All the Brotherhoods of Labor Unite for Protection.

How it Might Be Made to Show Up More Satisfactorily Under the System Employed in Kansas City.

Labor in Federation.

It was learned to-day that the labor unions and brotherhoods, comprising the employes of the Union Pacific system, had federated, and that they would henceforth be known as the Brotherhood of Railway employes.

The amalgamation includes the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Brotherhood of Railway Brakemen, Switchmen's union, and the Knights of Labor.

The matter is being kept quiet. Whether the move has extended to other roads could not be learned. A well-known engineer. when questioned concerning the matter, said: "xes, the Union Pacific road employes and the Knights of Labor have amalgamated. We deemed this the only way through which our rights might be protected. Until a year ag the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers resolved to go it alone. We thought that our organization was sufficiently strong to meet any encroachment that might be made on us. In the Burlington strike both systems were given a thorough test, and while we were not defeated, we were pretty badly laid out. We then began to look at the situation in a different light and concluded that the only way we could meet the issue was to combine our strength with that of the others and have done so as far as the Union Pacific

"This action on the part of the engineers has not been endorsed by the Brotherhood as a whole, but will come up before that body at its annual meeting to be held in Denver October 16. This, of course, shuts us out from all benefits that we would derive from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in case a strike should be declared on the Union Pacific. But our organization is powerful and we could cope with any issue to-day.

"I think that, at the meeting in Denver, the action will be sustained, and it will be followed up by a consolidation on all roads in the United States. In fact, it has been passed upon by all orders except the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Engineer Livingston, who is thoroughly posted on the subject, was seen, and while be was indisposed to give any of its details, admitted that the labor unions and the engineers, firemen and brakemen, comprising the employes of the Union Pacific had amalga-mated and that the same would come up before the Denver convention of engineers for

Mr. Livingston runs a train on the Union Pacific out of here and is a member of the Union l'acific engineers' grievance committee. The organization on the Union Pacific alone has a membership of nearly seven thousand men, it will be remembered that the substance of a circular sent out bearing on this action was published in THE BEE about four months ago. It was learned that nothing further will be done in connection with the amalgmation until after the Denver

To the Coal Fields.

The Burlington will endeavor to complete its Alliance extension before winter sets in. About sixty-five miles of road have already been completed, and there are yet 105 miles to be laid. Nearly all the grading and tunneling has been finished. The road will be extended to New-castle, in Wyoming, 170 miles west of Alliance. Men for track work are being secured, twenty-four leaving Omaha for the scene of action this morning. When com-pleted, the Burlington will have immediate access to inexhaustive coal fields and the of-ficials state that the mines will be developed as rapidly as possible and that some of the product may reach Omaha before snow flies.

Where is Brown?

Daniel C. Brown, one of the letter carriers, has disappeared and there is considerable conjecture among his brother gray-coats as to his whereabouts. He was given a leave of absence for one week the first of the month and left estensibly on a visit to Missouri Valley. But his time expired nearly two weeks ago and he has not been seen or heard from since. He is twenty-eight years of age and a single man. He is a blonde of very short stature and was known among his associates as "Shorty." His route was between Cass and Cuming and Sixteenth and Twenty-fourth streets, and he lived with his parents in Druid Hill.

HEBREW NEW YEAR.

How It Will Be Ushered in and Celebrated in Omaha.

The Hebrew year, 5560, begins at sundown next Wednesday. The new year is celebrated on the first day of Tishri, the seventh Jewish month, and is the greatest of the Hebrew holidays. The day of atonement, or Yom Kippur, is observed on the tenth day of the same month. These two days are unusually commemorated by both orthodox and reformed Jews in all parts of the world, The Jewish new year is celebrated by solemn and impressive services. While all other religious sects begin the new year with gayety and merriment, the Hebrews make the first day of the year a penitential day and contemplate it as a milestone in life's journey. Notwithstanding the fact that during the entire twelve months mercantile affairs engross the whole attention of the Hebrews, the two great holidays are most scrupu-lously observed. On New Year's day the dews present themselves humbly and gratefully at the synagogue and offer prayers of gratitude for past mercies and carnest entreaties for future blessings.

