THE BLUFF CITY COUNCIL

Makes a Much Reduced Tax Levy for the Next Year. AN ODD FREAK IN ANATOMY

Chautauqua To Be Sold To-Day-Crocker's Brigade Coming - A Horrible Suicide-Another Gas Company.

The Council Cuts the Tax Levy. The city council last evening, at its special session, adopted a resolution enforcing the collection of special assessment taxes, and instructed the county treasurer to proceed with the collection forthwith by ordering a special tax sale of all property upon which special taxes are delinquent.

The city engineer reported an ordinance establishing the grade on Ridge street, which was adopted. The Fairmount avenue grade the support and sympathy of Council Bluffs in her effort to secure the world's fair. A ordinance levying a general sewer tax to create a fund for right of way for sewers through private property, and similar purposes, was adopted.

The council then adjourned and went into executive and secret session for the purpose of fixing the annual tax levy for 1893. Upon reassembling they announced the following

The total levy is 16 mills less than that of ast year.

Under this reduced assessment the new levy gives a sum of about $105,000 for exclusive city purposes, outside special, judgment and sinking funds, as against $94,000 last year, with the 49 mill levy.

The Chicago & Northwestern railroad company was ordered to keep flagmen at the crossings on Avenues A, B and C, or discontinue that a military and making the continue their switching and making up trains at that point.

The common carriers' and hackmen's ordinance was taken up and passed, with the rates as previously agreed upon. The rates, as they now stand, allow the carrier 25 cents for carrying passengers to or from any part of the city, depots or other similar points within the city, and 50 cents for bag-gage of 150 pounds weight.

An Anatomical Mystery.

The post-mortem held upon the body of Frank Haven, the man who fell dead from heart disease in the alley in the rear of the Eiseman block on Tuesday, was not concluded until after midnight. All day yesterday the remains were visited by crowds of curious people, among them every physician in the city and many from Omaha and outside towns. Yesterday forenoon the strangely malformed and misplaced internal organs were photographed. Two views were taken, besides several pen and pencil sketches made by special artists employed by physicians. All the doctors who examined the body do not hesitate to declare that in the whole range of anatomical study and in all the human freaks it has reveated, there never has been an instance that paralelled this strangely formed individual. The external appearance of the body was remarkabie. The finger and toe nails were not oval, but nearly perfectly round and more than twice the normal size. When the man was in health the disturbed circulation often made im an object of interest on the streets. His complexion would often be a very deep pur-ple or a bright blue. The bones of the sternum were bulged out. The largest protuberance was on the right side of the midan line, and about three inches below the shoulder. It was as large as a good-sized bowl, and in the cavity it formed the hear laid. This, like every other internal organ was reversed from the normal position and turned upside down. The lungs were not more than two-thirds the natural size, they being almost entirely exhausted from tube cular trouble, and were very much dilated and death had resulted from a rupture of the right ventricle. The stomach was just reversed and was located on the right side and overlapping the lungs. The liver and spicen were both reversed and on the left. Both were abnormally developed. Nature followed the same wrong-end-to tendency when she made the abdominal viscera and these organs were completely reversed. The brain was not examined, but it is probable the same remarkable tendency was fol-owed in the development of that organ. The development of all the organs was nearly normal, and all would have discharged their proper functions the full al-lotment of years of mankind if they had not been weakened by disease.

It is not at all remarkable that with all of

On The Electric Rail. The immense crowd that visited Omahi esterday morning to see the parade f the traveling men taxed the motor line to its utmost capacity. Extra cars were added to the regular trains, but that would not suffice and additional trains were put on. All were crowded and the isles, platforms and steps would not furnish the requisite standing room. There was not sufficient standing room. There was not sufficient power to handle all the trains, with their heavy loads, and considerable difficulty was experienced in getting up the grade to the bridge. One train failed to get up, blowing out a fuse, after which the current meited the connections and set fire to the wood work of the motor car. It was quickly extinguished, but the motor was "dead," and quite a "layout" resulted, several trains being blocked there for nearly half an hour, when everything for nearly half an hour, when everything was again straightened out, after which there was no further trouble, as the rush was was no further trouble, as the rush was about over.

It has been pretty clearly demonstrated several times that thirty horsepower motors would be much more effective than the twenty horsepower motors now in use, as the bridge grades and the unusually heavy grade on Madison street have frequently proven serious obstacles to a heavily loaded train. A few heavier motors would come in train. A few heavier motors would come in very good play, and it is not unlikely that the company will secure some of the larger machines in their next order.

A New Gas Company Incorporates. A newly organized company, the Council Bluffs Gas and Electric Light company, filed their articles of incorporation at the office of the county recorder yesterday. The incorporators are Charles L. Easton, of New York, and Walter S. Wright, of Chicago. The capital stock is $300,000, with shares of $100 each. Mr. Wright owns 155 shares, and Mr. Easton 145 shares. According to the articles of incorporation, 25 per cent of the capital stock must be paid up before the company begins business, which will be September 5, 1089. The corporation will continue for fifty years Hon. George F. Wright, of the Council Bluffs Gas company, was seen yesterday afternoon, and asked if he knew anything regarding the new company, or its incorporators. He stated that he did not, but was inclined to think that the Walter S. Wright, of the new company, was the connected with the fuel gas pany, which has a plant in Omaha. From the name, be inferred that the new company was organized to compete with the illuminating companies now doing business in the city, and would respond to the advertisement of the city council for bids for lighting the city. The aldermen are not surprised to see outside companies coming in, as they are satisfied that there is great encouragement for a company that is willing to furnish light more reasonable rates than are now

Board of Supervisors. The board of supervisors is transacting routine business, and will probably be ready to take a short adjournment by Saturday. The principal business of the session, how ever, will not be taken up until Mr. C. B. Waite sufficiently recovers from his illness to be present and assist in the deliberations of the body. If he has not recovered by the end of the week, the board will adjourn until he is, as the tax levy for 1890 is to be made at this session, and it is desired to have every member present. The matter must be settled at this session, and cannot be postponed until the December term, as the cierks in the county auditor's office are now waiting to get to work on the tax list, which must be completed by January 1, and will require three months to prepare. It will hardly be possible for the board to complete the business of the September session before the middle of the month.

His cries attracted the attention of a well digger, who secured a bianket, and hastened after him. The unfortunate man was chased nearly half a mile before he was overtasien, when his clothing was entirely burned from his body, and his flesh was hanging in shreds. He was removed to the house, and Dr. M. J. Bellinger, of this city, summoned.
