An Electric Plant. There has been discovered in the forests of India a strange plant, which possesses to a very high degree aston-ishing magnetic power. The hand which breaks a leaf from it receives which breaks a leaf from it receives immediately a shock equal to that which is produced by the conductor of an induction coil. At a distance of six meters a magnetic needle is affected by it, and it will be quite de-ranged if brought near. The energy of this singular influence varies with the bounce the day came I a Nature All hour of the day, says La Nature. All-powerful about 2 o'clock in the after-noon, it is absolutely annulled during the night. At the times of storm its intensity augments to striking propor-tions. During rain the plant seems to succumb, and bends its head during a thunder-shower; it remains there with out force or virtue even if one should shelter it with an umbrella. No shock is felt at that time in breaking the leaves, and the needle is unaffected beside it. One never by chance sees a bird or an insect alight on the electric plant; an instanct seems to warn them that they would find there sudden death. It is all important to remark that where it grows none of the magnetic metals are found; neither iron, nor cobalt, nor nuckel, an undeniable proof that the electric force belongs exclusively to the plant. hoped the council would sustain him, but his tone indicated that his mind was not free from distressing doubts on the subject. An alderman was asked for his opinion concerning the outcome of the matter, and the probability of the veto being overridden. "Well," said he, "I don't mind telling you personally, but I don't want to be quoted in The BEE as saying anything about it, for it will be settled Monday evening, and there is no need of stirring up any bad blood. I see that you understand the situation, and can guess pretty readily at what has caused the Sight Transmitted by Wire. Thomas A. Edison announced the other day that he is at work on a new invention by which sight as well as sound may be transmitted by electric wire. It seems, however, that a young German named Korzel has anticipated him. The Centralblatt fur Electrotechnik gives an interesting account of guess pretty readily at what has caused the objections. Now I am informed on good auan exhibition recently made by this gentleman, in which two of his instru-ments in different cities were connected thority that nearly every property owner along the streets ordered raised to grade are heartily in favor of it, and the idea of its with a telephone wire, says the Philacausing any hardships to them, as alleged by a certain gentleman whose name I might delphia Enquirer. A Little Misunderstandir g.

A gentleman from Indiana tells a story of Bayless W. Hanna, now United States minister to the Argentine Re public, says the St. Louis Republic. ome months ago at Buenos Ayres a rich Spanish banker gave a dinner to some friends, and Mr. Hanna was seated on the right of the hostess. She inquired as to the health of Mrs. Hanna, who was not present, and asked how many children they had. Bayless, not understanding Spanish very well, thought she wanted to know the age of Mrs. Hanna, and said: "Forty-eight, madame," To his surprise the lady threw up hands and exclaimed, "Gracios a Dios, que ne tengo espno Americano !" which, being translated, is: "Thank God, I have not an Ameri-can husband!" The next day the Span-ish banker called on Mr. Hanna and "You astonished my wife yestersaid: day when you told her you had forty-eight children." "Why, my dear sir," replied the minister, "I thought your wife inquired as to the age Hanna, and I gave her the forty-eight figures. I have only four children, and they are enough." The banker went ome and gave his wife the benefit of Judge Hanna's statement, but the story got out, and the judge has to stand up and take the jokes of his friends.

present incumbent, Sheriff O'Neill, is very popular, and will doubtless not object to a renomination. Will he get it? His friends sources whose name has been very freely used is J. L. Forman. A good many lines are being laid with a view of capturing the demo-cratic nomination for him. It is urged that he will be a stronger candidate than O'Neill, and the reasons given are that O'Neill has necessarily made enemies during his term of office, and has taid himself open to criticism. The republicans will of course make all pos-sible use of the vulnerable points. It is claimed for Mr. Forman that he is one of the oldest and most popular business men in the city; that he has favored many in the days city; that he has favored many in the days of his prosperity, carrying farmers for years, and now that they will be glad to show their appreciation of his poverty and gener-osity by supporting him for sheriff. On the republican side of the house S. B.

Frum, the well-known supervisor, is looming up strong. Some predict that he will be nominated by acclamation, and if so that he will be liable to defeat either Forman or O'Neill. He is a strong man, but whether he could get away with the usual democratic majority is loubtful.

Another one whose name is being men is Captain James Anderson. He is urged on account of his record as an officer, nervy shrewd and honest. He has made some very clever captures, and has shown his bravery and ability on numerous occasions. His rec-ord is pointed to as evidence that he would make the "Dan Farrell" sheriff of Potta-"I'il tell you what the republicans ought to do," remarked one of them yesterday, "Last year they concentrated their energies on the county clerkship and got Chambers elected. Now this fall, instead of scatter ing all over the ticket, they ought to put up a strong man for sheriff and concentrate all their energies on his election. If they do they can win."

What a Young German Electrician

Has Already Accomplished. The future possibilities of electricity, as applied to locomotive purposes makes one fairly dazed with the impossibility of grasping the subject. Much has been said and written in regard to the application of electric power to street railways for the transportation of passengers, and this especial branch of electric power has already developed into a great industry, the size of which is appreciated by few. The application of electric power to the transportation of merchandise in our great cities is as yet a terra incognita, though its possibilities are even greater than the street railway service. An electric street car can, under skillful management, be operated cheaper than one drawn by horses, says the Electrical Review. It requires three times the power to propel a vehicle over a stone pavement than on a rail or iron roadway. Horses cannot draw heavy loads on fron roadways because of the difficulty of obtaining a sure footing. On an iron roadway an electric locomotive can draw a load for less money than horses could draw the same load on the best stone pave-ment. The expenditure for cartage in the city of New York each year reaches the enormous sum of $100,000. At some future day, not far distant we hope, when the public are suffi-

Jewelers Keep Pace. Non-magnetic watches are fast becoming a real necessity to every business man who needs to possess a timepiece on whose indications he can rely, says the Educational Review. It is a daily occurrence for some one's watch to stop or become greatly changed in rate. A eweler pronounces the watch magne tized, and on his recommendation new case springs and a new hair spring are inserted, the watch is adjusted, keeps pretty fair time and the successful jeweler is marked down as a "regular gen He has simply kept posted and discovered at once what was wrong But the owner of a watch, perhaps, in side of another week happens to get close to a dynamo and away goes the watch again. What is the remedy? The dynamo has come to stay and is a fixture. Elec-tric motors are being introduced with a rapidity fairly like that of their own speed, and they cannot be shut out. Watches must be carried. But watches have been for ages the fruitful subject of man's ingenuity, and this same inventive fever is as strong in the watch maker as in the electrical engineer. and the remedy is already found, and the time-honored test of practical use has left it invincible.
