

ALL READY FOR THE FAY.

The Union Pacific Engineers Waiting for the Signal.

THEY WILL NOT COMPROMISE.

An Interview With a Prominent Employee of That Road—Sam Small Talking to Empty Seats in Lincoln.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE OMAHA BEE, 1029 P STREET, LINCOLN, June 20.

Every arrangement has been made for the boys to walk out, said a prominent Union Pacific employee to The Bee representative, to-day, "and the question of the strike hinges upon the action of the officials of the road in their conference with the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers regarding the schedule of wages to apply on the Kansas Central. If the concessions demanded are made the strike is off, otherwise it is on with a vengeance. There will be no minding the matter, whatever. There is a thorough understanding among the boys. No set of workmen were ever so well equipped for a strike as the western employes of the Union Pacific road company. They have the pledged support of the Brotherhood of Brickmen, Switchmen and Knights of Labor throughout the west. This is not idle talk. You will see the strike in the morning if the concessions asked by the committee are not made within the next three days. I have heard it said that in the event that we made the strike the Brotherhood would fly to the rescue of the Union Pacific en masse. This is the only thing on earth that would beat us, but we have no fears that any such dilemma will occur. It would prove sorry day for the Brotherhood if such a stop should be taken, and I'm of the opinion that organized labor would receive a slap from the boys if it could not receive the same. The boys have too much at stake to play any such game. I'm of the opinion that there will be a general strike in the Union Pacific system road throughout the west."

New Improvement Companies.

The Kansas City & Northern railroad company filed articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state this morning. The company's object is to lay out, construct, furnish, maintain and operate a railroad with single or double tracks and enjoy the rights of eminent domain, guaranteed upon compliance with the laws of the state. Article second describes the route of the road as follows: The road begins at the state line in Pawnee county, at near Summerfield, Marshall county, Kansas, and extends through Pawnee county to the city of Beatrice. Authorized capital stock, $1,000,000. Incorporators: Newman Erb, Elias Summerfield, A. L. Applewhite and C. J. Jewett.

The Yankton & Norfolk Townsite company also filed articles of incorporation. Article three defines its purpose to be that of buying and selling real estate and locating and plating townsites. The authorized capital stock is fixed at $50,000, which is divided into 500 shares of $100 each. Business commenced to-day. The principal place of business is located at Halestown, Knox county. It is stipulated that liabilities shall never exceed $10,000. Incorporators: H. E. Teller, D. C. Rice, John T. Pierce, Edwin H. VanAntwerp and George K. Scougal.

City News and Notes.

Fremont bonds for city hall, court house, water works and paving were registered in the state auditor's office to-day. City hall bonds amounted to $15,000; court house, $10,000; water works, $35,000, and intersection paving bonds, $18,000, making a grand total of $78,000. The water works bonds are to extend and improve the already large system the city has.

The case of Joseph E. Cobly sr. vs John B. Wright was carried to the supreme court, to-day, on an error from the district court of Lancaster county. It is learned that the costs in this case now far exceed the judgment of the lower court.

Governor Thayer, to-day, made the following notarial appointments: M. J. Costello, Wood River, Hall county; Irving W. Haws, Council Bluffs, Adams county; H. B. Hastings, Hastings, Adams county; Charles A. McCloud, York, York county.

The governor, to-day, issued proclamations offering rewards for the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Caroline and Bessie Leavitt, in Seward county, and Ada C. Clark, in Antelope county. The reward offered for the murderer of Leavitt girls is $400. Ada C. Clark was murdered last night, about midnight, and Michael Foley is her alleged murderer. The sum of $200 is offered for his arrest and conviction.

The Lincoln press gang will go to Milford, Monday afternoon, and on the next evening by the citizens of that enterprising little city.

It is said that a cut from 19 to 16 cents is contemplated by the Harrington on shipments of lath and shingles.

Cadet Taylor, of Omaha, was at the capital to-day.

The sons of veterans will hold their next annual encampment in this city.

