Mr. T. S. Couch, foreman of the car repairing department of the Rock Island, received a telegram yesterday, announcing the death of his brother-in-law, John Derrickson, in Chicago. Mr. Couch and family left last evening to attend the funeral. They will be absent about a week.

Josef Heine, the great violin virtuose, is in the city arranging to give a series of con-certs. The Heine family are all musicians, Maiame Heine being an accomplished pian-iste, and Miss Evelyn Heine a highly trained vocalist, Mr. Heine will play an organ vol-untary this evening at the social at the Presbyterian church.

During his last trip through the 'state Bishop Cosgrove, of the diocese of Daven-port, confirmed 488 children in the Catholic faith. The record stands as follows: Red Oak 14, Afton 24, Corning 29, Bridgewater 40, Messina 42, Missouri Valley 92, Council Bluffs 101, Creston 146. Since his administration of the holy office of bishop he has confirmed about nine thousand in the diocese, At 2 o'clock next Saturday afternoon the delegates of the Mutual protectionists will meet in the Farmers' hall at the court house, to select a place for holding the re-union in September. Four lodges will be represented, Crescent, Neola, Hazel Dell and St. John. Each will send four delegates. Crescent is working hard to secure gates. Crescent is working hard to secure the location, as their grove is so near the city that the Biuffites could easily attend. Mrs. A. Reiter, owner of an Upper Broadway tailoring establishment, has made a voluntary assignment for the benefit of her creditors. The liabilities are placed at $4.051.45; assets, $3,549. S. H. Ford was selected as assignee. The creditors are various firms in Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Omaha. The cause of the financial trouble is given as duliness of the winter and spring trade. It is expected that the assignor will be able to so arrange matters as to continue in business. Dexter, employment.

A Lively Runaway.

A lively runaway took place on Pearl street yesterday afternoon. A horse belonging to M. J. Kelly, and attached to a light road cart, began to kick when opposite the park and soon begau to run. The animal dashed up to the county jail, where the owner was thrown out, and then continued its wild flight across the court house grounds, jumped the coping into the street, and ran up Fifth avenue for home. Mr. Kelly succeeded in gathering up the greater part of the cart. Little damage was cone except to the vehicle.

THE NEWS IN THE BLUFFS.

Another Earthquake Strikes the Fire Department.

THE GUARDS WILL GO TO CAMP.

The Boat Craws Hard at Work-A Runaway's Lively Dash-Omaha Leases in the Bluffs-Superior Court.

Local Civil Service Reform. Another revolution has just been experinced in local fire department circles, and the fire fighters are waiting uneasily for the smoke to blow away, so it will be definitely known who still remains on deck. The first move made was to change the gray horses, 'King" and "George," on No. 3 hose reel, to the Main street house, and take the bays from No. 1 and move them to the Broadway house. This move was made for the purpose of favoring the grays, as they are now getting old, and the hard work is beginning to tell on them. No. 3 reel answers all alarms, while No. 1 has only certain boxes to visit. It was deemed advisable to put the younger horses in the harder place, and here-after a change will be made every two or hree months, if necessary to keep the horses in condition.

The other change consisted in a peremptory discharge of two men at No. I house, Cuptain Rapaile, foreman of the house, and Frank Martin, driver. The change was quite unexpected, the order was quite unexpected, was quite unexpected, the order being received yesterday morning and going into effect at noon. The cause of the change is not announced. The vacancies were filled by men transferred from house No. 4. How much further the work of removal will go is not announced, but developments are anxnot announced, but developments are iously awaited by the interested parties.

