How Did It Happen?

The Nonpareil, the republican party organ of Western Iowa, came out yesterday morning editorially advocating high license. Such

s decided flop excited considerable comment on the streets, and speculation was rife as to the cause of it. All sorts of theories were advanced, embracing every idea from that of a political move to assist in renominating Spencer Smith to the office of railway commissioner, to the more important one that it was simply an oversight on the part of J. M. Matthews, who wrote democratic editorials for the Globe for some time, and was slightly off as to what constituted sound prohibition doctrine. It is freely predicted that an explanation for the "mistake" will be offered this Thursday night's rain taxed the sewers to their utmost capacity, and Broadway was filled from curb to curb. The principal trouble seems to be that the storm sewer openings are altogether too small, and the water flowed over them as if there was no water nowed over them as if there was no opening whatever. In the residence portion there was little trouble. The greatest damage was done just south of the city where a part of the roadbed of the Manawa railway was washed out. A late train from the lake barely escaped being ditched. No one was injured, but the passengers were compelled to walk through the mud to the city. All repairs were made by daylight and trains were running as usual.

Alderman Lacy on the New City Hall Project.

DAMAGED BY THE RECENT STORM

Some Mistakes In the Report of the Chief of the Fire Department -General and Personal Notes.

A New City Hall. "Somebody is going to give us a site before this thing is settled," said Alderman Lacy morning, while discussing the city hall question. "This plan to advertise for offers for a new site is just the thing. Then we will accept the most favorable proposition, taking the location into consideration. It isn't necessary to keep the city ball where it is now, and there will be an interesting fight between the property owners around the proposed sites to get the hall near their property. There are a number who want the city hall down near the court house. There are several good sites down there. There is the corner where the rink barn stands, the lots eral good sites down there. There is the corner where the rink barn stands, the lots between the Merriam block and the Fisher property and the lots just north of the Merriam block, across Willow avenue. The last would be a fine location, fronting on three streets. Then there is the Platner property, at Broadway and Glen avenue, which would be another fine site for a city hall.

"These fellows who are the most interested will come pretty near buying a site to get it near their property when the time comes. They will all get a chance to make an offer and we will accept the best one. The mayor is in favor of the present location and buying adjoining property, but he owns some of the adjoining property, but he owns some of the adjoining property and would probably want about three prices for it. There is plenty of time to attend to the matter, and all will have a chance to be heard. Nothing less than a $100,000 building should be erected, one that will be a credit for years to come, when the city is much larger than it is now. It does not pay to build for just the present, as it is simply money thrown away. That is why the report of a committee advocating the building of a $5,000 addition to the present building was rejected. We don't want to expend another cent on that old shell.

"The mayor advocates the renting of the shell.

"The mayor advocates the renting of the vaults in the old Burnham-Tulleys bank to store our records, but such action would only delay the building of a new structure. I am opposed to anything of that kind. A new city hall and one that will be a credit to the city is what I am after."

Some Excellent Brick.

Several car loads of brick came in over the Sioux City road this week, consigned to Mr. Weightman, to be used in some of his paving contracts These brick are very fine looking specimens, and are marvels of solidity and strength. They are perfectly moulded, showing no curves or breaks, and the edges and corners are as true as could be desired.

They are sold at Sargent's Bluffs for $6 per thousand, and it is the opinion of several Council Bluffs builders that they more than Council Bluffs builders that they more than equal anything in this line that has yet been turned out in this city.

Specimens are now on exhibition at The Bes office. One of them was tested yesterday. It weighed four pounds eleven and three-cuarter ounces dry, and four pounds fourteen ounces wet, absorbing but two and one-quarter ounces of water. This is better than any of the tests previously male with other bricks, in which the absorption has ranged from five to fourteen ounces.