One of the pipes of the ice machine at the packing house in West Lincoln exploded last night. One man was injured and the machinery was badly damaged. No more hogs are wanted at the West Lincoln stock yards till the damage is repaired.

At Williams, a colored cook, and New York Charlie, a colored bricklayer, came to a decided misunderstanding, last evening, over the location of some shingles. The celestial called A. A. and was struck over the head with a mallet for his pains. Arrests have been made.

Sam Small, the prohibition agitator, is talking to empty benches at the Finkbe home, and the only man in admission is free.

Prof. Hartley has been retained as city superintendent of schools for another year. The estimate made by the board of education amounts to $17,750, of this sum $21,050 will have to be raised by direct taxation.

About $30,000 will be put into the plant of the Lincoln paper mill, which will double its capacity. It is expected to manufacture print paper in the future.

The time for the acceptance of the application of parties to the court of county of Adams and the editorial association has been extended until Saturday evening, when it will be positively closed. Mr. Wessel, the manager of the excursion, which will leave July 6, is very enthusiastic over the prospects. Every daily paper of prominence in the state will be represented. Banquets and receptions will be given the boys on the way. Send in your applications immediately, if you want to go.

A Little Leaven Leaveneth the Whole Lump.

A disease in one part of the body will eventually fill the whole body with disease. Every year or two some part of the system grows weak and begins to decay. Such part should be removed at once and new matter be allowed to take its place. There's no need of cutting it out with the surgeon's scalpel. Purge the old diseased and worn-out parts with BLANDFORD'S PILLS. Then the new body will take care of itself.

Suit was brought against the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, to-day, by P. O. Cassidy, administrator of the estate of Michael Hyrnu, for $5,000 damages, on account of his death, which occurred while Hyrnu was resting from a collision at the Union Pacific crossing, in this city.

Both Went to Jail.

Mrs. Beadle and Rose Moran, the two fraternal females who had such a desperate fight Wednesday night, went up before Judge Herka, yesterday, and each was fined $25, in default of which they went to jail. Rose Moran is the greatest sufferer, she having been badly cut and scratched by her opponent in the fight. The weapons used in the fight were a pair of scissors and a soda water bottle.

The fashionable ladies' corrective tonic is Angostura Bitters, the world renowned tonic of Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons. Ask your druggist.

ELOQUENCE AND GOOD WILL.

They Characterize the Speeches at the Press Banquet.

At the banquet tendered by Mr. Rosewater to the press on the occasion of the opening of the new Bee building, Wednesday evening, a number of responses to the toasts were made, among which were the following:

Governor Thayer. Governor John M. Thayer, being called upon, said:

Mr. Rosewater and Gentlemen of the Press: This is an occasion of especial import. I am not here to make a speech, and came here with no such purpose, as this is a meeting of the profession of journalism. I need not say that I am afforded much gratification in seeing you here to-night. I am glad to have the honor of meeting with the representatives of the press of Omaha and Nebraska. I will introduce myself as a writer to THE BEE of weekly letters some years ago, that I may have a little ground on which to stand before you. I am here from Lincoln to testify my appreciation of Mr. Rosewater and his achievements. I well recall the fact that eighteen years ago this very day, on Thirteenth street, opposite the Methodist church, where now stands the Omaha National bank building, I met Mr. Rosewater. He had in his hand one of the first copies of the OMAHA BEE, a little about perhaps a foot square. I did not know what it was, but he handed it to me and called it THE BEE. I do not suppose that at that time he had any thought or expectation of building up a paper, certainly had no idea of what was coming, but from that day to this I have watched the paper grow until it has become one of the great newspapers of the west. I desire to show my regard for the energy, ability and public spirit displayed in the eighteen years' evolution of THE BEE.

