THE KID'S HOME RUN DRIVE.

It Came Just In Time to Save the White Sox.

A CLOSE AND EXCITING GAME,

And Worth a Dozen Such as Were Recently Put Up By the Des Moines Aggregation of Fumblers.

Omana 3, Sioux City 2. That was a great game out at the ball park yesterday afternoon oetween Omaha and Sioux City, and all those who missed it missed one of the best treats of the season. It was ladies' day, and as a matter of course there was a fine crowd in attendance.

It is funny how the ladies draw, but that has been the case from the beginning of the world.

Wherever you find fair women you'll find

And it is getting to be quite the fad now for the beaux to take their best girls out to see the game—especially on ladies' days.

But to revert to the game.

It was one of those close and exciting kind that keeps one in a constant state of feverish anxiety—uncertain until Black, the last man at the bat, succumbed to the treachery of Nichols' puzzling curves.

And what a game the Kid did pitch regular old whippoorwill.

But let us see how it all happened.

Cooney, the first man, sent the ball on a beautiful arch out to Gerins, and returned to the bench.

Then Willis made a hit, but was thrown Then William to ex out at second by Black, who muffed Strauss' fly but recovered the ball in time to extinguised Tit. Grooks got his base on balls, but was left, Walsh being thrown out at It was one, two, three for the visitors, the first two, Cline and Glean, striking out, and Powell dying at first. Powell dying at first.

In the second Andrews was retired at first Nagle followed with a hit, but was doubled up with Canavan, who went out on a fly to old George Washington Bradley, who retired Nagle at first, catching him off the Again it was one, two, three for the Corr Huskers.

Omaha made her first run in the third, and Omana made her brst run in the third, and the crowd shouted merrily. Nichols reached first on Powell's fumble of his hot liner. Willis fouled out to first, and Strauss made his base on an error by Brosnan. Crooks fled out to second, but or alsh's hit the Kid scampered home. An drews wafted. And again it was one, two, three for Sioux City, the Omaha twirler fanning two of Clever work that, everybody said. In the next inning Nagle led off with his second safe hit, only to be forced out on Can-avan's hit to Brosnau. Tommy would have made it all right had he not sprained his ankle running to first, and Captain Powell refused to allow even Andrews to run for him, which was very little in Captain Pow-Canavan stole second, and third, too, the crowd thought, but Doescher said nay, and Jimmy came moodily in. Crotty's throw was too quick and too accurate for him. Nichols followed up this misfortune with a rattling two-bagger, but was left, Cooney flying out to Brosnan.

"That's where we should have scored!"
cried Wandell, the biggest base ball crank in the world, and everybody coincided with him.
But it was not to be

Then to make matters more aggravating

The anthropomorfic Cline opened up with a safe fungo to right, and Eddie Glenn, after having two strikes called on him, laced her out for a couple of sacks, and the missing link came home. Poweil's grounder was eaten raw by the supple Mr. Andrews, but old reliable Tom Nagle missed Brosnan's third strike, and Glenn slid across the rul Genms retired on Nichols' throw t

But the Sloux had two runs and Omah only one, and the crowd was sore. Willis led off in the fifth with his second safe hit, only to be forced out on Strauss drive to Bradley.

That was bad, for what tooked like a ruresulted in a goose egg, Crooks and Walsh being quietly retired visitors' half was unproductive also Crooks making a great one-hand catch of a hot liner off Crotty's bat.

He was boistercusly applauded.

The White Sox tied the score amidst im-nense enthusiasm in the sixth. Brosnan muffed Andrews' fly, but he was forced out at second on Nagle's grounder to Brosnan. Then Canavan came along and lined out a three-sacker, sending Tom across the rubber with the tying run.

This ended the run getting until the last inning, when Kid Nichols smote the first ball pitched fair and square in the kisser, sending it sailing out and over the fence of the little corral in the left field corner, for a Then the great crowd stood up, and while some of them made the welkin ring, others showered the proud and valiant Kid with silver dollars. It was a great drive and won the game. The score follows:

An Agent of the Merchants' Week Tells What He Saw.

