THE THROTTLEMAN WINNERS
The Wages of Union Pacific Engineers Sustained.
RAILWAY MEN'S FEDERATIONS.
The Difficulties Attending the Organization of the Barbers' Union in This City and the Sunday Closing Question, Etc., Etc.
The Differences Settled.
The differences existing between the Brotherhood of Engineers and the Union Pacific road were finally adjusted yesterday by General Manager Baldwin for the road, George W. Vroman for the engineers, and Captain C. H. Rustin, chosen as the neutral member, sitting as a board of arbitration.
The decision of the board was a victory for the engineers. It was as follows:
"A controversy having arisen between the Brotherhood of Engineers and the Brotherhood of Firemen on the one part and the Union Pacific Railway company on the other part, regarding the schedule of wages of April 1, 1897, the union members submitted for arbitration and decision to G. W. Vroman and W. H. Baldwin, Jr., with full power and authority to select some disinterested third person to act with them in case of their disagreement, the decision of any two of the said arbitrators in writing to be final and conclusive upon both parties, a neutral finding and award to be delivered to each of the parties hereto."
"Question 1—Did the Union Pacific Railway company, by segregating the Leavenworth, Topeka & Southwestern, Leavenworth & Lawrence, and Kansas Central railroads, and erecting them into a separate organization under an independent management under the name of the Leavenworth division, and by reducing the wages thereafter, violate any implied obligation contained in the schedule of wages of April 1, 1897?"
"Question 2—Under said schedule ought the management of the Leavenworth division to have changed the rates of pay of its engineers and firemen without notifying or consulting the general committee of the engineers and firemen of the Union Pacific system?"
"The award is as follows:
"The lines of the Leavenworth division have been segregated as a separate division of the Union Pacific system only in management, and as the Kansas Central and Leavenworth & Lawrence branches were included in the schedule of wages adopted April 1, 1897, as a part of the Union Pacific system, it is our opinion that the schedule should apply upon those lines, for the following reasons:
"As the executive officers of the Union Pacific system recognized the brotherhoods of the Union Pacific railway company in fixing the schedule of wages for the Oregon, Pacific coast and navigation company, which was and is a part of the Union Pacific system, taking effect January 1, 1897, they should have recognized and consulted the engineers and firemen of the Leavenworth division, which is a part of the Union Pacific system."

Barbers' Union No. 3.
To Omaha belongs the distinction of having organized one of the very first barbers' unions organized in the United States.
The national union effected an organization in December, 1887, but prior to this the barbers of Omaha had met and organized a union. The members were few and the association was not strong, but it improved with age and grew in strength. The local union was admitted into the national barbers' union, the Union No. 3, New York City. Omaha's union is No. 3, and there are but fifteen in the United States. To-day the union has about forty members, and is a powerful organization. The members are slow in joining, but the prime movers are by no means in despair and look forward to the time when the union will be a power. They have prepared a circular which is to be sent to all the trades unions asking for assistance in organization. The cigar makers have already rendered material assistance.
The officers of the union for the ensuing year, are as follows: W. M. Smith, president; George Schurz, vice president; Harry Vestphal, financial secretary; George Callaway, corresponding secretary; A. Saulsbury, treasurer. The union meets every second and fourth Thursday of each month, at Gate City hall.
Just now an effort to close the shops on Sunday is being made. Many weeks ago they asked the mayor and city council to pass an ordinance closing the shops on the seventh day, but could not get it passed, so they claim, were brought to bear upon the mayor and certain aldermen and their petition was allowed to go by default. Having been denied assistance by the city government, they will take matters into their own hands and proceed to close the shops on Sunday under the state law.
At present the Council Bluffs union is a part of No. 3, having been organized under the same charter, and in their fight with the bosses the Council Bluffs barbers will receive the assistance of the Union men on this side of the river.
Elected New Officers.
At a recent meeting Carpenters' union No. 112, of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, elected new officers as follows: President, R. C. Hilliker; vice-president,

