I SOCIAL CIRCLES STARTLED.

Divorce Proceedings Bring One of the First Families Into Court.

WHO IS THE MANGLED STRANGER?

His Identity Not Fixed-The County Board-In Court-A Trumped-Up Charge-General and Personal.

A Luxurious Misfit.

All persons are warned against selling any goods on my credit to my wife, Rhoda M. Casady, or extending her any credit on my account.

J. P. Casady,
Council Bluffs, Ia., Sept. 5, 1889.

No simple advertisement ever caused a greater society sensation than the above, which appeared in an evening paper,

"What is the matter with Judge Casady and his wife!" Social circles were set in a whirl at once. The judge and Mrs. Casady have lived here for years and been among the prominents. Judge Casady came here in 1853, and has been very active in business and political circles, winning for himself more than a local reputation and accumulating an estate which is estimated to be of over $100,000 in value. About five years ago he, being a widower, wedded the present Mrs. Casady, the relict of Dr. Ostorne, who, in his lifetime, was a very prominent physician of this place. The wedding called forth congratulations and weil wishes almost as hearty as though the contracting parties were in the flush of youth's first love. Since then Judge and Mrs. Casady were looked upon as enjoying more than the average amount of married happiness and social enjoyment. Mrs. Casady had a goodly estate in her own name, and with the judge's liberal bank account there seemed no financial obstacle to the full enjoyment of life. The public announcement over his signature came, therefore, as a flash over his signature came, the from a clear sky.

Reportornal inquisitiveness quickly peeked into the closet. Luxuriant as was the home, there was a skeleton there. Of late there has been much trouble between the supposedly happy couple. Judge Casady, almost a colly sixty-one years of age, has of posedly happy couple. Judge Casady, al-though only sixty-one years of age, has of late years broken a good deal, and his failing health has created many annoying demands upon the time and strength of the wife. On his part he thought her heartless and inat-tentive. On her part she looked upon him as irrascible and overbearing. There were some stormy and exciting scenes, which would have surprised greatly the many friends in the social circles in which Judge and Mrs. Casady took such high rank.

The first of the month brought a surprise to the judge. Bills came fluttering in upon him like a snow storm. Here was one for $677 from Eiseman & Co. for dry goods ought by Mrs. Casady during August. other from Beno & Co. for $781 was for some twenty dresses bought by Mrs. Casady Here was a bill of Jacquemin & Co. for $98 for jewelry. The old gentleman's breath was almost taken away. He was not accus-tomed to such expenditures. It began to dawn through his brain that Mrs. Casady, who had been charging him with being stingy, was seeking sweet revenge. Hence the notice to the public to give Mrs. Casady no more credit on his account.

The bills and the advertisement led to more scenes. Yesterday morning Mrs. Os-borne took occasion to tell the judge what she thought of him, and after stating clearly the reasons why she could no longer live with him, she swept through the door with a stinging farewell. She took herself to her own house, where, in company with her daughter, she will probably remain.

Soon after the stormy separation the papers were filed and served as the preliminary proceedings of a divorce started by her. The grounds on which she bases her claim for matrimonial freedom is that she cannot matrimonial freedom is that she cannot longer endure the cruei and inhuman treatment of Judge Casady. She of course wants alimony as well as freedom. She has secure John N. Baldwin as her attorney.

On the other hand Judge Casady's friends laugh at the idea of Mrs. Casady being smally treated by her husband, and of her cruelly treated by her husband, and obeing afraid of his physical abuse. S hale, hearty woman of about forty-five, weighing twice as much as the judge, who is emaciated, tottering and feeble. It appears to them that Mrs. Casady, with the inten-tion of forsaking him, planued to secure as many pleasant perquisites as possible. During the month of August she purchased such an unusual quantity of dresses and finery that this theory is plausible. She had all of these articles charged, amounting to about $3,000. Among them was a $200 diamond ring and a $750 set of diamond ear-rings. She bought fourteen yards of velvet at $10.50 a yard; seven yards of face at $18 a yard; a lace fichu, $50; a cloak, $375; four suits of silk underwear at $19 a suit; a boa, muff and other needfuls for next winter's Judge Casady says these goods were not delivered at his home, and the supposition is she had them taken elsewhere. He refuses to pay bills, and there is a likelihood of the being the occasion of other suits. As both Judge Casady and Mrs. Casady are finan-cially able to pay the bills, the merchants will doubtless collect their money from one or the other of the misfit couple.

Judge Casady has placed the matter in the hands of his attorney, Fipley Burke. legal fight will, therefore, in all probability, be a hot one when it is fairly opened.

The County Board.

