

RANDOLPH TAKES A TURN.

Lord Churchill Relieves Himself of a Sarcastic Speech.

MAKING FUN OF BRADLAUGH.

The Member From Northampton Severely Handled in the Presence of Crowded Galleries—Princess Louise's Presents.

A Different Scene.

London, July 26.—(New York Herald Cable-Special to The Bee.)—There was a marked difference in the appearance of the house when it met this afternoon. Seats were plentiful except in the parts allotted to strangers, which were all crowded.

Lord Randolph Churchill, for the first time, the Duke of Marlborough, the opposite gallery, was also one of the early arrivals.

While Mr. Bradlaugh was speaking the house filled very slowly. The junior member from Northampton has long made a study of the cost of monarchy in this country.

It was bruited about that Randolph was going to speak, and the house became densely packed, as usual when this is the case.

There was at first silence when he rose, followed after a moment's hesitation by cheers from his own side. They have become an unwonted sound in his ears.

He joyously intimated that it was so long since he had addressed the house that he was entitled to ask for the indulgence which is invariably extended to new members.

Lord Randolph justly complained. With the banter which played like summer lightning around the stalwart form of Mr. Bradlaugh was mixed a good deal of solid fact, as when he said that the state of the world, "every man his own lawyer," would not do; that he owned for a little more merciful treatment for the tory party.

As far as the solid part of the speech, it will no doubt be well weighed by the country. Some very remarkable figures were produced as to the amount spent at Sandringham by the Prince of Wales in building dwellings for the poor and improving the state of the people all around him.

Among the very first men who ran up to Lord Randolph in the lobby and poured over his forehead a torrent of congratulations was Sir John Puleston: "Splendid, delightful, beautiful," so the torrent rushed on.

UPON MR. LABOUCHERE'S AMENDMENT, GREATLY TO THE DISGUST OF HIS USUAL FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS ON RADICAL OPINIONS.

After his speech, Mr. Hartington with a weighty and forcible speech, and then another Lawson, Wilfred, the professional humorist of his party. He alternately amused and irritated the house.

From the Count and Countess of Paris a flat one of woven gold, set with diamonds, sapphires and rubies, with a large monogram of Princess Louise in the center.

From the Countess of Macclesfield sent a diamond bracelet with a horseshoe of diamonds. A massive gold bracelet faced with rows of massive diamonds came from Lord Fife's table.

From the Duke of Devonshire sent a diamond brooch with a large, closely set stone, the setting not being visible. The ladies of Norfolk sent a diamond bracelet.

IN DOUBT ABOUT ITS POWERS.

Questions of Jurisdiction Puzzling the Southern Dakotans.

THE NORTHERN CONVENTION.

Minority Report of the Committee on the Judiciary Department—Nothing Accomplished at Helena.

Events at Sioux Falls.

St. Louis, S. D., July 26.—The main feature of the convention's proceedings to-day have been the consideration of the report of the committee on the question of jurisdiction.

The committee reported that in their judgment the convention had such power. Then followed a lengthy discussion upon this point. The amendment was defeated and therefore after the election of circuit judges and clerks of court, heretofore appointed by territorial judges will vacate their offices and the vacant will be filled by the several boards of county commissioners.

Proceedings at Bismarck. Bismarck, N. D., July 26.—The convention to-day the memorial to congress praying for experiments by the general government with a view to ascertaining whether or not irrigation for the north is practicable, was referred to a committee.

MYSTERIOUS FRIENDS.

Burke's Backers Still Remain an Unknown Quantity.

Chicago, July 26.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—Judge Horton did not appear at the criminal court building this morning, but sent word to the state's attorney that he was sick and would not be in court until Monday.

"I don't understand how this Wisconsin man gets into the case," Mr. Longenecker said. "I know nothing about it except what I see in the newspapers to-day, and this reference to it in Burke's speech is very peculiar."

AT STANDING ROCK AGENCY.

The Sioux Commission Meets With Very Little Encouragement.

A TALK WITH GOVERNOR FOSTER.

He Makes a Forcible Appeal But Falls to Awaken Much Enthusiasm in the Senate.

The Sioux Commission.

STANDING ROCK AGENCY, Dak., July 26.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The Sioux commission arrived here last night after a two days' travel on the steamer Missouri from the Cheyenne River agency, and were met at the landing by members from the post, Fort Yates. The Indians had been duly notified previous to the coming of the commission, and were nearly all camped within easy distance of the agency.
