THE SPECULATIVE MARKETS.

Wheat Prices Travel Back and Forth Within a Small Range.

A SLUGGISH TONE PREVAILS.

An Active Demand For Cash Corn Again a Feature in That Cereal-Cattle Business Good and Prices Advance.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKETS.

CHICAGO, August 1 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. !- Wheat prices traveled back and forth within a range of about 1/c to-day and the market was rather sluggish in temper and action. Trade was light and values established themselves on a slightly higher range than yesterday. Opening trades in December were at 79%c. The market advanced to 79%c, reacted to 79c, rallied to 7936c, around which point it hung for a long time. About 12 o'clock it broke back to 78%c on the receipt of intelligence of the failure of another Boston leather house for $1,000,000. A recovery to 791/c followed and again the market took a tone of steadiness, with only light business passing. The final quotation was 79 c. September started in at 77%c, ranged at 77%@77%c the first hour, settled back to 77%c, advanced to 77%c, slipped down to 77%c, reacted to 77%, and closed at 77%c.

There was a fairly active trade in August, which opened at 7814c, ranged at 7814@7714c. and closed at 77%, In a news way the blackboards were frightful. Upon them was recorded the fact that exports from Atlantic ports amounted to 160,000 bushels in wheat and nearly that much in flour; that the total shipments from eleven principal points of accumulation east and west footed up to 625,000 bushels, against 639,000 bushels received; that the local receipts were 157,000 bushels and local shipments 195,000 bushels. One little thing that excited unusual comment was the arrival of three cars of new spring wheat from Nebraska, two of which graded No. 2. This is in a measure but confirmation to the predictions of an unusually early harvest and the movement of spring wheat the whole district over. Advices from many points in Dakota and Minnesota indicate points in Dakota and Minnesota indicate that harvest is making rapid progress, and if the weather keeps good a forward move-ment of some importance is expected to begin by the middle or 20th of August. This seems like an extraordinary statement, but a good many people here and in Minneapolis conmany people here and in Minneapolis confidently expect to see wheat "coming to the front" freely long before the end of August. It may turn out like the anticipated "early movement" of winter wheat. Wheat started all right and has been moving ever since, but such an enormous quantity was needed to fill up the chinks and supply the interior consumptive domand that little impression has yet been made in the augmentation of "visible stocks." Warehouses in the northwest have never been more nearly swept clean than now. Official reports from four elevator companies, embracing 309 elevators, show a total stock of 61,000 bushels in the whole northwest. There are something like whole northwest. There are something like 700 elevators usually included in the com-plete statements of the back country stock. The activity in the demand for cash corn was again a feature of the market. Export-stock up at present prices. Some uneasiness is also being expressed concerning the outlook for the growing crop, and some country buying orders were received here to-day. Atlantic seaboard clearances were only moderate yesterday, but that is for the moment curtailed by the scarcity of ocean tonnage. Trading was fairly active at times, but there was not much doing in the last hour and prices held up well throughout. August, which closed yesterday at 36%c, wound up to-day at 36%c, and September advanced from 364 @364c at the close yesterday to 364 @36 %c as the final quotation to-day.

Outs were more active but easier in spite its were more active but easier in spite of the indications of firmness in the other markets. Crcp reports continued favorable, and an element of weakness was the increasers are steady buyers and the home trade also appears willing, to judge from the free movement towards consuming centers, to stock up at present prices. Some uneasiness and an element of weakness was the increasing receipts of new oats. Selling orders were on a more liberal scale and a good speculative business was recorded, with August easy at 21½c and next month at a shade discount, while May soid off ½c to 25½c. No. 2 white for August went at 25½c and No 2 white September at 25½c. No. 2 oats to go to store were quiet at 21½c.

The provision trade comparanted fair at-

The provision trade commanded fair attention. In a speculative way there was no particular life, but operators were apparently more inclined to favor the bull than the bear side and on the breaks suffered the shorts showed an anxiety to cover. In fact, the heaviest buying of the day was attributed to parties engaged in covering outstand ing contracts. The feeling was quite strong and the improvement noted in the tone yesterday was fully maintained. Prices were also higher, and at the adjournment pork and lard showed a net advance, based on yesterday's closings, of 71/2/2010c and short with of 1/2/100 ribs of 5@10c.

