Omaha's Lady Swimmers.

Umaha society has a new craze which promises to rival the now almost forgotten roller skate mania. The latest is the swimming school recently opened on Howard street, and the "fad" has in its favor the fact that a valuable accomplishment is acquired. The splashing of the water, the littie feminine shricks and gasps and the titterings and laughter may possibly convey to the cars of the masculine passersby some idea of what might be witnessed if he could get beyond the handsomely painted screen which blocks his view during the forbidden bours of the forenoon and on Monday nights.

A reporter, or perhaps reportress, found her way beyond the screen the other day, and found one of the gayest scenes which Omaha affords. All the beauty of Omaha was plunging about in a bath tub-beauty not exactly unadorned, but closely approxi-mating it. Surely the venturesome youth who discovered Diana and her nymphs did not light upon a more hardlearing scenes who discovered Diana and her nymphs did not light upon a more bewildering scene. The tank, or swimming bath is about eighty feet long, and of a depth ranging from three to nine feet. There, splashing and tumbling about in the water, shrieking, laughing and praping, clad in costumes of rainbow hues, and of designs most conducive to freedom of movement were thirty or forty of Omaha's belles. The whole surface of the minature lake was a maze of gleaning white arms and laughing faces. Over at one end the be-ginners, with an immense amount of sputterlaughing faces. Over at one end the be-ginners, with an immense amount of sputter-ing and frantic plunges, were making the first attempt, supported by a band around the clest which was connected by a rope to a wheel which ran back and forth along a pole near the ceiling. The in-structor, Miss Estabrook, who, by the way, is an accomplished swimmer, manipulates the ropes, and does it with infinite patience and care.

"O, yes," she said, "they all learn in a little while, after they master their timidity, but it is astonishing how they dread to get into the water. That young lady over there into the water. That young lady over there is a protty fair swimmer. She wears no skirt, simply the drawers and sleeveless trunk and her limbs are consequently un-trammeled and her stroke is graceful and strong. This is her fifth day in the bath and when she first came we had conits a strungle to got her onto the had quite a struggle to get her onto the three foot platform. That's the way with all of them, they shiver and gasp and imagine themselves drowned for a few les-sons but it soon wears off and they are able to swim half an hour or an hour at a time. to swim half an hour or an hour at a time. "Our best swimmer is Miss Pollock over there," and she pointed to a graceful figure polsed on the end of a springboard in the orthodox diver's attitude with the typs of her fingers joined above her head. A GRAND MASTER REBUKED. An Omaha Lodge Criticises the Action of Grand Master Mercer on His

Support of the Southern Jurisdiction Scottish Rite.

A circular has been issued, addressed to the masters, wardens and brethren of the various lodges of ancient craft masonry in Nebraska, stating that at a regular meeting of Nebraska lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M., held at the hall of said lodge in Omaha, Neb., on the 6th day of August, A. The results of the last meet-ing, bowever, were not altogether as har-monious as was desired, inasmuch as three officers have resigned and withdrawn from the lodge. These officers are the chancellor-commander, vice chancellor and the master-at-arms. By the action taken at the last meeting the lodge will henceforth run along smoothly, it is hoped, and the controversy which was expected to reach the graud lodge has been amicably disposed. ### The Great Turafest at Fremont Nex Week.

The first annual turnfest of the Nebraska Turnbezirk will commence on Friday next, August 16, and continue three days.

The Fremont people are making great preparations to make this festival a great success. The attendance, it is expected, will be large. An excursion train for Fremont will leave Sunday morning, August 18, from the Webster street depot, Omaha, over the Elkorn Valley road, and will stop at Lincoln, Piattsmouth, West Point, Norfolk, Columbus, Blair and Scharmer. The first to appear in Fremont will be the active Turners of Omaha, Plattsmouth, etc. They will arrive on Friday evening and will be received at the depot by the reception committee and assigned to their quarters. They will then proceed to Turner hall, where the turnfest will be formally opened with a "commers," by Philip Andres, speaker of the Nebraska bezirk.

Mr. Ernst Schurmann, a prominent mem-ber of the Fremont turn-versin and presi-dent of the German National bank, will deliver the address of welcome. On Saturday the turners will form a procession and march to the city park, where the tournament will take place. The Hon. J. E. tournament will take place. The Hon. J. Excur-sions will arrive from Omaha, Lincoln, West Point, Columbus, Norfolk, Blair, Nebraska City and Schuyler, bringing thousands of visitors. The athletic tournament will by continued at Pierce's grove on Saturday and continued at Pierce's grove on Saturday and will be one of the most interesting features of the fest. Some of the best athletes in the state are booked for the different events. The distribution of the prizes will be held at the grove in the evening, the prizes being awarded by the judges and presented to the victors of the various contests by twelve young ladies of Fremont. A grand display of freeworks in the evening will conclude the first turnfest of the Nebraska bezirk. Among the Omaha turners who will leave on Friday for Fremont under the leadership of Prof. Kummerow to con-test for the various prizes are William Bloe-del, Phil Andres, Aibert Hentze, Caspar Buechner, G. Blattert, O. Niederwieser and Jacob Anthes. Robert Rosenweig and George Anthes were appointed as judges for the Omeba Turness the Omaha Turners.