Setting aside any further commendations of mine it is a pleasure to hear the representatives of the rival papers of this city are here to-night to congratulate the editor of THE BEE upon the wonderful accomplishment of which he has been the instrument and the means. It is indeed a wonderful achievement, this magnificent building and ability of one man, an ornament to this city and the whole state and every citizen of this commonwealth should feel proud. It is not the fact that it will remain an ornament of the building. On the contrary I aimed to make it as substantial as first class mechanics, stone, brick and iron could make it. It is not before it is a monument to the achievement of financial folly or sagacity time only will prove. So far as I am personally concerned I feel that I have done nothing to be remembered by. But whether I succeed or fail, this building will stand here for ages, and I trust the citizens of Omaha will take it as an example and put up buildings that will compare favorably with it for myself it matters little. A few more years and I am done. I feel that I have done my duty as a man and a citizen, and that I have had a hard struggle, and one that no one but myself will ever realize in building up THE BEE. No wife nor child knows what I have passed through in this building.

I feel grateful that I have been instrumental in the first reunion of the Omaha press. For the first time in twenty-five years newspaper men have met around the banquet table and have entered hand in hand together to testify their appreciation of the work of one of their number. Instead of degrading and tearing down, and belittling, they have come here to encourage and to advertise the good work that has been done.

That Tired Feeling Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the breathing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and readily yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

SELF-CONFESED MURDERER.

Leona Meyer Admits Giving Carbolic Acid to Her Child.

Leona Meyer, the eighteen-year-old girl suspected of murdering her illegitimate child by administering carbolic acid, has finally confessed her guilt. The persons to whom she confided this confession are Detective Vaughan and a young German woman at the Open Door. The two stories told by her agree with the exception of the quantity used, in one case saying she gave the child a teaspoonful and in the other half that amount. At the opening of the case the judge says that there was no one at home but herself, and denies that any other child was in the house at the time. After this confession was made, permission was obtained from the county attorney to take her into custody immediately. A reporter called on her at her residence, which will occur as soon as she is well enough to appear. She is still indifferent as to what is her future fate, and expresses no regret for the past.

John Toner Dead.

John Toner died at his home in the southern suburb of Omaha Wednesday night, of a combination of ailments, attributable principally to old age, he being seventy-six years old.

John Toner has been a resident of Douglas county for the past thirty-five years, having come here directly from Ireland about 1854. He took up the land he lived upon, and began farming. The property is now worth nearly $100,000. The deceased was widely known and universally respected. He was a bachelor, and his nearest relative in Omaha is his brother, Joseph Toner, who lives here in the city. He was taken to the funeral of Thomas Holland will take place at 2:30 this morning, from St. Photomene's cathedral.

Sleepless nights made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by Good man Drug Co.

A Very Sad Accident.

A sister of Mrs. James E. Kiduff, of Crane Bros' Manufacturing company, this city, was killed at Coney Island in a horrible manner last Saturday. The lady's name was Mrs. Home, and in company with her sister-in-law, Miss Home, went out sketching, both being artists. A storm suddenly came up and compelled them to seek shelter under a box car from the drenching rain. Unfortunately an engine attempted to move the car and both ladies were thrown under the wheels. Mrs. Home was crushed in a terrible manner and instantly killed, while Miss Home lost a limb. Both ladies are well known in art circles and their many friends here will be pained to hear of the accident.

Regrets and Congratulations.

The toastmaster read the following regrets and congratulations to the press of Omaha. EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, June 15.—Mr. E. Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.—My Dear Mr. Rosewater: The president directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your invitation to the eighteenth anniversary of THE OMAHA BEE, at the opening of THE BEE building, on the 19th of June, and to thank you for the country. He regrets that he is not able to be present.

I also desire to acknowledge the one sent me, and beg to extend my congratulations to you upon that occasion.

E. W. HALFORD, private secretary. From Hon. John W. Wainwright, postmaster-general, was received the following telegram. WASHINGTON, June 19.—E. Rosewater, Editor Bee: Many thanks for kind invitation to the eighteenth anniversary of THE BEE building, on the 19th of June. Best wishes for largest success in the new building.