Mr. Seth Cole, one of the agents sent out by the Merchants' week committee to distribute advertising matter along the main line of the Union Pacific and the northern branches of the B. & M., has returned after having completed his circuit. He visited a large number of thrifty growing towns and met probably 300 merchants. Everywhere the sentiment is favorable to Omaha's big celebration. Crops, he said, were better than the average. Nearly all small grains were harvested. Corn is away up and very vigorous. The year's yield promises to be an immeose one.
All in all, a very general air of prosperity is over the northern portion of the state. The B. & M. is constructing a branch line from Grand Island up into the Black Hills country. From the main line it extends north and west a distance of 200 miles. A very long tunnel has been made through the Pine Ridge, and just on the north side of it a second branch will be built crossing around to the southwest to tar the Wyoming oil fields. The main branch will be built up to Rapid City, and is ex pected to do a heavy business for the newly opened tin mines, and to create a big southwestern trade.

Waring Turns Up.

Mr. H. M. Waring, who was reported as having mysteriously disappeared, has returned to his his home. He left the city on the 16th inst., saying he was going to Grand Island on business, and would be back the next day. Several days passed and nothing was heard from him. His wife became greatly alarmed and feared foul play. It was learned that he had not gone to Grand Island, and the matter was referred to the police. Mr. Waring turned up last night and reported that he had been on a little trip south, and had remained longer than he ex pected. His return was as sudden as his disappearance.

DAY DEVOTED TO DRILLS

Thursday at Fort Robinson Taken Up With Battalion Mancavres. YESTERDAY GIVEN TO INSPECTION

An Informal Hop Held at the Post Last Evening - Close of the O'Neill Reunion-Other Nebraska News.

CAMP CROOK, (via Fort Robinson), August 22.—Special Correspondence of THE BEE.]-A bright, cold morning ushered in the second day of the great encampment. The soldiers and officers looked refreshed after a night's sleep, and early bestirred themselves for the battalion drill which had been outlined as the first exercise of the day.

At 7 o'clock the mist in the surrounding valleys had not been dispelled by the morning sun, but in response to the calls, the forces appeared on the main ground of the camp. Company after company appeared and gradually merged itself into the bat talion to which it belonged, until six battalions were formed between the canvas walls on either side. These battalions were commanded as follows: The Second by Major Butler; Seventh, Colonel Merriam; Eighth, Major Kellogg; Sixteenth, Major Parke; Seventeenth, Colonel Mizner; Twenty-first, Colonel Poland.

As each of these battalions formed into line they presented a most imposing appearance. They did not look like soldiers in a Fourth of July procession, but rether an array of sun-bronzed veterans.

The ground was soft, uneven and slippery. It had not been sodded and rolled. It was traversed as nature had left it, and sorely tried many of the men.

The battalion of cavalry was under the command of Major Randlett. This formed in the northwest corner of the camp, and after a number of manovres, gailoped away toward the distant nills, where their move-ments were watched with interest. In the western end of the camp the light artillery was under the command of Major Horses and men worked excellently logether, and for nearly two hours divide the attention of the spectators with that of the other arms of the service.

The infantry regiments emulated the ex ample of the cavalry and marched under va ample of the cavalry and marched under va-rious orders out of the camp, along the streams and finally up to the adjacent buttes, which, like dismantled castles on the Rhine, stood silent and solemn above them. The movements were watched by General Brook and staff, and when 9 o'clock arrived were discontinued.

The orders, as they now stand, comprise two hours' drill in the morning, from 7 to 9, and two hours drill from 3 to 5 p. m. This afternoon, however, owing to the intense heat, the drill consumed but one hour, from 4 to 5 p. m.

To-morrow, and until further notice, four hours daily will be consumed these battalion drilts. Later brigade drills will command attention and these will be followed by manoeuvres in the surrounding country which are expected to comprise many nove features.

