CAUGHT BY FALLING WALLS.

A Lincoln Fire Which Nearly Ended in a Calamity.

BRICK BUILDINGS COLLAPSE.

Six Men Injured, But All of Them Rescued Without Any Fatalities.—A Boy Killed at Nebraska City.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 5.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The Kelley building, occupied by McArthur, the druggist, and Harper, the jeweler, on a street between Tenth and Eleventh, caught fire last night a few minutes after 11 o'clock. Owing to the dense clouds of smoke that welled up from the cellar of half a dozen buildings it was some time before the fire could be located, as every man was sure that his building was burning. When the firemen finally entered the Kelley building they found the fire burning on the joists under the first floor, and creeping up the walls between this and the second floor, which was slightly damaged on the partition walls.

The fire was soon believed to be subdued and the department returned to headquarters, leaving a couple of men on guard. About 11:30 fire was again discovered, the smoke issuing from the building and the one occupying it, who whose store. The department again responded and the fire was soon extinguished. Just as the firemen were leaving the two buildings collapsed with a frightful crash. Loud cries and groans were heard, and for a time it was supposed that a number of persons were caught in the ruins. A rescuing party was organized and all except Dr. Kelso, who slept on the second floor, were soon relieved from their perilous position. The doctor was rescued about the body, afterward, badly bruised, but not seriously injured.

The following is a list of the injured: Dr. Kelso, badly bruised about the body. Captain Preston, of the fire department, bruised about the body and head out in several places. A. B. Hosman, fireman, head, chest and body badly bruised. George R. Sloat, fireman, slightly injured. Fred Stratton, fireman, chest bruised. E. Leming, clerk in Harper's jewelry store, badly burned. Several other persons received slight injuries. No reason is given for the collapse of the Kelley buildings this morning, has been pushed vigorously all day with very perceptible results.

Even yet the losses can only be estimated. Kelley's building was insured for $1,500, which is half what it was worth. McArthur & Son estimate their stock at $2,500 to $3,000, which they had insured for $2,500.

Mr. Barr says that he has insurance to the amount of $4,000, which is but a small part of the value of his stock, however, and that both the above stocks will be saved. Mr. Barr had all of his finer goods in two heavy safes.

A Mrs. Johnson had a dressmaking shop upstairs, and suffered some loss. The Cameron building was insured for $2,500. Mr. Parker, fireman, chest bruised. The shoe store therein says he has policies on his stock for $14,000 or $16,000. He can't tell which the papers are in the ruins. His stock was worth more than some of the other stores. In the second story there were several offices and in the third a hall occupied by the Kearsley and the Holcomb and one or two other societies. Very little of the furniture or paraphernalia can be saved.

The two-story brick next east, owned by J. & D. Newman, was considerably damaged, nearly the entire west side being torn out by the tumbling timbers which rested on the partnership walls.

The total loss is estimated at fully $40,000. The injured are all recovering, and no serious results are anticipated.

TURNING AGAINST HIS WIFE.

Hamilton Places Himself in the Hands of His Friends.

THE WOMAN IN HARD LINES.

She Can Be Sent to the Penitentiary on a Half Dozen Charges and Breaks Down When She Realizes Her Position.

A Complicated Case. NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—It was the common opinion in the clubs and down town to-day that the brightest thing Robert Ray Hamilton has done of late was to "place himself in the hands of his friends," especially of the legal friends. When his troubles were first made public some of his old associates went immediately to Atlantic City to help him out of the scrape. To their surprise Mr. Hamilton refused to see them for some time, but at length he seemed to come to the conclusion that his alleged wife was not all his imagination pictured her to be, and that possibly he had made more or less a fool of himself. Then he consulted the law firm of Root & Clarke, and let his friends gather about him.

In an interview to-day Mr. Clarke said the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton would certainly be made void. He had no doubt personally of being able to prove that the woman had been married to Mann H. Clark, that Mrs. Hamilton would not aid the woman in the trial or suit, but would leave her to look out for herself. The charges under which she could be punished outside the asylum were many, said the counsel. In the first place, the substitution of the child came under section 151 of the penal code, where the defendant is charged with an act which is not less than ten years in the penitentiary. The crime of larceny could also be established against her, and both Mrs. Hamilton and Mann could be held as accessories. Bigamy, too, could easily be proved against her, and the other two were evidently necessary to complete the case.