JOHN WANAMAKER. William Henry Smith, general manager of the Associated Press, sent a "press dispatch" as follows: NEW YORK, June 19.—Edward Rosewater, Proprietor of THE BEE: Business engagements prevented acceptance of your invitation. I congratulate you on the completion of your building and the great success of THE BEE. WILLIAM HENRY SMITH.

From Colonel John G. Burke, United States army. WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, June 15, 1889.—Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. Rosewater and THE BEE from their friend, JOHN G. BURKE.

From T. B. Thurber. New York, June 15, 1889.—Friend Rosewater: I am just in receipt of the very elegant card announcing the eighteenth anniversary of THE BEE. I hope it may continue to prosper until its eighteenth hundredth anniversary, and beyond, and may we be there to see it.

Its progress reminds me of the story of the Russian and the Turk who stood together to view one of the czar's grand enterprises at Moscow. Said the Russian: "Ah! the czar is great." "Yes," said the pious Turk, "but God is greater." "Ah! but the czar is young yet," returned the Russian, "and so it is with THE BEE." The Russian and the Turk have been establishing a great paper in eighteen years and are "young yet," what may it not become when the center of the country's population is at Omaha, and the whole country is a territory truly yours. T. B. THURBER. From H. D. Hathaway, of the Lincoln Journal. LINCOLN, Neb., June 15, 1889.—Hon. E. Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.: I exceedingly regret my inability to attend THE BEE anniversary. I have been a close observer of the rise and fall of various newspaper enterprises in Nebraska for the past thirty years, having been engaged in the business in Nebraska for that length of time, and can assure you that I fully recognize the fact that THE BEE has been the grandest financial success of all, and I should take especial pleasure in being present at the opening of the new building. In the event of a permit. Knowing the difficulties of building up a great paper causes me to more fully appreciate the success of THE BEE than the average citizen can.

With best wishes for your personal prosperity and that you may live to old age to enjoy the fruits of your success, I am yours truly, H. D. HATHAWAY. From Mayor Rohrer, of Council Bluffs. EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., June 1889.—Omaha Bee: Gentlemen: I am in receipt of an invitation to visit the opening of THE BEE building, which occurs to-day.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE, FRIDAY, JUNE 21 1889.

They Characterize the Speeches at the Press Banquet.

At the banquet tendered by Mr. Rosewater to the press on the occasion of the opening of the new Bee building, Wednesday evening, a number of responses to the toasts were made, among which were the following:

Governor Thayer. Governor John M. Thayer, being called upon, said:

Mr. Rosewater and Gentlemen of the Press: This is an occasion of especial import. I am not here to make a speech, and came here with no such purpose, as this is a meeting of the profession of journalism. I need not say that I am afforded much gratification in seeing you here to-night. I am glad to have the honor of meeting with the representatives of the press of Omaha and Nebraska. I will introduce myself as a writer to THE BEE of weekly letters some years ago, that I may have a little ground on which to stand before you. I am here from Lincoln to testify my appreciation of Mr. Rosewater and his achievements. I well recall the fact that eighteen years ago this very day, on Thirteenth street, opposite the Methodist church, where now stands the Omaha National bank building, I met Mr. Rosewater. He had in his hand one of the first copies of the OMAHA BEE, a little about perhaps a foot square. I did not know what it was, but he handed it to me and called it THE BEE. I do not suppose that at that time he had any thought or expectation of building up a paper, certainly had no idea of what was coming, but from that day to this I have watched the paper grow until it has become one of the great newspapers of the west. I desire to show my regard for the energy, ability and public spirit displayed in the eighteen years' evolution of THE BEE.

