo, "Hannah's at the Window Mending Shoes," in a fault-The eulogy upon Mr. Lenhart was concluded by an eloquent trioute by C. M. Bousch, P. G. M. W., of Pennsylvania. William H. Barnes, P. G. M. W., of Cali-fornia, gave a sketch of the busy life of David McClure, P. G. M. W., of California. The deceased was home in Ohio in 1843 and went to California at the age of thirteen After a few years in school he roamed over west as a miner, then studied law and admitted to the bar in 1869 was and then removed to Chicago returned to California after the C fire. He was prominent in law and politics having served as representative and senator of the California legislature. His death was caused by grief over the masanity of his wife, who lost her reason in her efforts to share all his labors in his work as the busiest lawyer in San Francisco.

The eulogy on Mr. McClure was pro-nounced by Mr. Alfred Orensdorf, P. G. M.

W., of Illinois. He said, in substance: All bow in reverence and pay a tribute to the departed dead, but Illinois has a special interest in the name and fame of David Mc Clure. His cradle was rocked in a log cabin in the shade of the sycamores of the Wabash; he died in sight of the placid Pacific In his career from poverty to affluence, honor was his motto and truth was his com-panion. He was a manly, large-hearted man. In him brain and heart were properly combined. He was a leader among men, and rose to the highest station in every order to which he belonged. His dying words were, "Mother, wife and heaven," the grandest words in humanity's lexicon.

These people took the plate mirror and iron elevators on the first floor and ascending almost with the celerity of thought reached the seventh floor. They followed the broad tiled corridors, into the ante-room and thence into the editorial hallway where were found courteous attaches by whom they were shown the principal features of the structure. The editorial rooms were ablaze with elecand in keeping with the wood work in the room. It was a sight which could not but evoke admiration. The elegance design, the ample proportions of every apartment the abundance of light.

artificial and natural, evoked universal com mendation. Past the editorial rooms, the visitors filed into the news room, where hundreds of electric lights itluminated the scene. There, the click of type, as it was placed by deft fingers so that it may tell the story of the world in this day's BES, attracted their at-tention. With them the wonder grew that there was so much of interest and novelty in a great newspaper office. Thence into the stereotyping room, where are made the plates from which THE BEE is printed, the line proceeded, the interest being more intensely displayed in a process which to many was entirely unfamiliar within it loomed up grand, solemn and im-pressive. Ladies lingured at the opening and gazed upon it in rapture, their minds, no doubt, in many cases at least, reverting to similar halls so beautifully described b the genial and gifted author of Alhambra. Thence to the engines, boilers and dynamos and the press rooms in the cellar and sub-basement, the crowd followed, only to have rapture changed to amazement that one-half of the power, wealth and ingenuity there displayed should be required, and at the same time be so perfectly at the contro of human beings. Ascending to the elevator floor, the visit ors dispersed with the eighteenth anniver-sary of the organization of Tuz Bzz indelibly stamped upon their minds. Banquet to the Press. The banquet to the press and ex-newspaper men took place in the counting room.

The tables were spread inside the beautiful marble counters, extending almost the entire length of the spacious apartment.

After they had been pronounced perfect by the caterers, Messrs. Schlank & Prince, they presented a most attractive appearance. The chandeliers glowed with the soft radi ance of an hundred electric lights, which reached the tables through garlands of smilax, with which the bronze arms were hung. Along the middle of the table was extended a row of flower clusters in seemingly endless variety. Among them were most rare plants, donated by private friends. Either side of the board was aglistening line of crystal gobets and glasses, intermingled with dainty boutonnieres which tastefully surmounted the ridge of the triangular menu card. In truth. a more beautiful table, on a public occasion, cannot be recalled in the history of many years in Omaha. That nothing might left undone to cater to the pleasure of guests, whose presence had been solicited, the Musical Union discoursed its choicest overtures in a masterly manner under the leadership of Harry Irvine. BURKE MADE NO CONFESSION.