While the battallion drill was in progress there was another interesting feature wit nessed in the litter drill, which was taken part in by the surgeons and the members of the hospital corps. The soldiers and officer composing this corps, as sppointed by Gen-eral Brook, under the suggestion of Major Dallas Bach, medical director, department of the Platte, are as follows: Ninth cavalry and light battery D, Fifth artillery-First Lieutenant William N. Suter, assistant surgeon; hospital steward, Thomas Hill.

First brigade, Seventh infantry—Captain Louis Brechemin, assistant surgeon; hospital steward, Patricle Boland. Eighth infantry—First Licutonsut J. M. Cabell, assistant surgeon; hospital steward, William Torrens. Second brigade, Second infantry—Ciptain John J. Cochran, assistant surgeon; hospital steward. Thomas Wells. steward, Thomas Wells. Seventeenth in-fantry-First Lieutenant W. P. Kendall, assistant surgeon; hospital steward, H. A. Third brigade, Sixteenth infantry-Majo

W. D. Wolverton, surgeon; hospital steward, Charles R. C. Von Radeskey. Twenty-first infantry—R. P. Finley, acting assistant surgeon; hospital surgeon, Jacob Martin.

The hospital at Fort Robinson has been designated as the hospital for the camp. The drill took place in the evening be tween the tents of the Second and Seventh infantry regiments. It was of a preliminar; nature. It was directed by Captain Breche min, of the Seventh infantry, assistant surgeon, and supervised by Major Bache, the departmental medical inspector. The idea of the director was to see how far the hospital service had been advanced. The manual of the corps had not yet, Major Bache said been determined upon. The practice was in such a condition as to allow of certain lati-tude, which later, under a more thoroughly understood system, would disappear. There were several manuals relating to the caring of the wounded on the field of battle, many of which were used to a greater or less ex tent by the surgeons of the army Within a year, Major Bache said he thought though it was not yet a fixed fact, that a board of officers would be appointed to determine upon a manual or system of handling and caring for wounded men on the field and in the office.

The litter drill to-day included two ambu lances, several litters and twenty-one pri vates of the hospital corps. This last men tioned number is less than is allowed by law, but a greater number could not be obtained, because of the men who were at sent attending the hospitals of the several commands in their respective posts. As it was, several men were detailed to lie upon the field as wounded. 'They were then sent for by four men with litters. Each of those four men has a duty to perform, which wil be detailed later. They are instructed how to handle the litter and the patient, whether with a shattered limb, hand, body or head wound, so as to occasion the sufferer the least pain in conveying him to the ambuance and finally the hospital. To-morrow another interesting exercise is expected in this department,

A Merchandise Store Plundered. PLAINVIEW, Neb., August 23.—| Special to The Bee. |—It was discovered about o'clock this morning that the general merchandise store of C. H. Folsom had been broken into and the safe blown open, the thief having gained admittance by breaking a glass in a side door and made his egress by a back door, which was bolted on the inside only. Several citizens are said to have heard a loud explosion about 3 o'clock. There is no ciue to the thief, but the neatness and dis patch of the work shows that they were no patch of the work shows that they were not novices. The money taken amounted to only about $20, but it is supposed that they took some clothing. They also entered the hardware store of N. M. Nelson and commenced drilling into the safe, but were evidently frightened away, as they left part of their tools behind, not, however, before they had secured $3 or $4 out of the money drawer and a revolver from the show case.

General Weaver the Orator of Appanoose County Day - Another Sensation at Muson City-Other Iowa News.

The Blue Grass Palace. CRESTON, Ia., August 23 .-- [Special Telegram to Tue Bee |- Enthusiasm over the blue grass palace continues unabated, the city receiving thousands of visitors from outside points as well as a large contingent from the surrounding country. The exhibits of the eighteen counties competing in the exposition are now all in good shape, and everything is running smoothly and satisfactory. To-day had been set apart as Appanoose county's day, but owing to some hitch the special trains were not made up and did not run. A later date has been as signed them, when they promise to come in still greater numbers and with twice the attraction.