Setting aside any further commendations of mine it is a pleasure to hear the representatives of the rival papers of this city are here to-night to congratulate the editor of THE BEE upon the wonderful accomplishment of which he has been the instrument and the means. It is indeed a wonderful achievement, this magnificent building and ability of one man, an ornament to this city and the whole state and every citizen of this commonwealth should feel proud. It is not the fact that it will remain an ornament of the building. On the contrary I aimed to make it as substantial as first class mechanics, stone, brick and iron could make it. It is not before it is a monument to the achievement of financial folly or sagacity time only will prove. So far as I am personally concerned I feel that I have done nothing to be remembered by. But whether I succeed or fail, this building will stand here for ages, and I trust the citizens of Omaha will take it as an example and put up buildings that will compare favorably with it for myself it matters little. A few more years and I am done. I feel that I have done my duty as a man and a citizen, and that I have had a hard struggle, and one that no one but myself will ever realize in building up THE BEE. No wife nor child knows what I have passed through in this building.

I feel grateful that I have been instrumental in the first reunion of the Omaha press. For the first time in twenty-five years newspaper men have met around the banquet table and have entered hand in hand together to testify their appreciation of the work of one of their number. Instead of degrading and tearing down, and belittling, they have come here to encourage and to advertise the good work that has been done.

SELF-CONFESED MURDERER.

Leona Meyer Admits Giving Carbolic Acid to Her Child.

Leona Meyer, the eighteen-year-old girl suspected of murdering her illegitimate child by administering carbolic acid, has finally confessed her guilt. The persons to whom she confided this confession are Detective Vaughan and a young German woman at the Open Door. The two stories told by her agree with the exception of the quantity used, in one case saying she gave the child a teaspoonful and in the other half that amount. At the opening of the case the judge says that there was no one at home but herself, and denies that any other child was in the house at the time. After this confession was made, permission was obtained from the county attorney to take her into custody immediately. A reporter called on her at her residence, which will occur as soon as she is well enough to appear. She is still indifferent as to what is her future fate, and expresses no regret for the past.

John Toner Dead.

John Toner died at his home in the southern suburb of Omaha Wednesday night, of a combination of ailments, attributable principally to old age, he being seventy-six years old.

John Toner has been a resident of Douglas county for the past thirty-five years, having come here directly from Ireland about 1854. He took up the land he lived upon, and began farming. The property is now worth nearly $100,000. The deceased was widely known and universally respected. He was a bachelor, and his nearest relative in Omaha is his brother, Joseph Toner, who lives here in the city. He was taken to the funeral of Thomas Holland will take place at 2:30 this morning, from St. Photomene's cathedral.

Sleepless nights made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by Good man Drug Co.

A Very Sad Accident.

A sister of Mrs. James E. Kiduff, of Crane Bros' Manufacturing company, this city, was killed at Coney Island in a horrible manner last Saturday. The lady's name was Mrs. Home, and in company with her sister-in-law, Miss Home, went out sketching, both being artists. A storm suddenly came up and compelled them to seek shelter under a box car from the drenching rain. Unfortunately an engine attempted to move the car and both ladies were thrown under the wheels. Mrs. Home was crushed in a terrible manner and instantly killed, while Miss Home lost a limb. Both ladies are well known in art circles and their many friends here will be pained to hear of the accident.

Regrets and Congratulations.

The toastmaster read the following regrets and congratulations to the press of Omaha. EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, June 15.—Mr. E. Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.—My Dear Mr. Rosewater: The president directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your invitation to the eighteenth anniversary of THE OMAHA BEE, at the opening of THE BEE building, on the 19th of June, and to thank you for the country. He regrets that he is not able to be present.

I also desire to acknowledge the one sent me, and beg to extend my congratulations to you upon that occasion.

E. W. HALFORD, private secretary. From Hon. John W. Wainwright, postmaster-general, was received the following telegram. WASHINGTON, June 19.—E. Rosewater, Editor Bee: Many thanks for kind invitation to the eighteenth anniversary of THE BEE building, on the 19th of June. Best wishes for largest success in the new building.

JOHN WANAMAKER. William Henry Smith, general manager of the Associated Press, sent a "press dispatch" as follows: NEW YORK, June 19.—Edward Rosewater, Proprietor of THE BEE: Business engagements prevented acceptance of your invitation. I congratulate you on the completion of your building and the great success of THE BEE. WILLIAM HENRY SMITH.