The board of supervisors concluded their labors yesterday afternoon for the present, and adjourned till the 17th inst., when it is hoped that Supervisor Waite will have sufficiently recovered from his illness to be present. The board transacted the following business before adjournment:

W. S. Wilkins was elected janitor of the court house for the ensuing year, at a salary of $135 per month, all of the members present voting for him.

A member of the soldiers' relief commission was then elected, vice Sylvester Dye, Mr. Dye received one vote, and George N. Putnam three, and the latter was declared The contract for burying paupers was awarded to Hersman & Stevens, they being the lowest bidders.

At the adjourned meeting the matter of erecting a jail at Avoca, and that of allowing the small pox bills, will be considered. Fixing the School Board's Slate. It is announced on the quiet that Mr. S. S. Keller will be very likely to be elected treasurer of the school board for the ensuing year. When the long and exciting dead took of a year ago is remembered, a serious doubt will arise in the minds of many as to whether any change will be effected without a bitter fight, but it is an indisputed fact that the members of the board are already doing some hard work to perfect plans to carry some hard work to perfect plans to carry things their own way at the coming meeting to be held a week from Monday night, the regular September meeting, when a treasurer and secretary are to be elected. At the last meeting of the board, Mr. Haxsim, chairman of the finance committee, announced that at the next meeting he would report the names of the proper parties to fill these offices, but the president promptly sat down on him, and stated that the whole board would have something to say about it.

As nearly as can be ascertained the whole attraction is about like this: Messrs, Blaxsim and Lawson are opposed to the present secretary, Dr. Brown, and are strongly in favor of Emmett Tinley, esq., their defeated candidate of a year ago. Their only show to elect him is to gain Mr. Schoentgen's vote, to get which they must swallow Mr. Schoentgen's choice for treasurer. This will cause a deadlock, and it is quite probable that it will require some hard work and very convincing logic to get the necessary fourth note from the other side of the house. It is understood that Mr. Keller is Mr. Schoentgen's choice for treasurer, in which case it will be Keller and Tinley against the choice of the other three members, possibly the present incumbents, Pere-ors, possibly the present incumbents, Perebe fun when the time comes.

The long, hard contest of a year ago is a matter of record. After fruitlessly balloting for several sessions, a secretary was finally elected one evening on the ninety-seventh ballot. At present the members are very reticent, but it is predicted that all will be free enough to express their views before a choice is finally effected.

The City Now Owns Fairmount Park. Late last evening a deed was filed at the county recorder's office that will undoubtedly prove of great interest to the citizens of Council Bluffs. It was nothing more nor less than a quit claim deed from Mary Walker of this city of all her interest in Fairmount park. It will be remembered that several months ago an enterprising law firm of this city insti-tuted legal proceedings to wrest from the city this beautiful park, all in behalf of a certain "widow in Colorado," in whom, it was alleged, a certain title to the property was vested. It now transpires that this law firm secured quit claim deeds from various parties who might be supposed to have a valid claim on the property, but it is alleged that recent developments will expose some very crooked work in this particular.

About three weeks ago Park Commissioner Graham, Alderman P. Lacy and Finley Burke slipped away on a quiet little trip, to secure some "needed rest and recreation." They sought it in the mountains of Colorado, although that was not announced as their objective point, and labored long and earnestly with the hitherto vague and unrealistic "widow in Colorado. The result is that the city of Council Bluffs now virtually becomes this same "widow of Colorado," which facts will not prove pleasing to the above mentioned legal firm. During their western visit, the three gentlemen previously referred to ascertained something manner in which this avaricious lav firm had worked to secure their quit claims To the "widow" they represented that they desired to perfect the title to Williams' addition, otherwise Fairmount park, in be-half of the city, to preserve it from any claims that might be made at some future time to deprive the city of Council Biuffs of its greatly treasured beauty spot. She was induced to give a warrant deed of the park, for which they agreed to give her $1,000, assuming upon themselves the responsibility of settling with the city, they to have all that they could get over the stipulated sum. But they failed to pay the sum agreed upon, and now the metamor-phosed "widow," otherwise the city of Coun-cil Biuffs, who has been the defendant, will assume the part of plaintiff in a suit for ob-taining property under false pretenses.