D. Stout; financial secretary, W. A. McAllister; recording secretary, J. G. Graham; treasurer, D. W. Smith; conductor, J. P. Williams; wardens, L. C. Cole, Messrs. J. S. Senger and Hilliker were elected trustees.
Union No. 112 is located in South Omaha and is a live institution in every respect. It now numbers more than a half hundred members and is recognized by the unions of Omaha as a potent factor in labor matters. It is allowed delegates in the various councils and is practically an Omaha organization.
Bricklayers on a Strike.
The bricklayers working on the Dellone hotel at Fourteenth and Capitol avenue went on a strike yesterday because Contractor Fred Dellone would not allow them pay for an extra hour on Saturday. The men demanded the extra hour a week ago, when it became a union law, and Dellone agreed to allow it for other contractors would. The strikers claim that the majority of other contractors are allowing the extra hour, and that Dellone was apprised of that fact and yet he would not grant it. Yesterday Dellone refused to allow the extra hour yesterday afternoon the eight men quit work without further ceremony.
Labor Notes.
The official organ of the carpenters and joiners' union warns all carpenters to stay away from Omaha and Kearney.
Carpenters' union No. 71 met in special session last night and worked upon rules and by-laws for the government of the new supreme council.
At 8 o'clock this morning the members of Cigarmakers' union No. 98, accompanied by their families and several hundred friends, will leave the Union Pacific depot by special train for Waterloo, where they will spend the day. Various amusements have been provided for the occasion and a pleasant time anticipated.
The journeyman plumbers' strike is still on. A few of the men went to work this week for Symonds & Blake, but a majority of the men are still without employment.
Typographical union, No. 190 meets to-day at its hall, corner of Fourteenth and Dodge streets.
The Omaha Stage Tax club meets at Gate City hall at 2:30 to-day.

TO THE GLORY OF THE LORD
A New Synagogue Will Be Dedicated To-day.
A HISTORY OF ST. BARNABAS.
Items of Interest Which Have Characterized the World of Religion During the Past Seven Days—Other Items.
Another Synagogue.
The dedication of the new synagogue on Capital avenue to-day, recalls several incidents which are properly a part of the history of Omaha.
Several hundred Russian refugees arrived here about seven years ago. They left Russia on account of religious intolerance, and were assisted in their passage to America by a fund subscribed by the Bohemians under the auspices of the Russian Immigration Aid society. About four thousand came to the United States and on their arrival, the association provided them with food and clothing and sent them to the various agricultural states of the Union.
Two hundred of these people came to Omaha in an abject condition. Relief was afforded them by the Hebrew Benevolent society which spent large sums in relieving the distress of these people. Meyer Hellman, Julius Meyer and C. Shaw were the most active in providing for them.
Many of these immigrants have risen from poverty to wealth and are among Omaha's most enterprising citizens.
In order to have a house of worship, several of these people organized a Russian Relief society about three years ago, and have erected a neat synagogue on Capitol avenue near Thirteenth street, at a cost of $5,000 which will be dedicated this evening.
The officers of the association are H. Goldberger, president; H. Koppelman, vice president; I. Liebschitz, treasurer and M. Bellman, secretary. The trustees are W. Reichman, S. Nussim, and I. Marder. In addition to these members, the prominent workers whose energies have aided in building this synagogue are J. Simon, L. Stodolnik, A. Wolf and others.
These Russians have also a Hebrew literary association with quite a surplus in the treasury.
The dedication services will be conducted by Rabbi Benson, assisted by the reader of the congregation, Rev. Mr. Boriant, and chorists. The program will consist of opening prayer, by the rabbi; singing devotion hymn by the chorists and choir; response by Rabbi Benson; reading of the Pentateuch by Rabbi Benson; "Praise Ye the Lord," reader and chorists; dedication sermon, Rabbi Benson; address by Mayor Broatch; "Yizkor," by reader and chorists; closing prayer, Rabbi Benson.
The choir's composition of a quintette of male and female voices. The selections are Hebrew traditional music.
The dedication services will close with a ball and banquet at the Metropolitan club, on the corner of Fourteenth and Dodge.