From Colonel John G. Burke, United States army. WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, June 15, 1889.—Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. Rosewater and THE BEE from their friend, JOHN G. BURKE.

From T. B. Thurber. New York, June 15, 1889.—Friend Rosewater: I am just in receipt of the very elegant card announcing the eighteenth anniversary of THE BEE. I hope it may continue to prosper until its eighteenth hundredth anniversary, and beyond, and may we be there to see it.

Its progress reminds me of the story of the Russian and the Turk who stood together to view one of the czar's grand enterprises at Moscow. Said the Russian: "Ah! the czar is great." "Yes," said the pious Turk, "but God is greater." "Ah! but the czar is young yet," returned the Russian, "and so it is with THE BEE." The Russian and the Turk have been establishing a great paper in eighteen years and are "young yet," what may it not become when the center of the country's population is at Omaha, and the whole country is a territory truly yours. T. B. THURBER. From H. D. Hathaway, of the Lincoln Journal. LINCOLN, Neb., June 15, 1889.—Hon. E. Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.: I exceedingly regret my inability to attend THE BEE anniversary. I have been a close observer of the rise and fall of various newspaper enterprises in Nebraska for the past thirty years, having been engaged in the business in Nebraska for that length of time, and can assure you that I fully recognize the fact that THE BEE has been the grandest financial success of all, and I should take especial pleasure in being present at the opening of the new building. In the event of a permit. Knowing the difficulties of building up a great paper causes me to more fully appreciate the success of THE BEE than the average citizen can.

With best wishes for your personal prosperity and that you may live to old age to enjoy the fruits of your success, I am yours truly, H. D. HATHAWAY. From Mayor Rohrer, of Council Bluffs. EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., June 1889.—Omaha Bee: Gentlemen: I am in receipt of an invitation to visit the opening of THE BEE building, which occurs to-day.

Its progress reminds me of the story of the Russian and the Turk who stood together to view one of the czar's grand enterprises at Moscow. Said the Russian: "Ah! the czar is great." "Yes," said the pious Turk, "but God is greater." "Ah! but the czar is young yet," returned the Russian, "and so it is with THE BEE." The Russian and the Turk have been establishing a great paper in eighteen years and are "young yet," what may it not become when the center of the country's population is at Omaha, and the whole country is a territory truly yours. T. B. THURBER. From H. D. Hathaway, of the Lincoln Journal. LINCOLN, Neb., June 15, 1889.—Hon. E. Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.: I exceedingly regret my inability to attend THE BEE anniversary. I have been a close observer of the rise and fall of various newspaper enterprises in Nebraska for the past thirty years, having been engaged in the business in Nebraska for that length of time, and can assure you that I fully recognize the fact that THE BEE has been the grandest financial success of all, and I should take especial pleasure in being present at the opening of the new building. In the event of a permit. Knowing the difficulties of building up a great paper causes me to more fully appreciate the success of THE BEE than the average citizen can.

With best wishes for your personal prosperity and that you may live to old age to enjoy the fruits of your success, I am yours truly, H. D. HATHAWAY. From Mayor Rohrer, of Council Bluffs. EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., June 1889.—Omaha Bee: Gentlemen: I am in receipt of an invitation to visit the opening of THE BEE building, which occurs to-day.

Its progress reminds me of the story of the Russian and the Turk who stood together to view one of the czar's grand enterprises at Moscow. Said the Russian: "Ah! the czar is great." "Yes," said the pious Turk, "but God is greater." "Ah! but the czar is young yet," returned the Russian, "and so it is with THE BEE." The Russian and the Turk have been establishing a great paper in eighteen years and are "young yet," what may it not become when the center of the country's population is at Omaha, and the whole country is a territory truly yours. T. B. THURBER. From H. D. Hathaway, of the Lincoln Journal. LINCOLN, Neb., June 15, 1889.—Hon. E. Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.: I exceedingly regret my inability to attend THE BEE anniversary. I have been a close observer of the rise and fall of various newspaper enterprises in Nebraska for the past thirty years, having been engaged in the business in Nebraska for that length of time, and can assure you that I fully recognize the fact that THE BEE has been the grandest financial success of all, and I should take especial pleasure in being present at the opening of the new building. In the event of a permit. Knowing the difficulties of building up a great paper causes me to more fully appreciate the success of THE BEE than the average citizen can.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE, FRIDAY, JUNE 21 1889.