Unusually extensive preparations have been made for elaborate New Year services in Omaha next week. All places of business will be closed on New Year's eve, Wednes-day. September 25, and also on the following morning services will be held at the syna-gogue, on Harney street, Rabbi William Rosenan efficiating. The choir will furnish un-usually fine music for both services. The Chebra Bikkur Cholim or society for visiting the sick, will meet at the Unitarian church, and Rabbi Schoen, of Cleveland, has been engaged to conduct the exercises. congregation B'nai Jacob will worship dur-ing the holy days at the Exposition building. Rabbi Goldstein will conduct the services and a male choir will furnish music. The Russian congregation will celebrate the new year at the synagogue on Capitol avenue near Thirteenth street, under the direction of Rabbi Borliant, B'nai Israel. The Polish congregation will assemble in the new synagogue at Thirteenth and Williams streets, and the Hebrew Zion association, which is composed of young men, will hold services at Cunningham hall. Both orthodox and reformed Jews cele-brate the first day of the new year with equal solemnity, but the Jews belonging to the orthodox faith keep two days with much solemnity. On the first day Rabbi Benson will officiate at Lincoln, where a large choir is rehearsing, and the second day he will lecture at Omaha.

The day of atonement is a fast day, beginning at sundown on the ninth day of Tishri and ending on the tenth day of the same month. After the day of atonement on the eve of the fifteenth day of Tishri, the feast tabernacles of Succoth is celebrated. The festival commemorates the Hebrews' forty years of wandering in the desert. It is one of three Jewish high feats and it lasts seven days, the first and last of which are voted to services in the synagogues.

A DOG IN THE MANGER POLICY

A Railway Company Which Will Neither Build Nor Vacate.

KICKING ON THE R. V. & W. ROAD.

Miss Manchester's Reception-The Strange Case of Mrs. Gordon-New Notaries Public-The City in Brief.

LINCOLN BUREAU OF THE UMARIA HER, 1029 P STREET, LINCOLN, Sept. 19.

