

THE CITY.

The city offices which were closed yesterday on account of the parade, will open to-day as usual.

The Omaha Motor Company yesterday applied for a permit to put in curves on Eleventh and Howard and Sixteenth and Howard streets. This is for the purpose of making a connection on the loop with the Eleventh and Sixteenth street viaduct lines.

McBride & Ryan, the job printers at 1516 Douglas street, gave the Great Western type foundry a chattel mortgage and bill of sale yesterday on their entire outfit of type, presses, stock, etc., for $740.16.

The city schools opened yesterday and that is all that can be said of them, as there were so many attractions in the city that over a quarter of the scholars in the city did not show up. Some teachers had only three or four pupils.

Henry Field, who was arrested June 21 for threatening boys in a fight on Goddard, but was dropped from the officers, was rearrested Wednesday and this morning was fined $50 and costs. He paid $30—all the money he had—and the remainder of the fine was remitted by the mayor.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ruser desire to thank their many friends for the kind attention and sympathy extended to them during their bereavement caused by the loss of their son Peter. Mr. Ruser is especially grateful to his neighbors who rendered assistance to him while he was ill.

The Grand Prerequisite of Vigor. The dual operation of digestion and assimilation is the grand prerequisite of vigor. To insure the conversion of food into nutritious blood, it is often necessary to use with persistence and systematically Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The fountain head of supply in the animal economy is the stomach. To facilitate, to invigorate that organ, and thus facilitate its digestive and assimilative processes, should be the chief aim of those troubled with a lack of stamina. Nervousness, insomnia, feeble appetites—these are usually traceable to impaired digestion. Overcome this and you of necessity dispense its multifarious, perplexing and harassing symptoms. The emaciated can never hope to gain flesh so long as assimilation is imperfect. The listless, the only obstacle to an increase not only of vigor, but of bodily substance. Conquer also with the Bitters malaria, kidney and liver complaint, constipation and rheumatic trouble. Thoroughness characterizes its effects.

ROCHE'S RESPONSIBILITY.

He Will Keep an Eye on the County Records.

County Clerk Roche and some of the city authorities have discussed ever an attempt made by the latter to disregard and impose upon the former's official responsibility.

Several days ago Chairman Wheeler, of the council finance committee, and City Clerk Southard put Assistant City Clerk Cousins and two other accountants to work making a list of the books of the county, ready before the second Monday in October, when the council will sit as a board of equalization.

In order to do this work, it is necessary that these clerks should have access to the county assessment books; therefore Cousins and his helpers have taken possession of the commissioners' room with their outfit.

Everything went along smoothly the first day until 5 o'clock, the hour at which Mr. Southard closed his office. Home, Cousins wanted to continue his labors later, but Roche refused to leave the books in his charge.

This of course brought Mr. Wheeler to the front, and he could not see what harm would come from leaving the county's books out all night if Cousins would keep Mr. Roche enlightened by calling his attention to the fact that he (Roche) was responsible for all records belonging to his office; that he was under $20,000 bonds for their safe keeping and would not run the risk of having anything happen to accommodate the clerks who were in the room, however, leave a deputy there in charge, providing the city would agree to pay for his services. In this position Mr. Roche is sustained both by the county attorney and the commissioner.

Several members of the council met at 6 o'clock in the evening at the county clerk's office yesterday morning to see what arrangements could be made to enable the men to work at night, but they failed to take any action.

THEY RAN AWAY FROM HOME.

Two Iowa Levers Make Omaha Their Home.

Henry Reynolds, a farmer living near Scranton, Ia., is in the city looking for his youngest daughter, eighteen years of age, who ran away from her home three or four days ago in company with a neighbor's son named George Heath. George and Millie have been lovers for some time and have desired to wed, but old man Reynolds said no, unless the case stood clear. Love, in fact, locksmiths, and has been known to give stern parents the merry ha, ha, and so it was in this case. The loving pair put on their store clothes and came to Omaha on the Northwestern.

Old man Reynolds got on their track and followed them to Council Bluffs, where he spent the greater portion of Wednesday in looking for them but failed to find any traces. He then came to Omaha and after examining the marriage record started out to get the police to help him look up the truant couple.

It is very likely that ere this Miss Millie is Mrs. Heath, and that Papa-in-law Reynolds will be compelled to say "Hush you, my children," etc., although he declares that he will thrash George within an inch of his life instead.

Mr. Connell said he proposed to make recommendation at once in accordance with the committee's report. The appointee will have until the first of June next to make preparation for the final examination which will then take place at West Point.

Master Jack, who secures the appointment, is a graduate of the Peru Normal school, and is spoken very highly of by the principal and teachers of that school as well as by the teachers of the south part of the state. Mr. Coats said: "We will employ 300 men on this work, and we will push it as rapidly as possible. The east wall will be moved six feet to the west, leaving a twelve foot open space between the city hall and Bee building. The people are anxious to see something for their money, and I am going to push the building for all it is worth, and put the best work and material. The excavation will begin to-day."

LAD TO REST.

The Funeral of the Late Hon. John T. Paulsen

The funeral of the late Senator Paulsen took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence, No. 2303 Lake street. An immense throng of the dead man's friends were in attendance at the obsequies, which were held under the auspices of Alliance, No. 8, I. O. F., and the Plattenscher Verein of which the deceased was a member. Rev. T. M. House was the officiating clergyman and spoke from Job 14-14: "If a man die shall he live again?" It was a sermon full of peace and hope for the afflicted family and friends who have been so sadly bereaved.

The casket in which the dead man lay was massive and magnificent. It was metallic heavily ornamented with costly silver trimmings and was laden with flowers. On the side of the casket were the names of the deceased and his friends who were present at the funeral. The floral tributes were elegant. At the foot of the casket was a wreath of white flowers, and at the head was a pillow of tube roses and forget-me-nots. The other offerings were also very handsome. The pall bearers were selected from the societies represented and were eight in number, as follows: John Baumer, Henry Eicke, Benjamin Mohr, J. B. Lundt, Henry Grobe, Henry Lehman, Wm. Dell and Frank Klipper.

At the conclusion of the impressive ceremonies, the funeral cortege wended its way to prospect hill cemetery, where the remains of earth of a great and good man were deposited in the bosom of our common mother.

She Braided This Serpent's Head.

Monday morning Mrs. F. Shepard, of Mansfield, Mass., went to her cellar kitchen to wash. She had no sooner got there than she beheld a large black snake, which immediately started toward her, sticking out its forked tongue. Mrs. Shepard was all excited in a moment, picked up a good sized stick and gave him one or two hits that stunned him for a minute; then she piled upon him tubs, rocks and an old pot of lead that weighed fifty pounds. When she thought his snakeship was dead she tried to remove the pot of lead, but found that her strength had deserted her, so everything was left till her husband came home. The snake measured just five feet long.
