Berka.

Minnie Collins, a decidedly handsome girl, was before Judge Berka on the charge of being an inmate of a bouse of prostitution.

She was found in a house at the corner of Eighth and Dodge streets, Weanesday night.

The girl told her story to the court. She is an orphan, she said, sixteen years old, and, with an older sister, has been living with her grandmother at Hamburg, Iowa. Some time ago her older sister left home and came to Omaha, and soon after wrote to her Hamburg relatives that she was married and doing well, and wanted Minnie to come and live with her. Three weeks ago Min-nie and her grandmother quarrelled, and the girl, remembering her sister's invitation,

COMING TO OMAHA AGAIN.

'Rev." George Francis Train to Visit the City in October. Among the passengers on the west bound Union Pacific yesterday was George B. Stohl, of Denver, who is on his way home from New York city, having left there several weeks ago. Prior to his departure Mr. Stohl, who is a friend of George Francis Train, had a conversation with the eccen in October he would visit Omaha to complete the park system which he inaugurated several years ago, and to book over the site for the world's fair in 1892. Mr. Train expressed himself as an ad-vocate of Omaha for the fair, first, last and all the time. The Gate city is the center of the United States, the world and the uni-verse. He is against Chicago because they hang people there.

In regard to the above case the attorneys for the Home Defenders, the owners of this property, said Mr. Backus had a number of liens upon his houses, and in order to relieve himself from these he endeavored to secure a loan before the Home fenders' organization had been formed In order to protect himself Mr. Backus was compelled to complete the loan, and in order to do so had to purchase a quit claim from Helfenstein, as the easern loan agents will not loan money upon any property involved in a law suit. "But let me show you," said one of the at-torneys, "how highly Mr. Helfenstein valhis life ues his claims upon this property. Two rep-utable real estate men have estimated it to be worth $26,500, and in addition to this Helfenstein claimed $4,000 for rent, but he gives a quit claim deed to all for a paltry $000. I tell you that it is nothing but a clever sys tem of robbery and so appears upon the face." RIVAL GRAVE DIGGERS.

Two Veterans, Medlock and Pruitt. Eager to Do Sod-Turning.

Some weeks ago, Rufus Pruitt, sexton of Prospect Hill cemetery, resigned his position to accept that of sexton of Mount Hope ceme tery, situated in the northwestern part of the city. He was succeeded by the great, venerable, importurbable prince of grave-liggers in this city, George Medlock. In returning to Prospect Hill, George found himself on his old spading ground, because, there, he had tearfully laid away nearly all the sceepers who rest forever from the cares of life.

Rufus Pruit's father, however, thought he he had a right to his son's vacated position. He circulated a petition asking for the viace, but was told by the board that he was too iate. George had anticipated. He then ob-tained the permission of a number of lot owners to keep their premises in good condi-tion. Finally, one day, death sent a body to be buried in one of these lots. Mr. Pruitt's shovels and spade dug the grave and before those of Mr. Medlock's could be got to work and then the scowling took place. It was the frowning of veterans vivified by thoughts which took root deeper than the grave. The presence of the dead, however, prevented a disturbance of the peace which always reigns in their midst. But it is understood that Mr. Medlock says that if Mr. Pruitt wants to continua his grave digging with hope of re-muneration, he will not turn a finger to deny him the pleasure the task may occasion him. Rufus Pruitt's father, however, thought he Gunderson, a brother of the wronged girl, came to Omaha Wednesday and found out where Swanson was working. He applied for a warrant for Swanson's arrest, and could not understand why the writ could not be issued except upon the complaint of the girl herself. Gunderson when convinced that he could not secure Swanson's arrest, wanted to know if it would be all right if he went out an 'shot Swanson's head off.