General James B. Weaver was the orator of the day, and promptly at 2:30 was introauced to the assembled crowd, who listened to one of his interesting addresses. At the close of the general's remarks, Mr. J. A. Pierson, a prominent citizen of Appenoose county, took charge of the exercises, and while calling attention to their magnificent display spoke of the vast mineral wealth and wonderful fertility of his home county. One of the leading features of Appanoose county is the coal supply, which industry gives employment to 2,000 laborers, to whom is annually paid $240,000, and by whom was brought to the surface last year 300,000 tons of coal. The county has seven railroads, with 100 miles of track in operation, 32,000 head of cattle, 10,500 horses, and 5,000 head of sheep, the latter industry largely increasing.

To-morrow is Madison and Adair counties day, several specials from both places have ing been arranged for to accommodate the great numbers who will attend. The exercises will be under the joint supervision of W. C. Newlan and J. M. Gow, vice presidents, respectively, for Madison and Adam counties in the blue grass league. Speeches will be made by Henry editor of the Homestead; Judge A. kinson, Mayor Wilkins, George L. Gow, D. Heaton, H. Grass, A. L. Hager and other

A Mason City Elopement.

Mason City, Ia., Augus 23 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- A case of domestic in felicity, due to a silly wife's desire for other male company than her liege lord, has developed into a genuine elopement here. William Velthoff, a contracting builder of some means, is the wronged husband, and the destroyer of his home is William Newbowers, a Polander, whose experiences as Russian exile were pathetically detailed in the newspapers a few months ago. Velthoff and his wife have not lived very happily together of late, owing, principally, he al-ieges, to his wife's neglect of her home duties, but their domestic troubles have been hidden by both. Newbowers has done a thriving business here as a jobbing team-ster and has also considerable means. He became enamored of Mrs. Velthoff some months ago, and his passion seems to have been reciprocated by the woman, but, though their clandestine meetings were known to several, the husband was not cognizant of the wrong being done his household until Tuesday evening, when he returned unexpectedly from the country to find the doors of his domicile closed against him and his wife and Newbowers in possession. He made such bostile demonstrations that both fled. The following day Newbowers sold his personal and real property at a sacrifice and skipped. Mrs. Velthoff secured the possession of her two youthful sons the same day and left. apolis, where it is said they are living as man and wife, and an officer has been dis-patched to secure their arrest. Mr. Velthoff does not desire his erring wife, but will insist upon the return of the children.

A Novel Rat Question. DES MOINES, Ia., August 23 .- [Special Tel egram to THE BEE. I-A novel question under the present railroad law was raised before the commissioners to-day. The managers of the Sargent's Bluff Brick and Tile works have filed a complaint alleging that the Sioux City & Pacific road and the Northwestern have made a joint tariff rate from their place to Council Bluffs which is considerably higher than the ordinary distance tariff for the same had would be, but this distance tariff is applied on the Milwaukee road and to all points on the Northwestern road east of Omaha and Missouri Valley. The complainants want to know why, if that kind of a tariff is good enough east of Mis-souri Valley, it should not also apply to hauls south and west of that piace. They allege that they have been driven out of market at Sioux City by unfriendly rate and they want to sell in Council Bluffs, but this peculiar joint rate sbuts them out; so they apply to the commissioner to see if a road can make one kind of a mile rate for one direction and another kind for another direction over its line and the same distance in each case, A Sioux City Saloonist Fined. Sioux City, Ia., August 23. - [Special Tel egram to The Bee.]-Frank Haaren, proprietor of the Iowa hotel, was fined $500 in the district court for selling liquor. He has been a pertinacious violator of the prohibitory law. Several months ago a permanent in-junction was issued against his place, but he kept on violating it. The fine is the penalty for contempt of court, and many other cases are standing against him. To-day Haaren said: "I have quit. I can't stand the fines. A man has no show in this country."

The Feeble Minded Institute. DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 23,-[Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-The report of the officers of the institute for feeble minded children was filed with the governor to-day. The amount paid for salaries, wages, etc., for the month ending August 6, amounted to $5,371.11. At the close of the month there were 432 inmates—252 males and 185 females During the month seven inmates were ad mitted.