Merely Acknowledged His Name and Former Residence. WINNIPEG, Manitoba, June 19.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-Burke has made no confession except his acknowledgment that he is Martin Burke, and that he had lived in Chicago and knew Cronin. He is waiting impatiently for the arrival of the Chicago officers, who will be in town to-morrow afternoon. At the request of Superintendent Hubbard, of the Chicago police, Chief Murray has taken the prisoner out and had him photographed. Burke objected most strongly and tried to argue the question with the chief all the way to the gallery. When he was being photographed, Burke moved a number of times spoil-ing several plates, The photographer finally succeeded in getting a shot at him and procured an excellent likeness Arrangements have been made here by Chief Justice Taylor to have Burke's case argued before one of the best judges on the bench. A magistrate has no jurisdiction in a case of extradition, so Burke must go before a queen's bench judge. He is in constant communication with his lawyer, and is preparing to fight the case, and to resist extra-dition. It is likely that the best legal talent in the city will be employed in the interest of the prisoner. It has been quietly intimated that money will be furnished in Burke's behalf. Burke himself has given this im-pression. The intention is to bring the case

Indicted by the Grand Jury. CHICAGO, June 19 .- An indictment was returned by the grand jury this morning against Martin Burke, alias Delaney, on two counts, the first for the murder of Dr. Cronin; the second for conspiracy in connection with P. O'Sullivan, Coughlin and Woodruff. Application was made at ence to Governor Fifer by an officer who is now in Springfield for requisition papars, for the extradition of Burke. These papers, properly attested, will be spread before the state department at Washington and the secretary of state will make a formal request to the Canadian government for the surrender and extradi-

to trial after the arrival of the Chicago

The testimony of Michael Gavin, of the Chicago sewer department, who had known Burke, was very conclusive and it was upon his evidence that the indictment was re-turned. Gavin testified that he had known Burke for a long time; that he had frequently heard the latter boast of his friendship with P. O'Sullivan and others of the suspected persons, and that on one occasion Burke had expressed his congistion that Cronin was an enemy if not a traitor to the Irish cause.

The men sent to New York for the purpose of identifying, if possible, the suspects, Moroney and McDonald, returned to day.

Moroney and McDonald, returned to-day, Expressman Martens was taken before the grand jury, where he identified the photo-graph of Burke, the man now under arrest in Winnipeg, as that of the man who hired him to haul furniture from 117 Clark street to the Carlson cottage.
It was announced this afternoon that no more indictments will be returned until the

and that Burke was indicted only on the united plea of Chief Hubbard and States Attorney Longenecker, who represented that the indictment would save time in securing his extradition. Chief Hubbard pans his faith implicitly to the Burke theory, which he confidently believes will lead to the detection and conviction o every one connected with the case. Express man Eartin's identification of Burke's photo graph gives color to the belief that the polic are at last upon the right track.

Justice Mahoney was brought before the grand jury this afternoon and testifled that O'Sullivan and Cronin were acquainted when they met in his office to make the con tract for medical attendance to O'Sullivan's employes, and that no introduction on his needed, as averred by O'Suilivan A number of other witnesses were examined going over a deal of the same ground cov-to THE BEE.]-Carl Nordlander, an intelligent young Swede, called at the office of the Times last night and made a statement in which he declares that Charles McDonald one of the men liberated on habeas corpus by Judge Andrews Monday, was one of a trio who tried to induce him to take a letter to Dr. Cronin from the Polk street railroad station in Chicago on the evening of April 13, just three weeks before Cronin was mur-dered. Nordlander was waiting for dered. Nordlander was waiting for the train to take him to New York, and refused to take the letter. The men then offered to buy him a new ticket if he missed the train his ticket being limited, but he thought they were bunko men and refused. A New Cronin Suspect, CHICAGO, June 19 .- An entirely new Cronin suspect is being looked for to-night. His name is Michael Cooney, and he has an odd sobriquet-"The Fox." Cooney and Burke are claimed to be the two men who actually killed Cronin. Both are Clan-na-Gael men, members of camp 20. Cooney is a bricklayer by trade, and like Burke came here from Ireland only a few years are. Burke's number in camp 20 was 10s, Cooney's 10s. Each is described as an enthusiast in Irish matters, and as particularly bitter regarding the British spy system. According to the best information obtainable, to-night, little hope was to be entertained of the arrest of Cooney immediately, if at all. There was a feeling, apparently, that he had been given too long a start, and was already in some safe retreat. States Attor-ncy Longenecker allowed it to be inferred that he has two witnesses who will swear that Cooney and Burke slept in the Carlson that Cooney and Burke slept in the Carlson cottage several days prior to the tragedy, and even that the two suspects were seen leaving the cottage on the fatal night of May 4 at 11:30 p.m. Both are said to have proceeded to a saloon in the vicinity and drank heavily. The information regarding him, it should be understood, is not official. but neither the chief of police nor the state's attorney, it is cialmed, deny that the reports given are correct.

