The Eighth Grade Plants Its Tree and Faces the High School. The class-day exercises at the Lake street school took place yesterday afternoon. The pupils of the Eighth grade have now severed their connection with this school and are prepared to enter upon the high school course. The exercises were conducted by Miss Whitmore, the principal, ably assisted

The programme opened with a song by the Eighth grade pupils, which was followed by a brief history of the school by Clarissa Wilhelemy. Then came the reading of the Lake Courier, a journal edited by Jerome Miller and Blanche Bay.

which was very well executed.

The class poem, by Jennie Dodson, gave evidence of considerable poetic ability.

"A Peep Into the Future," by Mollie Carnaby, a bright little lady, was next on the programme, and revealed the destiny of her schoolmates in a manner that was pleasing to all experience. to all concerned. Superintendent James then presented the class, in a few well chosen words, to the delegates from the high school, who were there to receive them.

Response was made by Fred Nave, of the high school, who welcomed the class to their ranks, and gave them an idea of what they might expect in the way of studies, etc.

Archie Naugie, a bright little feilow, then turned over the Courier to the coming Eighth grade, which was received by Bert Butler, as a representative of the class, with a few impromptu remarks. All the pupils in the building then formed in line and, preceded by the drum corps marched to the east front of the building where a tree was planted. The tree was placed in the hole prepared for it, and a time box, containing the names of the graduating class and a history of the school, was placed in the excavation, after which the pupils threw the dirt on the roots, each one quoting some appropriate sentiment as he shoveled the dirt in.

The exercises closed by singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "America" by the school. Following is the list of the graduating

THE ASSESSMENT PROBLEM. How the Commissioners Explain the Present Discrepancy. The board of county commissioners is considerable exercised over this year's assessment of property. Chairman Mount said that the books show a worse state of affairs than ever before. While the total levy exceeds last year by more than $130,000. the decrease in certain wards and precincts is startling, and cannot easily be accounted

"There is no reason why it should be so, that I can give," continued the chairman, unless political influence cuts some figure Take, for instance, the Third ward, which seems to have decreased $185,323 in value There is no excuse for that, but the property values are simply lowered, and what are you going to do about it? For instance, the Union Pacific headquarters is $8,000, and block 63, owned by that corporation, which was put in last year at $5,500 is assessed this year at $3,000. The B. & M. headquarters is reduced from $27,600 to $25,651. The vacant lot, immediately west of the B. & M. office, owned by George W. Smith, was assessed last year at $3,000, comes in now at $2,850. don't know why it should be reduced. The First ward decrease amounts to $119, 712, and the Sixth to $202,489. I can understand why there should be some decrease in the Sixth ward, because, last year it was assessed outrageously high. Still, the number of new buildings which have gone up out there ought, I should think, have kept the average up to nearly what it was before, Out of nine wards in the city four—the Second, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth, show a total increase of $251,517, while the other five, in which most of the big property is lo cated, show a decrease of $395,014.

South Omaha comes to the front with a gain of $379,418, which brings the total increase for the entire county, over last year up to about $100,000.

The board has not commenced to equalize as yet. They continue to receive complaints which are numerous. The check put upon as yet. They continue to receive complaints which are numerous. The check put upon individual reductions, is causing much distress of mind and there are good prospects ahead for several lively lawsuits. FAREWELL TO BIERBOWER. He is Tendered a Dinner by the U. S.

District Judge,
As a tribute to the records which Ellis Bierbower has made as United States marshal of this district for about seventeen years, Judge Dundy tendered him a reception and dinner at his elegant home on Leaven worth street, Thursday evening. The guests comprised the new incumbent, all the exmarshals of the district now living, the deputies, the district and ex-district attorneys, besides representatives of the press, so that the gathering was, in many respects, a remarkably interesting one.

William Daily, the man whom Bierbower succeeded, also Brad D. Slaughter, the new marshal; George H. Pritchett, the district attorney, and his assistant, Robert W. Patrick; G. M. Lambertson, of Lincoln, exdistrict attorney; John L. Webster, master in chancery; Dr. Tilden, jury commissionar and court physician: E. S. Dundy jr., clerk; T. K. K. Sutton, master in chancery, and Deputy Marshals R. E. Allen, R. J. Stewart, J. H. Showalter, Fremont; A. J. Wright, Lincoln, and Charley W. Lyon.

About 9 o'clock Judge Dundy invited the party into his spacious dining room, where, said he, "You will find the first fruit dinner ever given by me in this house." The sitting continued until after midnight and was thoroughly enjoyed. Speeches were made by nearly every one William Daily, the man whom Bierbower

Speeches were made by nearly every one present, all commendatory of the retiring marshai's splend'd career as well as ex-expressive of the thanks felt for the many kindnesses that have shown in all his dealings with associates.

As the talking representative of the court at all times, Mr. Pritchett opened the speech making with a very neat little talk, in which he reviewed the cares, responsibilities and annoyances, as well as the pleasures and honor of an office holder.

Mr. Lambertson, who claims to have made Bierbower by starting him right, followed, and gave briefly an interesting history of his experiences. The judge was finally prevailed on to talk, and, among other things in his short talk, said that eight years more would find him at the age when he could retire from office, "and if I live to that time," said he, "you can depend on it that I will get out the next

BERKA'S VISITORS.

Brands From the Burning and Pickings From the Slums. "I pounded the face all off of one of my neighbors and I want to give myself up,' said Mrs. Turpin, a pleasant-faced woman, to Sergeant Haze at the opening of police court. "She called me a vile name, and I lost my temper and swore like a trooper."

"Did I strike her!" repeating the sergeant's inquiry. "Just wait till you see her." The woman, who lives at 2316 Hickory str cet, explained that she expected to be ar rested and so surrendered herself to save a ride in the patrol wagon. Her honesty os impressed the officer that he sent her home, promising to summon her, without the use of the patrol wagon, when the expected complaint is filed against her.
