A Heartbroxen Wife After a Heartless Husband.

A tall, slim, pale woman, with yellow hair The Question Reopened With Some and red eyes, applied to the county commissioners for aid. She came from Kansas City Those who are interested say they feel on the early train in search of her husband Louis Huber, who mysteriously disappeared confident that the Omaha brewers will succeed, before long, in affecting a sale of their last Saturday night, leaving her penniless property to the English syndicate. The sale among strangers. Last week the woman and her husband has, it is claimed, been thus far prevented by William Krug, superintendent of Fred left Chicago for Denvar, where she expected Krug's brewery. It is believed now that he to stop with a brother while Huber went on will fall into line when Matoney, the agent, to San Francisco. The latter is an inspector of hides, and was stationed in this city about one year ago. A Statement From Turner & Jay.

THE BEE: Various reports are current relative to Turner & Jay and W. L. Parrotte & Co., incorporated. We desire to say in justice to ourselves that the facts in the case are as follows: In July last W. L. Parrotte & Co. came to us stating that owing to the very poor health of W. L. Parrotte they desired to dispose of their business, at first intunating a desire to form a copartnership with us and we to take such active part in the management of the joint business as the counsel of the more conservative mem-bers of the party Mr. Edson would have shared roughly at the hands of Mrs. Crater's found debilitating and wearisonic. Upon investigation we found our business more prosperous than theirs in proportion to capital invested, and the result was that we made a contract to buy their business, delivery to be made November next, and a proviso was embodied in the contract pro-hibiting W. L. Parrotte or any of the stockholders in the Parrotte company from engaging in the hat and cap business in Omiha for the term of five years, which was considered by all parties as a very important and essen-tial provision. August 25 Mr. A. C. Frost, who, until that date, we believed to be one of the Parrotte company, whom we had bought out, notified us that he was about to form a new company with unlimited capital, and stated that "we, Turner & Jay, with the high rental-$4,000-per annum, pay-able for Parrotte's store and the remnants able for Parrotte's store and the remnants of both stocks, would find ourselves in an unenviable position to meet compe-tition." Having made a rather poor bargain, we caught on to the bait and sold our business at Tenth and Farnam to A. C. Frost, agent, the same to be delivered Da-cember 15 next, coalign a much better place cember 15 next, realizing a much botter price than we had offered our business for a few The matter of organizing and opening a school where all branches of art could be days earlier to eastern parties. We also secured from Parroite & Co, a release from our contract to take their business. We are fully aware that a bluff was made to us by taught and studied has received serious conleration by a number of those interacted Mr. Frost and at least one of the New York stockholders of Parrotte & Co., and that salesmen who were to have seen us early last week with a view to entering our em-ploy were held by interested parties to await the result of the deal which has been conterest a number of the citizens who know summated. We shall continue in business in how to appreciate the productions of the arwill remain in business as a firm for years to come, we hope. Respectfully, Turner & Jay.

Mr. Edson has made several attempts to get possession of the premises, but has been defeated in the justice courts. Tuesday evening he went to the house and turned off the water. Mrs. Crater remonstrated with him, when Edson raised a heavy case and struck the woman across the head with it, knocking her down and inflicting serious injuries. A number of the neighbors who were witnesses of the assault interferred, and had it not been for friends, notwithstanding the fact that he is an old grey-headed man. Mrs, Crater was too seriously hurt to appear in police court yesterday, but her sis-ter, Mrs. Dennison, appeared and had a war-rant sworn out for Edson's arrest. Now He Goes to Court.

Sheriff Coburn has been given official notice by County Clark Roche that the commissioners had refused two bills presented by him amounting to $300. One is for mileage charged in June, 1888, for conveying prisoners and insane patients to the peniten-tiay and the insane asylum at Lincoln. The other is for boarding city prisoners during May, June and July of this year. Mr. Coburn proposes now to take the matter into court.

The Expenses of Insanity. County Clerk Roche has received a statement from State Auditor Benton showing Douglas county's indebtedness for the maintenance of her insane in the asylums at Lincoln and Hastings. It amounts to $2,-559.22, being from June 1 to August 31. There are seventy three patients in the insti-tution at Lincoln, and the amount due there is $2,463.20, while of Hastings it amounts to only $90.02.

Two Hundred Men.

The frame work of the large addition to the main smelter is completed, and it is thought that the new structure will be ready for use in two or three weeks at the furtnest. The sides will be closed with corrugated iron, making the structure practically fireproof. The new addition doubles the capacity of the main smelter and will give employment to about two hundred more men, at from $2 to $3.50 per day. The new electric plant at the works is about completed, the brick work being done and ready for the roof.

in seeing Omaha advance one step further in the direction of art and culture. Although no action has been taken as yet, a number of plans have been proposed to accomplish the desired end. The one most favored is to interest a number of the citizens who know tist, and have them take part in the incorporating of the Western Art association, thus putting it on a substantial footing, so that it will be able to take hold of the school project with an assurance of success. It is not the intention to make a great splurge at the outset, but to raise a fund of about $5,000 and start in a moderate way. Enough home talent can be secured to give instruction in the various branches, at a very moderate cost, and a proposition has been remoderate cost, and a proposition and acceler to ceived from a leading artist in Chicago, Mr. J. and assume charge of the school at a very moderate salary. By having fifty or seventy-five scholar-ships taken at a cost of $100 each, the ro-quired sum would be very easily raised. This would place the institution on a paying basis at once and make it self-sustaining. It would be a very easy matter to open a permanent exhibition, which would be more than self-sustaining. With the Lininger collection as a basis, a very interesting col-lection could be made, as there are a large number of paintings belonging to the West ern Art association which are stored away ern Art association which are stored away for lack of room to place them on exhibition. A great deal of interest was also manifested by out-of-town people in learning what steps were being taken towards opening an art were being taken towards opening an art school and permanent exhibition.