Davitt on Sultivan. CRICAGO, June 19 .- Tuesday's Times sent a cable message to Michael Davitt, asking if the interview attributed to him in regard to Alexander Sultivan's alleged connection with the Cronin case was genuine. The fol-lowing is a copy of Mr. Davitt's reply, re-ceived late to-night:

There are two well-known men confined in Bleom ingdale, New York, Asylum who less than a year ago were prominent in club and social life.

Why are they there?

Fare ais!

Did it come on at once?

Not at all. It was a gradual but positive growth. They overtaxed nature. The drain on their vitality, their nerve powers, their brain tissue, was too great, and they gradually but surely sank under it. The things they did to bring this sad end about are precisely the same things that are being done by theusands of men and women in this very city to-day. It is not necessary to name them. They all end disastrously unless checked or regulated.

Prof. Pholps, of Dartmonth College, knew this fully when he began his experiments which resulted in the discovery of the wonderful Paine's Celery Compound, He realized that pare as is consumption of the brain) was our great National weakness. He knew that the brain and nervous system must be fortified to meet the great strains which modern life bring apon it. He saw that men were becoming debilitated and women weakened by the pressure and demands of life, and he sought and discovered the remedy. Paine's Celery Compound, if rightly taken, will renow the brain and build up nerve tissue as fast as they become exhausted. It is not a mirrotte. It contains no drugs, no mostrums. It is perfectly pure. It is absolutely harmless. The high character of its discoverer ganrantees this, and the endorsement of the medical and chemical professions proves it.

How a Boston Rat Utilized His Tail A waiter at the Metropolitan hotel on Washington street, according to the Boston Globe, says there is a rat of unusual intelligence which haunts the and, when occasion hotel kitchen, offers, steals food from the cook. says this rat ought to be caught and exhibited as a marvel at the dime museums. Several stories of sagacity are told about this rodent, of which the following is one:

"A few evenings ago," said th waiter, "I had occasion to go down into the kitchen, It was dusky when I arrived, and as soon as my eyes would permit me to get used to the light I saw a large rat walk deliberately up to a dish of doughnuts and begin to take them out one by one and string them on his tail, as you would string beads. When he had put on five and loaded his tail all up he turned around, took the end of his tail between his teeth, and walked off as if he were going to muster.

Changed Places. Four years ago William H. Camp-bell, a good old-fashioned democrat of Saxton's River, Vt., was appointed postmaster. His wife, who has always been a republican, has constantly assisted her husband during these four years, and so well has the office been conducted that when he resigned demo crats and republicans united in asking the government to make her her hus band's successor. She has just received her commission from the postmastergeneral and her husband is now her

REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 15, 188

To the Suprime Judge, Officers and Members of the Supreme Sitting, and all Members of the Order of FRIENDS-Your Finance Committee have made a thorough and careful examination of all the books, vouchers, documents and accounts, which included bills and vouchers of the Supreme Jus-tice, Supreme Accountant and Supreme Cashier for the year ending December 31, 1888, and can verify the reports hereto annexed, and submitted to us by the above-named officers as being cor The office work for the past year has been of immense magnitude, owing to the rapid increase of membership and general prosperity of the Order, and it is most gratifying to the Committee to be able to state that the officers have kept their work promptly up, and everything in a business like and proper manner. The cierical expanses of the management of the Order have been kept as low as consistent with effective work, and the cierks employed are paid but moderate salaries We find sixteen clerks employed from eight to six o'clock, all actively engaged in their respective duties. In the vaults of the offices we found all papers and vouchers systematically and safely arranged and secured, and the Supply Room contained the supplies as stated by the Supreme Trus tees to be on hand. We resterate the statement in our last Report that the good judgment of the Supreme Officers be commended in securing the headquarters of the Order in so central and promment a location, and inasmuch as the growth of the Order demands an increase of the facilities in the handling of its business, we suggest to the Executive Committe and Supreme Trustees that they authorize the erection of an additional building on the vacant lot adjoining the Home Office and now belonging to the Order, as the property is rapidly increasing in value, and the neces sity of additional room seems apparent to your Committee.

SICK CLAIMS.

We find upon examination of the "Sick Claim Department," that all claims properly approved are paid with promptness. When claims are delayed at the Home Office, it is owing generally to the want of additional proof required by the Supreme Medical Director, and in many cases sick claims are sent to the Home Office irregularly made out by the officers of the Local Branches, and have to be returned for correction, which causes a delay in their payment. All claims in proper shape, are, by our personal knowledge (obtained from the books of the office), paid within twentyfive days after being received.

EXPENSES.

The general expenses of the Order for the past year have only been $48,421.08, of which $14,034 have been expended in legal expenses, showing actual business expenses to have been only $14,387.08 In referring to the above statement as to expenses of the Order, we would call the attention of the members to the well-known fact that the Order has been forced into expensive litigation in Several States in its defense, which necessarily called for heavy outlays.

Notwithstanding this, the expenses of the Order, we find in comparison with other Fraternal Orders, have been much loss than any of them, thus showing that this Order is successfull properly and economically managed; and we congratulate the members on its management, which has placed it as the leading Beneficial Fraternity of the day,

Whilst the Supreme Justice has been actively at work in the field, constantly traveling fro one end of the country to the other, as occasion required and solely in the laterast of the Order the bills, as presented by him, show only an outlay of expenses of $2,418.84, which includes car fare, hotel expenses, telegraphing, postage, etc., which we think is extremely moderate. This amount has been verified by the Committee by itemized accounts kept by the Supreme

Justice, and now on file in the office of the Supreme Accountant.

The Committee would further state that, while they found the accounts of the Supreme Accountant and Supreme Cashier correct as stated, the cash balances on hand were fully verified us by the reports from the banks where said money was deposited.

FINAL BENEFITS

We have examined all Final Bonont Claims, and state that all payments have been regularly made in accordance with the constitution and Laws of the Order, and all Relief Fund Certificates have been properly indorsed, either by the beneficiary or legal hoirs. In conclusion, your Committee congratulate the membership everywhere, on the present pros-perous condition. (this grand fraternity. Every just claim has been promptly paid and every obligation has been met. From the best information obtainable at the office, all suits now pending in several of the states, upon questions of legality similar to those which have been so succeasfully met in Missouri and Massachusetts, will result in signal victory to the Order. We can state to the membership that these matters are kept to the front, and that no advantage can be taken of the Order's interest by those designing its defeat. We commend the attention given to these matters, and feel assured in guaranteeing that the order will make greater strides in progress than ever before.

E. F. LAMB. Chairman, J. H. ECKERSLEY, A. H. HOSMER, Secretary,

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the county and state aforesaid, personally appeared F. D. Somby, Supreme Justice, who, being duly sworn on oath, says that the above and foregoing is a true copy of the report of the Finance Committee of the Supreme Sitting, Order of the Iron Hall, as flied in his odice on February 15, 1889 in testimony whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my notarial seal at Indianapolis, this 1st day of March, A. D. 1880. ROWLAND EVANS, Notary Public.
