Omaha 11, Des Motnes 8. . The Omaha and Des Moines teams met at association park yesterday afternoon, and the collision was resultant in a very tame and one-sided game of ball. The day was perfect for playing, but notwithstanding this fact, the attendance was lighter than a straw bat.

The Prohibitionists were licked before they went into the fight, and they played with about as much vim and animation as would have been manifested by so many

What the Des Moines players are most in terested in just now is pay day, and if they were paid according to their ability as ball players, they would draw about a dollar a day, and found.

The White Sox toyed with them as a cat toys with a mouse. They were too easy, and the boys just loafed through the game. The only notable feature was Jasper Crooks' home run hit. It was a gorgeous smash, and sent the sphere bang up against Jeff W. Bed-ford's "Hit Me for Fifty Dollars" sign, way out against center field fence.

This exploit evoked a wild, uncanny whoop from an isolated mortal or two dotting the bleaching boards; then again supreme quietude reigned, and on and on to the end of the dreary struggle.

As a pointer to the Des Moines team it might be mentioned that corn cutting time is drawing apace. To be sure they don't have to hire out if they don't want to, but they ought to cease pretending to play ball. Captain Macullar says, however, that they will beat our lambs this afternoon, with Billy Hart in the box. Captain Macuilar is laboring under an hallucination of the brain.

Morris Park Races. New York, August 20 .- "Morris park," as it will be commonly called in contradistinction with Jerome and Monmouth park race tracks, was regularly opened as a race course to-day. It is the property of John Morris, who has associated with him in its management the New York Jockey club. The grounds and track are located in Westchester county, on the Harlen branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad and partly within the city limits. The new course has the finest buildings and arrange ments of any in the world. An idea of its completeness may be gained from the fact that its trackage cost $250,000. Its grand stand is the largest and most complete of any in the world, and all its appurtenances are the results of modern improvements. The track has both elliptical and straight away tracks, and it is believed it will be, when properly settled and conditioned, the fastest

REMORSE DROVE HIM MAD.

A Contractor Takes a Job too Cheaply and Becomes Insane.

Tolebo, O., August 20.—Three weeks ago Adam Remmert, a well known building contractor, disappeared in a mysterious manner. Some months since Remmert was awarded the contract for building two new school buildings in this city, but he took the job too cheaply, and finding he would lose money he left the city. Diligent search was made for him, but without avail. Yesterday as a for him, but without avail. Yesterday as a hunter was passing through the woods near Grassy Point, three miles below the city, he discovered a man half nude. To his great surprise he found it was Remmert, whom he knew well. 'The unfortunate man, hearing his name called, turned and ran through the woods, uttering insane imprecations as be ran. The matter was reported to the police, who are now searching for him.

Land Hungry Boomers. KANSAS CITY, August 20.—The reports from the Cherokee strip and its vicinity indicate that the opening of Oklahoma has not absorbed all the boomers in the country. When Secretary Speed, of the Cherokee commission, returned here to-day, his office was besieged by a host of boomers anxious to learn what were the prospects for the speedy opening of the strip. They were informed that the negotiations with the Cheyennes for the purchase of their reservation by the government are likely to be brief and satisfactory and that the country will probably be open to settlement next spring. The boomers received the information with satisfaction and many expressed their de termination to camp on the borders waiting

OLD DOM PEDRO'S ASSAILANT. LIVELY ROW IN THE COUNCIL.