To other parties who held interests of which they desired a quit claim the law firm represented they wanted the quit claim in the interest of the aforesaid "widow." all of which proceedings the firm figured in anything but an enviable light. Suffice it to say, that for the sum of $1,200 in hand paid by the city of Council Bluffs to the aforesaid Mary Walker, the latter has quit claimed all of her interest in Williams' addition to the city. Until now, the city has been anxious to stave off a hearing of the case, which has been several times postponed for this reason, but is a commentation of the case. but is now ready for the case to go on. set for trial September 25, and it will be the defendant instead of the plaintiff that will push the case. It is not expected that the plaintiff's will be very eager to urge their claim and invite a full and complete disclosure of everything connected with the case, but in any event the city is now in a osition to dictate instead of being subject

A Close Connection. Two electric motor trains collided on the bridge Thursday evening, but fortunately vithout doing any serious trains usually pass at the switch in the center of the bridge, but some of the conductors, when a little ahead of time, run by and meet the opposite train at the end of the bridge. This was the case in this instance. The eastbound train passed onto the single track before the other left it. The brakes were set tightly, but this did not prevent a collision, which shook the cars throwing several passengers for from the seats, a few of them falling to the ground. Mrs. John T. Oliver, of this city, sustain a badiy sprained arm and several smaller and a number of children were badly shaken. None of the bruises were severe, and the damage to the cars was

Three hundred cases of goods were opened in the Eiseman building yesterday. C to day and see the grand free exposition.

Killed on the Rail. Brief mention was made in these columns yesterday of the killing of an unknown man, supposed to be a tramp, in the Rock Island yards, by the incoming fast freight over that road, about 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The remains were removed to the undertaking establishment of Field & Estep, where the inquest was held yesterday forenoon. The evidence introduced was very meager and threw very little light on the affair, which still remains shrouded in mystery to certain extent. It is very probable that it will never be known whether the dead man feil under the wheels accidentally or was pushed from the train by some person unknown. The head brakeman is the only man who has thus far been able to tell anything about the accident. His evidence, as given at the inquest, was to the effect that he knew nothing of the presence of tramps until the train stopped at the

"Q" crossing, a few hundred feet east of the Rock Island local depot. The engine whistled, and the train had partly started again, when he turned and locked toward the rear of the train. He was standing on the front car, and his lantern was setting near his feet. He saw two men walking toward him over the tops of the cars. He turned toward the en-gine for a moment, and when he looked back again one of the men had disappeared. His attention had not been diverted from them more than a second, and as he looked back the second time he saw the car on which the mae had stood jump as if passing over some-thing on the track. He went back and told thing on the trace. He went cace and told the remaining stranger that his comrade had been run over and to get down and look after him. The stranger immediately clambered, down the side of the car and disappeared. The train pulled up into the yards, a dis-tance of about two train lengths, and a switch engine was sent back to look after the unfortunate victim. He was found lying dead and horribly mangled a few yards east of the crossing. His former companion was nowhere to be seen, and has remained a missing and un-knowa quantity up to the present time. The brakeman could give no information as to whether the dead man fell from the car ac-cidentally or whether his unknown conpanion gave him the fatal push. When the two were seen together the deceased was walking in front of the other, so that the latter must certainly have seen nim fall, even if he did not participate in any foul

None of the trainmen knew that the tramps were on the train, and it is not known where they rode, as the train was made up of through time freight and every car was sealed. The only clue as to where they came from was furnished by the en-gineer, who testified that while the train was at Weston, the first station east of this city, he saw two men cross the track just in front of the engine, under the full giare of the headlight. He paid no particular attention to it, as it was a matter of common occurence. He described the men as being somewhat on the tramp order—one tall and smooth faced, wearing a dark suit of clothes and brown wearing a dark suit of clothes and brown derby hat, and the other shorter, and wear-ing a slouch hat. The former corresponds exactly with the dead may, and the brake-man says the other would tally with the en-gineer's description of the second party. The unfortunate victim was frightfully maugled from the chest down. Both arms were crushed, legs amputated and cut in several places, and the body cut in two; in fact, the corpse could scarcely have been recognized as the remains of a human body had it not been that the head was disfigured very little.

A single paper dollar was found in his pockets, nothing being found to give the slightest clue except several cards of J. F. C. Naal, whose business was the enlarging and framing of pictures, but no location was given. The jury will not return a verdict until an attempt has been made to establish the identity of the deceased.

The Pearl Street Paving.

The Nonpareil yesterday urged the appointment of an inspector for the work being done on Pearl street by the Electric Motor company. For the information of that paper t may be stated that City Engineer Stimson has appointed an inspector, Mr. C. F. Read, who has been attending to his duties since the work of relaying paving was commenced. Mr. Reed has been a sewer and paving in-spector for the past four years and thoroughly understands his business, The paper above referred to severely cen-sures the company for the work being done at the head of Pearl street. The fact is that the paving at that point is being replaced temporarily, as it must be removed again in a few days when the curves and switches arrive, as curves are going to be on the run down Broadway as well as up. The paving has merely been replaced to accommodate the public for a short time, and not as a permanent paving. Below the point where the paving is to be again taken up, the work of relaying the blocks is being done in as good shape as is possible with old and par-tially decayed material. New unch boards are being laid under the blocks, in place of the badly decayed blank that was taken out, and the gravel is being very solidly tamped. A liberal coat of tar will put the street in fully as good condition as it was before.