There is no reason why these bricks should

There is no reason why these bricks should not make excellent paving material, and such as would give perfect satisfaction. The only thing now lacking is a yard in this city which shall turn out similar material. A move has already been made to establish such a plant, and Mr. J. C. Beesley will soon have completed a $15,000 plant that will have a capacity of $0,000 brick per day. The pressure will be about fifty pounds more per brick than when made in the ordinary way. This high pressure removes all the water from the brick and makes it much more solid, so that when it is finished it is not porous like ordinary brick. It will not melt, absorb water nor rot. It really becomes rock, vegetable matter being totally replaced by

This brick is as valuable for building purposes as for paving. The faces are smooth and its corners almost perfectly straight. They cost about 50 cents more per $1,000 than ordinary brick. Mr. Beesley's plant would have been fin-ished before this had not the progress of its construction been unavoidably interrupted. The building of this plant will not inter-fere in the least with the putting in of larger and similar plants, as a number of parties have become interested in the matter, and are satisfied that the enterprise will develop into one of the largest and most prosperous enterprises of the city.

Mistakes of a Few Thousand. In the report of the chief of the fire department, as given in the pamphlet of printed annual reports of the city officers. appears the following: "The total expenditures in this department during the past year amounted to $19,700.41. In the previous year (1887), the expenses of the department were $31,847.64, making an actual saving of $2,147.22. When we consider that out of this year's expenses the items of $4,463 was paid on new building and $1,000 for hose, you will notice a saving of $7,609.22 over the pre-vious year, which brings the actual running expenses of this department up to $14,238.40. The report fails to state that during the

The report fails to state that during the previous year an equal sum, or the first half, $4,462, was paid on the new building. Nothing is said of the $2,700 turntable truck, which was also purchased during that year. In addition to this three new horses, a chief's buggy, two sets of swinging harness and other apparatus was added, but no account is made of it in the comparative reports.

When these matters are taken into considation the saving of $7,609.22 disappears, and instead it will be seen that the actual running expenses of the department in i888 were greater than in 1887. It will be seen that the report, as it appears in the printed record, will not do to bank on to any great extent.

Montgomery's Second Victory. Yesterday morning the dog catchers were at work in the western and southwestern portion of the city. When near the residence of Mr. Montgomery, near the corner of Ninth avenue and Thirteenth street, they attempted to capture some of his hounds, on which no tax had been paid. A bystander told Montgomery to shoot the dog catchers,

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria, When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria When she had Children, she gave them Castoria and he secured a revolver and went at it. The bullets whistled uncomfortably close to their heads and they beat a retreat, leaving their heads and they beat a retreat, leaving the dogs behind them. This is the second tilt that Montgomery has had over the dogs. On the occasion of the former visit he turned the nounds loose and set them upon the dog catchers. The result was effective, and the would-be capturers were round montgomery is in very inigent circumstances, but he keeps about twenty of the most feroclous grey hounds to be found anywhere. The brutes are of enormous size, and have greatly exaggerated appetites, which, no doubt, is the cause of Montgomery's poverty. Be that as it may, he still holds the dogs, appetite and all.

pany. It is thought that the number win reach nearer two hundred, and that all who buy tickets will go. It is hoped that this will be the case, as it is desired to go into Creston with a large delegation from the Bluffs. The Creston board of trade is making spe-cial arrangements to entertain the party from this city, and all who go are assured of a splendid time. The chartering of a special train by the board of trade will add much to the enjoyment of the occasion, as the hand-somely upholstered chair cars will offer su-perior accommodations to the regular trains, the comfort of the passengers will be espe-cially looked after, and a longer stop will be made at Creston than would otherwise be the case.

In view of the fact that the board of trade In view of the fact that the board of trade has gone to considerable expense and taken such extraordinary interest in seeing that this county is advertised in the best possible manner and that the finest exhibits are semanner and that the finest exhibits are secured and properly arranged in the palace, as well as getting out 25,000 fine descriptive circulars setting forth the advantages of the county, for general distribution, the citizens generally should heartily co-operate with the board and manifest their interest by sending down a good-sized delegation of representative citizens.

E.The cost is very light, being but a single fare, $3.12, for the round trip of 208 miles.