Wouldshe Assassin a Wine-

Brated Republican Youth. New York, Adrust 20.—[Special Telegram to THE Ber.]—A jetter from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, referring to the attempt to assassi nate Dom Pedro on the 15th of July, says the utmost indignation prevails. It seems a strange thing that the man who has tacitly abolished the penalty of death in his empire (for Pedro aiways refused to sign a death warrant) should have been condemned even by malcontents to a violent death. The general feeling is one of genuine indignation and sorrow. Apparently the mad deed was done in a moment of drunken bravado, and this is Dom Pedro's belief. Dom Pedro, surrounded by his family, was just leaving the theater, where he had spent the evening, when at the general outlet a young man do liberately, face to face with the emperor, raised the seditious cry: "Long live the repulic." Immediately answering the ery "Long live the emperor," came thundering from every side of the house. The confusion that followed can well be imagined. At that moment the young man raised his pistol and fired. Dom Pedro, without the least alteration in voice or feature, quieted his wife and daughter, and forbidding his body guard to draw their swords, steeped into his carriage after his family. Putting his horses at ful speed, the imperial coachman drove down the crowded city pinza to the palace without further annoyanes. The commotion in the neighborhood of the house whence the shot was fired was terrible. People rushed here and there in wild but fruitless search for the would-be assassin. Favored by the general rush and confusion, he had escaped, but two hours afterward he was captured. He is a young fellow, almost a lad, a clerk in a big business establishment, and is a Portugese by birth. He is evidently laboring under some great aberration of mind. Undoubtedly the outrage is in a measure due to the juvenile enthusiasm provoked by the republican festivities in honor of the sentence of or of the centennial of the French revolution Dom Pedro has not taken any notice what ever of the affair and continues to come and ever of the affair and continues to come and go from the city without observing any extra procautions. The republican party in Brazil has thus given proof of its existence, and a few words about its growth and development will not be amiss. The government of Brazil has had its adversaries since the foundation of the empire, but the republican party here has always been a negative rather than a positive quantity. Lately, however, it has taken another course, and strange to say, the republican eruption has been brought about by a decree that has given freedom to 1,000, 000 slaves. The disappointed slaveholders have to a man declared themselves republicans, refusing allegiance to the dynasty that has withdrawn from their hands the power of disposing of the persons and lives of their fellow creatures. The youth of the higher schools are now participating in a general movement and compose perhaps the only party of pure minded republicans in the empire. At any moment a crisis may be expected. Yet Dom Pedro is popular. He is loved and respected as a man and is admired is a sovereign by men of all political creeds and it has been a generally accepted dogma in the republican fraternity that no violence whatever shall be offered the old monarch, who in his fifty years reign has not commit-ted one single action to disparage him as a gentleman or shame him as a king All the republican propagands is addressed against the future empress, the princess Isa-bella, who was never popular. She has, of course, a strong party, composed of liber ated slaves and their friends, but her religious intolerance may in time alienate from her this affection. Her husband, Comtd' Eu, a prince of the house of Orleans, is positively disliked by the masses. It will be an ill day for Brazil when Dom Pedro cease to be at the head of the pation. The popu ace is not educated for a republic. leaders of the new party are violent and passionate men, and the first thing that may be expected is a civil war of disastrous con-sequences, in which perhaps the fittest will not be the survivors.

BLUFFS AND PERSONAL ABUSE.

Kaspar Refers to Seavey as a Santa Barbara Freak, and Lowry Calls City Clerk Southard a Drunkard.

The Council In an Uproar. " Bluffs, bluster and personal abuse char acterized the meeting of the city solons last night. The mud-stinging was so heartily in dulged in that a committee of the city council of wild and woolly Wichita, who were present at the meeting, became shocked and gracefully bowed themselves out of the council chamber with their hands in their hip pockets. The war was started by Councilman Hascall, who, acting as the mouth piece of O. H. Rothacker, who had a seat at his side, introduced the following resolution:

Whereas. It is currently reported that the mayor is threatening that the chief of police will do great bodily harm to or probably kill representatives of the public press who com-ment unfavorably upon the official acts of such officers; and

Whereas, It being the duty of the mayor to be a law abiding citizen and not a law breaker; therefore Resolved, That the council take the necessary steps to investigate the matter, and if the reports are true to remedy the evil. Mr. Hascall moved the adoption of the resolution. He stated that the resolution was offered at the instance of Mr. Roth acker, who claimed that such reports were current, and asked that they be investi-gated. Mr. Hascall asked that Mr. Rotascker be allowed to address the council on

This brought Major Wheeler to the floor. "I object," he said, "to Mr. Rothacker's ad dressing the council. I don't think he need get scared so easily at rumored threats. It is not so long ago that he himself made an as-sault upon an editor. His complaint is very

"Mr. Rotbacker should not get scared so easily," shouted Mr. Kaspar. "That Santa Barbara freak has threstened people before. He gave orders to have me arcested on any pos-sible charge, but I can walk the streets of Omaha without any more fear than I have respect for him and his ilk. Mr. Rothacker should not get scared of him." Mr. Hascall tried to speak again, and was being liberally prompted by Mr. Rothacker. He was interrupted by Major Wheeler with --- "I ask that Rothacker either shut up or get out behind the railing."

