appeared in yesterday's BEE, was the topic of general conversation on the streets yesterday. It excited far more attention than did the republican county convention, which was held at the court house. Everybody was inquiring for clues, theories and the latest developments, but there was but very ittle to be ascertained in addition to what had already been made public. The inquest, which was to have been held at 10 o'clock, was again postponed until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, to see if some important facts regarding the murder could not be ascertained, identified. In both of these particulars was the jury successful, for several very material levelopments have since come into the possession of the police, and the identity of the Spears, living on Sixth avenue. His wife, who works at the canning factory, was notified, and she immediately visited the undertakers, where the body still remained. She stated that there was not the slightest doubt that the deceased was her husband, whom she last saw alive Sunday afternoon, at which time he stated that he was going to pick tomatoes for a gardener just out of the city; and for this reason she had felt no alarm because he did not return. She could the coroner nor jurors could be prevailed upon to reveal what transpired or what was the nature of the testimony introduced. The only resource for the reporters was to watch at the door and waylay everyone who attempted to pass either in or out. In this way several important facts were gleaned. It was learned that Spears was seen sev eral times Monday afternoon and evening, the last time being but about an hour before he was killed. He was drinking heavily and was considerably under the influence of liquor. He was seen in a North Main street saloon about 4 o'clock, and again in the alley is the rear of the "Red Front," on South Main street, about 6 o'clock, at which time he was very drunk and alone. Shortly after o'clock he was seen by a watchman at the Northwestern depot, in company with two or three others, and was ordered away. The party proceeded up the railroad track toward the roundhouse and it was but little more than an hour afterward that the roundhouse employes heard the noise referred to in yesterday's issue, in the direction of the spot where the dead mar's bruised and bat-tered body was found Wednesday evening.

Such are the facts, as learned from wit-nesses who were summoned before the cor-oner's jury, regarding what transpired dur-ing the few hours preceding the murder.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to Henry Lighthall, of New York city, and Ollie M. Arrasmuth, of Omaha; Irving G. Baright, of Omana, and Sophie Ramons, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Carl B. Kraugh and Mathilda Hansen, both of Omaha.

The "poverty party" at the residence of S. Beck, on Glen avenue, last evening, was very largely attended, and was a great success. It netted a neat sum for the Acme club, under, whose auspices it was given. It was guite a social event, and all who attended enjoyed the occasion most thoroughly.

The gavel which was used by General Belknap, who presided at the camp fire last night, was captured by him at Charleston, S. C., from the burning state house, on Sep-temper 18, 1864, just twenty five years ago, and he gave it to Orderly Clements to care for. It is the gavel that was used in the first confederate convention, and it is for that reason a very rare and highly prized relic. A painting of Washington, which he cap-tured at that time also, has been returned to the South Carolina capitol, at the request of Wade Hampton.

A unique and interesting lecture will be given this evening at the Congregational church under the auspices of the young ladies' society. Rev. Mr. Murch gives a lec-ture on the "Jewish Tabernacie," and during the evening crects what is said to be an exact miniature model of the ancient place of worship of the Israelites during their sojourn in the wilderness. This will be of special in-terest to bible students and Sunday schools. At the close of the lecture the young ladies will serve an oyster supper in the parlors of the church.

The incoming limited train on the North western bumped a boy named Van Atta at the Broadway crossing yesterday morning. The boy was stealing a ride on another passing train and jumped from it just in time to be struck by the limited, which was slowly backing. The accident was wholly due to the boy's own carelessness. He would probably have been killed if it had not been for a brakeman who warned him of the approach ing train. Dr. Lacy attended to his injuries, which were not severe.

Miss Julia J. Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan, died yesterday morning at 5 o'clock of consumption, aged twenty-two years and five months. Deceased was born in New Haven, Conn., and removed with her parents to this city when but an infant She was one of the teachers in the public schools, and was highly esteemed by her associates and pupils. The funeral will take place from the residence of her parents, 224 Tenth avenue, Saturday morning, September 21, at 8:45, from St. Francis church after high mass.

Mr. Booth, of Neola, made a short speech, after which Hon. Joseph Lyman was called out. He told the early history of the republican party in this country, and concluded by declaring that the German voters were getting tired of the way the democrats were reating them, and were graduatly coming The committee on credentials reported at 2:20 o'clock the names of the delegates en-titled to seats in the convention. Four town-ships were not represented. They were Lincoln, Center, Waveland and Kane at large. Neola was represented by two delegates, and the committee reported that each be allowed two votes. The committee on permanent organization eported the names of Hon. Joseph Lyman, f Council Bluffs, for chairman, and Frank

The Jury Quest.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 .- The Cronin jury quest was resumed this morning, but up to the close of the morning session no additional jurymen were secured.

When called after recess it was understood that the attorney for Woodruff, who is to have a separate trial, would move for the discharge of his client on the ground that the statutory time under which he is entitled to a hearing had passed.

The states attorney arose and said to the court, "Woodruff is also held for horse stealing, and on his own motion that case was continued until next term. In addition on his motion this case was continued to August 18, and then to this term by consent. On his own showing the state has the whole of this term to try him, and under a supreme court decision can continue it until next term on showing good cause." The matter was set or a hearing to morrow afternoon.

No more jurymen were secured to-day.

LOUISIANA'S SCANDAL.

The Investigation Continues to Develop New Cases of Fraud.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19 .- The investigation by the state officials and parties interested in the state securities continues to de velop new cases of fraud almost every day It now appears that forgery has been added to their in the fraudulent floating of bonds of the state through the criminality or care lessness of the states trusted servants. In addition to $303,009 of consolidated bonds upon which interest payments have just been stopped, and many of which have been surreptitiously put upon the market instead of being cancelled, there has been discovered in private hands a number of 4 per cents issued under act 131 of 1850, known as bonds that are clearly an over issue made in fraud This evening's indications are that the un-authorized bonds placed upon the market will amount, with the sum paid from the in-terest fund to nearly $1,000,000.