The Bluffs Crack Team. Company A, Fifth regiment, I. N. G., is without a captain, the resignation of Captain A. W. Cowles having been accepted, and an election will be held Monday evening, July 15, for the purpose of electing his successor. Captain Cowles had held that position about a year and a half, having been elected to the office from first sergeant to succeed Captain Messemer. He had brought the company up to a very high standard of excellence in both drill and deportment, and it is to be regretted that his business duties keep him away from home so much as to prevent his giving the matter the attention it has always received from him. Speculation is now rife as to who will be his successor. First Lieu-tenant Aitchison seems to hold the lead of the possible candidates, although there are not many of them. Parties are very slow to announce their candidacy for the office, and Altchison's name is not heard from any work he is doing to secure the appointment The members of the company are strongly inclined in favor of Aitchison, who is not only a pleasant, agreeable gentleman, but is a thoroughly capable officer, who has done much to help the company in maintaining its present standing. It is highly probable that Captain Aitchison will take the company to the annual encampment this year. The regiment will go into camp August 12, but the location has not yet been announced. It is the intention to take a full company of forty-five men this year, and make a better showing than ever before.

The boys will have new uniforms for the occasion, consisting of the regulation United States full dress uniforms and helmets, and their present fatigue coats and caps for un-dress uniform. The company is in good condition financially, and has money in the treasury to pay for their new clothes. Last year they took second prize, but this year they are going for the first. They deserve it and will make a splendid showing.

In the Superior Court. The case of Levi J. Harrower vs David Jerman was on trial in the superior court yesterday afternoon before Judge Aylesworth. The action was brought to set aside a judgment of the court against the plaintiff and in favor of the defendant. W. I. Smith and A. W. Askwith appeared for the plaintiff and Colonel D. B. Bailey and Emmett Finley for the defendant. There is quite a story connected with the case, which is as follows: Some time ago the plaintiff, Harrower, wave a bond for $200 to Douglas county to provide for the support of his illegitimate child, which was in danger of becoming a county charge. His surety was Charles Seaton. Later the bond was assigned to David Jerman, of this city, who brought suit here and secured a judgment against Harrower and Seaton for the amount of the bond. It was to set aside this judgment that suit was brought. The plaintiffs alleged that the superior court hod no jurisdiction in the matter. The case was not concluded when court adjourned last evening.

A Trusting Wife's Faith. Mrs. Peter Bartelle states that the papers have misrepresented matters, in saying that her hus sand had deserted her, and left her without any means of support. She says he is now in Lincoln, Neb., and is sending her money weekly. As for the statement that he left the city with another woman, who was employed as a domestic in the Bartelle household, she denies the story in toto. The woman is still in the city, and has been all the time. Mrs. Bartelle says that she has heard a great many stories of her husband's escapades, but does not believe them, and is disposed to believe him innocent until proof to the contrary is furnished. She states that the story that she mortgaged her home to pay her husband's fine for contempt of court is all a myth, as the court still holds the matter, and has granted a stay of judgment. She regrets that the story ever gained circula-tion, and feels that the general public need have no interest in the matter, nor make any kick over the present situation as long as she

The Boating Club. The Council Bluffs Rowing association is not making much of a stir this year, but it is bard at work just the same, and will be heard from before the end of the season. At the beginning of the year the membership fee was raised from $10 to $15 and a $5 assess ment levied. Quite a number dropped out, but more came in to fill their places, and there are now fifty-six names enrolled. The boat house was enlarged, and several other boat house was enlarged, and several other improvements made that have cost con-siderable money, and a number of other im-portant changes planned for the future. The members are taking a great deal of interest in the racing crews, and are affording them every facility and encouragement.

Two four oar crews will be sent to the Spirit Lake regatta, which meets on the 24th and 25th lifst. The strongest crew, or No. 1, is composed of Buckman, Sherradan, Bowman and Dodge; No. 2 has Patterson, Mc-Williams, Haas and Burdorf. The crews

The New Fire House. Next Monday evening the city council will pass upon the three sets of plans submitted by architects Bell & Berlinghof, A. C. Schmoock and S. E. Maxon, for the new fire house at the corner of Broadway and Twentieth street. The plaus presented call for buildings 25x60 feet, and similar to the house on Upper Broadway, although smaller. The building will be a two-story brick, and will cost between $3,500 and $5,000. The first floor is to be fitted up with four stalls, with room for hose cart and hook and

The second floor is to consist of a reception room and sleeping apartment, wardrobe, bath room and closet; the rear to be occupied by hay loft and feed bins.

