IT WILL BE GREAT.

The Merchants' and Manufacturers Exposition Planning. There is every possible assurance now that the merchants' and manufacturers' exposition to be held at the Coliseum during fair week is going to be a colossal success. The entire superintendency of the affair has been put in the hands of Captain Bonnell, who managed the great New Orleans centennial exposition, also the corn palace at Sioux City. Bonnell has had unlimited experience in catering to the public's entertainment on a large scale.

At the Coliseum this fall he has arranged for an immense statue, a counterpart of "Liberty Enlightening the World," in New York bay, to be built entirely of the several varieties of corn indige-nous to this state, as well as a corn palace on a small scale. He is also preparing for a number of innovations in the curio line of corn fabrications, and, alto-gether, promises much that is new, novel

Among these will be samples of gold, silver and iron ores, petrifications, agates, marbles and granites, and particularly tin ore, which is found in such large quantities in that region that it is expected on further development to effect a revolution in the price of tin throughout the world.

A FAITHLESS WIFE

Responsible For the Wreck of Oesterreicher's Mind.

Mr. Henry Hahn, an old acquaintance and friend of Edward Oesterreicher, now confined in the county jail as an insane patient, is interesting himself in behalf of his friend and will have Justice Anderson appointed his guardian.

According to Mr. Hahn's statements, there is quite an interesting story connected with Oesterreicher's life. He was born at Delan, Klattan county, Bohemia, received a good German education and arrived at New York in 1866. There he learned the wire-worker's trade, accumulated considerable money and in '72 emigrated to St. Louis, where he subsequently married and prospered. In due time, a child was born to him. Later, his wife took sick, lingered a long time, and died. On her death bed she confessed to him that the cause of her illness was the result of an abortion. This revelation, coupled with the loss of much sleep in attending her, so affected his mind that a brother-in-law where he remained seven years. where he remained seven years. After being discharged, he came to Omaha. Through assistance from Mr. Hahn, he purchased a lot in South Omaha for $150, which is now worth $6,000. From the sales of bedbug powder, he managed also to possess himself of two lots in Barker's addition. In the meantime, he leased his South Omaha lot to Patterson brothers at $10 a month. When their contract expired, last January, he retheir contract expired, last January, he re-fused to renew it. Having erected a build-ing on the premises, the firm sued for damages, was defeated in the justice court and then appealed to the district court where the case is now pending.

This litigation drove Oesterreicher wild again, and conceiving the idea that these people were trying to rob him, he deeded his lots in Barker place to the county. In fail he imagines himself an army officer under court martial for some offense, and says the prisoners there are his soldiers. When he gets out it is his intention, he says to take a cannon and blow the Pattersons to kingdom come. His property will be placed in the care and keeping of Judge Anderson.

Will Pay all Just Claims. Mr. Calhoun, sr., of Nebraska City, was in Omaha Wednesday. He was looking up some of the claims against the revenue office by parties who say that they sent money to his son while he was deputy collector and received no license for the same.

"I will pay every just bill," said Mr. Calhoun, where it can be shown by checks or drafts that my son actually received the amount claimed and did not make the proper return of a license. But it does not necessarily follow that because these patties claim that they sent money for which they received no license, that this is the fact in the case, and that my son got the money. It is a very easy thing to manufacture a claim to almost anything, and I am trying to ascertain if these claims that are not yet settled are genuine or spurious. There are only a few of them, anyway, but I want the money I pay out to go to people who have a right to it. My son will remain right in Nebraska City to meet and answer these charges, and whatever mistakes he may have made I believe he will remedy and make straight by as correct will remedy and make straight by as correct and straightforward a life in the future as any young man in the country."

A QUESTION OF LAW.

Must Branch Banks Be Capitalized.

The Bank of Commerce people say that they have not been notified to take any action towards reorganizing or capitalizing their branch institution on North Sixteenth street. It is learned from outside sources, however, that the state inspector informed them several days ago they must either comply with the new law or close up. His report was to the effect that aside from the absence of capital stock, no by-laws, executive committee or anything else could be Subsequently the directors held a meeting and seriously considered the feasibility of shutting down, but they finally agreed that the bank should be maintained. Mr. Barker said yesterday that some talk had been indulged in about having a supreme court decision on the law before anything is done. He thinks their branch, which belongs to and is a part of the main concern, capitalized for $500,000, cannot be considered as a separate bank, requiring a capital stock and organization of its own Ingersoll is credited with saying that "Love is the only bow on life's dark cloud." COBURNAND SEAVEY. One Has as Mach Right as the Other to Enforce Law.

"I see," said amember of the fire and poice commission, that Sheriff Coburn intends to make no moverto suppress the saloons in the two mile limit which are run on Sunday He goes on the theory that he is presumed to know nothing about crime unless he is told about it. He has every reason to know that daily there are saloons in the county which are violating the law. He knows just which are violating the law. He knows just as well as he could know of a murder having been committed after he had been informed of the commission of the crime. In the latter case, he would send out a posse to apprehend the murder. In the former case, he does nothing to arrest the violators and punish them. Coburn has as much right to close those saloon in the country as Seavey has in the city on Sunday.

has in the city on Sunday. "There is no question about that. Prohibition is actually contemplated by the law in the two mile limit outside the city. That was done to protect the saloon men inside the city, by saving them from the competition which they would suffer from outside dealers, whose county license would be much less than that of those in the city.
"There are saloons in this county outside the two-mile limit which are run without heense. Two of them are in Valley and one of them on the McArdle road, is run by a man who last winter acted as deputy sheriff in that section."

County Attorney's Opinion. County Attorney Mahoney says that it is clearly Judge Berka's duty to deal with saloon-keepers in the two-mile strip. The charter provides that all cases of misdemeanor, not only in the city, but within three miles of the city limits, come under police jurisdiction. The action, therefore, to be taken, is plain. The city attorney or his assistant should proceed, if it is desired, against the offenders, and prosecute them before the

the offenders, and prosecute them before the police judge.

Mr. Mahoney does not pretend, however, that if complaints are made, it is not also his duty to flie informations and bring the accused into a higher court. Saloonists in the strip have no other than a government license, yet they are under both the city and county control. He states further that suits were commenced by him last fall against a number of with cramp, colic, or cholera morbus, he would, we believe, admit that there were two and that the other one was menced by him last fall against a number of them in a justice court, on complaint of G. M. Hitchcock, but because of the fact that it was necessary for Hitchcock to give a bond as security for the payments of costs, the cases never went to trial.

Maggie Doughty Bound Over. Maggie Doughty had a hearing before Judge Berka yesterday afternoon on the charge of adultery, preferred by her husband, William Doughty. The defendant is a passably good-looking white woman and the man with whom she is charged as living in adultery is a full-blooded negro, named William Davis. At the time she was arrested the woman admitted to the officer that she had lived with Davis as his wife for three months. On the witness stand she denied making any such statement. She said her husband had endeavored to compel her to accept the attention of other men, which she refused to do. The testimony of the officer who arrested her showed that the man Davis was found in bed with her. She was bound over in $300 and committed to jail in default of ball. A complaint was at once filed against Davis on the same charge and the hearing
