CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKETS.

CHICAGO, June 19.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The wheat market opened ½c to ⅝c lower on the seemingly general rains throughout Minnesota and Dakota, and on clearing up weather in the southwest. There is still too much rain in the winter section, but the indications are propitious, and the near future should bring relief in the shape of a cessation of the storm. The weather map was quite bearish, and if the popular expression had been realized, prices would have had important breaks; as it was, the prices ruling around the opening of trade were the lowest of the day, and the average tone of the market was quite firm and steady, at some recovery from the inside figures. This seemed to be due, in a great measure, to the prevalent belief that the Northwestern rains came too late to repair the damage resulting from the drouth, to the firmness in the cash markets east and west, and to the advance in Liverpool, consequent upon diminishing India shipments, and the further confirmation of the reports of damage to the Russian crops. The speculative sentiment was bearish to quite a degree, but the market was held steady by causes and influences beyond speculative control. Only a small amount of new business was reported by New York, but the out inspection, there, for two days was 220,000 bushels. The export clearances were only about one-third that quantity, showing that there is a good local eastern demand. The shipping returns show that there is a good milling movement from all points of accumulation, while the receipts emphasize the fact that the country reserves are down to the very lowest ebb. As an offset to the statistics tending to show a rapid reduction of the visible stocks, dispatches were afloat about the new wheat arrivals at southern points. St. Louis advised that 5 cars of new wheat had been sold, to arrive there this week, price 75c. Baltimore wired that 200 bushels of new wheat had actually been received there. These are insignificant items in themselves, but they bring the fact forward that the new crop movement is soon to begin. This movement is not likely to be any earlier than usual, or for that matter quite as early, but it is probable that Chicago will get more than the percentage of late years. The Atchison has elevators here and a road extending right into the early harvest fields. The important news of the day is compressed into the foregoing statements. The first sales in this morning's market were on a basis of 77⅛c for July, 74⅜c for September, and 76¼c for December, July sold as low as 77⅜c, September as low as 74⅜c, and December as low as 76⅛c. The market gradually firmed up under the influence of good buying by Hutchinson and others. July advanced to 78⅛c, and December to 76⅝c. At and above 78c for July, Hutchinson fed the crowd all the wheat it would take, and on the little breaks he was a liberal buyer. The tendency of his operations was to narrow the market. The operations in the pit were on rather restricted scales. In the absence of strongly bullish news New York developed an undertone of weakness toward the last of the session. No great pressure was necessary to put prices down fractionally. After hanging, for a long while, around 77⅝c for July, and 76⅝@76⅝c for December, the market yielded, July going to 77⅛c, and December to 76⅛c, which was the closing price. June left off at 80c, and September at 75c. As compared with yesterday's last quotations the figures show an average decline of ⅜c to ¼c on all months excepting July, which lost ⅛c to ⅜c. As far as possible the manipulation in July seems to be dying out. Trade is getting out of July into the later deliveries and short wheat was vastly reduced on the advance to 80c.

The corn market opened with a weaker tone in view of important changes in local weather and the clearing weather reported from the southwest, where heavy rains have been almost continuous for the past ten days. The weakness was of short duration, however, as reports soon began to circulate of fields covered with water in southern Illinois. Later, this news was supplemented by diminishing receipts here, the estimated inspection returns for to-morrow being placed at 230 cars. The shipping demand was also active and at higher prices, and the foreign markets were firmer. There was a fair amount of business at an advance, and the range of prices was somewhat wider than the recent average. The export inquiry at New York was reported to be unabated, and present indications favor a further lessening of the visible supply on its next publication. The declining tendency of wheat, and the bright sunshine near the close of the session revived the courage of the bears somewhat, and induced a little short selling, which caused prices, in the end, to close a little below the highest of the day. July shows a gain in the final quotations over yesterday's resting quotation of ⅜c and July ¼c.

Oats shared in the general quietude of the speculative market, averaging firm, with near futures slightly stronger, owing to the modarate demand for account of filling in shorts. July sold at 22⅜@22¾c, with September at a fractional discount, while May was freely offered at 25⅞@26c, with one small trade reported at 26c. The receipts were fairly liberal, and the withdrawals were below the recent average. No. 2 oats, to go to store, were strong, with light sales at 22⅜@22½c. Oats by sample were in fair request for No. 3 white to go to store, and values averaged ½c higher than yesterday, with the bulk of sales at 26¼c, and some trading in special houses at 26½c. Rail shippers and the local trade did a fair business, and prices ruled somewhat higher. Free on board and on the track lots ranged as follows: No. 3 at 21¾c for fair, 21⅝c@22c for good, 23½@24⅝c for white; No. 3 white at 26¼c for fair, 26¾@26⅞c for good, 27@27¼c for choice; No. 2 at 23@23¼c; No. 2 white at 28c for good, 28¾c for choice.