Not many months ago the attorney general served due notice on the Republican Vailey & Wyoming railroad company that it would have to "fish or cut bait." At the time the Frenchman Valley folks requested him to commence such action in the supreme court as he thought necessary to compel the company to track its grade between Culbertson and Holyoke, Colo., and especially between the former place and Imperial, or abandon it and forfeit its charter. It appeared then that the company had no inten tion of completing the road and was holding to it to prevent other rosas from tapping that portion of the state. This view was so firmly intrenched in the minds of the citizens along the line that petitions poured in on the attorney general requesting him to act as suggested. Accordingly he wrote to Mr. Holdrege, one of the principal incorporators of the company, and received assurances from him that the company would track the grade, commencing on or about September 1. The attorney general thereupon wrote his petitioners, setting forth the facts as stated, but assuring them that he would commence suit in quo warranto before the supreme court that would compel the company to abandon the grade if it failed to make its faith good. At the time agreed upon Mr. Holdrege caused the announcement to be made that tracking had commenced on the grade between Culbertson and Imperial and that work would be pushed on the road to its western terminus. Something like a dozen workmen appeared at Culbertson with a carload or two of ties and rails. This looked like business. The Frenchmen Valley folks and citizens along the road generally re-joiced and were glad. They had reason to be-lieve that the days for marketing the products of the farm in towns from twenty to forty miles distant were nearing an end. Since then they have watched and waited, not patiently but impatiently, for they expected that the nucleus of materials that arrived with the workmen was simply a forerunne of an abundance that would follow in rapid o der. Thus far their wait has been a vain one. In three weeks' time less than a quar-ter of a mile of track has been laid, and it dawns upon the minds of a patience-exhausted people that the company is playing them; that is, that the company has commenced this puttering work simply to keep its surface word good and for the purpose of holding the grade and keeping out competing roads. The atttorney general received an affidavit from eight citizens of Frenchman Valley a few days ago setting forth these facts, and a suit against the road, or show that it is mov-ing in good faith. Accordingly, the appear-petition signed by about five hundred citizens along the line of the road in the state, praying him to proceed with the promised ance docket of the supreme court shows the case of the state on relation of William Leese, attorney general, vs the Republican Valley & Wyoming railroad company. The case was filed to-day. General Leese's opinion in quo warranto sets up that the company's articles of incorporation, signed by G. W. Holdredge, J. G. Taylor, C. D. Dor-man, W. A. Higgins and P. S. Eustis, were duly filed for record in the office of the sec retary of state January 17, 1887; that the purpose of the company was to construct, operate and maintain a railroad, with single or double tracks, from Culbertson, in Hitchcock county, through Hayes and Chase counties to a point on the line between Ne-braska and Colorado; that the company exercised the rights of eminent domain along the line described and completed, but did not track grade; that the company for the two years last past has wilfully failed and neglected to complete the road; that the incorporators are in the employ of the Chicago Burlington & Quincy railroad company, and have the territory so surveyed and graded as to keep out other roads; that the incorporators compose corporations with an alleged capital stock of $12,000,000; that they have no place in Nebraska for the transaction of business where records are kept for public inspection; that the in-dividual incorporators and defend-ants are not acting in good faith with the state, and that the only object the com-pany has in doing any work at this time is to prevent the forfeiture of their charter. The relator, therefore, prays that all of the rights, privileges and franchises may be can-celled, annulled and forfeited.

State House Jottings. Articles incorporating the Loup City Canal and Water Power company were filed to-day Its purpose is to build and maintain a canal in the counties of Valley and Sherman to furnish water power, and to erect and maintain such buildings as may be deemed neces sary. Authorized capital stock, $150,000. In corporators: George W. Kittile, Edward G. Krutchbaum, Peter Truelsen, W. R. Mellor, J. R. Scott, J. C. Edmonson, J. D. Ford, W. Odendahl, C. M. Walworth and E. E.

John Jenkins, deputy commissioner of the the bureau of labor, goes to Louisville to-morrow to inquire into the cause of the strike on the stone quarries at that place. It is learned that the strikers are all Italians Mr. Jenkins says that the strike at Beatrice was caused by the teamsters hauling brick from the vitrified factory to the paving districts through the refusal of the manufac turers to pay them for the loads they had al ready delivered, which had in part been con demned by the city inspector, after being de-livered on the ground, the firm deducting the amount of the condemned bricks from the load. After three days from the ces of work, arrangements were entered into by which the haulers were allowed, when load ing brick at the works, to refuse to accept such as they thought would be condemned by the city inspector. On these terms only would the teamsters agree to resume work

Mrs. Manchester's Reception. The reception to Mrs. Emma Manchester by the W. R. C., No. 10, in the senate chamber last evening was a most successful affair. The reception was tendered because of the distinguished honor which had been conferred on Mrs. Manchester and the corps by her election to the office of senior vice president of the National W. R. C. at its recent session. The senate chamber was hand somely decorated with bunting. The initial letters "W. R. C.," made of small flags, occupied a prominent position on the wall.

The chamber was filled early with G. A.
R. men and W. R. C. people and the personal friends of Mrs. Manchester. At 8 o'clock the Cadet band appeared, escorting Mrs.
Manchester, her husband and daughter and was executed by all present to the governor's office, where the reception committee was in waiting. Mrs. Manchester was assisted by the Rev. Stine and wife, Prof. Lilibridge and wife, Brad Cook and wife, Mr. Spell-man and wife, Mrs. Frankforter, Miss Ida Smith, Mrs. Jansey, Mrs. Cora L. Jolly, Mrs. Sherry, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Gataly.