Inspector Byrnes had Mrs. Swinton and Mann before him more than an hour to-day. Of what went on there he would not say a word, but the remarker later:

"I know the mother of that baby. It is not Mrs. Hamilton. I know where she lives and can get her. I know also its father. He is not Robert Ray Hamilton, but a New York man with his friend, Charles A. Peabody.

Mrs. Hamilton Grows Nervous. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 5.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—When Mrs. Hamilton was informed of the arrest of Mrs. Swinton and Joshua Mann on the charge of conspiracy in palming off on Mr. Hamilton as his own offspring a baby that had been bought for the purpose, she fiercely declared against Mr. Hamilton's friends and asserted that they conspired this story to alienate her husband from her. Subsequently she calmed down, and upon learning that her confederates had made a confession that they completely took the baby from her, she sobbed and sobbed for two hours. Then she suddenly started up and demanded writing material. Paper after paper was quickly filled and as quickly destroyed. Finally she returned to her bed, where she prostrated herself and apparently was in a condition of utter nervous exhaustion.

The Chain Complete. NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Inspector Byrnes' chain of evidence against the Robert Ray Hamilton conspirators is now complete, the last link in the shape of the identification of the $10 baby, by the midwife who sold it, having been verified to-day. Joshua Mann told the inspector that Mrs. Hamilton showed him a will her husband had made in her favor. It proved that in the event of his death his money, family jewelry and plate should go to her and the child, and she was to be the custodian of the child till it became of age.

"Ray once fell from his horse and broke his leg," she remarked to Joshua. "He may fall again and break his neck, and then, Josh, I will marry you."

To the mind of the inspector this indicates that Ray was not married to Mann. The inspector will not give the name of the mother of the bogus Hamilton baby. He says she is, and was when the child was born, a married woman moving in good society.

DESTRUCTIVE COAL FIRE. Twenty-five Acres of Anthracite Lands in Flames. SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 5.—What threatens to be one of the most destructive fires that ever occurred in this region is now raging in No. 2 colliery of the Delaware & Hudson Canal company at Dilpatt, where several acres of anthracite coal are being burned nearly two hundred feet below the surface. About three weeks ago there was an extensive cave-in of the roof of this mine, followed by a tremendous explosion of fire damp. It is thought that fire was then communicated to the gas blowers which rush through the coal fissures and that the anthracite was ignited by the gas. It has been burning ever since steadily since that date until the saved area is nearly twenty-five acres in extent. It was not until yesterday that the full extent of the disaster was known, and a range of fire miners were at once detailed to fight the flames. This is dangerous work owing to the rapidly accumulating gas that may come in contact with the flames at any time and result in a disastrous explosion.

SIMPLY NEGRO BUTCHERY. An Altogether Different Tale About the Riots in Mississippi. NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 5.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—J. C. Engle, representing a New York sugar house and also interested in the cotton trade, arrived here last night. He had been in and about Greenville, the scene of the recent riots, and tells a different story from those being dished up for the country at large by southern correspondents. He says that the number of negroes that were killed will never be known. They were shot down like dogs, and he says whenever found in door-ways, and even in houses, men, women and children were murdered.

"I saw a white boy," continued Mr. Engle, "beat out the brains of a little colored girl, while a negro mother, with a gun, kept the little one's parents off. If the whites of the new negro of the atrocities practiced in Mississippi they would feel like sweeping the state from the face of the earth."

An Exodus Advised. MILWAUKEE, Sept. 5.—The northwestern conference of the African Methodist church to-day adopted an elaborate report advising a general exodus of negroes from the south to the northwest. Murder and disfranchisement are charged to be the rule at the south, and the exodus is recommended as a remedy.

The Trouble About Over. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5.—A Greenville, Miss., special says: The trouble at Sunny Side is about at an end. There remains only a general exodus of negroes from the south to the northwest. Murder and disfranchisement are charged to be the rule at the south, and the exodus is recommended as a remedy.