They Characterize the Speeches at the Press Banquet.

At the banquet tendered by Mr. Rosewater to the press on the occasion of the opening of the new Bee building, Wednesday evening, a number of responses to the toasts were made, among which were the following:

Governor Thayer. Governor John M. Thayer, being called upon, said:

Mr. Rosewater and Gentlemen of the Press: This is an occasion of especial import. I am not here to make a speech, and came here with no such purpose, as this is a meeting of the profession of journalism. I need not say that I am afforded much gratification in seeing you here to-night. I am glad to have the honor of meeting with the representatives of the press of Omaha and Nebraska. I will introduce myself as a writer to THE BEE of weekly letters some years ago, that I may have a little ground on which to stand before you. I am here from Lincoln to testify my appreciation of Mr. Rosewater and his achievements. I well recall the fact that eighteen years ago this very day, on Thirteenth street, opposite the Methodist church, where now stands the Omaha National bank building, I met Mr. Rosewater. He had in his hand one of the first copies of the OMAHA BEE, a little about perhaps a foot square. I did not know what it was, but he handed it to me and called it THE BEE. I do not suppose that at that time he had any thought or expectation of building up a paper, certainly had no idea of what was coming, but from that day to this I have watched the paper grow until it has become one of the great newspapers of the west. I desire to show my regard for the energy, ability and public spirit displayed in the eighteen years' evolution of THE BEE.

Setting aside any further commendations of mine it is a pleasure to hear the representatives of the rival papers of this city are here to-night to congratulate the editor of THE BEE upon the wonderful accomplishment of which he has been the instrument and the means. It is indeed a wonderful achievement, this magnificent building and ability of one man, an ornament to this city and the whole state and every citizen of this commonwealth should feel proud. It is not the fact that it will remain an ornament of the building. On the contrary I aimed to make it as substantial as first class mechanics, stone, brick and iron could make it. It is not before it is a monument to the achievement of financial folly or sagacity time only will prove. So far as I am personally concerned I feel that I have done nothing to be remembered by. But whether I succeed or fail, this building will stand here for ages, and I trust the citizens of Omaha will take it as an example and put up buildings that will compare favorably with it for myself it matters little. A few more years and I am done. I feel that I have done my duty as a man and a citizen, and that I have had a hard struggle, and one that no one but myself will ever realize in building up THE BEE. No wife nor child knows what I have passed through in this building.

I feel grateful that I have been instrumental in the first reunion of the Omaha press. For the first time in twenty-five years newspaper men have met around the banquet table and have entered hand in hand together to testify their appreciation of the work of one of their number. Instead of degrading and tearing down, and belittling, they have come here to encourage and to advertise the good work that has been done.

SELF-CONFESED MURDERER.

Leona Meyer Admits Giving Carbolic Acid to Her Child.

Leona Meyer, the eighteen-year-old girl suspected of murdering her illegitimate child by administering carbolic acid, has finally confessed her guilt. The persons to whom she confided this confession are Detective Vaughan and a young German woman at the Open Door. The two stories told by her agree with the exception of the quantity used, in one case saying she gave the child a teaspoonful and in the other half that amount. At the opening of the case the judge says that there was no one at home but herself, and denies that any other child was in the house at the time. After this confession was made, permission was obtained from the county attorney to take her into custody immediately. A reporter called on her at her residence, which will occur as soon as she is well enough to appear. She is still indifferent as to what is her future fate, and expresses no regret for the past.