The plans provide for circular iron stairs and brass sliding poles.

The building will be large enough to meet the requirements of the western part of the city for some time, although it is settling up very fast. The completion of the new struct-ure will be felt in the upper portion of the city, as it will tend to greatly relieve the fire company stationed at hose house No. 4.

A Daring Robbery.

One of the boldest robberies that has occurred in this city in some time was perpetrated about 12:30 o'clock yesterday at the poot and shoe store of E. E. Adams & Co., 117 Broadway. The clerks and bookkeeper had gone to dinner, and Mr. Adams was waiting on some ladies, when two tough looking characters entered and began to look about the place. Mr. Adams watched them closely, suspecting that they would to steal something. One them asked for some shoes, and was about to try on a pair, when he suddenly changed his mind, and both left the store in a hurry. Mr. Adams soon had occasion to visit the money drawer, and was surprised to find that the till had been lifted out and carried away. As he had been to the drawer less than five minutes be fore, he knew that the suspicious looking vis itors who had just left were connected with the robbery, and immediately notified the po-lice. No clue was obtained for some time after, but about 6 o'clock Officer Kemp found four men, who answered the description, at the Rock Island depot waiting for the eastbound train. They were arrested and the patrol wagon sent for. Officer Kemp took charge of two of the men, and Constable Covalt of the others. When the wagon arrived three of them started to run, but one was recaptured in a corufield southeast of the city. The two were locked up.

There was about $16 in the drawer and $194 in the same desk, but the latter was overlooked by the thieves. It is supposed that the $16 was divided between the four, as each of the pair arrested had about $4 in his possession, and some of it was identified by Mr. Adams. The theory is that the two entered the store to engage the attention of the proprietor, while one of the others entered by the rear door and wen through the drawer. The poldness of the act was astonishing. The robbery was perpetrated with at least a dozen men within a distance of thirty feet, but it was not detected until after the act was done.

A Contemptible Act.

Lee Isenberger, the patrolman recently discharged from the police force for drunkenness screwed up his courage sufficiently last night about 11 o'clock to slug a reprasentative of THE BES, while the latter's back was turned, because THE BEE stated the true cause of his dismissal from the torce. THE BEE man was at the police station looking over the register when the cowardly cur, who has disgraced the cowardly cur, who has disgraced the city for the past year in a policeman's uniform, struck him a stunning blow on the head without any warning. The scribe prepared to retaliate, when the jailor and patrol driver seized and held him until his contemptible assilant was safely out of the door. No arrests were made, as the jailor, who witnessed the affair, said he thought the participants were in fun. Some-how or other, the lights were ob-scured and the victim failed to distinguish the funny side. When he insisted on the bruiser's arrest he was informed that he would be locked up first, and the other part would then be locked up. In view of this state of affairs, he kindly agreed to forego prosecution for a fow hours. Certain other facts in connecthought the participants were in fun. Some few hours. Certain other facts in connec-tion with the case will be made public later.

A Row in the Rural Districts. Asa L. Drowns, a resident of this city was taken before Justice Hendricks yesterday afternoon on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder. The complaint was filed by William Hansen, of Underwood, who alleges that on Sunday last Drown flourished a pistol around rather reckless! and threatened to summarily end his earthly career. The cause of the trouble is a woman -Mrs. Drowns-who, it is claimed, has left her husband, and is new residing with Hau-sen near Underwood.

Mrs. Drowns desired to testify against her husband, and was very much chagrined when informed that she could not do so. After hearing the evidence, the court fined Drowns $10 and costs for his assault.

Women as Physicians.