PRIEST AND BISHOP.
The controversies and struggles which attended St. Barnabas church, St. Barnabas church, in this city, was erected nineteen years ago, and since then has been the favorite place of worship for the High Church Episcopalians of Omaha.
The parish was organized on St. Barnabas day, June 11, 1880, and shortly afterward a chapel at the corner of Ninth and Douglas streets, where services were held by Rev. Mr. Betts until a year later, when the church was removed to Fourteenth and Cass streets. In 1870 the present church was built, after many trials and difficulties, by the few determined men who took the lead in its establishment.
Shortly after the church was completed serious misunderstanding arose between the rector, Mr. Betts, and Bishop Clarkson, on matters pertaining to the ritual. The former refused to yield to the bishop's requirement for a modification of the ritual. These differences became a legacy to the respective rectors and bishops, and the parish has not until recent years been in full harmony with the head of the diocese on this question.
The ritual that then gave offense to the bishop and diocese, would be considered mild enough now, and was only such as is now in use at the cathedral.
In January, 1872, Mr. Betts resigned the rectory of the parish to accept a position as agent of the Society for the Insane of the Ministry, but in March of the same year he resumed charge of the parish. A stormy interview between the bishop and the rector followed Mr. Betts' return. The former demanded the discontinuance of the use of the chasuble and all other vestments except the surplice and stole, and the celebration of the Eucharist in the vernacular. He also demanded the abolition of the choir turning toward the altar in repeating the "Gloria" and "creed," and that the rector discontinue the making of the sign of the cross in the service, except in the baptismal office.
The rector firmly and positively refused to comply with the bishop's demands and the following June the latter resigned the parish as accepted a call at Kansas City.
In November the vacancy was filled by the election of Rev. J. P. Hammond, of Pennsylvania, but disagreement of a more serious nature than ever arose between the bishop and rector also on matters of ritual. Finally a canon was passed giving the bishop power to bring any clergyman to trial for a breach of his ordination vow and that the rector discontinue the making of the sign of the cross in the service, except in the baptismal office.
Mr. Hammond yielded to the forces of this canon, but, in September, 1875, retired from the rectory.
In July, 1875, Rev. John Williams, the present rector, was called to the parish and, after some correspondence with the bishop, he was elected to the rectory. He was cordially welcomed by Bishop Clarkson, who attended St. Barnabas and celebrated the eucharist on the first Sunday after the new rector's arrival.
Mr. Williams stated his position on the vexed question of the ritual which the bishop accepted and perfect harmony prevailed. Bishop Clarkson maintained his friendly attitude toward the parish to the last, first yielding one point and then another to the expressed wish of the rector, until every thing that the parish desired was cheerfully granted or acquiesced in.
During the rectory of Mr. Hammond, a rectory was built by subscription and in May, 1881, half of the lot in the rear of the church was purchased and presented to the parish by Mr. C. W. Mead, who shortly afterward St. Barnabas and the parish has about two hundred communicants. The church is free and open to all alike, adhering to the position that no parish has the right to give exclusive privileges to any one in a house formally set apart and consecrated to the public worship of God.
The property of the church is valued at $30,000, and the rector's salary is $1,200 per annum.
The parish has a chapter of St. Andrews' brotherhood and a branch of the ladies' auxiliary.

Rev. J. H. Rasmussen is senior warden and Dr. Nelson junior warden.
The vestrymen are Robert Eason, Frank Pope, Theodore L. Ringwalt, John R. King, William Will Brown, Jr., Charles Weeks is treasurer, and Will Brown, Jr., is clerk of the vestry.
A Little Nostalgic.
OMAHA, June 25.—To the Editor of THE FREE: It will be remembered that, a few weeks since, I published a notice in all the city papers to the effect that I wanted to find forty people who were able and willing to give $5 per month, the balance of the year, for the support of the "Open Door."
At the end of the month, I desired to convey to the public, the very gratifying intelligence that I have succeeded in finding in this magnificent, public-spirited and benevolent city, twenty people, who are willing to do this thing. I think it worth while that this inspiring example of "Our duty of a citizen" should be known to our enterprising city. Very respectfully,
A. W. LAMAR,
Pastor First Presbyterian Church.

FAREWELL TO THE CLASS.
Teacher and Pupil Will Know It Not For Two Months.
A majority of the 360 teachers employed in the public schools climbed the fire-barned stairs leading to the board of education rooms yesterday afternoon and received warrants for their wages for the month of June. All of the teachers expressed themselves as highly satisfied with the results of the past year's work, and equally pleased that a two months' rest from school work is before them. Many of the teachers have already left the city for the summer holidays, and more will follow during the coming week. Several enthusiastic workers will remain in the city during the vacation to teach summer schools.
During the past week the last of the school year, the students of the eighth grade in the various schools were examined for admission to the high school. Of the 185 students who essayed their examination, but twenty-two failed to pass, a very creditable showing. Each pupil was given a number during the examination. Those holding the following numbers were successful and will be admitted to the high school at the opening of the school next September:
1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 29, 30, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 47, 48, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 147, 148, 149, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, 181, 182, 183, 184, 185, 186, 187, 188, 189, 190, 191, 192, 193, 194, 195, 196, 197, 198, 199, 200.
Secretary Piper has not yet received a full report of the receipts and expenditures attending the high school commencement exercises, but estimates the former at $175 and the expenses at $120. The expense account was $500 for the high school building, $10 for programmes and $10 for moving musical instruments to and from the opera house. The net proceeds—about $55—will probably be appropriated by the board of education for the benefit of the high school library.
The Bee Opening.
Cards of invitation have been sent to the professional, mercantile and manufacturing people of this city to view the Bee building, which is now about completed. The building will be thrown open to these invited guests between the hours of 4 and 10 p. m. on Monday and Tuesday, July 1 and 2. On Thursday, July 4, the doors will remain open all day to comers. On the evening of the latter date the building will be illuminated by mandacorn lamps.
Children under 15 must be accompanied by their parents or relatives to gain admission.