SEVEN BRUTAL ROUNDS.

Professional Pugilists Punch Each Other in Frightful Shape.

New York, Sept. 6,-[Special Telegram to THE BEE. 1-One of the ugliest fights seen this season came off early yesterday morning in a sporting resort near Jersey City. The principals in the match were George Tracy, of Hoboken, and Mike Davin, of Jersey City Both men are professionals. Davin was seconded by Charley Quinn. Tracy was looked after by George Walker. Mike Brennan was referee. Both men wore skin-tight gloves with the fingers cut off. Davin is twenty-four years old, 5 feet 5½ inches tall, and weighs 128 nounds. The referee stopped the fight and warned Davin that if he repeated his actions again he would give the fight to Tracy. Then there was give and take, and Tracy. Then there was give and take, and soon both men's faces presented the appearance of pieces of proiled beef steak.

In the seventh round Tracy let go a stinger on Davin's eye. In striking Davin in the eye Tracy's thumb caught Davin in the corner of his eye and the eye was nearly gouged out. Davin became almost crazy and he rained blow after blow on Tracy face until the latter looked as if he would like to quit. He put up his hands to protect his face, and Davin caught him under the chin, knocking him out. As Tracy did not come to time the referee awarded the fight the Davin. Both men were punched very

The Belgravia Park Swindle.

HEBRON, Neb., Sept. 6 .- | Special to THE Ber. |- Hebron citizens are still indignant over what is now called the "Belgravia Park swindle." Few county seats in southern Nebraska offer better returns to investors than does this city, the county seat of Thayer county. In view of this, to have the fair name and reputation of the city injured by Boston parties selling lots in an addition to Hebron situated some four miles from the center of the city, is looked upon with just opprobrium. Belgravia Park is a quarter section of prairie And situated some four miles southeast of Hebron. The land until recently belonged to J. G. Lyford, a former resident of this city, but who removed to resident of this city, but who removed to Boston some three years ago. The records here show that Mr. Lyford has transferred the land to a Boston party. No plat of this famous park has been filed with our county clerk, as required by the laws of Nebraska, but the postmaster has received one of the circular plats and now has the same on exhibition in the postmater. The plat shows Belgravia Park a conceived. office. The plat shows Belgravia Park a conveniently located and beautifully laid out addition to Hebron, having wide streets and elegant avenues, making it on paper a fine suburb. From the distance from the city and the location of the same, Belgravia Park can never in the proper sense be an addition till Hebron numbers at least 500,000 popula The advertisement being circulated so ex tensively through the east, in the main, very fairly represents Hebron and its advantages. The party getting up the advertisement must have have had some acquaintance here. It seems to be quite well established that no one here has any connection with the scheme, and all the citizens are anxious that the fraud be exposed and the perpetrator pun-

BOTH PLUCK AND LUCK. The Good Fortune of a Boston Man in

Bolivian Mines. BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 6.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—G. H. Fall, a Boston lawyer, has just returned from a trip to Bolivia. He brings some valuable information concerning the work that has been done there by W. H. Christy, a Boston man. About four years age Christy came into possession of the Londres mine, which has since proved one of the richest in the world. The Londres was first worked by the Spaniards 300 years ago. Some thirty years ago if came into the possession of English capi came into the possession of English capitalists, who made targe sums of money from it. The officers of the English company, it is said, began to steal the ore, and after a time the stockholders refused to put up money with which to continue the work. Finally the English capitalists abandoned it altogether. The mine became flooded so badly that no one cared to undergo the risk of a heavy outlay of money to pump it out, and for twenty years it lay idle. Christy cleaned out the mine and the Bolivian government freed it of water by means of an underground tunnel and began digging. The diggings com prise 25 per cent of copper and 75 per cent silver, the latter averaging from 200 to 2,000 ounces per ton. Christy has also come into possession of eight lead mines and the only coal mine in Bolivia. The coal that has been heretofore used has been broug'it from Chili and else where and sold to merchants at $200 per ton. The development of Christy's coal mine, which appears to have no limit as to quan bring a much-needed relief to the merchants, who now expect to get their coal for $30 per ton, which will allow Christy a handsome profit. Already there are 800 miners at work in the coal and lead mines. The Bolivian government has given Christy the exclusive privilege of smelting in the republic for fifteen years.