"He'll get out when the council says so, and not at the order of one man," retorted

President Lee stated that as Mr. Roth acker represented a newspaper, he was entitled to a seat in the council chamber, but would have to observe order. The question then came to a vote, the rewhich saved Mr. Rothacker the trouble of making a speech. After some further discussion Mr. Hascall's resolution was adopted, and Messrs Hascall, Bedford and Burnham were ap pointed by the chair as a committee to investigate the reports referred to in the resolu

But the white winged messenger of peace was not allowed to act as a presiding genius very long. Mr. Wheeler introduced a little three line resolution authorizing the sidewalk inspector to employ an assistant at $2.50 a day.

"I suppose," said Mr. Kaspar, "that Allen wants an assistant to do his work so he can have more time to play high five." Mr. Lowry, the fire-eater from the First, Mr. Lowry, the fire-eater from the First, came up snorting with indignation. "There are other officials of this city who spend too much of their time playing high five," he exclaimed, glaring at City Clerk Southard, "it's a well known fact that the affairs in the city clerk's office," he continued, "are not kept as they should be. Last week two clerks did all of the work of the office while he was out. the office. while playing high five. The and city clerk is too busy just now with politics to attend to his business. THE MASONIC MUDDLE. Wm. H. Peckham's Reason For Leaving the Scottish Rite Consistory. NEW YORK, August 20 .- To-day William H. Peckham, past grand commander, and a thirty-third degree Mason, who for fifty years has been an active member of the Masonic order, in a letter addressed to the Masonic fraternity throughout the world gives his reasons for severing his connection with the Scottish Right Masons and Cerneau Consistory No. 13, of this city. His reasons for so doing are because the Grand Orient of France, founded in 1725, did in 1878 eliminate the name of God from the constitution and ritual, thereby compelling every symbolic grand lodge throughout the world to denounce the act and sever all relations of amity and correspondence thereby the constitutions of amity and correspondence thereby the constitutions of a several land and the correspondence thereby the constitution of a several land and the correspondence thereby the constitution of a several land and the correspondence thereby the correspondence the corresp pondence therewith. "And yet," he says "in spite of this well known fact, Brother F J. S. Gorgas, present grand commander of the ancient and accepted Scottish Right, thirty third and last degree of Free Masonry, during a visit to Paris in 1888 did visit and meet with a "Council of the Order," and appoint a representative thereto as a guarantee of amity on behalf of the body over which he presides." In conclusion Mr. Peckham says the members of a "council of this order" are members of, and owe allegiance to the Grand Orient, and consequently are under the ban of non-Masonic intercourse, and no true symbolic Mason can ignore the edict of his grand lodge, which interdicts his doings.

A HURRICANE FIGHT.

Hanlon Knocks Out Lowrey in Thirteen Rounds. FRANKLIN, Pa., August 20.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- A brutal prize fight came off on an island in the Allegheny river, near this city, last night between two young men named Hanlon and Lowrey. The fight was to settle the question of which was the best man, and a wager of $100 was up. A purse was also raised by the spectators for the winner. The fight was of the hurricane order, and after the first few rounds science was thrown away and the men went in to see which could do the most damage. Thirteen bloody rounds were fought when Lowrey was forced to give in from sheer exhaustion Both men were badly hurt.

THE WISCONSIN PEARLS.

Chicago Jewelers Advise the luhabitants to Resume Corn Hoeing. CHICAGO, August 2).-That the fresh water pearls which have been sent from Wisconsin to Chicago jewelers for valuation are not worth a "hooter" all the trade is agreed, but whether or not it is possible to find really fresh water pearls is a question which has two sides. Some dealers say they are rarely found, while others say there is no such thing as a fine pearl from fresh water, and all agree that better wages can be made at hoeing corn than in hunting for pearls in fresh water clams.

Purvis, Miss., August 20. - The grand jury made its final report and was discharged, after having found twenty-eight true bills and examined eighty-five witnesses.