John Toner Dead.

John Toner died at his home in the southern suburb of Omaha Wednesday night, of a combination of ailments, attributable principally to old age, he being seventy-six years old.

John Toner has been a resident of Douglas county for the past thirty-five years, having come here directly from Ireland about 1854. He took up the land he lived upon, and began farming. The property is now worth nearly $100,000. The deceased was widely known and universally respected. He was a bachelor, and his nearest relative in Omaha is his brother, Joseph Toner, who lives here in the city. He was taken to the funeral of Thomas Holland will take place at 2:30 this morning, from St. Photomene's cathedral.

Sleepless nights made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by Good man Drug Co.

A Very Sad Accident.

A sister of Mrs. James E. Kiduff, of Crane Bros' Manufacturing company, this city, was killed at Coney Island in a horrible manner last Saturday. The lady's name was Mrs. Home, and in company with her sister-in-law, Miss Home, went out sketching, both being artists. A storm suddenly came up and compelled them to seek shelter under a box car from the drenching rain. Unfortunately an engine attempted to move the car and both ladies were thrown under the wheels. Mrs. Home was crushed in a terrible manner and instantly killed, while Miss Home lost a limb. Both ladies are well known in art circles and their many friends here will be pained to hear of the accident.

Regrets and Congratulations.

The toastmaster read the following regrets and congratulations to the press of Omaha. EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, June 15.—Mr. E. Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.—My Dear Mr. Rosewater: The president directs me to acknowledge the receipt of your invitation to the eighteenth anniversary of THE OMAHA BEE, at the opening of THE BEE building, on the 19th of June, and to thank you for the country. He regrets that he is not able to be present.

I also desire to acknowledge the one sent me, and beg to extend my congratulations to you upon that occasion.

E. W. HALFORD, private secretary. From Hon. John W. Wainwright, postmaster-general, was received the following telegram. WASHINGTON, June 19.—E. Rosewater, Editor Bee: Many thanks for kind invitation to the eighteenth anniversary of THE BEE building, on the 19th of June. Best wishes for largest success in the new building.

JOHN WANAMAKER. William Henry Smith, general manager of the Associated Press, sent a "press dispatch" as follows: NEW YORK, June 19.—Edward Rosewater, Proprietor of THE BEE: Business engagements prevented acceptance of your invitation. I congratulate you on the completion of your building and the great success of THE BEE. WILLIAM HENRY SMITH.

From Colonel John G. Burke, United States army. WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, June 15, 1889.—Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. Rosewater and THE BEE from their friend, JOHN G. BURKE.

From T. B. Thurber. New York, June 15, 1889.—Friend Rosewater: I am just in receipt of the very elegant card announcing the eighteenth anniversary of THE BEE. I hope it may continue to prosper until its eighteenth hundredth anniversary, and beyond, and may we be there to see it.

Its progress reminds me of the story of the Russian and the Turk who stood together to view one of the czar's grand enterprises at Moscow. Said the Russian: "Ah! the czar is great." "Yes," said the pious Turk, "but God is greater." "Ah! but the czar is young yet," returned the Russian, "and so it is with THE BEE." The Russian and the Turk have been establishing a great paper in eighteen years and are "young yet," what may it not become when the center of the country's population is at Omaha, and the whole country is a territory truly yours. T. B. THURBER. From H. D. Hathaway, of the Lincoln Journal. LINCOLN, Neb., June 15, 1889.—Hon. E. Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.: I exceedingly regret my inability to attend THE BEE anniversary. I have been a close observer of the rise and fall of various newspaper enterprises in Nebraska for the past thirty years, having been engaged in the business in Nebraska for that length of time, and can assure you that I fully recognize the fact that THE BEE has been the grandest financial success of all, and I should take especial pleasure in being present at the opening of the new building. In the event of a permit. Knowing the difficulties of building up a great paper causes me to more fully appreciate the success of THE BEE than the average citizen can.