"One of the most absurd arguments used against a girl who wishes to be-come a physician," said a blue-eyed, fair-haired medical student in petticoats the other day to a New York Tribune reporter, "is that the disagreeable sights and experiences of the dis-secting room, if they do not altogether overpower her fortitude, will coarsen her feelings and destroy her delicacy. Bah, I say, to such mawkish sentimen taity. No one thinks it hardens a gir to nurse a sick person, and yet I tell you that in ministering to the sick, and the dying, and the dead in the capacity of a nurse I have seen sights as ghastly and performed far more distasteful and exhausting labor than I would have been called on to do if I had been a physician; and all the time I knew nothing of the keen interest in the scientific part of the work which I now have, that so absorbs my attention and thoughts that what is revolting to others is by me almost unnoticed.

Lady Duff Gordon's Pet. Speaking of Lady Duff Gordon's pe-culiarities a writer in the London Spectator says: She had a tame snake and used to carry her pet about with her wound round help term (inside the large baggy sleeves that were then the fash-ion), and it would put its slender head out at the wristhole and lap milk out of out at the wristnowand lap milk out of the palm of her hand with its little forked tongue. It was as fond of glit-tering things as Lucie herself, and when she took her, many rings off her fingers and placed them on different parts of table, it would go about collect-ing them, stringing them on its little body, and finally tying itself into a tight knot, so that the rings could not be recovered till it chose to untie itself again.

Women Braver Than Men. In the course of a recent interview Dr. Shardy, the editor of the Medical Record, and one of the physicians who attended General Grant in his last illness, was asked whether his experience as a medical man had led him to believe that death is painless.

"Speaking generally," said he, "the death agony is very rarely attended by pain, because the system is always prepared for death by a weakening of the vital forces, by the circulation of impure blood through the brain and by the obtunding of the nerves. Of course some people have more pain than others, and this is largely determined by temperament.

"A nervous man-all other things being equal-suffers more pain than a man who has enjoyed robust health, because the nervous man's sensibilities are stronger, but the pain of death is more in the anticipation of it than in the reality. The instinct for life is stronger in man, and the teachings of the present day, as well as the writings of our novelists, do not make the majority of men any the more ready to relinquish life.

"Men of education face death with greater fortitude than men who are not educated. Philosophy has a great deal to do with the art of dying, although the christian religion has been a great comfort to the human race in preparing the way for death and in giving hope of a life hereafter, amounting in some cases almost to a realization of a better country beyond the line of time.

"Women are almost always pluckier than men. They endure pain much better. Have you ever observed how irritable a man is who is suffering from toothache or neuralgia, but a woman will often suffer without a murmur. Al other things being equal, a woman will face death with more calmness and fortitude than a man, which may be partly accounted for from the fact that the instinct for life is stronger in a man, and his habits and surroundings have trained him not to give in so

Fair Norwegian Gymnasts. Regular gymnastic exercise for young women, especially of the laboring classes, is a question which has of late been much advocated in Sweden.

A society has been formed in Stockholm for the purpose of advancing this matter, and they have just brought their winter campaign to a most satisfactory conclusion by a gymnastic performance, at which about fifty young women assisted.

Altogether 174 young women have frequented the different courses arranged for them in various parts of Stockholm, says the London Queen. The fee has been quite a nominal one, and three ladies have gratuitously acted as instructors.

The girls have in most instances found their own dresses, but a limited number have been at the disposal of those girls who were unable to provide

The young women who have benefited rom this institution belong to various occupations, such as telephonists, milliners, cashiers, shop assistants, porcelain painters, etc., and they all seem to have thoroughly enjoyed the gymnastic evenings throughout the winter.

NEW BOOKS.

GERMAN FOR AMERICANS is the title of a new book written by Dr. Jacob Mayer and published by I. Kohler, Phitadelphia. It is a small handbook of German inflections and idioms which is intended to enable the people of this country to master the rudiments of that language in the shortest possible time. Of course it does not cover the ground as fully or as accurately as some of the larger works upon that subject, but it will serve admirably the purpose for which it was intended. To be able merely to converse, one requires little besides the pronunciation and idioms of the lan, uage and in this book these requisites are given in the desirable form of convenient classification.