At present, there is considerable talk of At present, there is considerable talk of holding a state tournament, there being a number of tonnis clubs in the various cities of the state, and the time of holding it will probably be in September. It is amusing to sit among a group of spectators and liston to the various com-ments of persons on the game as they show their knowledge or ignorance of the sport.

Lawn tennis is comparatively a quiet pas-time, incluing all the boisterous elements of base ball, but to a person understanding the game, it is as full of interest as the sport on the diamond.

To the unnitiated, it lacks interest and ap-pears almost silly. To enjoy a set-to in lawn tennis you must understand the game, but a great many persons will find pleasure in being a spectator of a match game of base ball without knowing scarcely anything about that popular sport. For this reason tennis can never supplant base ball as a national sport. Tennis readily recommended itself to the to young men of quiet tastes, and for this reason it is essentially a society game. A blunt base ball enthusiast was heard to ex-press himself thus concerning shis game: "Rate on your lawn tennis! It's nothing but a game for dudes." It is natural for a manly man to despise effeminacy, but be-cause young ladies engage in the gbme of tennis also it does not signify that every man who thus enjoys himself is womanish. The "Phun Phinders" is the significant title of a social club recently organized by a number of young men of this city, which seems destined to become one of the leading social organizations in the city. . acclub starts out with a membership of twenty-five, which number, it is expected, will be doubled in a month. Rooms are to be fitted up, and the club will no doubt cut quite a swath in social circles the com-ing season. The officers are as follows: Bernard Harris, president; L. Oppenheim, vice-president; Jess Elsman, secretary; A. Lewis, treasurer. The club will meet this afternoon at the residence of Mr. Henry Frey Fightsenth and California.

Grand Chancellor Love is absent from the state, visiting his mother in Vermont. Grand Vice Chancellor William Manning is now in charge of his grand jurisdiction during the absence of Brother Love. For the first time in the history of the order in Nebraska a lodge will be repregrown marvelously. Though recognizing the fact that to successfully compete with the organized efforts of other states it is necessar, for the state itself to take up and carry on the work, many of our public-minded citizens have felt that until such time as proper state appropriations could be had the work should be set on foot and carried forward by the contributions of those counties and commun ities interested in having the vacant land, and natural resources of the state developed To this end a call was issued for a conven-tion of the various boards of trade through out the state to be held in Omaha June 26 1889. At that convention was organized the Nebraska State Development association having for its objects the advertising of the state for the purpose of inducing immigra-tion and of calling attention to the variou business opportunities that only await the application of the proper thing necessary to carry the proposed work of the organization to a successful result, and that is money. A small fund will be received from the $10 membership fee required from ench trade organization, but for the bulk of the funds we must go direct to the people themselves. At a meeting of the board of managers, held n Omaha August S, 1889, the following reso lution was adopted:

Pursuant to this resolution we earnestly request that each board of county supervisor or commissioners shall appropriate from the public funds the amount set forth therein and we have no hesitancy in declaring that results will be direct and justify tenfold by vestment made. Real estate men, banks and other institutions directly interested in the material prosperity of the state are a requested to contribute liberally, both funds and co-operation, to the work of th association. The general plan of this asso ciation for direct advertising purposes to be First-The collection of proper statistics the products and resources of the state, the undeveloped lands, the average prices of same and other information relating therete Second-This information to be published In pamphlet or other permanent and attract-ive form and distributed extensively through the United States mails and by the various railways having agents in the cast. In add tion, thereto, newspapers are to be used extensively as circumstances will justify calling attention to the publications of organization.

Third-The work of the organization is in tended to benefit the entire state, but at the same time to especially benefit those coun-ties and communities that contribute to the work of placing at their dispotal and excr-cising directly in their bohulf the important influence which this organization has in in-ducing immigration and in stimulating and locating new industries.

The work of the organization is strictly of a public nature for the public good. It has been carried along to the present time and will be prosecuted in the future at no small sacrifice of time and money on the part of its members, and it is not too much to say that the contributions asked for will fall very lightly on the individual members of each county organization contributing, as com-pared with what is undertaken by the active members of the organization. The only per-manent salaried official of the association will be the secretary, who will have charge under the board of managers of the correspondence and such work as pertains to his office. The organization will be strictly impartial in its endeavors to benefit the counties contributing. Inasmuch as there will be ao session of legislature for nearly two years it will be impossible at this time to secure a state ap-propriation to carry on the work, hence the necessity of this appeal to the people, which we hope will receive the favorable consideration which the objects sought to be attained ation which the objects sought to be attained should merit. For working purposes each congressional district will be in charge of the following members of the organization, who are au-thorized to receive and receipt for moneys contributed and to appoint such assistants as they may find necessary, to whom they may delegate the same authority conferred on delegate the same authority conferred on them

First Congressional District-H. T. Clark of Omaha