They are not wanted. There is fair business in stockers and feeders, but prices are about down to low water mark. # FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, August 1 .- | Special Telegram to Tan Bre. j-Stocks-The action of the stock market yesterday was a pleasant sur prise to the advocates of a return of activity and strength. It was conceded at resorts last night that the bull movement was led by the Chicago party and was mostly in St Paul and Burlington. Boston buying was in Burlington, Atchison, and New England. The statement that the buying was principally by snorts was easily exploded and good taking by investors apparent. London advices are that another boom in American securities is anticipated. The feelings of the trade led to a better opening this morning than for many days. First prices were 166 per cent over the close last night, and the first action was a further slight advance. Chesapeake & Ohio common and first preferred each lost 1/4 per cent. Northern Pacific common and preferred each gained 1/4 per cent over last night. Wabash preferred was higher also. The principal animation was in Reading, Atchison, Lead, Northwestern, St. Paul, Chicago Gas, Burlington, and Wabash preferred. Before the end of the hour there was a return of the duliness of the early days of the week, and there were ome slight recessions throughout the list. The stock market dwindled in the volume of business after the first hour. The advance of 2 per cent in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus & St. Louis attracted some attention. Chesapeake & Ohio shares regained the early losses. Grangers weakened, but closed about steady, with London prices higher. Chicago gas was % per cent higher at 57%.

OMARA LIVE STOCK.

Thursday, August 1.

The better grades of native steers were scarce, the receipts being made up largely of coarse corn-fed westerns. The market advanced 5@10c on beeves and the offerings were soon picked up. Butchers' stock was quite plentiful and sold lower. As showing the feeling a buyer remarked that butchers' stock was selling higher here in proportion than anything else, and higher than at other places, and that the buyers would have to get it lower or let it alone. Good feeders are wanted, but cattle of that class are very scarce and buyers are unable to fill their orders. Cattle.

Heavy and mixed hogs advanced 5c, and the receipts being light were picked up in short order. The bulk of the sales were at $4.07% and $4.10. The market on light hogs did not show much change, but there were more sales at $4.12%. Two loads of fairish Colorado sheep, mostly ewes, were received.

A JOURNALISTIC CURIOSITY.

Emperor Franz Josef's Newspaper Has a Circulation of Three Copies. Perhaps one of the most remarkable journals in Europe-if not in the world appears daily at Vienna, although we must state at the outset that it does not come to the view of the general public. The owner and publisher of this journalistic curiosity is no less a person than His Majesty Franz Josef, Emperor of Austria-Hungary. He causes the paper to be constructed for his private convenience.

Franz Josef is a man of business, so that the affairs of state take up a great portion of his time. He has therefore little leisure for reading the Vienna daily papers; and if he had this leisure he would not gather from their columns The force requisite to its management is quite numerous, occupies a large portion of the government building, and constitutes almost a department of itself. The annual cost reaches $80,000.

At the peep o' day the labors on this curious sheet commence. The foreign papers are then brought from the railway station and distributed among the several sub-editors. Each paper is carefully scanned, and whenever there is discovered any allusion, either director remote, to the Austrian government or the imperial family the place is marked with a blue pencil and the marked papers are sent up to the respective subeditors, who cutdown, wherever this is possible, the marked articles.

As the Imperial Review appears in German language, and as most, or at least the freest criticisms, are found in foreign papers, no inconsiderable amount of the work consists in making transiations.

It is now late in the evening. All the matter, having by various hands been reduced to the one language required, is handed to engrossers, Before the early morning these must have transcribed all that has been given them to copy; for by that time it must be ready for the emperor. Three copies of this MS. journal are prepared, one for the em-peror, one for the minister of foreign affairs, and one for the secretary of state. A fourth is never printed under any circumstances; and not a soul who is unconnected with the preparation of the journals is allowed to glance into either of the three authorized copies. The emperor's copy is written upon the finest linen paper; those for the minister and secretary upon paper of a somewhat lesser quality. The writing tooks as if it were engraved, and must always be up to this high standard of penmanship, no matter how great the pressure

When there is little political excitement the journal contains but four or five pages, but there are times when as many as sixteen or twenty have been written. It is the emperor's unalterable custom to read this paper as soon as he arises in the morning, and no ruler in Europe is an earlier riser than

In case an article of more than ordinary weight strikes his attention he causes his minister to be summoned for a consultation in regard to it, But he reads the whole of its contents every day, whatever their relative importance, and thus he is daily kept informed as to what is the judgment of the civilized world concerning his administration of the government.
