Building loans made on the most liberal terms, which will enable many of our citizens to put up houses to their own idea, and thus be able to live in a splendid home, instead of being cramped up in a small house or cottage which deprives them of many social advantages. The price of ground is lower now than it will ever be again in Dundee Place. Terms, one-third cash, balance 1, 2 and 3 years. No less than 100 teet frontage sold. OMAHA'S CARNIVAL WEEK.

Why It Should 'Be Organized and How Conducted.

SOME EXPRESSIONS OF OPINION.

Business Men and Others Give Their Views Upon the Subject-The Necessary Special Attractions.

Waking Up the Merchants.

"It is not too early to start out in a systomatic manner to signalize fair week this year in a magnificent manner," said a merchant who has been as noted for his lack of public spirit as he has for his ability to save the dollars he earns. "I admit," said he, to a friend who was surprised at the announcement, "that I have not been much before the public. But I have changed my mind. If I could do it now, I would get fifty of our leading merchants together, fifty men who have been as careless as I have been and tell them what they ought to do, and then we might have a magnificent show."

"In St. Louis, during fair week, there is an attraction every night. These attractions are witnessed by thousands of people and the city reaps the benefit of several millions of dollars. Give the people of the country and surrounding cities something to see and they will come and see it. They go to St. Louis, New Orleans, Chicago, and we all know how those citics reap their harvest." 'The speaker was a merchant who has always been public spirited but who is weary of the inactivity of some of his brothers ho, while accumulating wealth, take little erest in public displays. What attractions can we offer the coun

"What attractions can we offer the coun-try people?" said a well-known enterprising capitalist repeating Tim Brz man's query. "Why, we can offer a hundred attractions. In the first place, let us set upon one week as "Carairal Week?" Let us decorate our house, and stores like Denver does. That catches the visitor's syc. It makes him feel that we are happy and interested in the move. If there are no decorations, it looks to him as if we were not interested. He loses gourage and loses interest, also, and then goes home.

goes home. "Then we ought to insist upon the Omaha Fair association giving us a magnificent dis-play. It ought not to be a pumpkin-shelf play. It ought not to be a pumpkn-step thing. It ought to be something and every-thing savoring of novelty. Whatever is new should be placed before the people. "The races ought to be, as I am sure they will be, fine, judging from the list of entries The BEE published. "From marchant and manufactures should Consound exposition. In this is a sound part chase tackets and scatter them among his country friends and customers. Suppose 20,000 tackets were so distributed, they would bring 15,000 people to tow. "We should have another "Drummers" Day" during the fair. That parade com-prised the finest body of men I've seen in my live. The traveling men of Nebraska ought to be told that we want them to come again. "You remember that we had on the same day a grand merchants' display. Well we cught to have another. We can do it. Don't you remember the great one we had when the last bridge was opened! "On another day during the week we should have a manufacturers' display on the streets. None but working outfits should be silowed and we could turn out 200 floats if The BES would only agitate this matter. We make everything here from a baby stool to burglar-proof back vaults. I would let Councel Huffs merchants and manufacturers in these displays.

It would show their unanimity and strength and ad-vertise the bone, sinew, brain and muscle which are building up Omaha the finest city in this part of the country. "I want the board of trade to wake up. I want them to encourage the "Merchants" week" plan. Some of them are not doing it. Some of them are opposing it on personal grounds. I may tell you something about this soon if some men don't change their tac-SCHOOL BOARD FINANCES. "For another day show I would have an attraction on the river, I would have a couple of old scows purchased, loaded with sand or rags and anchored in the river. I would get two of the Patrick torpedoes, the invention of Mr. Patrick c^{*} this city, you know, and explode them under the scows. Such a sight would attract thousands. "For a night attraction we ought to have allegorical displays, floats representing the history of Omaha and Nebraska, a more inhistory of Omaha and Neoraska, a more in-teresting subject could not be illustrated. It could be easily done, and even outside towns might be allowed to enter. Manager Sackett ought to get to work on this right away. "Another night attraction would be mounted guards in uniform from every ward in the star." The uniforms wouldn't cost 185.77. as follows in the city. The uniforms wouldn't cost much, and torches could be easily supplied. Look at our mammoth political parades last all and ask if we can't do something of this kind. "For a third night attraction, there ought to be several thousand dollars worth of fire-works shot off from the New York Life and the Bee building. These would be seen all over the city. "If even some of these suggestions be carried out you will find people will come to Omaha, both by day and night, and the motor line will help to depopulate Council Bluffs every evening."

Co-operation Desired.

At a joint meeting of the Omaha Fair and Exposition association and the Coliseum Building association yesterday, the follow-ing resolutions were adopted: Resolved; By the boards of managers of the two associations, that it is the sense of this meeting that the Merchants' Week as-sociation be and is bereby cordially invited to co-operate with these associatons for the purpose of making the first week in Septem-ber, at which time the annual agricultural fair will be held, and also the Merchants' and Manufacturers' exhibition in the Colis-seum building, a week of splendid attrac-tions, and such a week of interest exhibitions as will form a great event in the history of Omaha.

WHAT PEOPLE TALK ABOUT.

Views and Interviews Caught in Hotel Corridors and Elsewhere.

C. W. Axson, the expert who was examin-ing the records of Cuming county, who was in the city yesterday, was interviewed by a BEE reporter. He states that there is mani fest injustice done to several of the officials of that county. That Mr. Stuefer, who was one of the most prominent men in that county, is represented as being a defaulter to the extent of some $1,300. The fact is that he is only indebted to the county to sum less than $50, and the items making that amount were fees received by him after he had retired from the office. Without making careful examination of the fee book, he would not know that the county was entitled to a portion of the fees. In the case of Mr. Thiele, the present clerk there has be en a misunderstanding be-tween him and the board of supervisors, and he is not being allowed the amount due him he is not being allowed the amount due him upon the tax list for 1888. There-fore, there can be no question as to his integrity. With reference to Mr. Ragoss and Mr. Sherer, there seems to be a donbt as to how great perquisites of the office of county clerk they were entitled to. The construction of the law with many of the officials of this state has been con-strued so as to render the meaning that the $400 allowed by statute to the clerk has been considered as an addition to the salary of $1.500 allowed by law. In regard to Mr. Sherer, he evidently construed the law that way, as he was the first clerk that turned in any excess fees in that county. Had he ap-way, as he was the first clerk that turbed in any excess fees in that county. Had he ap-plied for an assistant to his deputy, there is no doubt that the commissioners would have allowed it. Mr. Stuefer was entitled to a deputy and had made application for the same, but by neglect the said deputy had failed to spread the same on the minutes. The editor of the Burlington Junction (Mo.) Post has for years been sub-ject to cramp colic or fits of indigestion. Mr. Butcher, the leading druggist there, advised him to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diorrhœa Remedy. He says: "We took the medicine and not only found relief on that occasion but have several times since tried its its virtues and found relief in every instance."

Set Forth in the Report Prepared by Secretary Piper. Secretary Piper of the board of education has completed his report of the expenditures of the board for the past year. The balance from the report of 1888 was $28,443.28. No bid was received from the company itself, but one from W. J. Mc-Gillen, its old general manager, of $36,200. The money will be paid into the court, which will disburse all indebtedness entailed thus far, and which process will not leave much of a balance to be litigated for in November. This $36,500 is the bid for 413 head of thoroughbred, registered cattle, now being held by the receiver. In the afternoon Judge Dundy signed an order to the receiver to sell to McGillen the stock held by him.