In provisions an easier feeling was witnessed. The receipts of hogs were no larger than the trade generally anticipated, but they unexpectedly sold lower, and exerted a bearish influence on the product. The speculators, as a rule, were more inclined to sell than usual, and in the absence of outside buying orders, and only a light current demand, they found the market in poor shape to accommodate them. Their offerings helped along the depressed tendency exhibited, and lower prices prevailed almost as a matter of course; short ribs were the strongest article on the list, though they suffered a decline of 2½c. Lard sold off for the day from 2½c to 5c, and pork 5@7½c.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, June 19.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—CATTLE.—Included in to-day's arrivals of cattle were 11,000 natives, 400 stillers and 4,000 Texans. The native cattle market was in a semi-demoralized condition, and it was nearly noon before buyers got to work. Discouraging reports continued to pour in from the east and, naturally enough, buyers at this point, who, by the way, had had unusually light orders for Wednesday, took advantage of the situation and again hammered prices unmercifully, finally getting all the cattle they wanted at a further decline of 10c. The Texas branch of the market, for a wonder, opened up at an earlier hour than for some time past, and, despite liberal offerings, salesmen found an outlet at steady yesterday's prices for the early arrivals, and only easy figures for the late train loads. Choice to extra beeves, $4.30@4.45; medium to good steers, 1350 to 1500 lbs, $3.85@4.15; 1200 to 1350 lbs, $3.60@4.00; 950 to 1200 lbs, $3.40@3.95; stockers and feeders unchanged at $2.40@3.60; cows, bulls and mixed, $1.40@2.80; bulk, $2.25@2.60; slop-fed steers, $3.75@4.10; Texas cattle, unchanged.

HOGS—There was a fairly active trade, to-day, but at a decidedly lower range of values. Packers proved the largest operators, eastern shippers being limited in their orders and speculators timid of the out-look. A good clearance, however, was affected on a basis of $4.15@4.20 for good heavy packing and shipping droves, largely at $4.20 for shipping shapes, and $4.15 for packing grades. Some big, coarse, 420-lb Cedar Rapids hogs sold down to $4.00, and a few selected Philadelphias made as high as $4.25. Light hogs sold slowly at $4.2.@4.30 for light mixed, and $4.40 for sorts, with the bulk of light mixed at $4.25. Heavy mixed ranged from $4.13½ to $4.17½.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, June 19.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—STOCKS.—The was a large attendance on the stock exchange at the opening to-day. The interest appeared more than usual, and the market opened active and irregular. Vanderbilt and Gould stocks were almost neglected. London was a light seller, and Chicago was on the buying side, and the great part of the trade talked bullish. The first prices were very irregular, Rock Island, Louisville & Nashville, Delaware & Hudson, and Northern Pacifics being lower, while Jersey Central, Oregon Transcontinental, and Western Union were higher, the changes extending to ⅝ per cent from last night's prices. Some irregularity was shown in the early dealings, when Oregon stocks and Atchison made marked advances, while the general list moved over a small range, and some stocks, as the Lackawanna and New England, soon developed considerable weakness, declining fractionally. Oregon Navigation gained 1 per cent, to 101; Transcontinental 1¾, to 36¾; Jersey Central ⅝, to 114½; Lackawanna touched 148¼; New England regained its early loss, and moved up ½, to 52¾; Northern Pacific, preferred, went off ⅝ from last night, to 66¾; Sugar trusts gained ⅝, to 112½; Chicago Gas sold at 59¼, and off to 58⅝ the first hour. During the hour to 12 o'clock the market was influenced by the coal stocks, which became active and strong; Lackawanna moved up to 148¾, followed by Reading, and others, which gained but small fractions. Aside from the coalers, the activity was limited to St. Paul, Atchison, New England and Union Pacific. At noon the market was firm at better than the opening figures. The strength of the morning in stocks, under the lead of the advance in coalers, was delusive; the market proved a weak one under natural conditions. Heavy realizing sales after 12 o'clock caused a decline to set in, which gradually spread through the entire list, and left prices at the close very materially lower than last night. Oregon Navigation, alone, held all its advance of 1¼, to 101½; Transcontinental yielded 1¼, to 35¾, and yet had a net gain of ¼; Chicago Gas, Cottou Oil, Sugar and Lead trusts all closed steady.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK.

Cattle.

Wednesday, June 19.

Close to two thousand cattle made up to-day's receipts. The market ruled unusually slow, in fact it was flat all the morning. The reports from other points were unfavorable, and the packers had orders to buy 20@25c lower. The shippers had information that their cattle were selling on the Chicago market at about what they paid for them here. Under such circumstances the buyers were very timid, and the volume of business was so small during the forenoon as to cut no figure in the market. It was late before salesmen could find an outlet for their cattle even at a concession of 15@20c. It has been weeks since the market has been in such a bad condition as it was to-day. There have been low days and slow days, but nothing so bad as to-day's trade. There is only one word that can anywhere near express the situation, and that word is "demoralized." Butchers' stock did not suffer so much as beef cattle, but it was weak. There was nothing new in the stocker and feeder line, excepting a disposition on the part of buyers to obtain a reduction in prices.

Hogs.

Hogs sold in the same notch as yesterday, and that is about all there is to say about the market. The demand was good, both local and shipping, and the pens were cleared at an early hour. Nearly everything sold within a range of 5c, the most popular price being $3.95 for heavy and mixed hogs. Some choice light sold as high as $4.05. Thus far this week the market has been very steady, and there have been no fluctuations in prices.

Sheep.

There were a few sheep here, but they were consigned direct to a packer, and were not offered on the market. There is a pretty good demand, and if there were any desirable muttons here they would sell at firm prices.