A Strange Case. The Mrs. Gordon who was arrested yesterday morning for being drunk, was arrested again last night in room 7 in the Hutchings block, at Fifteenth and O, in company with a big burly negro named Mitchell and a two-year-old child. About 7:25 last evening a telephone message was received at the police station saying that a drunken white woman with a twe-year-old child had entered the residence of a man named Polly, at Fourth and N. The negro Mitchell was in the station at that time. He soon disappeared. Shortly afterward another message was received, stating that a negro claiming to be Officer Tom Carnahan had called andtaken the woman away. As Officer Carnae han was in the station, when the news cum in, Captain Green concluded that there was something wrong somewhere, and he detailed Carnahan to look it up. He found them at the place above described and brought them to the station. The child belonged to the Mrs. Brown who secured her release yesterday morning. Mrs. Brown was almost wild with grief last night looking for her lost baby, but singularly enough did not report her lost to the station. This Mrs. Gordon goes under a number of allases, viz: Mrs. Gray, Miss Ida Gray, Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Finley and others. The police say that she is an old timer, though she hasn't been arrested before for about a year. The Mrz. Brown who seems to be looking after her has the appearance of a respectable woman, and is animated by sympathy for an old neighbor. The negro Mitchell was arraigned in police court this morning charged with impersonating an officer. He did not deny the charge, but said that he had been drinking some and might have done so. As there were no winnesses against bim the case was continued for further investigation until 7 o'clock in the evening.

New Notaries Public. The governor to-day appointed the follow ing Nebraskans notaries public: Charles Schaufelberger, Hastings, Adams county Thomas R. Ashley, Decatur, Burt county; W. A. Howard, Kearney, Buffalo county; Wayne Condit. Alliance, Box Butte county; Alfred K. Smith, Brainard, Buffalo county; Henry F. Alleged Safeguards.

Captain Rustin, of the Omaha Street Railway company, thinks very little of the socalled "life guards" in front of the wheels on the cable cars. The captain says they are merely put on to meet the popular demand, although he believes that the cars possible, he holds, to construct the life ruards so as to throw a prostrate person from the track than it is to build the pilot of locomotive to do so. The captain says furher that the alleged life guards lessen the chances of the escape of a person who falls in front of the wheels, as these guards after having passed over the unfortunate pinion him in front of the wheels instead of allowing him an opportunity to escape.

The woman was also run in and will be prosecuted. Ella is a woman of the town who is well known to the police. She thing out a "caller," and claims to be decent. Her past record, according to the police, is bad. Her former lover was a colored barber, who was recently shot to death in is Haze.

The Kimbatl woman is still in jail and will probably be kept there for some time. The police claim that she has been annoying Mrs. Patterson greatly of late and that she has frequently sent her notes stating that her husband was untrue to her. A few days ago, while Patterson was at home, a mes-senger boy called with a note from a anony-mous party addressed to Mrs. Patterson, which stated that Patterson was at that moment in bed with the Kimball woman.

Secretary Nason Returns From a Trip Through the State.

Secretary Nason, of the board of trade, has returned from a short trip through Wayne and surrounding counties on business connected with the State Development association. He visited Columbus, Norfolk, Wayne and a number of intermediate points to explain to the county boards, and other prominent men, the workings of the association and to urge upon them the appointment of vice presidents and the preparation of the data to be used in advertising and developing the state. He found great interest prevailing in all sections, and received numerous assurances of co-operation

The secretary also received strong evidence of the good resulting from the numerous "harvest home excursions" which have been run through the state. A real estate agent at Wayne reported seventy-five sales of acre property since the first of the year, fully two-thirds of which were to passengers on these excursions. A large number of strangers are reported in that section, look-ing up property for investment. Mr. Nason received a letter vesterday from Judge Joel Hull, of Minden, who is also doing the same sort of work. The judge has
